The UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE PLAN

To the Employer...

Contributions to the Unemployment Insurance Fund become payable on from July 1st, 1941.

Contributions are made by the employer and the employee, and are paid by the purchase of Unemployment Insurance stamps by the employer from the Post Offices.

Stamps will be affixed to a special book, called the Insurance Book, by the employer. The book is the employee's record of contributions, and when he becomes unemployed it forms the record from which insurance benefits may be paid. Full details will be sent to you when you have returned the postcard attached to a form which is now in the mails.

The plan of procedure has been adopted after consultation with employer and employees associations and is one which has been hosed upon thirty years' experience in Great Britain.

The Dominion Government adds 20% to the combined employer-employee contributions, and in addition, pays the administration costs which includes the operation of a National Employment Service for the convenience of employers and employees.

Contributions are payable by all persons while in employment and by their employers, with the exceptions listed in the postal below.

The first duty of every employer will be to REGISTER WITH THE COMMISSION by completing the postcard attached to a form which is now in the mails, and obtaining insurance books for all his employees. If there is doubt as to whether your employees, or any of them, are insurable, ask for instructions when you return the postal card. If you do not receive a form through the mail go to the nearest Post Office and ask for one. All employers must comply with registration requirements by June 15th, 1941.

The Commission feels that it can be assured of the full cooperation of all employers. Nevertheless, attention is drawn to the fact that registration is compulsory and that failure to register is an infraction of the law and is subject to penalties.

Tofield To Hold Annual Sports Day On July First

On Monday night at the Town Hall, some twenty persons were present at a meeting called in connection with the annual sports day which will agree be held on July 1st.

The meeting was called to order by H. Yarrow, who paid tribute to the late J. W. Chapman and the good work he had done for the committee in past years.

The following officers and committees were then elected.

Pres., W. Worton; Vice-Pres., Ed. Elliott; Secretary, J. E. Silmon; Marshal—Father Schmeltzer and S. Bracken.

Sidehall—Constable James with power to add.

Horse Race—W. Worton, Foot Race—W. Bailey, J. Bailey, M. W. McDonnell, C. Hall.

Hot Dog Stand—W. Bellamy, Bert Everitt.

Grounds—T. Wallington.

Games—Ed. Kuhl, R. McCarthy, S. Glover, Art Francis, Bill Worton.

Advertising, Pres. and Secretary.

Dance—W. M. McDonnell, Hans Christensen, A. Z. Agrios.

The hope was expressed that the Red Cross would operate the booth as they did last year in which case profits of the day from all events will go to that organization.

Prize money allocations were made as follows: Baseball $15.00; Softball $25.00; horse race $10.00; foot race $15.00 Other events to be arranged.

Music will be furnished by public address system.

McKENZIE HOLD COMMUNITY PICNIC

Despite rain two promising weather, re plenty of McKenzie district together with visitors enjoyed the many forms of picnic fun on Monday.

Both baseball and soft ball teams from Tofield were present and added to the gaiety of the occasion.

Tofield's ... McKenzie met in baseball Tofield winning by a score of 8—3. For Tofield Burke pitched and L. Pasbang caught. Sorry we have not the battery for the other team.

In the second game Tofield and Dodds clashed, Dodds winning by a 6—2 score. Don McAllister and Burke pitched and John Bertel caught in this game. Don McAllister, who is still a high school youngster showed up very well, displaying real pitching quality.

The softball team, we understand, won their game there.

Other sports included racing of different kinds which together with refreshment booth made the day a success. In the evening a dance was held at the community hall.

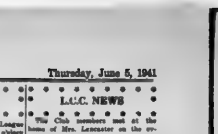
VICTORY LOAN DRIVE PROGRESSING

Up to Wednesday night Victory Loan bookpurchasers at Tofield report $15,000 sold. Monday Tuesday and Wednesday of this week saw $25,000 more in the bag, so even the half way mark has been passed. In percentage terms Wednesday night's figure represent about 61 per cent of the quota.



HELP FINISH THIS JOB

All citizens who can possibly do so are urged to buy a bond. That this Victory Loan has appealed to the small investor is borne out by the fact that up to Wednesday all over Canada $26,853 individual subscribers which is more than the combined total of the two previous Victory Loans, had subscribed $153,37,000

LOCAL RED CROSS SOCIETY INCREASING ITS WORK

That quietly, but very successfully, the local Red Cross Avocation is increasing its sphere of usefulness is the information given by Mrs. M. C. Hammond, convener of work and supplies, Tofield branch. During all of 1940 166 pairs of knitted socks were handed in, but in the first five months of 1941, 168 pairs have been knitted, more than double the number in less than half the time All other sewing and knitting have increased accordingly

The sincere thanks of the Red Cross organization and also those benefitting from the organization is tendered to all Red Cross workers.

In a recent communication received from Mrs. W. E. Campbell, National Chairman of Women's War Work Committee, she says:—

"We beseech Canadian women to rally to the needs of the Red Cross. Never, while it realizes that this is a difficult time of the year for many people, it should be remembered that for them the war is gathering momentum, and for us it is high enough to give a few hours each day, to a job we can still accomplish from the safety of our comfortable workrooms, the shelter of our homes."

"Women of the Red Cross—WORK KNIT SEW PRAY

The men, women and children of Britain deserve no less from us".

CARD OF THANKS

The McKenzie baseball club wish to thank all those who helped to make their memorable picnic a success. Especially the ladies who donated gifts.

WEDDING

SUMMER FLOWERS FORM SETTING FOR MARRIAGE

Tall stately gladioli, spicy carnations and feathery fern formed a lovely background in the drawing room of the Macdonald home on Thursday evening, when Muriel Malcolm, daughter of Mr. Malcolm and the late Mrs. Malcolm became the bride of Mr. Thomas Laming Mirvish of Toronto, formerly of Tofield. Mr. Mirvish is the son of Mrs. Willson Foran, a sister of Mr. and Mrs. A. Foran of Tofield. Rev. D. K. Allen of Tofield performed the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. C. Hammond of Tofield.

Summery white georgette was chosen by the bride for her lovely wedding gown. The dress fashioned with a tiny Peter Pan collar, covered seams by gathered white bishop sleeves and full sweeping skirt with fingertip veil was fastened at the dainty bridal net edged in chantilly lace, and formed into a charming Mary Queen of Scots chaperon. A dainty bouquet of white roses, the girl's own gift, completed the bridal picture. Miss Foran was matron of honor and attended the bride in a pretty summer dress of printed georgette.

Mrs. Jack Thomas was a charming picture in a floor length two-tone gown of cornflower blue sheer, fashioned with a gathered waistline, flared shirt, and bishop sleeves with the yoke and cuffs of pink flowered ball and shoulder length blue veil. Her flowers were pink carnations.

Petal pink sheer comprised the lovely gown worn by the bridesmaid Miss Helen Day of Tofield. This was fashioned with tucked bodice, girdled waistline and full skirt. A small hat of pink flowers with a matching pink shoulder length veil and a bouquet of mauve snap dragons completed her ensemble.

Mr. James Foran of the R.C.A.F. supported his brother as best man. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Ivy Gray of Kamsack sang "I love You Truly." Mrs. Jean Fleming supplied the wedding music.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Legion Room where a buffet luncheon was held for the twenty seven guests. Toasts to the bride was proposed by Rev. Allan and toast to the bridesmaid by Mr. Alex Bessie.

Receiving with the bridal party, Mrs. Malcolm, mother of the bride, wore an afternoon dress of navy blue crepe accented with crisp white accessories and a corsage of posh rosebuds. Mrs. Foran, mother of the groom, chose a redingote model in deep rose with which she wore navy accessories and a similar corsage of talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Foran left for spend the week-end at Calgary. For going away the bride donned a small beige dressmaker suit, with powder blue accessories. They will make their home in Tofield.

BERT EVERITT — TOFIELD

Rendez-vous in Vienna

A story of romance and adventure in Europe prior to the outbreak of the present war.
By LESLIE HAMILTON

"What about this afternoon?" Maxine objected.

"The fact that we were not seen in the cafe was just pure luck," she replied. "But it isn't good sense to expect the risk when there is nothing to be gained by such foolishness — now is it?"

"What makes you so sure we were not observed?"

"Because agents of police would have been here making enquiries long before this.

"In that case, why did you risk bringing me to your apartment, considering that secrecy is supposed to be essential?"

"I was faced with the danger of our remaining longer a public, or of taking the chance we had not been seen and getting safely to cover up here."

"Of two evils, so to speak." Ken smiled. "You chose the lesser, in that instance."

"Don't make me admit it up very sweetly."

"Suppose we had been seen, and a couple of foreign men had called to make enquiries, then what?"

"I gambled on your American secret supporting me when I told you were a friend. I hadn't met up on the boulevard. I might have warned you the moment I saw it came at the door that I could not risk it. But I would probably have stopped to call you, when suddenly I saw you had been locked into the apartment—there would be no point in my going back after one look at your photograph, and I'd have nothing to gain by a hurried visit. But, my dear, a regular cloak-and-dagger affair, isn't it? Tell me," he concluded, laughing at her serious expression, "do you think you have managed to escape the secret service and discover me here at the present time?"

"I have never met the right man, for one thing," she retaliated, quickly recovering from her temporary confusion. "I was a bit too slow last night for the secret service men you need, "and since then I've learned to keep my mouth shut. Maybe I'm no longer in the state of single blessedness, but I'm still single enough to be a happy bachelor girl who prizes her independence immensely. So spoiling that made is going to trap me into becoming a poor man's 'slave', she concluded with a pert glance at Maxine, "and no rich old rose will ever lure me into a gilded cage either — not while I'm conscious anyway; and they you have the whole story."

"Seems to me I've oftimes heard rebellious young maidens expressing similar determination," Rex warned her in jocular reproof, "but they nearly all came a cropper sooner or later. However, you've landed us ourselves and there's no danger of your being caught up on us, how's about breakfast?"

"Very well done indeed!" she praised him. "Quite good enough for me to marry, I'm afraid. I suppose you can drive a motor car, too, and probably make an excellent chauffeur into the bargain."

"Very sweet and condescending of your highness, I'm sure," Maxine retorted with mock humility. "Like wise, I may say that you would make a charming maid," this with an air of generous patronage, "but as social custom frowns upon a bachelor having a young lady for a personal secretary, I'm afraid I cannot recommend also promise you a job, should you ever be in need. Now, to get back to the question of breakfast. I suppose you can't cook either, can you?"

"Not even a hundred per cent efficient," Rex murmured in flippant mood. "I'm afraid I'm a wonderful wife for somebody who can't cook."

"I don't think you'll be much of a success as a secretary, either," she laughed, "for you've made a wonderful start right now, but I'll promise to think about it if we ever get out of this mess."

"I may hold you to that when the time comes, if you're good," he replied gravely, "so don't say I didn't warn you. Mr. Hunt, you're a man of few words. Can't you say something?"

"I'm very sorry, but considering the circumstances I'm afraid I'm rather tongue-tied," Ken answered, "but I'm sure we're very grateful to you for your help, and I'm sure Miss Maxine will be a very charming secretary, and I'm sure she will be a very charming wife for somebody who can't cook, but I'm afraid I'm not the man. I'm sorry, but I'm afraid I'm not the man."

"Let's worry about that in the distant future, for I'm afraid we're in a bad way in the civil turmoil." Rex laughed, striking that note from the banter. "Our present fix is enough to worry about

A MERCURY WANT AD BRINGS RESULTS

LINDEBROOK

Some folk went to Tofield last week to see a movie "Gone With The Wind", now we don't have to go anywhere to see the real thing, we've got it right here now and both crops, gardens and pastures are suffering and it looks as if the watering facilities for livestock will be jeopardized soon. Still we live in hope and you know the rest.

The north country figures in the Flood and Hospital Calhoun's again this week. This time it is a trio of ladies on their way to a club meeting who wandered through the lovely glades and bushed up on another farm altogether from the one they were out for. Those ladies are by no means strangers to this "neck of the woods" and should have known where they were but the only guess we can hazard is that they were so busily occupied in talking that they didn't take notice of where they were going. Some of you might say "Oh Pshaw" but we say "Oh Shucks" for the experience and all the rest is in the realm of magazines; but we, our club women aren't, that kind, so it wasn't "garbled vision" and besides this was on the way to the club; must have been the talk or just the trustless forest of big trees. Maybe one should wear bells when going up there, or shoot up flares.

The dance held in the Hall last Friday was a huge success, well attended, well managed and good food and music with lunch and refreshments served by the ladies and the three-piece band Bill Bowie, Mrs. Bowie (the orchestra) did their part well, we hear that Mr. W. Kortzman, Commissioner of the Viking Band also took a hand with the music The funds of the Hall should benefit considerably by this dance and the more the merrier.

We regret to hear that Mrs. W. Redwood of Lindbrook N. is ill. We hope it is not serious and that she will soon recover from her ailment.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kortzman of Vermilion, Alta., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kortzman and son, Walter of Torlea Alberta, and Mrs. F. Lundmark and daughter Joanne of Edmonton visited with Mr. and Mrs. F. Kortzman and family of Lindbrook.

Mr. Ted Gosnell, a cowboy who hails from Brushy of Siberia and sometimes Lindbrook and Lavoy, Alta., is visit some friends living there.

We take back our "grouse" at the Hall. Those cabaret ads are going thankful for the beautiful rain on Sunday night it has broken and the completion of things in all ways.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Dodds visited Mrs. W. Hooper and family also Mrs. J. H. Brown and family last Sunday.

Miss Margaret Glaesner of Spicy Coulee is a two weeks visitor at the at the Lindbrook School in preparation for teaching school on her own next year.

LOCAL & PERSONAL

As item, inadvertently omitted last week was a report of a farewell party accorded Mrs. Rose who has since left to join Mr. Rose at Mannville. The party, sponsored by Mrs. Mona's former bridge club members, was held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Morton on Monday of last week. Bridge was played and a delightful lunch served. The guest of honor was presented with a gift as a token of appreciation of her good fellowship.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson attended the Graduating Exercises at the Edmonton Normals School last week.

Miss Edith Green Robinson, a recent graduate is nursing her sister Mrs. Ethel Wark in the Home Economics classes in the Holden Division.

Plans Taking Shape For July 1

Plans are taking shape for a real July 1st here (weather permitting). The baseball committee have Holsdon, Deddo and Tofield lined up to play here. All these teams are well known and have given keen games on the tournaments in which they have entered.

Ladies softball events feature four smart teams. The quite famous Silver Lake team is coming and together with Ryley, Deddo and Tofield, some really good softball games may be expected.

Other attractions will be up to the standard of former years. The big parade will be run by the Tofield branch of the Red Cross Society and the old original hot dog stand with Walter Bellamy in charge will be under the same auspices The low odd minutes charges still prevail. A good day at a moderate cost. A dance at night at the Variety Theatre winds up the day.

MANY COME IN TO SEE MILITARY DEMONSTRATION

What was probably the most complete military display ever seen in Tofield was given at the fair grounds on Saturday afternoon last.

In the morning a Bren Gun carrier, driven by Neil Phillips, a Tofield lad came into town and with them were the centre of interest of all and curiosity. About an hour later, several cars containing officers, and trucks containing men and equipment rolled into town and proceeded to the fair grounds.

About three o'clock in the afternoon headed by an excellent military band, a smart appearing company of soldiers made a tour of the town and then returned to the fair grounds where the military demonstration was commenced.

The proceedings opened by the playing of "O Canada" by the band after each item was explained by the soldiers a running description was given over a loud speaker system. A big sp at the wire barricade.

small arms musical drill drew forth the applause of the crowd. The Brew Gun of which one mount on board was then described section by section the taken apart and re-assembled as anti-air-craft gun. Anti tank guns and Mr. Vanev 8.00

Then the final game Tofield lost to Deddo by a score of 15—1. Battery: McAllister, Burke, pitchers; Foshang, catcher.

Tofield Victory Loan Headquarters Files Honour Roll

Today, Thursday, Tofield Victory Loan Headquarters will be closed. Many personnel signifying that it has gone over the top in the Victory Loan campaign. The quota for Tofield was $82,000 and at time of writing the 80, in the Town Tofield Members present: Deputy Mayor Lovell, Councillors Letourneau, Bellamy, Burke, Hammond.

After the reading of the minutes of last meeting, applications for loans subscribed to and signed his oath of office.

Communications were read from one Doctor in Swift Current, Sask., one in Calgary, and one in Winnipeg, enquiring as to particulars and prospects of locating in Tofield. Two of these letters were in response to an advertisement placed in the Calgary Herald. Replies have been sent but as yet no further response to date.

Some discussion ensued around the dismantling of the Town Hall and rebuilding in another location. One of the last loans received by Councillor Burke for the work. Due to probable cost of removal and construction in a location the matter was tabled until another meeting.

The by-law number 393 in which Dr. Law was originally appointed Medical Health Officer was rewarded by giving three readings.

Coun. Trees requested leave of absence to attend a refresher course to be held at University of Alberta on June 16, 17, 18. Moved by Councillor Hammond, seconded by Councillor Burke, that this be granted and that we pay expenses amounting to $10.00 for the same. Carried

Construction of sidewalk of a distance of 200 feet on the west side of Main Street, and the merits of cement as compared to asphalt with respect to two tenders for the work occupied some time. Moved by Councillor Burke, seconded by Councillor Letourneau we accept the tender for same at a cost of $577.00 for the complete job.

Mr. Butterfield of the Dept. of Health, of the Province, was present and gave a report of the milk supply and various depots of garbage in the Town. Calls had been made at a number of places where garbage was considered particularly bad. Discussion centred around maps and means of collecting it and it was his opinion that this should be done by contract, and the cost charged to the property concerned. Conditions generally, in this connection, were considered moderate and it was recommended that steps be taken to improve them. A flat was made for attention.

Moved by Councillor Burke, seconded by Councillor Hammond that the list of accounts be paid as submitted and statement of receipts and disbursements for May be included in the minutes.

The meeting then adjourned.

Rendez-vous in Vienna

A story of romance and silver lace in Europe prior to the outbreak of the present war.
By LESLIE HAMILTON

"You have certainly thought all things out very cleverly," Olga commented him, "and your confessions after one considers them carefully, seem sound enough. What I am so nervous about is the long journey across Germany, especially with the contraband we'll be carrying if we're successful before leaving here. Provided we do recover the picture," she added, puffing lightly on her cigarette, "how do you intend to transport it? We can't take it along in its present frame, that's obvious."

"I intend cutting it out and rolling the canvas as small as possible. Wrapped in strong brown paper and carried inside a large full size golf bag with a set of golf sticks dropped in side for good measure, no one will ever suspect I'm carrying anything but a set of clubs." He explained, absent-mindedly striking a match and re-lighting his still burning pipe.

"That's a splendid idea!" his confederate agreed, "and it will be quite easy to buy one suitable for the purpose. Fortunately, I have a fairly large sum of money on hand; so, although it will be an additional expense when counting the cost of the bicycles, boat fare and our fares to Brussels, I think I shall have sufficient to see us through all right."

"In that case we are well off financially," Ken answered her, "because I started from London with twenty-five pounds; of my own and also collected ten thousand R-Gas from another sixty-five pounds from your relatives in Brussels. Deducting my expenses so far, I have between sixty five and seventy pounds left, so between 170 reserve the lot here marks and hold them in reserve for emergencies. It will be better to use the money you have in German marks as to meet current expenses, I think, as they will be subject to such a heavy discount afterwards."

"There is a huge market here where you can pick up almost anything we need," Olga volunteered, in complete accord with Monroe's suggestion to use her funds and conserve their foreign exchange. "I think we can move quite a bit too by buying second-hand outfits, don't you think so?"

"Bright girl!" As a matter of fact, a used bag would be better than a new one; and while you are at it you might see what you can find in the way of a pair of cheap rucksacks, unless you have a couple," he added quickly, "have you?"

"No, I haven't; his accomplice confessed after carefully thinking over her request. "The only hiking equipment I can produce is really cycling kit, socks, shorts, a sport sweater and cap, so."

"We shall need those as well, so you had better dig them out. They will render us best service when using the bikes and after all, we might as well look the part to perfection." Monroe said, thinking what an attractive picture his companion would look in such a rig-out. "It's part is worth playing at all," he continued, "it's worth doing right, that's always been my motto."

"What about an outfit for yourself? that will have to be right too, I suppose?"

"Yes, and the bicycles at the same time."

"Do you want me to get them?" she asked him.

"No I think I had better look after those purchases, I don't want you linked to the bicycles in any way. Otherwise, when the hue and cry begins, it might give the Gestapo a lead."

"In that case there is a very good shop not far from the main tourist office, where you will find such men's clothes and all the necessary kit to suit. They also speak English there, so you won't have any difficulties," his companion prompted, meticulously describing the exact location of the sporting establishment.

"Okay, I'll get what I need from that place and two suitable machines besides," advising her that the next step would be to locate disreputable golf-bag, and rucksacks stuffed with the cycling outfits somewhere near Vienna. "It must be where we can get ready pack the lot up after the raid, and a private place if at all possible. Can you think of a good spot for the purpose?" he enquired, clothes and equipping the ask they were going to do, grave and began to pace backward and forward in an attitude of thoughtful miles

"My old aunt has a small cottage in a wooded section just outside the village of Spelsing," Miss Mueller suggested after a few turns up and down the room. "There is a convenient enough for us to use for the next outbreak where everything would be quite safe and, fortunately for us, she is stone deaf and couldn't hear and tipsoed, silently as he thought, anything. The old lady isn't at home just the girl's apartment.

MERCURY FOR THE CHINESE?

The Kael Maru, a Japanese ship which recently loaded a large cargo of sacked wheat at Vancouver ostensibly for North China, called at the port of Tacoma on Wednesday before entering Vancouver, its clearance, Tsuneko Nichiko, was arrested by United States treasury department agents on a charge of violating the National Defence Act. It seems that on June 8th Mr. Richard took a trip to Aberdeen, Washington, where he called on all the drug stores and purchased all available stocks of mercury. He managed to buy eight pounds of that commodity, a vital necessity in armament production, but this was confounded by the U.S. agents.

"Is that you, Rex?" she called softly from the bedroom, obviously relieved to hear him return

"It's none other than your bumble servant."

"Did you have any luck: any more news?"

"Oh yes," he replied, "although it's not too good. Plenty of rumours, but little authentic information."

"You're in and out like an all about it; I can't possibly wait until morning."

Stepping into the bedroom without further ado, Rex soon pulled a chair, allocated by Olga, to the side of the bed and, gingerly settling his now feather-weight article of furniture Shaded her a wee, he commenced hostilities in this enchanting "honey moons" atmosphere!

"This is nineteen thirty nine, 'honey', so be your age!" came the caustic retort, accompanied by a quizzical glance from beneath a pair of fine, delicately arched eyebrows.

"O tempora! O mores!" (O shame—O the manners), Rex reproved in his most sarcastic gravity that he was immediately told, with a half smothered ripple of amusement, to under the church sar-ing his misdemeanours. "However, let me have our report, sir," imitating his air of solemnity, "before I order you from my chamber for four-and-twenty!"

"Okay, carrots; here it is: To sum it up in four words—the Exodus is on!"

"What do you mean, the Exodus?" Exactly what I say. Everyone that can shake the dust of war-mad Germany from their dainty or otherwise feet is making a powder for their tail feather and the wide open spaces! The Grand hotel is now practically empty; the assessment of any property, or to the accessed value placed upon any property, must, within thirty days from the date of this notice, lodge his complaint in writing with the secretary-treasurer of the municipal.

THE TOFIELD MERCURY

A Weekly Newspaper Published at Tofield, Alberta

W. Worton, Publisher

WHEN PRIME Minister Chamberlain said in the autumn of 1939 that Germany's pact with Russia was going against all previous German foreign policy, he spoke the literal truth. Despite repeated reports of "complete collaboration" between Germany and Russia, sent out for world consumption, those who were close to official circles in Berlin knew different. They knew that when the opportunity occured or a set of forced circumstances presented themselves, Germany would, with the same speed with which it donned the mask of friendship for Russia, discard it. The question among informed circles in Berlin was never whether Hitler would invade Russia, but when.

According to informed correspondents Hitler commenced massing troops near Russian frontiers as soon as the campaign in France was over. As early as last October there were not less than 110 divisions out of a total of 162 within striking distance of Russia and deliveries to Germany by Russia of raw materials were unfailingly. All of this goes to show that despite repeated statements that Germany and Russia were friends, there never was any real friendship between the two countries.

Now that an actual invasion of Russia by Germany has taken place the world will watch with almost baited breath the outcome of large scale land battles. In pre-Soviet days Russian Armies though large were not considered particularly effective, but what a great many people do not know is that almost as soon as the Russian revolution was over and the Soviet Republic formed they began to pay great attention to military matters. In the early days of the Soviet republic it was not Germany who was held up as a possible invader of Russia,but Great Britain. To ward off the perils of a British invasion, young Russia was urged to build up an army and while there was no peril, (Great Britain was disarming at this time) the result was just the same as if there was. A new Russian Soviet army was built up. How good it was or how much it has been improved during the intervening years few people know.

However, the time has come for a supreme test of Russia's strength. Stalin, Molotof and the Russian high command knows that Germany is out for complete European domination. They know that any offer of friendship was merely a means to an end and that end was to obtain for the German war machine those raw materials they are now and have been for centuries Russian. And above all they know that to continue to possess those things they will have to fight and defend them to the utmost.

THE BRITON EXCEEDS HIMSELF—

THE BRITON is not only a better type than other people have sometimes thought him. He is superior also to his own opinion of himself. Thus, one man who thought he was afraid of his own mother-in-law finds himself equal to terrors she would never have wished for him. Another man who couldn't imagine himself talking back to his boss will talk back at the world's would be boss every bombed night in the week.

But not only does the self-styled unheroic Briton find himself a hero; the self-styled "low-brow" finds himself a "high-brow." The London Philharmonic Orchestra has been making a round of the Provinces. And Britons who did not know they liked good music have been turning out in thousands to hear it played. Jack Hylton, British jazz band leader who has been conducting the classics on this tour, says a typical comment from hearers is: "I'm a high brow and didn't know it." What are all these discoveries going to do to the average Briton's self-esteem?

Probably it won't get out of hand so long as British humor continues to equal that of the London woman who talked to an American newspaper correspondent in an air-raid shelter while the bombs threatened to interupt the conversation. "My goodness," she said, "this is a raid. You know, if we British win this war alone, the world won't be able to stand us."

TOLERANCE ENDANGERED—

DEPRESSING to citizens of democracies are the current indications of weakening in the spirit of tolerance, that jewel of free people, so lacking in the characters of the dictators. On the radio, in editorials and in public addresses there is an ever increasing resort to abuse of individuals and attribution of treason because of difference in opinion.... When people permit tolerance to be endangered they take first steps toward subscribing to and surrendering to the brutal forces intent upon destroying all that stands for freedom of expression.

The shortcake controversy is current again in the Middle West, but there is unanimity in opposing the type which uses berries only for decoration.

"AT HOME FOR THE ARMY"

The army inviting the general public to visit its barracks and training centres on ARMY DAY, Sat., June 28th.

A dominion wide visitors' day for the army has been proclaimed for Saturday, June 28th and every camp from coast to coast will welcome visitors who want to see what goes on in these training centres for the young manhood of Canada.

Relatives and friends will undoubtedly take this opportunity to visit their boys who are in training and the general public is cordially invited to join these visitors and see the progress that is being made in Canada's war effort.

This will be a gala occasion at every depot in Canada. Special displays will be given at each point, and, at the larger centres there will be special parades.

This is more than an opportunity. It is a duty that every loyal Canadian owes to himself and his country—the duty of taking a vital interest in great defence preparations and of becoming acquainted with the important work that is being done in Canada to help make the world safe for democracy.

This is no time for indifference. Citizens are urged to endorse Army Day with their interest and approval by visiting one of the training centres and assisting at a gala day with Canada's youth-in-arms.

COAST TRAIN TO RUN IN TWO SECTIONS

Winnipeg, Man., June 24th.—To take care of increased passenger traffic during the summer months, the Canadian National Railways announced today. The tourist train will be operated between Edmonton and Vancouver from June 27th to September 8th, according to an announcement by Osborne Scott, passenger traffic manager, in no peg

The first section leaving Edmonton at 7.15 a.m. daily on the east bound journey, consisting of standard sleepers, tourist sleeping cars and coaches, will be operated as far as Kamloops, where it will be joined with the second section which will leave Edmonton half an hour later and will reach Kamloops at 7.45 p.m. the next morning. The second section will be made up of standard sleepers, tourist sleeping cars and coaches and will reach Kamloops at 7.45 p.m. the next morning.

Connections will be made at Kamloops with the Canadian National Railways' transcontinental train for Montreal, Toronto and points east and for Vancouver and points west.

EDMONTON 1941 EXHIBITION JULY 14—19

Stars of sensen, stage and radio, thrilling rides, spectacular and merry ride shows have been engaged for the Edmonton Exhibition Association's summer fair which will be held from July 14 to 19th inclusive.

In addition to the spectacular grandstand attractions, midway rides and shows, there will be set days of horse racing with some of the finest Canadian and American horses competing in seven races daily

There will be marvellous fireworks displays on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Other special attractions are the basketball tournament open to amateur teams from any city, town or village in Northern Alberta.

The grandstand show, "Music on Wings" is heralded as the greatest musical extravaganza since Ziegfeld and will feature Milt Britton, the band of daring and its famous band known as the Musical Maniacs. This is an attraction that will rank the grandstand with laughter. It has been rated the No 1 comedy band for years and three years ago scored a remarkable hit in London, England.

This year an entirely new All Canadian Midway will be shown. It is being organized by Phil Cunklin, who, for the past several years has had the contract for the Midway at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The Edmonton show he has assembled dazzling new rides based on the public's intense interest in aerodynamics with air jets, carrets the same sensations as a pilot gets when he runs his plane into battle.

In meeting the request of the Federal government for the Edmonton Exhibition to cancel the Horse R.C.A.F. training centre, it has been necessary to cancel the livestock show, and in doing this the Association's directors feel they will have the full support and entire approval of all livestock people in Canada.

Summerfallow

It is a noteworthy fact that even in the wettest districts some farms are clean. On May 26, I took a short drive through a district north of Winnipeg. We have intentions of new thistle, blue lettuce, leafy spurge, quack grass, stinkweed and a variety of annuals were prominent. However, there were two farms on which scarcely a weed was to be found, and the owners or operators were not just lucky.

If a farm is clean, weed-free seed must have been used, and wise tillage practices followed. These things themselves include timely and thorough cultivation, destruction and superior summerfallowing.

At this time of year weeds grow very rapidly. Delayed operations often lead to plowing under a new crop of weeds—dangerous form of insanity. If the summerfallow is to be planned, it should either be plowed early or surfaced-tilled in May and early June. "Plowless" fallows must be tilled often enough to prevent annual weeds from setting seed.

There are many farms in the prairie provinces so infested with perennial weeds that cultivation would cost more than the land is worth. If this land is cleared, there will be many more.

Weeds deliverable to any grain buyer of the live elevator companies sponsoring this Agricultural Department will be forwarded to us for identification. Specimens may also be sent to Dominion Experimental Stations or Provincial Departments of Agriculture.

LINDBROOK

We've heard of the "changing face of nature", well we've room it happen here after the glorious two day rain that we enjoyed. Before, it was parched and brown, but now is a verdant green, and with a few more showers we hope it will keep so.

Last Sunday saw there was quite a family gathering at the home of Mrs. Hooper. Lynn's wife and mother, Mrs. De Lisle of Edmonton and his three boys Lorne, Gerry and Don were there. Then Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Brown arrived with their five children; Mrs. J. H. Brown being Mrs. Hooper's daughter. The only absentee from the family group was Lynn who is an active service in England

The spare around the elevator here last week looked like a "Petrol Park or Auto Park. Four or five cars and a tractor were there with the local mechanics doing repairs on them. We should call this spot "Reidy's Auto Park" for there's generally some poor "fiver" getting its insides torn out on this place.

Pte. Albert Lindgren now stationed at Red Deer was home on leave over the week end. He reports that he is enjoying the life, seems they drive trucks quite deep into sloughs and then order some poor guy to get it out! Trying to get as close to the real thing as possible, but the bullets and bombs; and we saw in one paper that some one had the idea that if a small percentage of the casualties were used it might pep the boys up a bit, not so good for the boys eh? What a fool! And a recruiting drive in progress!

If anyone meets a long figure wandering about the fields, trailing about dozens of eggs, pounds of butter and an oat sack, don't get alarmed, its only the harassed census taker, who, we guess by now falls out innumerable times in his sleep, and sees them every time he shuts his eyes.

JULY FIRST CELEBRATED AT TOFIELD

SHOWERY WEATHER FAIL TO MAR SPORTING EVENTS

Rain came very close to spoiling it, but the Dodds girls made them the 1941 July 1st sports day at To- work for every run they made. The field but by hours, almost nonstop game ended with Silver Lake on the the day was saved. There were dif- load by a score of 6—3.

In this inning activities got under way about one Dodds got two men on bases and it o'clock and by mid afternoon one of looked as if they were going to score the largest crowds to assemble at To- but third man to bat went out at 1st field on July 1st in many years was base retiring the side. In the second on hand. Then a dark cloud appeared half of the 6th a similar situation in the east which turned to a rain developed, Holden getting two men on squall, temporarily halting proceed- bases and capitalizing on the position ings. This was followed by a brief by scoring two runs. Holden got spell of sunshine, more rain and then another weather tie in the 7th and the game perfect weather for the late after- ended 6—4 for Holden. noon and evening

The baseball, particularly the final game was above the average of immediate past years, as we do not remember ever seeing a larger crowd of spectators at the Tofield diamond than were present on this occasion. In fact the attendance was gratifying, well up from last year and preceding years.

The day's proceedings commenced with a baseball game between Holden and Dodds. This was quite a close game for the first four or five innings, but by the end of the seventh inning Dodds were up two. The final score in this game was 5—3 in favor of Dodds. Game called at the end of the 8th.

While the above game was in progress a softball game was being played between Ryley and Tofield. Tofield was not quite up to their usual form and Ryley were clopping on all six. The result of the game was 7—3 in favor of Ryley.

The second baseball game between Holden and Tofield got under way in the middle of the afternoon, but after a few innings, was halted on account of rain. Resuming, the game was played between [illegible] showers and resulted in a final score of 5—1 for Holden.

On the softball diamond Dodds and Silver Lake soft ball teams were playing a very close game, scores being four softball, by any means nam- ers. Silver Lake came with quite a softball reputation, and lived up to Entertainment at this time was run- ning high and the softball diamond at Silver Lake and Ryley battled for pre- mier honors. The game ended with Ryley on the long end of a 6—5 score.

During the afternoon many enjoyed the horse races. There were two events, free for all and pony races. In the latter the boys made quite a showing. The winners were: Free-for- all, 1st Jack Paul Wenbaki; 2nd M. Hunte, Ryley. Pony race: 1st Art Trent; 2nd E. Erickson; 3rd R. Tiedeman.

The usual list of foot races were run off and the very young and those not so young, both participants and spectators, seemed to enjoy them.

The horse shoe tournament was well played. In fact, after a tem- porary setback on sports days, this game has made a great comeback and horse shoe enthusiasts are "right-in- there". The winners were: 1st, Messrs. Olson and ——; 2nd, Messrs. Bilsaas and Whitton.

Both boys' and girls' bicycle races were run and while the track did not permit of speed records being broken, there was one exciting finish. The fellow had held the lead most of the way around, being trailed by a brother about 50 feet behind. When within about fifty yards of the finish, No. 2 spurted and went over the line a wheel ahead.

Mrs. and Miss Gordon Prevost and family spent July 1st visiting at the Manse.

Mrs. Ray Contin and Margaret are holidaying at Pigeon Lake.

A cookshelf timesaver demonstration at which quite a number attended was held at the J. Wayte farm on Friday last.

The really excellent display of Red Cross sewing and knitting, Arranged by Mr. M. C. Hammond who is convener of work and supplies, the variety and quality of the work was a surprise to many. When one thinks of Red Cross knitting and sewing socks, pyjamas, etc., come to mind but in a war in which there is so much bombing and injury to civilian population, almost any type of garment is welcome. On display there were dresses, suits, pyjamas, scarves, socks, etc., and a number of other articles.

The "Big Booth" flourished at the previous years, dispensing refreshment to all and sundry. The games kept clicking and while everybody did not win, all had their fun.

A delightful and popular sports night dance was held with good music and a jolly crowd The event was a complete success.

It will not be known authoritively until all records are in how the day fared financially. A new innovation, and one which proved popular, was the game and on the booth counter in order to collect money to be used to purchase sweaters for soldiers recruited in a total of $4.94 being collected. Most of this was collected by Mr. T. Wallington during the evening. The money will be handed to the I.O.D.E. and used for the purpose announced.

WHENEVER A SMALL town sponsors a sports day, there is immediately set up innumerable tasks for many people to do. There is much planning to be done, decisions to be made, much running around, meetings to attend, all, so that on the day itself proceedings may run smoothly and without confusion. Quite often these tasks mean quite an effort for those whose duty it is to do them and are often only done at some personal sacrifice.

To commence to mention names would be an error of judgement, somebody would likely be missed, but we do feel that proper public recognition of all those who in any way helped in the July 1st celebration here should be made From the farmer who hauled his tractor to work on the diamond, to those who worked unceasingly most of the day in the booth, to those directly connected with the sports day committee and those "just helping out", sincere thanks are due. If, as it has been said, true reward lies in a task well done, all have been amply repaid

A story of romance and adven ture in Europe prior to the outbreak of the present war.
By LESLIE HAMILTON

The moment breakfast was over, the following morning, Monroe announced his intention of going to the city in order to settle the money changing at mentioned on the Sunday afternoon.

"Are you going to the sporting shop for a rifle?" said the Baroness at the same time. "Because if so, I'll go with you. The second hand market who, you are away."

"Yes, I think I might as well take two rifles with me in case of need, and, while I think of it, no some extra ten would be a strong, wide bandage for one of the three or four extra straps will be needed as well," Rex added. "You see what you can find, will you, please?"

"In that case you will need German money. Just a moment and I'll get some from my handbag."

"That will be enough," Rex thanked her, as Olga returned in a few moments and gave him two banknotes.

"How about a flashlight, or have you one?" was her next query.

"Never thought! I haven't as a matter of fact; and in case of accidents, better get two; one for yourself and one for me. Incidentally, I think I will pack up my club bag from the station and leave it at the cycle shop until I go back for the week-end this afternoon.

"If you are going to do that, why you please wait a minute until I pack my own overnight case, then you can take it along with you and leave it there also?" dashing into the bedroom to gather her personal necessities together.

It didn't take her very long to pack the few belongings she would need on their trip, and within a few minutes his companion willingly handed it over to Rex, saying as she did so, "Shall I wait for you here, after I finish at the station?"

"Yes, I think that will be best," he agreed, making sure the way was clear before disappearing along the public corridor of the apartment building, which led to stairs and the street below.

By the time they reconversed in the flat, and Monroe had expressed himself well pleased with the golf case his partner had bought for twenty marks, it was after eleven o'clock; so they decided that, in view of Olga having to report to police headquarters at twelve, they would leave the next move in the game until after lunch when they would have the entire afternoon before them.

But Olga manage all right at the sporting shop. She enjoyed herself about preparing the lunch. While Otto spent all I need in the way of an outfit and two very good hikes. I also bought two light baggage rolls, which the shop people are fixing now for your week-end trip, which together with the two rucksacks can be slung over our shoulders in a true hiking fashion. I could get any straps with them.

"Yes and laught the extra money with which to do so this time. What do they for to strap our bags on instead of rucks?"

"For that purpose and other needs, we had that reminder, too, I nearly forgot it an important item."

"What is that?"

"We'll need some large sheets of heavy wrapping and tissue paper, and a ball of twine twice."

"Twice the string?"

"Precisely."

"I'll get those on my way back from police headquarters," Olga volunteered. "By time I was going to that I would never to be let out on this last trip."

"Good heavens! I should say not!"

"In the event me you can stow the extra kit, and the rucksacks if you like. Now to take the bed in the car over the afternoon hike." And the careful police employment, I feel that she would be entirely safe to and invisible as any male confederate, perhaps even more than now."

"Yes," was a regular Mrs. Raf-fles, but before we go through with it I think Monroe laughed [illegible] I thought a motto of a pre-[illegible] friend."

"Thanks for the left handed compliment! But complete settled in regard to the [illegible] tragically separated, completely armed to the [illegible] for [illegible]."

"With regard to the next item of business," Rex began after the lunch had been cleared away, "I'll stop out first, and then follow you in the boat. flat, if that's what you mean." house, taking the rucksacks and the golf case along with me. After you have rented a canoe, drift down the river close to the bankhouse side of the stream until you are clear of any possible observation from that quarter. I'll keep you in sight from the bank, and wherever you run into the shore and land, I'll join you. Then disguised, we'll find a safe spot in which to stow the other supplies I bought. Those extra straps, cotton wool, bandage balls of twine, etc.?" Olga suggested.

"No, I'll take charge of those articles," Monroe replied, stuffing them into his jacket pockets. "What about your flashlight and keys to your house? Got them with you?"

"Quite safe and handy, right here in my purse!"

"Okay, then; we're on our way! Only this time, remember for your turn to follow me!" peering into the outside corridor and motioning to his companion to follow when the coast was clear.

"I'll keep you in sight, you can depend on that!"

"Righto, Sergeant Majorous! And if anything should unfortunately go wrong, make for Spetzing and wait there until I join you, as arranged."

"I understand," she assured him.

Thence being a gay sunfish city, with a festive crowd of pleasure-lovers on her streets, even in the two o'clock afternoon, they managed with crowds of "night-owl" pleasure seekers. Monroe had shrewdly foreseen that, and had taken every additional coolness and goings would therefore excite no suspicion, especially on that particular Monday night, when the prevailing hot air temperature condemned the air-station extremely abnormal.

Owing to his surmise, the unwanted circumstances proved a blessing in disguise, and they attracted no unwelcome attention from any of the regular as special police (called for emergency duty) on the beat from the house in St. Josef Plat. Rex landed the way and Olga tagging faithfully on a short distance behind him.

The plan they intended putting into operation had been carefully worked out between them, after Monroe's check-up of the guards' routine the night before. During his counter-reconnaissance of the garden Olga-ings, Rex had noted an approach which would enable him to successfully stalk the guard who would be watching the postern gate, at the rear of the von Arnsberg premises.

The street upon which the back of the Count's property abutted was, as Monroe had quickly realized during his reconnaissance of the situation merely a short secondary connecting link with the main thoroughfare. Fortunately, this passage was bordered along its entire length by the backs of private residences alternately only, their respective boundaries being marked by walls, hedges or railings of various kinds, which they formed an excellent screen of concealment cover from one end of the street to the other.

The general layout which simplified matters very much for the conspirators, he it permitted Olga's confession to subsequently in perfect concealment until he reached a point of vantage, a dark gap between the wall of the von Arnsberg garden and the hedge marking the convey line of the adjoining property, from which he had spotted as suitable for his purpose.

Having reached their objective safely, Rex was now ready, when the proper moment arrived, to attack the unsuspecting agent of the Gestapo, and two of which—as he had warned his accomplice—depended upon how effectively the policeman was to be overpowered and rendered harmless.

The event due at midnight (changing of the guards) which Monroe patiently awaited, not unlike an Indian crouched in ambush, was not long in coming. Approaching footsteps, followed by a guttural command to halt, a brief conversation between the two men — something Rex would have given much to understand—and then measured steps, which soon ceased altogether, told him the prisoner had met his match, and he was alone with the servant of the third Reich, who had [illegible].

Summer Vacations In The Canadian Rockies

Banff, where the motto mark be play, Lake Louise, which is acknowledged among the ten most beautiful views in the world, and Emerald Lake, Yoho Valley, Moraine Lake, Lake O'Hara, Lake Wapta and those other easily accessible lodges in the Canadian Rockies have this year made attractive plans to entertain record numbers of American and Canadian holiday-seekers.

During the three-month season, early June to early September, the famous scenbery section of the Canadian Rockies will hold the stage as Canada's most outstanding holiday ground. Already reservations are being made for sorts offer the ultimate in vacation pleasure. Banff Springs Hotel has a golf course which stands among the foremost of the continent; there are splendid swimming pools at Banff and Lake Louise. From all the resorts there are unlimited possibilities for pleasure trips by motor, horse or on foot. Wild animals roam freely through the Canadian National Park and there is a profusion of gay alpine flowers to provide a lovely foreground for the scenic grandeur of the snow-covered mountains. Golfing, tennis, bathing, fishing, canoeing, boating and trails are among the regular recreation possibilities. Special events on the entertainment calendar this year are the Stampede, July today, at nearby Calgary, July 10-12; Indian Days at Banff, July 17-19; Alpine Club Camp at Glacier, July 20 August 1; annual outing of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, July 25-31; annual outing of the Ski-Line Trail Hikers, August 1-4; Banff Golf Week, August 24-30, and Banff School of Fine Arts, August 1-26.

The holiday magic in these famous resort areas will be made more familiar throughout North America Canada this summer. Americans have always made up the majority of visitors to the lovely playground and early-season reservations indicate that they will return again in increased numbers. A series of bargain fares and special 21-day excursions to Banff, Lake Louise and other Rocky Mountain resorts, over Canadian Pacific Railway lines, will this year make it possible for many Eastern Canadians to spend inexpensive vacations in the Canadian Rockies, while Western Canadians will in their usual large number spend their holidays in the Rockies.

AIR RAID SHELTER CORRESPONDENCE

The following interesting letter, much of it written in an air raid shelter, given a vivid description of life in some parts of England under present day conditions. The letter was received by Miss Edith Robinson, Portsmouth, England.

Dear Edith,

Your kind and interesting letter came most opportunely, on the day after our usual blitz. It was a beautiful weather this week and I have been taking advantage of it to get some of my gardening done. Can you imagine what it is like to work in a sunny, peaceful garden by day, within 100 feet of a bowling alley which usually gives several real alarms each day, while upwards of a dozen bombers fly overhead in their train (having built planes and fighters often pass over on their patrol of the skies, then as it gets dusk you hurriedly finish off the work and proceed at least the evening and part of the night in the shelter, while air raids are in process. I am in my shelter now, very cozy with hot water bottles and coverings, and I was candles for light. An enemy plane is passing over at this moment and the guns are shaking my shelter, and I hear the shrapnel falling. It is collected by me and used for my ammunitions. I do appreciate your kindness in offering to send me anything I need (here comes another enemy). So far I have plenty of food, though I do miss many things a little. We have not seen an onion for many months, as our own crops failed, owing to dry weather, so there are no fresh vegetables. Our tea is very scarce, but we have been having a fine supply of jokes about onions. Oranges too have disappeared, dates and other dried fruits but some are coming in again, so you see I really am not in need of anything.

Our latest blitz here was our worst one. Another rampage is just over and another is commencing. All was very peaceful this afternoon and I was digging when suddenly a terrific explosion made me jump a few feet, but it was only a 1000 pound time bomb brought out from the Dockyard, being exploded about a mile away out in the marshes. The men who got these bombs out are called "The Suicide Squad" and this afternoon in getting another one out, which went off during the operation five men were blown to pieces in town. We have had a hectic week—bad raids every night from eight (dusk) till 4 or best 2 a.m. Monday night was by far the worst, though on Tuesday night eight houses were destroyed and eleven people killed a mile from here on one side, and houses all and a few plane cave down—which I heard make a whining sound a couple of miles the other side. Now the moon is full again and the nights fine so we are getting another hectic week. I am in my shelter and planes have just been fighting overhead—still going in fact—and the night is only beginning. Last night two land mines fell a few hundred yards from us, causing much damage and crowned and round dropped circles of bombs which whistled over our heads and dropped a little way off. One of the planes was brought down and we saw some others. Our other experiences of this week have been fighting over-head, bombs and machine gun bullets, planes blowing up with its load and to the air and a Dunsbourne which was brought down. Another machine-gunning, bombing, fighting, camera hunting and tender affairs are among the regular recreation possibilities. Special events on the entertainment calendar this year are the Stampede, July today, at nearby Calgary, July 10-12; Indian Days at Banff, July 17-19; Alpine Club Camp at Glacier, July 20 August 1; annual outing of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, July 25-31; annual outing of the Ski-Line Trail Hikers, August 1-4; Banff Golf Week, August 24-30, and Banff School of Fine Arts, August 1-26.

This is another long gap in your letter purely because we have had so many bad raids, when nearly no work and the one and partly because I have others in my shelter and so could not write during that time. I am still about you see, but we have had some very bad ones. The raid I spoke of in my last part of this letter has lasted from my mind in its destruction. Such a night of raids and strain and in particular one very bad night, where for seven hours there was no lull in the roar of guns, from one that shook my shelter and sounded like bombs in the distance guns of fighters while first flares and incendiaries, H.E. bombs and mines rained down all night all the country surrounding the town, and on the town, South a night spell of uninterrupted danger and noise is a great strain on one's nerves. However I am glad to say that the casualties were few, as on many of these things fell on earth instead of houses, but the blasts from the explosions broke the windows, damaged the roofs, shook doors and windows loose in bemsteds of houses. It will give you an idea how our houses are shaken, when you know it has blown open my windows, tearing off the fastenings, rolled up my blinds and opened my doors, yet I have had no real damage though a 1000 pound bomb fell about 150 yards from my shelter, covering my shelter with earth, but it was only 90 yards from Mr. Bryant's shelter, so they had a bad shock, although they were not, next all over the living room and little bits of ceiling down all over the house, as the next day they went over to a village called Denmead. They have disappeared, dates and other get plenty of bombs there but it is dried fruits but some are coming in not a safe spot.

INTO THE POOL

Dear Friends:—

You may wonder what the attraction of jumping in to the Pool is so here it is. Into the Morning Pool where the small fish get their food looking to prepare them for the o-peration of R.C.A.F. life.

As I turned passing from the sight of the fence of friends on the station platform at Tofield, on the train spot for Toronto, there was a very smiling-face lump in my throat and a nostalgia to the eye which the darkness kindly hid.

Passing by the smoking compartment of the sleeper, we just naturally drank heads, through strange-ers, and wished each other sweet dreams.

Though some did not sleep well owing to the motion of the train, most of us slept well. The next forenoon most of the men were quiet but by afternoon began to play cards and chat. In the evening we had a sing led by a mouthorgan and a violin. Everyone could be thankful for a pretty day until evening when we entered a beautiful a country as you could wish. small rivers, bordered by beautiful trees. Though all of the country were very pretty. The forest was inspiring and I passed into the next from the vestibule of the train feeling a great sense of peace and assurance. Yes, feeling that our God had us toward the goal of eternal peace for all men.

For 27 hours we passed through the country, and natural beauty and could be made into thousands of re-sorts. By late morning we began to feel the depression of the low-er altitude. The altitude here is only 384 feet above the sea. The country is very rich from Sudbury to Toronto.

Arrived Friday morning at 6:30 and the day was spent in a round of sightsee your name.

We are in some buildings that have been here a somewhat as it is now. Ion X, a young fellow in uniform rings and take, "anyone from Alberta in 304." We find a number located with the Hardisty team when they were in at the R.C.A.F. Exhibition, two or three years ago. We had quite a visit. Their team, like Lakeshore, is mostly in the Air Force. Get a tap on shoulder at dinner, yesterday, "Hello Gus." from a Holden fellow. "Anyone here from Edmonton?" asks a fellow as he got on the train at Winnipeg, and I thought he was going to kiss me when I replied yes.

There is certainly a wonderful bunch of fellows here and the fellowship, even of strangers, almost unbelievable. They give us all we can eat of good and perfectly prepared. I almost forget the games when off duty in the arena for anyone. Basketball, ping pong, badminton, weight lifting, shockers, chess; outside, baseball, softball, horseshoe, football, etc. If I don't quit on this line, you will begin to expect me to enlist as R.C.A.F. recruiting officer soon, or will close with the weather.

It was very dry to Rivers, Manitoba and very wet, some crops under water, between there and Winnipeg, and all through Ontario dry. It has been very hot here and the moist air and low altitude make one feel sickly all the time.

There are five isocahlinous tomorrow and when they wear off we will be on da write. I was going to get you "The Battle of Britain" but as I now hear you can get it in Canada, I won't do so, because of shipping. When our railways are bit, they are repaired with remarkable rapidity, somewhere every kind of vehicle on the road will help to get goods to and fro; private cars even may pick up anyone going their way and we only ask each other for comfort and cheer. You see, everyone of us is in the fight for our England and freedom. Even a kind word and cheery smile helps someone to bear up. We are a wonderful team of determination to hold out. No Hitler could break us. We are all in the football fever on my part, but I have a feeling that by the very force of our determination we will be victorious eventually beside this land. From my home I have now. I do hope you have received postings. If you only knew how prepared we are—which I may not say now. I do hope you have received my last writing and posting from my ship that night. What luck tonight, I wonder. All the Bryants are well so far, Poor old Mr. and Mrs. Bryant, 70 and 74 respectively; I hate to see them harassed by worry and lack of rest. The sun is shining and the birds are singing. I sometimes wonder if you have heard heavy gun fire. Unless you see broken houses, people and things look very normal in spite of all this trouble and we do get accustomed to much of it.

With lots of love and good wishes to you all.

Yours, Auntie Edie.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST
Experimental Farms
Where land you see and where experimental farms and the introduction of the scientific agriculture of the so-called white collar dartmor lives that we are being overrun by weeds, our soils suffering from erosion and wood is in the doldrums, the importance of greater efficiency and regard for permanent fertility is accepted.
If all the knowledge accumulated at experimental farms could be applied to the farming industry farmers would be much more prosperous and homes in much better conditions to and over to the next generation. Improved and improved varieties are no-where readily. The wheat mass put production of the best varieties of crops, and recently through the co-ordinated of rust-resistant varieties. Thousands of farmers accepted them.
Weed, soil drifting and water erosion problems could be solved in a similar manner if full use were made of the information available at experimental farms and stations. The application of scientific knowledge and agricultural practice is far too great which is being done by those few men by agricultural representatives and extension workers, but real progress can come upon the interest of the farmer himself.
Farmers will be upon to do a mental, fathers then, who men and women have been serving, $2.00 a Year. at the nearest experimental farm, Ottawa, including Postage Serving, $2.00 a Year. Intermediary Offer, 6 Issues 25 Cents.

The Sea Battle Of Matapan: Italian Fleet Smashed

Greatest naval victory since Trafalgar (1805) was that of the British Naval Forces over the Italians, in the Mediterranean off Matapan. The Italian fleet sustained a crippling blow by the loss of three of their fast cruisers and three modern destroyers. The picture is of the British battleship "Barham" which took a noble part in the action.

First Tank in Canada Produced by Canadian Pacific Railway

Gracefully accepted by the Government Prime Minister Mackenzie King, the first of many thousands of tanks to be produced at the Angus shops of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, Montreal, rolled off the assembly line and gave an impressive test performance before a large group of government and company officials, newspaper men and shops workers.

It was a new note in Canada's war history when this mighty War machine functioned out of the shops to be turned over to the Government by D. C. Coleman, vice-president, Canadian Pacific Railway, who said, "This machine is the child of peace and during such a time job. He recalled that 250 of the tanks being made at Angus will be for the British Purchasing Commission. Sir Clive Baillieu, head of the British Purchasing Commission in the United States, said this first tank was "a symbol of Canada's war effort and a portent of Hitler's doom."

"Statement Of Claim" Forms Now Ready For Signing

Statement of claim blanks relating to Prairie Farm Assistance, Wheat Acreage Reduction Scheme are now in municipal offices awaiting signatures.

The first date on which these forms may be signed is Monday, July 14. At present there is no cut-off date for submission of claims by farmers but it is considered desirable that all claims for the current year be submitted as soon as possible within the present season.

All farmers who signed preliminary applications under the Wheat Acreage Reduction Plan should attend to this without delay. In addition to the sworn affidavit by the farmer making the claim, it will be necessary to have a "certificate of identity" which is included in the statement of claim, signed by some other reputable citizen.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT JULY 1st A REAL SUCCESS

Drawing players from as far away as Lloydminster and quite a number from other points, the Tofield Annual Tennis Tournament went over big. In all there were about 30 visiting players which together with the local entries made up a good tournament entry list. Some good games were seen and quite a few spectators were around the courts during the day.

The following are the winners:
Men's Singles—Doug Cooper of Vermilion
Ladies' Singles—Ruth Keech of Vermilion.
Mixed Doubles—Geo. McPadnon, Aileen Allen.
Ladies' Doubles—Aileen Allen, Mrs. Jensen.
Men's Doubles—Geo. McPadnon, Bill Wortan.

Miss Joyce Chapman and Miss Ruth Saunders of Edmonton are visiting at the home of Mrs. Wood this week.

LINDBROOK

Lindbrook lost one of its old timers by the death last week of Mr. Arthur McHeffey. Mr. McHeffey lived and farmed around the district for the past 36 years and was well known and liked by all who came in contact with. A genial soul and his death leaves a gap in the community hard to fill. The sympathy of us all is extended to the family in their loss.

All his Lindbrook friends who could, attended the funeral to Tofield last Saturday. We presume that the Mercury will give details so will leave that to them.

Another "old timer" stepped off the "flyer" on Saturday night in the person of Mr. Fred Ford, now living with his father on Vasseyeur Island. He is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. McGowan during his stay here. By the way, Mr. Wild sr. is now 91 years of age.

The Annual Picnic of the Lindbrook school pupils and friends was held at Lakeview last Monday and it goes without saying what a wonderful time they all had.

Last Sunday a kind of joint birthday party was held at Lakeview. It seems that Mr. Tommy Jones of Lakeshore (Net New Jersey) and Mrs. Arthur Tucker, now of Edmonton, have their birthdays somewhat close together and so decided to combine the party. Thirty or forty people sat down to lunch with them there and offered their best wishes to them both.

Mrs. F. Evans is away at present on a visit to the city.

We have seen the "True Book" of the Lindbrook Community Hall Board; it is really worth it too. It is got up and printed by the youngsters and is really pithy too and gives one quite an insight into the little social whirl of even a country school. Congratulations kids, its great!

Lindbrook Store now sells tickets for the Greyhound, Sunburst and affiliated bus lines to any part of the U.S.A., Canada, Mexico and also to fast anywhere but Nani and Nani occupied territory. Maybe it won't be long before that can be arranged as well, let's hope so.

Work has started on the addition to the hall. The footings are in and next week it is hoped to start the building.

Bathers beware! The "Bob" has started its beastly work again and so far no one seems to have discovered a preventative or antidote even. If you want to bathe and cool off, well, you have to take schances! Its not always on the Job though, but it's one blessing, so you may be lucky. We hear that the lake resorts are packed and some awful tall fish stories are beginning to be heard, must be some whales in that lake somewhere.

THE PRIZE OF THE UKRAINE

Germany wants the Russian Ukraine. That was Hitler's definite statement in his famous book, "Mein Kampf". Now his armies are in motion against those of the Soviet Union

The Ukraine is one of the most important agricultural regions of the Soviet Union. Although its area is only about two per cent of the total area of Russia, the Ukraine normally accounts for nearly one-fifth of the Soviet's average under crop. Usually the Ukraine plants over two-thirds of the Soviet sugar beets, about one-third of the vegetables, barley corn and buckwheat, one fourth of the oats and sunflowers, one fifth of the forage and fodder, legumes, and rye wheat, one-sixth of the hemp, potatoes and rye, and one-tenth of the corn, cotton and flax. Wheat is the chief crop in terms of money, followed by rye, oats and barley.

The total area of the Ukraine is about 172,000 square miles as compared with 295,000 for the province of Alberta. In the southern districts, along the Polish frontier, the land is very fertile, orchards and fruit groves are then encountered, and further north the vast steppes along the shores of the Black Sea. It is in the area of rivers, emptying into the Black Sea, and their tributaries that cultivation is carried farm surpluses to the consuming centres of the world.

The population of the Ukraine in 1933 was around 32 million, the great majority of whom are engaged in agricultural pursuits. Two-thirds of the population is crowded into the northwestern half of the country, where soil and climate conditions have made possible an intensive agriculture.

It was from the Ukraine that the bulk of the grain exports came, which before 1914 made Russia known as the granary of Europe. At that time Russia occupied first place among the wheat exporting countries of the world. In the crop year 1910-11 Russia exported 232 million bushels of wheat. The 1914-18 war ended her grain exports and the U.S.S.R. never recovered the predominant position held in pre-war years, although in 1930-31 wheat exports touched 111 million bushels.

The cause of declining exports was obviously the curtailed surpluses caused by the growth of population. Total population within the boundaries of the Soviet Union increased from 139.2 million in 1914 to 170.8 million in 1939, or 23 per cent. Urban population increased from 24.7 million to 56.9 million, or more than 100 per cent. But the area under all grains showed only a slight increase. In 1927 it reached 256 million acres as compared with 264 million acres in 1913. In 1913 it was 252 million acres. It is obvious that production has lagged behind the growth of population, the capacity of urban industrial population. The collectivization of the land under state control was probably the main factor in preventing increases in that continental area. The peasants had little incentive to produce abundantly and did as little work as they possibly could.

Twenty ago there was a great change throughout the world because it was believed that Russia, through her five year plans, would produce enormous quantities of agricultural products, invaluable world markets, and keep down prices. But now it seems apparent that the large wheat exports of 1930-31 were forced because of the need for foreign exchange with which to buy machinery, for the Russian people had to pull in their belts while others less fond as a result. The rich agricultural Ukraine would be a great prize for Germany. Under modern agricultural methods the area could produce much more bounteously than in the past. The substantial population would also provide a extensive market for industrial products from Germany.

The Ukraine is a prize worth striving for.

BEAVER LAKE COUNCIL MEET

All members of Council were present at the regular meeting held in Ryley on Saturday, June 14th.

A grant of $50.00 to the Salvation Army for the current year was approved.

The case of Harry Kolmatsky of Vegreville was again discussed at length but Council could see no reason for changing its stand—that this family should and would be self-supporting. Steps to see their best endeavors to obtain employment.

Appointment of Mr. A. W. Tebbs of Pea as Weed Inspector for Divisions 1, 2 and 3 was confirmed.

Mr. Peter Rivers of Haigh was appointed Pound Keeper for the pound located at SW 22-50-16-w4.

The Secretary was instructed to prepare and publish a list of all municipal pounds together with the locations thereof and information as to the posting of notices.

A delegation of ratepayers from the South East corner of the M.D. waited on Council with a demand that a road along the Southerly boundary of section one-49-16-w4, be constructed, one member of the delegation pointing out that he has waited 24 years for this road. Consequently the road was agreed upon and authority to overspend his allocation was given Councillor Hosston.

Payment of any account for medical services required by a resident of the M.D. will be refused, in future, unless responsibility is definitely fixed by statute, or such accounts be authorised by Council or the Council- lor and the secretary.

The Secretary was instructed to require all physicians practising in this M.D. whether they would be agreeable to an arrangement whereby treatment authorised by the request services would be at a reduced fee, payable only municipality, and also to obtain legal advice as to the right of a physician to refuse medical assistance, if it appear he may not receive payment for such services.

The Total cost of District and All Weather Roads will be charged to general account in future rather than against divisional allocations.

It was decided to purchase a $500 Victory bond.

The next meeting will be held on Saturday, July 19th, commencing at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

A meeting of the War Savings Committee was held at the close of the council meeting and the Secretary reported the following pledges had been received:— Dr. 1... 25 Dr. 5...68; Dr. 6...19. Some W.S. Workers are still to report. The opinion was expressed that the West end of the M.D. is being worked by canvassers out of Tofield.

47TH BATT. ANNUAL CHURCH PARADE JULY 20th

The annual church parade of the above association will be held at Edmonton on July 20th, 1941. The parade will fall in at 9:45 a.m., in the neighborhood of the Market Square, and proceed to the Parliament Hall grounds where the service will be held.

Bevets and medals and bronzards no the right arm will be worn.

An invitation to attend this service has been sent to the Canadian Legion, the Canadian Corps Association, the Army and Navy Veterans, the Imperial Veterans, the Amputation Association and the Red Cherron Club.

The 2nd Batt. of the Regiment has also been invited to attend.

TO WESTERN Canadian farmers the invasion of Russia by Germany is of more than ordinary significance. Since the autumn of 1939 other countries have been invaded, over-run and partially despoiled, and the people of western Canada have followed these events with mixed feelings of sorrow and anger; sorrow for those countries invaded and anger against the aggressor nations that did it. As regards the latest invasion of a friendly power by Germany, the same feelings of sorrow and anger are present, but added to these, though in no way superseding them, are feelings of apprehension.

It has been no secret for many years that Germany coveted the rich agricultural lands of the Ukraine. In peace time and in war time, were Germany to permanently possess them, the agricultural areas of the Ukraine would prove a splendid source of food supply for the German people. The Russian people of course, who now feed off of these fields, would be left to shift as best they could.

Behind the roar of battle, the booming of guns, and the whir of the aeroplane, lie the marts of trade. War may or may not be inevitable, according to how one views the question, but certainly trading is. And where there is an area with millions of industrial workers and another area where there are millions of agricultural acres, there is the basic set up of trade relations. This set up occurs as between Great Britain, France, Germany, and Canada. To the millions of hungry people in Europe it is hoped Canadian grain will eventually be sent. But, and here is real cause for thought, if Germany obtains control of the agricultural control over the Ukraine, much foodstuffs previously purchased from this continent will be obtained from that area. It is quite true, even now the Russians have none too much. In fact in fairly recent years, there was not enough; with the result that in one particularly bad year, peasants actually starved to death. But Germany, it is well enough known, has never been a great deal concerned with the fate of conquered nations and it is fair to assume that should Germany have the power to do so, it would take the bulk of the foodstuffs of the Ukraine to feed the German populace. Certainly Germany would do this in war time and would probably invent an excellent excuse to do pretty much the same thing in peace time.

In speaking to his people recently Stalin made reference to and advocated a policy of the "scorched earth." This method of warfare by retreating armies calls for a high degree of courage and sacrifice. Briefly it means, as an army retreats before a superior force it deliberately and methodically destroys everything. Buildings, fields of grain, bridges, anything of the slightest use to the enemy is destroyed by fire if possible to do so. This makes the advance of invading forces more difficult but it also creates terrible havoc to the country involved. Here again Canada becomes indirectly involved. A country with as many cultivated acres as the Ukraine in Canada would also be destroyed without in some way economically affecting other countries similarly situated. If the harvests of the Ukraine are destroyed through the ravages of war, some effect is bound to be felt in other similar producing countries.

In common with the peoples of all democratic countries, the people of Canada sincerely hopes that the Russian army will be able to stem the tide of the German invasion, even to the point of turning it back and freeing Russia of the German Army.

GREATEST POWER IN THE WORLD—

THIS GREAT EXPLOSION of hatred and malice in Europe brings its reactions to all of us over here. It sweeps in great waves of unrest and mental disturbances which we must understand and conquer. . . .

There is no devil but fear and nobody and nothing to harm us but ourselves. We are as strong as our trust in faith and if we believe in ourselves, the world will believe in us. The greatest power in the world is the Power of God, so knowing this we can shake off the waves of fear and unrest.

"I IS REDDY WHEN YOU IS"

A NEGRO registrant was struggling with his questionaire. He looked it over for a long while, scratching his head and sweating profusely. Finally he said: "I caint answer all them questions in a year." So he turned the sheet over and wrote on the back: "I is reddy when you is," and sent it to the board.

This humble citizen, we believe, spoke not only the sentiments of his race. He also spoke for all the people of the South and, it is hoped, for the people of all other sections.—Elberton (Ga.) Star.

BANK OF MONTREAL CROP REPORT

GENERAL—In the prairie provinces a week of intense heat has advanced crops in Southern districts and to some extent in Alberta but stimulated healthy growth in Manitoba. Cooler weather and heavy precipitation in the last few days has been beneficial; but good July rains are required. Less from pests has been small, although a widespread infestation of early threatens damage. There has been slight scattered damages from hail. In Quebec growth has been retarded throughout the greater portion of the province by excessive heat and lack of moisture, and hay and pastures have suffered. Rain is urgently needed. In Ontario prolonged drought with high temperatures has been detrimental to crops in nearly all parts of the province and the situation is menacing. Fall wheat, on the whole, is fairly satisfactory, but the condition of other cereal crops, hay, pasturage and corn is reported to be below normal. In the Maritime Provinces crops generally are making satisfactory progress, although they have been retarded by cool, wet weather. In British Columbia grain and vegetable crops show good growth and average yields are anticipated. Dry weather have done damage to some crops, notably cherries.

ALBERTA—Crops are progressing satisfactorily. Wheat is in shot blade and commencing to head. Recent heavy rains in Northern sections have been of considerable benefit to late sown grains. In parts of east-central and southern districts extremely high temperatures have depleted moisture supplies and good general rains are needed. Some slight hail damage has occurred in central areas.

HOW TO SAVE GASOLINE IS TOLD BY EXPERT IN HINTS TO MOTORISTS

Tulsa, Okla., July 3— In the realm that would conserve fuel for national defence and get a longer run for his gasoline dollar, William G. Lowe, Secretary of the National Gasoline Association, today offered three suggestions.

Have the motor "tuned" often, at least every 3,000 miles. An improper gasoline mixture alone can cause a ten per cent waste. Set the spark two degrees below the motor's knocking point. There is an extremely slight power loss, but a gallon of gasoline stretches a mile further.

Clean and adjust spark plugs frequently. One fleet owner found that cleaning and adjusting them every 1,800 miles cut his fuel bill 10 per cent.

Avoid "Jack Rabbit" starts and "racing pickups" in second gear. The engine can't burn all the gasoline it's getting. Conversely, rushing madly up to stoplines, then slamming on the brakes also wastes gasoline.

Driving 10 miles above 4 low tire offers more resistance to pulling. Properly inflated tires also wear less.

Park in the shade. Gasoline vaporizes and wastes in direct proportion to the temperature. The hotter it is, the more gasoline will evaporate through the tiny air hole of the gas tank cap during hot weather.

Keep battery well charged for quick starts. The fuel pump is pumping gasoline away during those slow, grinding starts before the engine fires. Avoid excessive choking.

Clean the air filter often. When it's dirty and clogged the carburetor takes a richer mixture gasoline to run, and mileage falls.

Finally drive at moderate speeds. Above 40 miles an hour gasoline consumption rises a mile at 60 miles an hour then at 60.

Committee of Cornhill Council To Interview Dept. of Lands and Mines

The regular July meeting of Municipal Council of Cornhill was held at the district's office on Friday, July 11th. There were present Reeve Walker (in the chair); Councillors Anderson, Bros. Coombes, Kortzman and Seabury.

Messrs. A. Fill and Wydenoski of the M.D. of the Pines which adjoins Cornhill on the north, interviewed Council in view of Cornhill would be willing to grade two miles of road in the Pines. They had no suitable machinery. They were informed that Cornhill would like to do this work for their own progress of road work was a heavy one and they could not see their way clear to do it at once. Perhaps, with favorable weather conditions, Cornhill might be able to do the work in the fall. The two miles of road would lead up to the Vegreville highway and would be a real help to settlers along the route. The road who desired to visit Elk Island Park. It was also suggested that the government would be more willing to enter into an agreement to grave this road were the two miles in question completed. The representatives from the Pines responded in approximate figure and the sum of $600.00 was mentioned. The matter was left in the hands of Council.

Mr. Ole Olson interviewed Council in connection with a road which he would not have to go through his farm. His chief complaint was that the road was impassable in wet open. Councillor Kortzman is going to look over road as soon as possible.

The monthly financial statement was read.

Secretary announced the receipt of the usual quarterly cheque of $10.00 across near Miquelon Lake. It was agreed to sell the land at the last meeting.

The secretary announced the receipt of the notice in favor of the J. D. Adams Co., covering the purchase of the new grader. They were dated June 1st, but should have been dated June 10th. This would make a difference of about $15 in interest. It will be adjusted.

Discussion regarding unemployment insurance took place. The secretary informed Council he believed he was exempt. Farmers working on roads were also exempt. But the men regularly employed on the road outfits, five in number, come under the act.

Letter from Mrs. Gengel regarding birth half 16-40-19 W4. It appears that at some time or other the assessment on the north and south halves of this quarter had been switched. The matter was tabled pending an interview with Mr. Judge, Director of Assessments, regarding it.

Appeal of J. W. McMullen to Assessment Commission was read. The appeal will be heard July 16th at the M.D. Office.

Correspondence from Dept. of Agriculture re Tartarian Buckwheat. They said that seed was being delivered to elevator with this seed in and the letter urged council to advise farmers to try and eradicate it.

Councillor Seabury gave a report of the Councillors meeting recently held at the M.D. office. There were present Messrs. English and Wilson of the Dept. of Agriculture, Councillors Anderson and Seabury.

The meeting went into the weed situation pretty thoroughly, particularly as regards lobsolwers and lands adjacent thereto. It was pointed out that the weed committee should interview the Provincial Government Mines and present a complete story of the situation as it is. Also that Councillors from the Dept. Department of Mines come down and see the situation for themselves. Strong objection had been voiced as regards the lease arrangement. There are 2 leases in the district, agricultural lease and grazing lease, but the problem is to have a form of lease that will give the lessee some incentive to improve the property.

The location of Reeve Walker, the weed committee, Councillors Anderson, Kortzman and Seabury will interview the Department of Lands and Mines in the near future.

Letter from Department of Agriculture re Forage Crop Plan. They outlined the Council's financial position with regard to the plan to date and informed council there is no money year for the plan to run.

Letter from Department of Municipal Affairs regarding Unemployment Lease Bond. They called attention to the "Workers' Allowance" clause and could not sanction the purchase by the Council of a 6500 Victory Bond. Letter from Provincial Treas. to be

Brace-Herndon Cars Collide

On Tuesday afternoon a white truck-ing of Mr. Gow. Brace and one driven by Mr. Gow. Brace and one driven by Mrs. Leslie Herndon collided on the highway about three miles west of Tofield. Mr. Bruce, accompanied by Mrs. Bruce was traveling west and Mrs. Herndon accompanied by several children were coming off a north side road on to the highway when the cars met.

Mrs. Bruce suffered shock and bruises and was taken to hospital, but it is hoped and expected that she will be home in a few days. One of the Herndon children suffered a cut to face requiring a few stitches. Beyond shock and minor bruises, no one else sustained other occupants of the cars escaped injury.

Both cars were badly damaged.

Rendez-vous in Vienna

A story of romance and adventure in Europe prior to the outbreak of the present war.
By LESLIE HAMILTON

Chapter Twelve

Day light was but a scant two hours away when they finally reached the shelter of the outhouse behind the cottage of Olga's old nurse on the outskirts of the village. She thought to show proper discretion in the darkness and by increased the pace slightly.

Maxwell's insistence upon their seeking out Olga's old nurse, whose acquaintance he had made on his previous visit to Vienna, had proved a good one. Not only had she welcomed them with open arms, but she had also managed to obtain for them a driver, a young peasant boy, who had agreed to drive them to the Swiss frontier in his father's wagon.

"It is better to be safe than sorry," replied Lauterbach, who had no notion of Rex's epidemic. "If the professional course of events" no one saw us outside the house didn't see us either, so even gathering was in the first instance, as we cheer up" he patted her on the hand, "I think you're feeling better. Soon we'll be on our way to Switzerland and then you'll be safe and sound."

"I think we are safe enough until tomorrow morning," drawing deep gulps of the early morning air.

"What makes you think so?" following her example.

"Because it will take the people in these parts a day to find out that we were there, remember," Olga replied, nearly choking on the words. "I love they know about the papers, in which case, of course, they will start ways have a fellow feeling of sympathy for fugitives, especially those who rendered them the assistance they did, being driven into exile from the fatherland themselves, and the one who was out in front of Rex rejoined: "If the professional course of events" no one saw us outside the house didn't see us either, so even gathering was in the first instance, as we cheer up" he patted her on the hand, "I think you're feeling better. Soon we'll be on our way to Switzerland and then you'll be safe and sound."

"That's a name I really shouldn't have quickly agreed "I don't mind admitting now that, if it hadn't been for your sleep in the waterproof before we left, I could never have lasted three days, through the night."

"If it is as bad as all that, you had the better watch another 5 to 6 hours of the same time," Rex suggested, as at all depends upon how soon the tired young woman related on find the scuttled remains in the river the heap of rags over her head.

pointed out "I'll be awake at the first crack of dawn, settle down and forget our troubles for the time being," he advised her before composing himself to take advantage of the opportunity for a brief rest.

Waking about an hour later, Mac, a quietly unearthed the second the head golf bag, removed the clubs where I might have bought some and, by the aid of the shaded light from his electric torch, gently drop the wrapped "Reinvandt" bright hand rar market.

"Suppose they do; their airport, the railroad station, taxi-rank and car hire investigations will start back at the corner where they had been stored nothing; and the information that a during their previous visit in the Mr Munro bought two bicycles, one lemon. Having attended to that detail of the harmful, he looked closely at his watch.

"By the time they have covered about half enough breathing proper in order to the ground exhausting preliminary would have all that fuss was still required, we shall have the sound asleep before proceeding with the vanity of Vienna," Rex encouraged, as he surveyed the upper end of the cane and began unscrewing the handle.

"Taking you at your own words, look out for a continental breakfast and coffee and rolls," Olga replied, "Come on, sleeping early, it may be a long time before we make a meal of it."

"What do you mean?"

"By taking those stray hairs and the ends of your moustache. You look a little bit like Hitler as it is, but with the hair off and the dye for a second look from police flashlight, the resemblance that one agents once they circulate your description to the traveling gourmets required by the Gestapo."

Now thoroughly aware, his companion gave an exclamation of surprise approaching envy. You'll draw plenty of second looks as it is, as that ready charged and prepared to leave.

New Crops For Old Mint And Muskrats

BY R. LESLIE EMSLIE

Two striking examples of re- ... adaptation were encountered pro... on farms in south western Ontario in the course of a motor trip ... week. 30 acres of peppermint and ... has already installed equipment for ... distillation of the oil. Next year the crop will extend to 45 acres, and a second mill will be constructed. The ... father was a veterinary surgeon who used to grow and distill peppermint for his own medicines. That's how the son got the notion. The crop, for which a fertilizer with high potash content was applied, was nicely up at the beginning of July. Four crops will be taken before the field is plowed again.

The other ... ry is of a man whose ... grew enough corn and alfalfa prior to 1939 and had been ... to disband at great cost. The Lake St. Clair overflowed in a tremendous flood which submerged the farm land. Efforts to reclaim the land from the waters proved unavailing, so this man decided it was futile to bank on ... and he would cooperate with her. The new fertile farm is now a swamp, growing bulrushes instead of alfalfa, but shrewd with muskrats and wild ducks. The revenue from this bank-to-nature area is reported by the owner at $1,000 a year, less which hunters pay for the privilege of shooting at wildfowl. This disaster was turned to profit.

Besides the swamp area of 1000 acres, there are others that escaped the flood and are still producing wheat, corn, alfalfa and ... mint. There about 25 tons of fertilizer are now annually, which gives some idea of the extent of the regular farming operations.

The Week In Edmonton

Edmonton, July 14— Alberta has won renown as the province which grows the finest protein wheat in the world, produces the finest beef in the west, the best coal and the kind of gasoline that powers fighting planes. Now comes the information that Alberta's cereal surpasses any other as a fattener of pigs. Authority for the statement is Dr. T. Alwyn Jones, provincial government animal pathologist, whose modern laboratory is maintained at the Terrace Building in Edmonton "Alberta cereal pigs are fatter and have better bloom than others," he told delegates to the Pacific Northwest Veterinary Medical Association in Vancouver "Many Alberta farmers have real outcrops, but others lose fortunes by keeping it like any other feed." He added that losses could be halved. Dr. Stenning used four totally of wheat diseases, Dr Jones said in 1940, 2,- 428,000 bushels of wheat were fed to farmed in Canada, died of various diseases. In that number the value of the lost animals would approximate $36,310,000.

J. Hilliker, superintendent of treasury branches, and A. Hamilton, secretary of the Treasury. It is stated that preliminary organization plans are being laid, but as yet the committee is not functioning. Mr. King is chairman of the committee.

Visitor to the Legislative Buildings during the week was C. P. Hanson of Vancouver, publisher of Canada Trails, an outdoor magazine which is widely read by the Alberta Fish and Game Association. Mr. Hanson is planning a series of articles which will deal exhaustively with Alberta's natural tourist and hunting resources.

Interesting Plots!

The "Crop Testing Plan," now in its eleventh year of work, has set up throughout the prairies a large number of testing and demonstration plots where the poor varieties of wheat cost, barleys and flax, together with the average material produced on farms, can be seen all growing in comparisons one with the other.

Any farmer would benefit by visiting these plots.

For the location of the plot nearest to you, see the Searle agent

Wheat Acreage Reduction Bonuses came up for discussion. The secretary desired to know whether he should charge 25 cents for taking the affidavit. This is the regular fee. On discussion it was brought out that there is nothing definite as to the amount the government is going to pay the Municipalities for this work. The solicitor was expressed that any payment the government made to the municipality should be given to the secretary as he had done this work in addition to his own. The chargine of 25c for administering the oath was sanctioned.

Application of Mrs. Inar Brun for mothers' allowance was read. Councillor Bruun will check up on application and make recommendation.

The relief list which is now quite small was considered.

It was decided that the Secretary will take the first week of his annual two week holiday during the week of July 28-26. He will then return to the office to take care of tax payments up to the end of the ten per cent discount period which is August 16th.

Reeve Walker spoke regarding the obtaining of a district nurse. It was decided that the secretary write the Department of Health for information.

A number of accounts were passed for payment.

Council adjourned at 5:15.

PIONEER REVIEW DISCUSSES OUTLOOK FOR 1941 CROP

Canada's 1941 crop is being grown and will be marketed under conditions without precedent in the history of grain growing in this country. What are these conditions? How will they come about? The current review of the grain situation, released by the Pioneer Grain Company gives an answer to these questions. Copies of the review are available by writing to the head office of the Company at Winnipeg or, on application to any Pioneer Agent.

"Canadian Wheat in Wartime" is the title of the review and it deals with absorbing developments since September 1939. The greatest change in the situation from one of comparable hopefulness at the beginning of the war, to the serious emergency that prevailed during the present crop year is clearly outlined. An attempt is also made to indicate what conditions will be like when the 1941 crop has been garnered and the harvest of Western Canada.

Dealing with the outlook for the 1941 crop, the Pioneer review says in part:

"Canadian farmers as a whole have been allotted a delivery of 220 million bushels, compared with 208 million on the Prairies. By contrast, Ontario is 1939-40 amounted to 20 million bushels, and in 1940-41 probably reach 40 million. How quickly can this 40 million bushels be delivered? In general the answer to this question depends upon how much storage is available in the elevators at country points. The answer will be built, so that the rate of delivery will be governed by the amount of space available at the beginning of the crop year and the rate at which wheat moves out of elevators into transportation at home or for export abroad.

"A few months ago, before the large increase in British takings of Canadian wheat, the outlook for delivery of the new crop was much worse than it is now. The danger to the carryover is likely to be 75 million bushels less than reported, and this will have been developed which has proved very effective. Varying according to the time of day and temperature, the activity of the insect gives below was found to give protection for periods varying from five to five months. Results of field comes; concentrated extract of pyrethrum, diluted with kerosene; Castor oil or honey Russian oil. Field examination

Anyone desiring a true silly nature may substitute olive oil for mineral oil, but the added cost of this protection may not be quite so long. Following complete coverage of repeated peas, which is the principal type of insect to use.

In addition to the experimental tests, the repellent has been used with success in the control of flies where they have reported that they were greatly improved by its effectiveness.

Rendez-vous in Vienna

A story of reunions and adieus here in Europe prior to the outbreak of the present war.
By LESLIE HAMILTON

Arrived at the station, they were informed the next train for Passau was supposed to leave at nine o'clock. They were also told that, while the despatcher did not have any definite news on the subject, it was reasonably certain that local trains were operating intermittently over all sections, so that if they cared to change at division points and wait in the various stations for what connections were available, they should be able to get through all right, although how long it would take was something no one could possibly guess.

"I think we'll risk it," Ert decided, after carefully considering the various alternatives.

"What about the bicycles?"

"I think we'll ship them along too. They will ride in the luggage van on the same trains, and they might come in handy again later on, one never knows."

After Olga had bought two second class tickets in Cologne, and Ert had removed the bags and golf cans from the machines, Inkels addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Monroe, care the station master at Cologne, were attached to the respective handlebars of the cycles, which were then turned over to the baggage master for express despatch as directed.

"Having disposed of the problem-laden for the time being, now for some place to change those cycling togs again," Monroe softly mused his thoughts to his companion, "I wonder where we can manage it fairly readily?"

"What about asking the old lady at the café to rent us a room for half an hour?"

"Good idea! She won't be too curious either, and, as we had breakfast there, she might oblige."

"I'll wear my mother's wedding rug for the sake of propriety, just in case she's observant," the young woman suggested, extracting the trinket from her hand-bag and slipping it over her finger.

"Sorry, I never thought of that," Ert grinned, "but, as you have one, by all means wear it. I should also keep it on from now onwards," he added on second thought, "it won't do any harm. You can never tell what might be passing through people's minds, if they noticed its absence."

The one of a room was soon arranged at the little restaurant, and the transition from cyclists back to normally dressed humans quickly accomplished, after which they returned to the station and handed the despatchers enclosing their discarded outfits to the baggage man, for in-clusive shipment with the bicycles.

"Better step into a shop and buy one of those large coloured ber-chiefs to tie around your head, Monroe appraised Olga's appearance before entering the portals of the depot. "Now you're not wearing a cap that red hair of yours shrieks like a fire alarm."

"Does that meet with your mate's approval?" she answered in mock obeisance after making the suggested purchase

"It doesn't hide it at all, but it's better than nothing," Ert approved. "Short of dyeing your hair altogether," he murmured thoughtfully, as though seriously considering such a step, "there isn't anything else we can really do about it."

"Why not? That will settle the problem completely?"

"It will settle it, all right, but not the way we wish if I have to produce 'our' passport for inspection anywhere. Unfortunately, you are described as a carrot-top, my dear; and to have you running around as a hay-seller or a blonde under those circumstances is just asking for trouble."

"I suppose that is one way of dealing with the shawl tied around my head in gypsy fashion, and those dark sun glasses hiding my features a bit, I think it will require someone who knows me very well to recognize who I am, don't you?"

"Yes, I think you'll pass muster for the time being; so let's go to it through to the platform where we'll stand a better chance of getting on one of this no-and-no train when it comes along. Judging by the crowds of people hanging about, I shouldn't be surprised if we have a devil of a wait time doing it."

Evidence that Germany was mobilizing with all possible speed was brought forcibly to their attention by the sight of these long bands of military equipment and troops thundering through on their way to the Polish frontier.

"Fritz means business, sure enough," Monroe muttered when the rattle and roar of swaying trucks had subsided. "There's evidence that the army is in the railway saddle, and nowhere for the erratic passenger novice. Everything is being sidetracked for military purposes."

"Here comes our train at last," Olga announced abruptly, listening to the porters calling out instructions to the crowd.

"Here is the very end of the platform!" came the ben-ue command from Monroe, deftly clinging the golf case over one shoulder. With the girl carrying her own case and clinging like grim death to his arm, Ert picked up his own bag and, using his bulk to good advantage, successfully battled a way through the crowd towards a point where he judged the last coach would come to a final halt.

Scrambling on board the already well filled train, he stopped as though shot upon hearing a chorus of American voices emanating from the last compartment. Dragging his associate unceremoniously around the corner of the corridor, Monroe poked his head in the doorway, and with a hilarious, hearty greeting, called out: "Howdy folks! How's chances to crash the party?"

"Come on in, 'snake,' the water's fine!" came a throaty chorus from half a dozen American students "killing" a case of beer.

"Where'd you spring from, and where do you hail from across the pond?" one member of the party solicited, squeezing up and making room for Olga, while the others did the same for her escort on the opposite side.

"We're Canadians, at least I am and the wife is a Britisher," her husband volunteered, "and I'll bet you've all been Detroit, big boy; how about it?"

"He's got you taped first shot, Mac," another of the gang laughed aloud. "That will hold you for a while, you old Michigan hayseed."

"Okay, boys! Just consider it that we're all set with this crowd, so relax and take it easy for awhile."

By the time introductions were completed and items of personal interest had been exchanged between the Americans and the "Aussies" the crushing and antiquated, overloaded train of wooden coaches—derisively resurrected in the face of emergency from the graveyard of previously condemned rolling stock—was rough-ing and lurching on its jolting run to Passau.

"The funny part of all this," the chap called Mac, little nonsense, was in that our respective families sent us over here to be polished off, you know; acquire an ultra satin finish of true 'Sultan.' Sent to the world's foremost finishing school. Of all the crazy stunts, it is to laugh!"

"This is a tradition with you Americans agreed. "One week of this 'Heil Hitler' business was enough for me to push up and get out," with a motion of his head in the direction of his supposed "fellow-slaves," where we went it was 'Heil Hitler,' restaurants, hotels, offices and shops; even the telephone operators greet you with a 'Heil Hitler,' and wind up the conversation with it.

"Yeah!" one of the other lads, who answered the name Ted, burst forth. "Imagine everybody in the Station bowing and scraping to each other with their hand and pulling off a 'Heil Professor' as a matter of course. Some goo-gah! Not for me, thanks. I'm a free man, and I'm afraid you have hit the nail on the head, Mac, when you said you were sent over here to be polished off. I'll be that's for sure! Sent to the world's toughest finishing school. Of all the crazy stunts, it is to laugh!"

Sent to the world's toughest finishing school. Of all the crazy stunts, it is to laugh!"

"If you folks have only been here a week," Ted's wife commented, I'm afraid you have little cause for complaint in this country. The real state of affairs and the doctrines the Nazis are cramming down the throats of the people are simply sin, especially the stuff being fed to the young-sters."

"How long have you been over here?" Ert asked, declining a proffered glass of beer for himself, but accepting one for Olga, who likewise declined.

"Six months and a half, I guess," Ted replied, "and I'm getting fed up to the teeth with it. Can't get out of the country, and can't get anything to eat. Rationing and all that sort of thing. Why, I'm actually losing weight, and I'm not the only one. Everybody is getting thinner and thinner, and I don't mean maybe! The system of training they've adopted with the growing generation is all leading to a thin end. They're teaching in the schools that Hitler is a god, and the rest of the world is a pack of fools not worth mentioning. As for the young-sters, they've told not to be impatient, as those will be plenty of time, after they've grown up, to see action in the great German conquests still to come."

"Can you imagine," Ted interrupted, "nothing bids to school where 'der Führer' lives and nothing then that Berchtesgaden is the wrong address, and the right one 'in the heart of every German!' Another trick question is to ask where a local landmark, such as a memorial statue to Bismarck is located, having previously removed the commonly renamed after Adolf, and when the kids answer the question straightforwardly the whole bunch of adults are told they each photo may more, but there is no Adolf Hitler plate or boulevard, wherever the case may be. And then to implant in their impressionable minds a belief in the God-given omnipotence of an ex-paperhanger," he finished, thoroughly disgusted, "are the misguided parents who stand for such nonsense.

"As for freedom of speech or action," Ted's wife chipped in, "the country is actually in the grip of a reign of terror. That's why you see those idiots putting on this 'Heil Hitler' business so fervently. You can't afford someone will report them to the Gestapo if they overlook it, and that's just too, too bad for the poor fools who have been foolish enough to be so indiscreet."

"I'll say it is!" Blanche remarked sagely. "Remember the case of our neighbour whose twelve-year-old daughter reported something her father had said about the conditions in Austria since the so-called Anschluss to the class of the boy's girl, and the child spent him so much that the good gentleman immediately hanged himself."

"That happens to be a fact," Ted corroborated, "because I lived quite near the old chap and attended the funeral."

"It's a pretty rotten state of affairs when parents can't relieve their feelings a bit in their own home," Monroe remarked, recalling one Kimberly's references to inter-family betrayal under the Nazi regime. "One can hardly imagine a nation of informers."

"Another case which isn't so true-to-life," Ted continued, "is the case of a young fellow in another, is one which also happened very close to where we lived. Two young fellows were friends. Fine, decent chaps, both of them. But one decided his young hopeful needed a little discipline, and found the 'Nazi-Medical Examination' and within eight clear days of the date appearing on each notice. Any person who appears before a Board shall do so at his own expense.

"Why not? That will settle the problem completely?"

"It will settle it, all right, but not the way we wish if I have to produce 'our' passport for inspection anywhere. Unfortunately, you are described as a carrot-top, my dear; and to have you running around as a hay-seller or a blonde under those circumstances is just asking for trouble."

The old man was rude though, and waited until the youngster was fast asleep, and then he whaled the tar out of little monkey, and he didn't feel about it either.

"Such things caused almost impossible for the average person to understand the Nazi mentality."

"Nevertheless, they're true," Mac's wife affirmed. "But that is mild stuff compared to the rot they're preaching in the schools."

"Better go easy, folks!" Ted cautioned. "Some person may be listening. Some of these people understand English all right, even if they don't look it."

"Nobody in the corridor can hear us," Mac answered. "But you're right, of course, they don't look it, he declared, "to bull by me. We're free-born Americans; they can't monkey with us!"

"Just the same," Ted replied, "it's good policy to shut the door," and suiting the action to his words he pulled and bended the compartment door together. "Go ahead if you want," he then addressed Mac's wife, "nobody can hear anything now."

When To Harvest Forage Crop Seed

Each year losses occur in the harvesting of forage crop seeds because of failure to cut at the proper time. Although experience is necessary to determine the correct time to harvest forage crop for seed, a few suggestions may prove helpful in overcoming serious losses.

The various crops differ widely in their ability to hold seed after reaching maturity, some shattering readily when ripe, while others may be left standing for some time beyond the proper date of cutting without much loss.

Of the two general types of forage crops, grasses and legumes, the former is more subject to shattering than the latter. Therefore, greater care is required in determining the time to harvest most grasses.

Crested Wheat Grass drops its seeds quite readily after maturity is reached and must be harvested before it is dead ripe if losses are to be avoided. Cutting should be done when the seeds are mostly brown but still showing a greenish tinge. If the seeds are pressed endways they should be firm and bend rather than be brittle enough to break. Brome readily shattering to a greater degree than Crested Wheat Grass. Harvesting should begin when

IMPORTANT NOTICE to Men Liable for Military Training

FOR Public Safety, by Proclamation, dated June 27th, 1941 (under authority of The National Resources Mobilization Act 1940 and The War Measures Act), The Governor in Council has now made liable for military training for the defence of Canada —

—all male British subjects resident in Canada on any time since September 1st, 1939, who, on July 15th, 1940, were unmarried, or childless widowers, and who on July 1st, 1941, had reached the ages of

Twenty-one years — Twenty-three years
Twenty-two years — Twenty-four years

"and also men who attained or will attain the age of twenty-one years on or after the first day of July, 1940, and who were on the fifteenth day of July (1940), unmarried or widowers without child or children."
Extract from Paragraph 1 of Proclamation.

Men designated in the aforegoing are further required

"To submit themselves for medical examination and to undergo military training for a period of four months within Canada or the territorial waters thereof, and to report at such places and times and in such manner and to such authorities or persons as may be notified to them respectively by a Divisional Registrar of an Administrative Division."
Extract from Paragraph 4 of Proclamation.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS designed to facilitate equitable conditions of mobilization

Deferring of Training Periods to Avoid Individual Hardship
If the Board is satisfied that the calling out of any man for military training will cause extreme hardship to those dependent upon such man, the Board may, from time to time, postpone the training period of the man: Provided that such man shall apply for a postponement order in accordance with the provisions of subsection one of section ten of the regulations.

Postponement Applications Must be Made in Writing
No application for a postponement order may be made otherwise than in writing, by the man called out, on the Divisional Registrar who issued the "Notice—Medical Examination" and within eight clear days of the date appearing on such notice.
Any person who appears before a Board shall do so at his own expense.

War Industry and Seasonal Occupations given Consideration
In the assessment of hardship cases, applications for postponement of training of key men engaged in war industries, or in essential occupations, may be addressed to the Divisional Registrar concerned.

Eligible Men Must Not Leave Canada without Authority
No male British subject who is liable to be called out for military training shall, after his age class has been called out by proclamation, leave Canada, for any reason whatsoever, unless and until he has been so authorized in writing by the Chairman of the Board to whose jurisdiction such man is subject.

Eligible men must notify authorities immediately of change of address or marital status
If you are a single man or childless widower between the ages of 19 and 45 and if you change your address, or if you marry, you must immediately notify
THE NATIONAL WAR SERVICES DIVISIONAL REGISTRAR IN THE DIVISION IN WHICH YOU ARE REGISTERED
If you do not know the name and address of your Divisional Registrar, ask at your local post office.
Failure to comply with this requirement may subject you to a fine or imprisonment.

CIVIL RE-EMPLOYMENT
Provision has been made for the reinstatement of men in their positions of employment, after their periods of training or service, under conditions that will facilitate their return to civilian life.

THE WEED PROBLEM—

THE NEWLY appointed weed committee composed of three M.D. of Cornhill Councillors is embarking upon very important work. Weeds like the poor, "we always have with us," and while no doubt the work of the committee will be to study the weed situation wherever weeds are found, its most pressing problem is the situation around lakeshores, of which there are many, and on lands immediately adjacent thereto. The problem is not a new one. From time to time during the past eight or ten years the subject has cropped up at different meetings at which we have been present, but until the present time, no definitely planned general effort to remedy the situation has been made. Some effort has been made but it has been mostly individual effort.

In these discussions, we have picked up the information piecemeal that the problem of Canada Thistle on the lakeshores has been aggravated, perhaps even originated by the dropping of the water level, thus exposing strips of ungrassed beach. The seed would be blown in or carried in by birds. Some observers believe that should there be a return of wet summers and rising lake levels, much of the Canada Thistle around the immediate lake fronts would be drowned out. It is a natural jump for weeds from the lakeshores to the agricultural land adjacent thereto, and as long as present lake levels exist the shores of the lakes provide an excellent breeding ground for this noxious weed.

The lakes are, of course, Crown property, as is also much of the shore line surrounding them. This comes under the jurisdiction of the Department of Lands and Mines, while the weed situation in general throughout the province comes under the Department of Agriculture. The Department of Agriculture would like to see a comparitively noxious weed free area. The Department of Lands and Mines have, due to the receding of lake levels, allowed the situation to get more or less out of hand. So much so, that it is the familiar complaint of land owners and land lessees near lakeshores, that it is little use them doing work to try and eradicate the weed menace if the weeds are allowed to thrive on Crown land.

Evidently the problem is one of co-operation and co-ordination between the two government departments and those owning or leasing land near lakeshores. And this is the task of the committee, to bring about co-operation and co-ordination between these three interested parties so that a general improvement in the weed situation around the lakes may emerge as a result.

A WAR OF NERVES—

EVEN BEFORE the war commenced one of Germany's pet schemes to advance her interests was to inaugurate a war of nerves. At that time with a huge military machine standing in readiness and the strongest air fleet in the world standing by, Germany gained more than one concession by striking terror into the hearts of the people she wished to obtain something from. Now, according to newspaper reports and radio announcements "the Germans stand bewildered." The cause is the campaign for Victory which by many different ways is being waged in countries occupied by German forces. The population of these countries, never taking the German yoke kindly, are being urged to signal the letter V on every possible occasion. To write it on walls, signal it in the Morse code and in every way possible, secretly of course, let it be known to the Germans that the people of German occupied territory are awaiting the final blow for Victory. Reports are to the effect that thousands are responding to the suggestion and the campaign is successful beyond all expectations. Thus the very weapon of uncertainty and fear which the Germans inaugurated prior to the commencement of the war is now being turned against them.

GASOLINE REGULATIONS—

ON MONDAY of this week the new gasoline regulations went into force. The authorities are asking for a voluntary 50 per cent reduction in gasoline consumption, and it is fully expected that the automobile drivers of the country will co-operate to bring this about. The problem is not one of gasoline supply but one of water transportation. Due to the war there is a shortage of tankers available for the transportation of gasoline to Great Britain and some tankers formerly used in eastern and western American coastwise waters are being diverted to Atlantic service.

Thus one is actually helping Canada's war effort by modifying their use of gasoline for pleasure purposes. While the suggestion that less gasoline be used leaves it up to voluntary action by the individual, regulations have been put into effect to bring this about. The most important are no gasoline sales after seven p.m., and no Sunday gasoline sales. These regulations are now in force and are meeting with quiet approval on the part of the motoring public.

THE WEEK IN EDMONTON

Edmonton, July 23— More than 30,000 interested visitors passed through the display of Alberta Manufactured Goods held at Calgary Stampede, and an even greater number attended at Exhibition, it is announced by Provincial Marketing Board officials. Rounds in a big manner, the display included a great many lines of goods from manufacturers in small cities. One favorable result of the display was the receipt by various manufacturers of large orders from persons determined to help Alberta manufacturers. Support for a large private institution also took away a complete list of various commodities to guide their future buying.

The Alberta exhibit was internally opened by Hon. R. C. Manning, minister of trade and industry. With him was his deputy, W. D. Ling. Staff members of the Marketing Board were in attendance, giving visitors around and answering many questions.

One of the most attractive exhibits at the Recreation Exhibition was the medal military camp, where many of the three fighting services carried on recruiting duties for the attraction of fair visitors. At the retreat ceremonies each night Premier Aberhart took the salute from the flag was reception of greater numbers of visitors. Here was made by D.S.C. Campbell, provincial publicity director, this week. Mr. Campbell declared that many farmers take resorts in U.S. have been developed only after local organization had been emried out, and suggested similar organizations be formed in this province.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, thought up a new idea Friday in the midst of the hot spell. Acting on the principle that "it's the heat, not the humidity" he endorsed the bunting system of the legislative buildings staff-ed with hte. Thereafter, doors were opened. After an hour or so the heat registers were opened in various offices—and cool breezes emerged.

Birds And Beasts

(Country Life in B.C.)

Here i am sunny exactly as it was written by a boy of Aberdeen, 12 years of age. Subject—Birds and Beasts.

The Bird I am going to write about is the Owl. The Owl can not see at all in the daytime, and at night is as blind as a Bat. I do not know much about the Owl, so I will go on to the next which I am going to chose. It is the cow.

The cow is a mammal and it is born alive. It has six sides, right, left, fore back, an upper and a below. At the front it has a tail on which hangs a brush. With this it sends flies away, so that they will not fall into the milk.

The head is for the purpose of growing horns, and so that the mouth can be somewhere. The horns are to butt with. The mouth is to moo with.

Under the Cow hangs the milk. It is arranged for milking. When people milk the milk comes, and there is never an end to the supply. How the cow does it I have not yet realized but it makes more and more.

The cow has a fine sense of smell. One can smell it far. This is why it is the reason for the rush air of the country.

The man cow is called an Ox, and is not a mammal. The Cow does not eat much but what it does eat, it eats twice so that it gets enough. When it is hungry it moos and when it says nothing it is because its inside is full up of grass. - Wheat Pool Bulletin.

TENDER SUPPORT TO A.M.A. CAMPAIGN

Growing support is reported in this province for the campaign inaugurated by the Alberta Motor Association, designed to induce the provincial government to "use much" revenue from the gasoline tax for highway construction and maintenance purposes.

Endorsement has been expressed Semat which I am proud to chose. It is the cow.

"CALLING ALL CARS"

Save Gasoline

A NATIONAL EMERGENCY

Canada is right up against an acute shortage of gasoline and fuel oil. Tankers that normally supply our country have been commandeered for vitally important overseas service.

The Commonwealth Air Training Plan, the rapid development of Canada's mechanized army units and the great work carried on by our corvettes make the demand for fuel urgent.

Our crude oil reserves is limited. There is just one thing to do if our fighting forces are to carry on with a "full tank". Every Canadian motorist is asked to cut his daily gas consumption 50%.

These are many ways by which this 50% saving can be made . . . ways and means to give you more mileage per gallon. You can drive slower so that you will use less gasoline. You can go fifty-fifty with your neighbours, taking each other to shore cars . . . for business and for pleasure. People can also walk or go to and from work together, using one car instead of four . . . using one gallon of gasoline instead of four. Women as well as men can make these savings.

The issue of gasoline used in Canada for business, social and non-essential activities is exceedingly high in proportion to that used by our fighting forces. One look at the figures would convince you that this situation must be reversed.

Canada does not ask or request you to put your car up. She merely asks for your help . . . asks that you walk sometimes when the distance isn't too great . . . then you take a shorter drive on Sunday afternoon . . . that you look after your car and keep it in good condition . . . that you say to your neighbour: "Let's use my car today. Jim we'll use yours tomorrow."

Every day, in greater and greater quantity, we must release gasoline and oil by the thousands of gallons to our throbbing munitions plants . . . to our tanks and armoured cars . . . to our fighting planes and bombers . . . to our corvettes and merchant ships that ply the wind whitened seas . . . so that the day of victory may sooner be at hand.

Will YOU help?

It is also vitally important that you conserve the use of domestic and commercial fuel oil.

11 easy ways towards a 50% GASOLINE SAVING
(Approved by Automobile Experts)

Reduce driving speed from 60 to 45 on the open road.
Avoid jack-rabbit starts.
Avoid unclean or non-essential driving.
Turn motor off at once when car stops, do not keep idling.
Don't coax your engines let it warm up slowly.
Don't strain your engine; change gears.
Keep carburetors properly cleaned and properly adjusted.
Tune up motor, timing, etc.
Keep spark plugs and valves clean.
Check cooling system; overheating wastes gasoline.
Maintain tires at right pressure.
Inflate to proper size and keep them so.
Check wasting systems; overheating wastes gasoline.
Maintain tires at right pressure.
Inflate to proper size and keep them so.
Use alternate days.
For pick ups and other errands use one car instead of two.
Take three short shopping trips ON FOOT and carry packages home.
Walk to and from the movies.
Boost economy, too, on hills by reducing speed.

Your regular service station man will gladly explain these easy means of saving gasoline. Consult him.

LINDSBOOK

It's quite a relief to see that the best wave has broken, it sure was nasty while it lasted, and everything suffered accordingly.

Building activity is booming here of late We don't believe to have a lot of the building permits, but we know that the hall has undergone a transformation and that Mr Hall's address is building an extensive addition onto his present home.

The Hall has been lengthened 16 feet, and a gallery ladies' cloak room, and refreshment booth added. Also quite a bit of siding put on with a covered porch where we covered entrance porch. Quite a lot of the boys of the village were there services and remodeling the inside of the weather they sure were "that stuff".

On Thursday evening last our representatives in the Federal Parliament, Mr. Anthony H. John addressed a meeting in the hall. It was a pity that the audience was not as large as it might have been but the speaker and he should have known better than to expect on what with fair week, the heat and haying started. However he hopes to come again before Parliament resumes its session.

On Friday night last a dance was held at the Hall and all the Pandemic came and quite a crowd were there. Those present said that the Orchestra (Viking we believe) was exceptionally good and everyone voted it as all time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bracegirdle and Mrs. F. Evans motored to Wainwright last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. W. Arkwright of Wainwright The late Mrs. Arkwright being Mrs. Bracegirdle's aunt, and was known to quite a few here as Aunt Sally. We all extend our deepest sympathy to the relatives on their sad loss.

Mrs. G. Jones of Vancouver, B.C sister of the late E. W. Hooper of Lindbrook, spent a week with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Hooper, here. She returned to Edmonton on Monday, Mrs. Hooper accompanying her.

A rather nasty auto smash occurred on the highway here west of Lindbrook Sunday night. It seems a car driven by "Randy" Scott of Lindbrook, and another driven by a Mr. Stauffer of Tofield collided at the intersection of one of the roads leading to Hastings Lake. The cars were both badly knocked about, but luckily no one was badly injured.

"The Gothic Madness of Germany"

Editorial from Liberty Magazine

After almost three years of war, we Canadians as a nation have not yet answered the question How much are we prepared to pay for our lives?

This attitude springs from the confident belief that our Empire must and will survive. In all those months of war we have never really faced the possibility that it might not survive. We have watched the people of Britain face their great ordeal with such commonwealth courage that we have assumed that nothing can defeat them. So far as bombs and mine coverage can protect them, that is true. But even courage has its boundaries. It survives while life survives. History tells us of many heroic nations which have had to admit defeat.

Let us be clear on this issue. We do not believe that we will be defeated. That belief is not founded on the effectiveness of our present effort, but on the hope and conviction that, some way, we and others will come to see that there is only one way of survival. That way demands nothing short of an all-out effort of all those agencies and all those people who can contribute to our defence.

It would be well for us in Canada if we were not so confident. If we were less confident we would have a clearer knowledge of what effort we might mean to Canada and to us as a very real, very immediate, very personal matter. Our rich fields, our potential present the very "place in the sun" that Germany has sought most eagerly.

If Hitler should attempt to invade Britain, we Canadians are sure he will be defeated. But, not as long ago, we believed almost as implicitly in the invulnerability of the French army That army, regularly the finest in the world, with our assistance sustained the assault for just two weeks.

It is idle to believe, as we have believed, that only the British fleet will protect us. If Britain were to fall it would only be because the larger part of that fleet had been destroyed. It is idle for us to argue that if Britain should fall, we might still survive and maintain our independence under the guardianship of our powerful neighbor. Could the United States defend us? Doubtless she would, but with what possible success? Think of all the jackals that would be hurrying to the kill! Think of United States battling a world on two oceans. Think of the coast line of a continent as vast as this harried by a wave of foes. Japan in the Pacific, happy at the chance to grow secure and to give substance to her dream of an eastern empire. Russia to the north, already familiar with our own great northern border. Think of an arrogant Germany and Italy with all the resources of Europe and Africa at their call. Think of the millions of walking Germans in South America.

If the war isn't won in Europe, it is lost, and we are lost with it. The sooner we come face to face with that solemn fact, the sooner we will set ourselves to the all-out effort that alone can save us.

In a recent address, Dorothy Thompson spoke of "the gothic madness of Germany." The phrase means little to us, because few of us have realized how mad Germany really is. Madness has no restraints. Its delusions of grandeur feed upon delusion until the mad dreamer conceives a world. No one is outside of its reach, no free from its menace.

Because of that fact, it is time that we cut loose from that noble and mistaken illusion that we are fighting to protect the motherland. We are fighting to protect our own lives, our own children, our own homes and homes here in Canada. If we don't fight them now in Europe with all our minds and all our hearts and all our strength—if we pursue governments to meddle along for political advantages and ourselves to go on our blind way assuming that we are entitled to have our lives and our liberties assured to us as little personal contribution we are jeopardizing everything. Eventually we will be fighting for our very existence not in Europe or in Africa or in Asia but in the plains and fields of Canada.

It is time that we Canadians awoke to the realization that the smiled fist of a maniac is clawing at our own door.

Railway Cranes Reckless On Easy Gradients

Vancouver, B.C., July 21.—When the Continental Limited, of the Canadian National Railways, leaves here daily southbound for Montreal and Eastern Canada, the train is at 14 feet above sea level at the start of its journey.

Fifty kilometres, 200 miles east, the train is graded to 1134 feet, with further easy ascent through the mountains. When the train passes Mount Robson, 13,372 feet, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, the railway train is actually 3160 feet above sea level and rises to the peak, 3717 feet, at Yellowhead. The Canadian National Railways gradient through the mountains is an easy one and heavy passenger and freight trains require a single locomotive only. A graded descent follows through the mountains also. In a stretch of 400 miles between Edson and Jasper the line comes from 3000 feet to the 2000 foot level. Across the Prairies the line is usually 2000 feet above sea level, reaching 772 feet at Winnipeg. At Minaki the altitude is 1200 feet, then in 1000 feet actually it is 1065 to remind one of an historic date. Through Western Ontario the line meets gradients up to 1436 feet at Savant Lake and then is easily descended. When the Canadian National Limited, after its journey of 2909 miles, comes to a halt in Bonaventure Station, in Montreal it is 69 feet above sea level.

Having seen in this area, liable for military training, requiring further information regarding their obligations or applications for postponement should communicate with the Divisional Registrar for the district whose name and address are given below for their convenience, along with the names of the members of the Board:

Farmers Can Now Get Special Hog Scales

Unless farmers have a handy means of checking the weight of what their hogs it is not always easy for them to know when the time has arrived to sell them to the best advantage. With the 200 to 210 pounds recommended by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, the scale is a modified steelyard and can be set up anywhere where there is a strong overhead support and at least seven feet of clearance. A lifting device for swinging hog and crate clear of the floor is part of the outfit. Plans for making the crate are sent by the department. The scale has a weighing capacity of 350 pounds. THANKSGIVING DAY
FIXED FOR OCT. 13

Ottawa, July 16.—Canada this year will observe Thanksgiving day on Oct. 13, the second Monday in October. This announcement was made Wednesday by Hon. P. F. Casgrain, secretary of state, who said a proclamation naming Oct. 13, as a day of "general thanksgiving" will be issued shortly.

Gratifying Response From Young Canadians

Officials of the National War Services Department report gratifying and ready response from young Canadians being called for military training under the National Resources Mobilization Act.

They state, however, that while each man receives a notice individually and personal notice of his call to training, as his particular service, a number of enquiries are still being sent direct to Ottawa. Major-General La-Flesche, Associate Deputy Minister of The Department of National War Services, under whose direction the mobilizing of trainees is being carried out, points out that the Regulations have been planned to smooth out possible difficulties for the trainee by dividing Canada into three Administrative Divisions, with official headquarters offices in each Division, authorized to handle procedure and operations locally.

To the Divisional Registrars of National War Services in the area in which they are registered should be forwarded all communications concerning business arising from the interpretation of the Regulations. All men from 19 to 45 who are warned that enrolment is to be given promptly of change of address or marital status. Failure to do so may be held to be an offence punishable.

Young men in this area, liable for military training, requiring further information regarding their obligations or applications for postponement should communicate with the Divisional Registrar for the district whose name and address are given below for their convenience, along with the names of the members of the Board:

To Assuage Who Lie in Crete

For from their inland homes, the head of slight
Has shot the eyes of those who would not swear,
At valiantly they fought a hopeless hour
To stem the ever-spreading Prussian blight.

It was their gallant, desperate task to fight Against a Minotaur of flerner power
Than ever did the Cretan youth devour,
And now they rest, hushed by his blood-girt might.

In hallowed earth they found an honored grave
Here, near the dawn-lured of all lit-ory,
Where every wind sings ennobling of the brave
From Salamis unto Gallipoli;
And where the greeks blue Aegean wave broke.

Hence come here's chrine eternally.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

Many fields this year have been badly affected with the pale Western cutworm, and much crop has been damaged. It is far too late now to do anything about this present crop, for the only way to control this insect is to take certain precautions with the summerfallow the year before the crop is seeded.

All work on fields that are being summerfallowed this year should stop not later than the first of August, and the fields then should be left completely undisturbed until the middle of September. No cattle or stock should be permitted to walk on the fields. All this so that the moths which fall may form a crust on the summerfallowed soil which will make the land unsuitable for egg-laying by the cutworm moths. If no eggs are laid in the fall, then the field will be reasonably free from cutworms the following year.

This is the advice given by Government experts who have spent years in the careful study of the life habits of the pale Western cutworm, and who have made many experiments until the control of the insect. For several years I tried this method and found it a most successful fallow, and I found it prevents much damage.

Drug Store Burglarized

Late Monday night, or early Tuesday morning, the Tofield Drug, owned by Gus. McFadzean, was entered and a quantity of narcotics taken. Evidently the person entering had the one object in view, that of obtaining narcotics, as this was all that was taken. Entrance was obtained by forcing the front door.

The narcotics were in the dispensary is a specially locked receptacle and the lock on this was also broken. Discovery of the robbery was made on Tuesday morning when it was noticed the front door was open much earlier than usual. Mr. McFadzean was notified and coming to the store discovered the robbery.

POT LUCK SUPPER IN HONOR OF REB. W. CHRISTIE

A delightful informal pot luck supper was held in the Reformed Church on Tuesday evening in honour of Mrs. Rev. W. Christie, who is visiting friends in Tofield from Manitou, B.C. Mrs. Christie will be well remembered in the district, as she was formerly Miss Jessie Bell of Tofield.

Following the supper, a social hour was spent in the church. After supper, bridge was played, and during the evening Mrs. Parrott entertained the group with a few of her well-known readings—bringing back to all present memories of past years. She has lost none of her charm and the art of entertaining, including her readings, were highly appreciated by the younger generation—mostly non-readers. Miss Parrott's seventy-year-old Lorraine Lass, who checked over and clopped at the right moment and kept eating for more. Delightful lunch was served. Out of town guests were Mrs. Pierott of Manisse, Mrs. Beattie of Vancouver, Rebecca and Mrs. McLaughlin, M. Firth and F. Law of Edmonton.

U.F.W.A. NOTES

In place of the regular June meeting, the U.F.W.A. held a delightful picnic at Lobstrive. This enthusiasm was also to take the place of the annual anniversary party formerly held in October. The day was perfect and so were the picnic grounds and the lake, and only two catastrophes were sighted.

After a very lucky pot luck dinner, our guest speaker, who is also the constituency director, Mrs. Johnson of Lamont, brought greetings from the Provincial president, Mrs. W. Hunt, who was prevented by illness from being with us. Mrs. Johnson brought a message from Mrs. Leonard of the Central Board, which was full of helpful hints and lovely thoughts. A sincere vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Johnson. Other guests included Mrs. A. Yeoh, president of Lamont local and Mrs. J. Sunday, secretary Minotith local.

After the programme a progressive party of military contests was staged, the winners receiving valuable (?) prizes and a somewhat hilarious spirit of cheerfulness.

The July meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. Francis. A bulletin on 'Health' prepared by that convener, Mrs. Johnson, was read, also a paper on 'Child Welfare' was presented. The August meeting will be held as usual on the 2nd Thursday, August 14th, at the home of Mrs. C. Lawrence.

It is customary to publish a financial statement regarding the July 1st sports a week or so following the event. This year however, the statement is being delayed due to the sporting pay bobbin not being picked up and the consequent correct settlement of the pay account. As soon as this is done a statement will be published. It is expected there will be a surplus for the Red Cross.

NOTICE

The Municipal Office of Municipal District of Beaver Lake No. 486 will be closed August 4th to 7th and 11th to 15th. If you have not yet completed your Statement of Claim regarding acreage bonus, please arrange to do so before August 4th.

TOFIELD MAY HAVE RESIDENT DOCTOR

Dr. T. E. Corbett visited Tofield this week with the idea of investigating the opportunities for a resident here. He appeared to be favorably impressed and may give the matter further consideration. Dr. Corbett is at present located at Edmonton where he has been for the past year or so. Prior to that he was at Coutts. The town and district needs a doctor and we hope to be able to announce next week that Dr. Corbett has decided to locate here.

NEWLYWEDS HONORED AT GATHERING

On Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Harrison were hosts to a large number of friends and neighbors in honor of their son Stuart and his bride, whose marriage took place recently in Lamont. A very pleasant social evening was enjoyed, and after a delicious lunch, Bill Davidson, on behalf of those present, presented Mr. and Mrs. Harrison with a sum of money. Stuart, in a very pleasing manner, thanked all the friends and extended a warm welcome to all to visit them in their new home at Wainwright. After singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" the gathering broke up and all dispersed to their homes.

Rendez-vous in Vienna

A story of romance and adventure in Europe prior to the outbreak of the present war.
By LESLIE HAMILTON

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

Conversation during the rest of the journey became very desultory, especially after darkness had fallen and the emergency lamps loomed by the German authorities at Passau had been lighted. Most of the party were dead tired and soon dropped off to sleep, even in the cramped quarters of the crowded carriage, now faintly illuminated by flickering flames from the tins of solidified alcohol burning richly on the floor beneath the doors and window.

"So long, everybody!" Monroe said in an all-embracing farewell to the rest of the party, when the train finally rolled into the main terminus of Nuremberg and he awakened Olga, prior to gathering their three pieces of impedimenta together, and disparting.

"So long," the Americans responded in a mixed chorus of "good luck," "bon voyage," and "au revoir."

"And happy landings," the irrepressible Mac called after them as the "Monroe's" disappeared along the corridor towards the nearest vestibule at the end of the coach.

"Watch your step," Ben cautioned, assisting Olga on to the almost invisible platform. "Talk about your blackouts; this is a pip, and no mistake about it! None of your peacetime twilights like they put on in dear old London just before I left, not for Jerry'; he's too damn clever-such, I'll say that much for him."

"They're certainly efficient," whispered sibilantly, "especially when it comes to organizing for mass murder."

Gingerly picking a course around the piles of stacked trunks, rail-cases and boxes of freight, dimly discernible in the wan glow of spasmodic hung and carefully shaded blue lantern, Monroe led the way towards the subway which crossed under the various platforms, and traversing the long corridor which, underground was well lighted, in due course reached the main hall of the station, situated on the far side of number one platform.

Even here, the darkness was still sacrificed to any great extent except for a small lighted area in front of the entrance to the main waiting room, out of which a stream of silhouetted figures continually emerged or emerged, only to melt into dark shadows with the uncanny appearance of dissolving into nothing. "Like a series of motion picture fade-outs," Ben chuckled, guiding his companions by the arm as he contoured to pilot a course through the sluggish gloom around them.

"I wonder if these two S.S. guards scrutinizing the passengers at Passau were looking for the same person as the two at Vienna, and if they were really after me?" Olga ventured in low tones as they bunched for the waiting room.

"What is it?" his companion exclaimed, clutching his hand in startled apprehension.

"Take a look over there, in the lighted space in front of the waiting room! See those two bigbloke gents standing that red-headed girl? She's about your own height and build too," Monroe murmured, which doesn't look good to me at all!"

"The girl does look a bit like me, I must admit," Olga commented after careful observation of the scene. "Oh, Ben! Let's get out of here quickly, before they see us," she begged him; a justifiable fear of the lounging bear dog-tousled instincts of self-preservation.

"Down here!" Monroe commanded, dragging her into a passage leading at right angles from the main corridor. "It certainly looks as though they are after you, and no mistake about it!" he muttered, feeling their way along by touching the nearest wall with an outstretched hand for assistance.

"What can we do?" she asked fearfully. "They'll be searching for us everywhere—and God help us if we are caught!"

"Nil desperandum! And thank our lucky stars for the Kaltenot. The next step is to get you under cover while I think things over and figure out a new course of action."

"But where can we go? All the hotels will be under observation, and won't be picked up on suspicion characters if we walk around all night."

"Did you ever have a Turkish bath?" Ben asked quickly a unique expression of the problem flashing through his fertile mind.

"Occasionally — yes. But what's the notion at a time like this?"

"A Turkish bath seems to me to be a hot, damp place, my dear, girl. By using a fictitious name and local address it's no safer a hideout as we can possibly find. The Gestapo will never get any of looking for you in a place like that."

"But, where are we to find one, and what about a local address if we haven't got it?"

"Elementary, my dear Watson — my famous Baker Street sleuth could say to his confrere. All we have to do is find a public telephone box and look up a couple of bath houses in the advertising section of the directory. If none are listed there, you can telephone the information exchange and they will be able to tell you of two or three. Make sure you find the nearest one to the station here, we don't want to prowl around half of Nuremberg looking it after you get an address, and make sure they cater to ladies. Don't forget to ask for a hairdressing saloon attached to one, because you'll need attention afterwards. As far as local addresses are concerned, you can pick one out of the telephone book and then phone the bath house you select, reserving accommodation for Mrs. . . . whatever you decide to call yourself."

"It's not such a silly idea as it first sounds to me at that, Ben," she admitted. "It will also be time for us to stay there all day to-morrow—a natural precaution against taking a chill—and to eliminate the risk of being seen more than once in the day-time, don't you think so?"

"Yes I do. You had better stay hidden in the place tomorrow evening too, which will be easy by killing time in the hairdressing saloon, after your hair is all fixed up, have a manicure, have a facial, have a massage, have a bath of bricks if you have to waste any further daylight before leaving, but don't be later than ten o'clock, because I'll be waiting outside at that hour and all out, I hope, to push on our way."

"What will you do in the meantime?"

"I'll go to a nearby hotel. Then Gestapo swine may be looking for you, but, thank goodness, I'm the unknown equation so far. To-morrow I'll work out some new plan of campaigning our journey in safety."

"But I'm in your pocket, don't forget!"

"I know, but, being alone, it's only necessary for me to fill out my own particulars on the registration slip."

"It's just that I don't like leaving the Gestapo," Olga warned him. "They're in league with the devil, himself."

"I wonder if these two S.S. guards scrutinizing the passengers at Passau were looking for the same person as the two at Vienna, and if they were really after me?" Olga ventured in low tones as they bunched for the waiting room.

PROPOSE RESEARCH to FIND NEW USES for FARM PRODUCTS

Elevator Companies join in seeking a guided markets

Ottawa—Organization of a special research organization which will give all its time to an effort to find new uses for farm products or propose the existing production was proposed here July 23rd by a delegation which met Agriculture Minister Gardiner, Trade Minister MacKinnon and Mines Minister Crerar.

The delegation, representing of the cooperative committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, was told its representations would be placed before the Government.

Findings of a survey of possible farmed officials represented.

"They are Himler's special services in civies," was the quiet answer, "and very bad fellows to upset."

"It's a good thing war hasn't been declared yet, then, or I guess they would have wanted a word or two with me."

"Perhaps," the manager shrugged his shoulders. "But strangely enough, it's a German person they are seeking all hotels to watch for Some girl who has fled from Vienna."

"Someone trying to get out of the country because of their religion, I suppose?"

"No, not this time. This girl is Syrian, and from what they said is wanted very badly. She is tall, fair and good looking, well dressed, and has very noticeable red hair, according to their description. She is also said to be a peasant in observe the girl is, they are bound to get her . . . dead or alive!"

"They shouldn't have any trouble catching her in that case," Ben remarked with an upward cruel, or at the reference to Olga's supposed lack of pupils. "Incidentally," he added, "if you will direct me to the British Consulate, I think I'll drop in there and find out what my position is likely to be, should things become too hot before I can close out of the country."

"I think your idea is a very good one, under the circumstances," the manager agreed, directing his patron to the diplomatic office.

The first thing Monroe was impressed with by a member of the Consular staff was the information that the duchess he was still doing the hospital around at Germany's Why hadn't he obeyed the general instructions, advising all British subjects to quit the country?

After Ben explained that he was in Germany on business, and that he was unaware of the war's outbreak until he arrived, he was told that he would be given a visa to leave at a minute's notice. "Could they help him in any way?" grimly proffered that time after the visitor had vouchsafer the information that he was on his way to Lon don in respect to the War Office.

"The only thing I require," Monroe replied "is a sheet of note paper and an envelope, and your permission to deliver a letter in London for me. I would break out and you get it through the mail."

"We couldn't accept any private communications of that sort."

"This letter happens to be for Sir Charles Lorne," Ben retorted tartly, "and if you don't know who he is, just ask the Consul—he'll soon tell you."

Mount Edith Cavell

A Mountain Memorial To A Heroic Woman

There are many memorials to the memory of the heroes and heroines who gave their lives for the cause of freedom and democracy in the first world war but the majestic shrine which has been named after nurse Edith Cavell is perhaps the most interesting of them all. Memorial Park and keep alive the memory of that courageous woman as long as the heroic exploits of the men and women who thwarted the German bid for world domination a quarter of a century ago are recalled.

The story of nurse Edith Cavell is known to almost every school boy and girl in the English and French speaking world. In the grey dawn of an October morning in 1915 this gentle woman was taken from her prison cell to face a German firing squad. Her "crime" had been that although she was living in a country occupied country, she remained loyal to her own people and concealed a number of British soldiers who were being pursued by the German "gestapo" of that day. There are many in nurse Cavells in the present conflict who will draw courage and inspiration from the example set by one of their number who put the interests of her country before her own personal safety although she must have known full well the price which German ruthlessness would exact for her action.

Mount Edith Cavell is one of the most remarkable peaks in the Canadian Rockies. It occupies an almost isolated position and is clearly visible from points 25 miles distant. The peak rises to a height of over 11,000 feet and is perpetually hooded by a white mantle of snow. Appropriately, too, the side of this magnificent monolith is hung with a gleaming white glacier which gives the impression of a great white angel with outstretched wings keeping peaceful vigil over the valley below. This symbolic figure on the mountain memorial has been named "Angel Glacier" and was visited by the King and Queen during their visit to Canada in 1939.

Mount Edith Cavell has many models and to know it one must see it at all hours of the day and under different weather conditions. On grey days its appearance may suggest to many a sorrowful mood but on sunny days its snowy cap and sparkling rainbow glacier add a colorful purity against the clear blue sky. In the moonlight it is indescribably beautiful, suggesting a peace and tranquility of spirit that recall the last words of Edith Cavell just before her execution "There must be no hatred towards anyone."—Pried."

Mount Edith Cavell has approximately twelve and a half miles south of the Town of Jasper in Alberta and is accessible by a first class motor road. This year it is receiving an ever increasing number of visitors including many from various parts of the United States.

A PERFECT MEMORY

The story is told of a Kentucky colonel who had an argument with Satan. The devil said that no person had a perfect memory. The Colonel maintained there was an Indian on his plantation who never forgot anything. The Colonel agreed to forfeit his soul to the devil if the Indian ever forgot anything.

The devil went up to the Indian and said: "Do you like eggs?"

To which the Indian replied, "Yes." The devil went away.

Twenty years later the old Colonel died. The devil thought, "Aha, here's my chance."

The devil returned to earth and presented himself before the Indian. Raising his hand, the devil gave the tribal salutation, "How?"

INFLATION—

JULY 31st is the end of one crop year and August 1st the beginning of the next. It is a date set apart for statistical purposes more than anything else and has little, if anything to do with the growing of crops, as harvesting is going on at some place in the world almost every month of the year. It would not be right to assume that the end of the crop year and the beginning of another is responsible for any great change in the world grain situation, forces that make for price fluctuations have no respect for dates and exert their influence regardless of time or place. But just the same when there is such a thing as a cut off date for an international crop year, there is a tendency, not deliberately planned perhaps, for things to take shape at the beginning of such a period. It will be remembered that while for some months past there has been a very gradual rise in the price of grain it was rarely that the increase went beyond a fraction of a cent at any one time. Tuesday's elevator broadcast, however, announced wheat up two cents and other grains up also. Apparently in spite of the big wheat surpluses on the American continent there is a feeling that wheat is not going to be sold over the bargain counter.

Linked up, though not directly connected with this rise in the price of grain, is the growing belief among many quarters that inflation is coming. Quite recently President Roosevelt in a special message to Congress asked for special price control legislation. Enactment of that legislation, he said, "can no longer prudently be postponed." The President also declared that the rise in living costs is already "frighteningly similar" to that which preceded the World War inflationary spiral. Almost invariably country wide economic influences in the United States have their influence in Canada and if inflation does come to the United States it is a fairly safe bet prices will rise here also. It is also a fairly safe bet that if the United States find it necessary to institute price control, Canada will do likewise.

ENCLOSED: FIND AN IRON CROSS

—A letter in the Orlando (Fla) Morning Sentinel.

YOU and your newspaper have always stood for the principle of democracy and Americanism. I would be grateful to you if you would warn the people of Florida of just what is happening here in Florida so that they will wake up.

As I was born in Germany but am now an American citizen, thank God, I know whereof I speak. The Germans in Florida and all over the United States of America are being approached by many Nazi agents who tell them that their duty to the Fatherland comes first; unfortunately, most German-Americans are not loyal to this glorious government of ours and fall right in with Nazi schemes.....

I am writing this because my own two sons, both born Americans and citizens of the United States of America, are now fighting in the German Army because they listened to the promises of these German agents.

I do hope this letter will stop other Americans from joining or listening to these Nazi agents as my two foolish sons have done.

I am inclosing an Iron Cross I received from the Imperial German Government which I received for the death of my husband in the first World War. This cross stands for everything that is wicked, false, murderous, and against the teachings of Christianity.

Display this in your newspaper so most of the Germans here may know how we feel in the United States of America, even though they enjoy the freedom of this grand country. Mrs. Frieda Ollenberg

THE VITAL LAST BARREL—

NEW DEVELOPMENTS in Canada are making citizens more and more alive to the truth that this modern war knows no front line. There are phases of this war which must be fought within the borders of Canada—and must be won here. Canadians are discovering that they can take part in active warfare even while carrying out their ordinary civilian lives.

The urgent necessity of cutting gasoline and oil consumption drastically is another factor in bringing us to that fuller realization of the fact that we are all in the war.

The statement made some time ago by A. G. Gardiner in John Bull now has a new meaning in this country. He said, "The war will be won by the side that has the last barrel of oil".

If we accept the truth in this statement, we will find it just a little easier to forego some of the comfort and pleasure to be derived from the operation of a passenger motor car.

MAKING THE TOOLS OF WAR

Taking a passing look at an explosive bomb—500 pound one. It is 20 inches high as it stands on end, and 12 inches across. It is made of cast steel, blank and forbidding in appearance, except such like the chorus men in the country in the old days when dairy butter was an article of commerce, and bakery barrel chorus were invented. Loaded with his proper complement of T.N.T. and ammonium nitrate, sealed, with the firing appliances and the directive fins attached, it is not difficult to see in the eye of the naked, the devastating power of this instrument of war produced in Canadian plants.

A filling plant is as clean as a hospital ward. It is absolutely clean. The visitors wear clean rubbers provided by the plant. These rubbers are used for nothing else but walking on clean floors. Matches, lighters, and other trifles are left behind when the visitor starts on his trip of inspection. The clothes of the workmen are clean. They wear a standard uniform. The men leave their coats behind when they leave the plant. They are trained to quiet, efficient work. In a plant where carelessness might mean loss of life and serious danger to property carefulness becomes an outstanding characteristic. The awareness also of the plant, the extent of the operations, the movement of traffic in and out, gives a profound and lasting impression of the tremendous activity developed in Canada as a result of the war.

When the shells leave the factory where they are made, they are clean. The filling plant receives them as they might have taken on some extraneous substance on the journey. They are then poured. This is done in several operations. A nozzle has to be adjusted. The men who are watching the filling of these shells want to know where they hit. Smoke will prove the penetration. When the filling operation is complete, they are sealed, varnished, ready for shipment. They are stored in arsenals, ready for the journey to their final destination. When they explode on the battle field they exert a pressure of 50 tons to the square inch.

All munitions plants have certain characteristics. They occupy large open ground areas. The buildings are low. They occupy large areas because of the danger in a big, Cook 30 minutes. TORONTO EXHIBITION CANCELS MOTOR BOAT RACING

The Canadian National Exhibition this week cancelled all motor boat racing at this year's show, as a move to join in the gasoline conservation effort being conducted by Canadians at the present time. Elwood Hughes, General Manager of the C.N.E. in his statement said.

"Due to the national emergency with regard to the conservation of gasoline the Canadian National Exhibition today decided to abandon entirely its programs of motor-boat races. Racing motorboats require an inordinate amount of high-quality gasoline. Most of the outstanding racing enthusiasts of the United States and Canada had entered their craft in the various classes proved for in the Exhibition's program. The entries represented more and better boats than have ever been seen at this old-established regatta.

The management, actuated by the desire to assist in alleviating the present "gas" situation, has today notified all entrants of the cancellation of the events. It is significant that some of the race cars already have approved the action of the C.N.E. authorities. Its entire program is actuated, as far as possible, to the war effort, and if further curtailment be made in interest of the same the management will not hesitate to respect to additional requirements.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H.G.L. Strange
Director, Research Department, Searle

Many farmers this year will have barley plots or small fields that they sown to high quality Registered or Certified seed. The utmost care should be taken in the harvesting, threshing and storing of this precious material; all so that it will be kept clean and separated from other kinds of grain or seed that might contaminate it. The binder used should be thoroughly cleaned with a whisk broom, and the odd barnacle and bundle of other grain carefully picked out.

One of the best ways of threshing, if the amount is small, is to thresh the bundles from each lot straight from the separator into sacks by lowering the spout of the threshing machine to within about three feet of the grain. This is a simple operation and can readily be done quickly by any farmer

Each sack of seed of course, should be labelled inside and out with the name of variety. If no sacks are available then a clean grassy road may be used. It must be well swept out and the boards hen-proved to clean old kernels out of the cracks If the amount of seed to thresh is small a bulk-

LINDBROOK

Well; Sunday's rain should help a little, also help the gas saving too, not so good joy riding over muddy roads in the rain. The only pity is that it didn't arrive a little earlier; still we have got to have our feet on ground, nothings ever right!

The meeting at the hall scheduled for last Thursday when the Cosby plan was the subject was very sparsely attended; causes were busy season and 8.30 p.m. just about chore time for many; of course one might say, "Yes, but you got to the dance." That may be so, but living a great deal by a non-dancer at home dancing around the farm yard doing the chores. Anyway this meeting should be held after threshing and then a better attendance we I reason

The L.U.C. ladies sponsored a tea in the Hall one afternoon last week The subject was "Home-E" tomorrow, that is this L.U.C news we dare not intrude

The dance at the hall last Friday was quite up to snuff and was enjoyed by all as we won't go through the motions of humming some, and not Crust bound!

Mr Jas Bracegirdle left Sunday on a trip to the Coast via the Yellowhead so he will probably pass through a portion of the U.S.A

Seems quite a few horses and utility have developed a wand-like intelligence lately, a few passers but sorrowly rides or walks up to enquire whether horses or cattle have been seen in the vicinity It must be the drought conditions, pasture too dry

Alberta farmers may find a new British market this year, according to department of agriculture officials. Drouth in Eastern Canada has reduced yields of all kinds of grain, and Britain wants to import seed of these vital feeder crops. The department also reported that the United States crop is not expected to meet the home market needs of those feed. It is thought that Britain's desire to import seed indicates an shortage of live stock feeding over there bread can be built in the granary, but great care must be used not to grow different varieties mixed.

The Week In Edmonton

Edmonton August 7 —Departmental representatives from all branches of the civil service met in conference meeting last week to discuss possible economies in the operation of the service and to formulate plans for the training out of current difficulties, Hermann A. Gibson, Minister in charge of by George A. Chalk, director of civilian training, announced today. The conference purpose was to seek a remedy. As the regulations have been interpreted by the courts these vital feeder crops. The department also reported that the United States crop is not expected to meet the home market needs of those feed. It is thought that Britain's desire to import seed indicates an shortage of live stock feeding over there

This situation, it was pointed out, is causing a decision of departmental accounting systems, since the customary method to use over-riding. In addition, the spot cash rulings hamper the province of controllable revenue in the form of remissions of sales and excise taxes, and it was declared loss of this would throw out of balance the whole budgetary program of each department.

Mr. Chalk said which all suggestions received from departments are provided a workable plan will be introduced for consideration at the session. the order has gone out to all field men to observe regulations and conserve fuel.

V V V

Alberta section of the dominion-provincial youth training program will graduate a total of 6,100 students this year, of whom 1,600 are soldiers. Joint outlays of the two governments have amounted to $708,000 for this work, now vital in the time of mechanized armies and enhanced war production. Three types of training are given—one for war industries, another for enlisted men and the third for pre-enlistment training of young grown. Alberta has seven centres with plant facilities, adding all other provinces in the work. The province is also looking to the manufactury of engine lathes, be added.

Killing Weeds in the Fall

A little time taken in the fall will kill uncountable numbers of bad weeds. A light discing or cultivating of land in the fall just before freeze-up will kill many weeds that start to grow after harvest, and which may grow again the next spring if they are not destroyed.

Wedding

PARR—JUBB

A quiet, but very lovely wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents on Wednesday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, when Marion Audrey, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Jubb, became the bride of Clyde Wilson Parker, of Drumheller. The ceremony of the wedding march, played by Mr. A. J. H. McCauley, the bride entered the room on the arm of her father, looking very dainty in a gown of printed silk, carrying a bouquet of pink roses. Her accessories were beige. The marriage lines were read by the Rev. Alex Stewart of Edmonton and during the signing of the register, Mr. Ray Barnhill, accompanied by Mrs. McCauley, sang "I Love You Truly" very beautifully. Out of town guests at the ceremony were: Mrs. Carrie of Wainwright, sister of the groom, Mr. Homer Parker of Andrea-son, brother of the groom, Mrs. Corbett, Mrs. C. Anderson, Mrs. C. O'Leary, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barnhill, Mrs. A. Stewart, and Mr. and Mrs. Wharie, all of Edmonton, and Mr. and Mrs. G Jubb of Vegreville. The groom's table was centred with a beautiful wedding cake, and Miss Shirley Jubb assisted in the serving.

CORNHILL COUNCIL LEARNS GROUND FIRES NUMEROUS

Will Take Action to Have Them Put Under Control

At the regular monthly council meeting held at the District office, Tofield, on Friday last, Council learned that ground fires were more than ordinarily frequent this year. Agreement by the continued dry weather the fires were pouring both a nuisance and a menace. Fire guardian J. Bracegirdle was present and reported several. There were present at the meeting Reeve Walker; Councillors Anderson, Breen, Coombes, Kortman, and Swabey.

Minutes of last meeting together with list of accounts passed for payment by the said meeting were signed by Councillor Anderson were formally adopted.

Pte. Glen Intervenued Council and made an offer of $200.00 cash for S.E. of 4-50-20. This land is assessed for $900.00 and there are 6.60 acres. The matter was left over until after dinner.

Mr. J. H. Holgren interviewed the council in connection with his mother's old age pension papers signed.

J. Swabey, fire guardian reported quite a number of ground fires and asked for instructions as to what he should do concerning them. A general discussion on ground fires took place. Councillor Coombes pointed out that ground fires were the result of careless farmers and then a few extra forms in the Municipal office. Councillor Swabey felt conditions as their own particular district. Councillor Kortman suggested that there to be revered by the government on or before September 15th.

Letter from Department of Agriculture re Prairie Farm Assistance Act was read. The main feature of the latter was informing the council that if necessary, the weed inspector had the authority to have up to five acres of crop destroyed.

Councillor Anderson gave a report of a weed committee meeting held in Edmonton. Representatives from the Department of Agriculture were present but not representatives from the Department of Lands and Mines. The weed question was discussed at some length by the committee. Reports will be received by the government at the next Municipal Districts' Convention.

Rendez-vous in Vienna

A story of romance and adven ture in Europe prior to the outbreak of the present war.
By LESLIE HAMILTON

The sudden interest which the mistress of Sir Charles' manse aroused was passed for his guest to eat on the raised not lost on Rimmer, who nevertheless kept his own counsel, and merely handed a sealed note to the chap behind the counter, whose attitude had now thawed out completely. With a short greet morning, Rex then turned on his heel and forthwith departed from the building with a mattered "Supercilious twerp," beneath his breath, and headed for the address of a second-hand automobile dealer which the blue-blooded aristo of the "old school tie brigade" had condescended to give him.

"I suppose my 'un limin' status upset his aristocratic equilibrium," Rimmer laughed to himself, spotting the premises of one Hans Schmidt, a dealer in junk on wheels who had been highly recommended by the clerk at the Consulate.

"You savvy Englischer?" Rex demanded of the portly Hans.

"Bitte?" replied the descendant of the Schmidt family.

"Think heaven I picked up enough German in the past few days to know please' when I hear it," Rimmer reflected ruefully, "or I'd be stuck first shot." "Sprechen Englischer?" he tried again.

"A leetle! Also meester lieber Klaus speert Englisch," the man volunteered, smiling lustily to a youngster of about seven, who was loudly savoring a cigar leering cur at the end of the lounge.

"How much for that light enclosed raised delivery truck?" Rex asked the two-headed Klaus.

Followed a short colloquy in German between Schmidt senior and junior, then a query from "meester Lieber Klaus" as to whether the payment would be in American dollars.

The nodding of Munroe's head in confirmation promptly cushioned another parley between the Schmidt's small Klaus, with popping eyes at the prospect of seeing real money, and not fancy coupons, and they would make it a bargain for one hundred dollars cash. The concession was supplemented by an immediate offer from the lad to demonstrate the van so Munroe could judge what a real snap it was at such a gift price.

Accepting the invitation, the prospective customer grinned mirthfully, as the usual dufunts of the model, misused and abused wares of second-hand car dealers the world over, such as slow leaks in rotten tires, a lack of pep in battery or no battery at all, promptly manifested themselves; but those minor defects were eventually attended to, and then away they went for a trial spin with "meester Lieber Klaus" behind the wheel.

The little Opel proved to be in fair shape, nevertheless, and appeared to be in good enough condition for his purpose, so Rex decided to take a chance and buy it. Pulsing fifty dollars of the price out of his pocket so as to make a deposit, the deal was closed as soon as they returned to the garage, and the elder Schmidt, through Klaus, promised to give the van a going over, fill it with gas and oil, and grease and it, ready for delivery at nine-thirty that evening.

Leaving the Auto-mart, Munroe next called at a reasonably priced clothing shop, recommended by the fly," Rex reckoned, as the place was identified by the card in the window, informing all and sundry that French, English, Italian and Spanish were spoken inside the villainous looking establishment.

He therefore had no difficulty in obtaining from the security Tyrian merchant of dubious nationality who shuffled forward to serve him a pair of trousers, sweater, sports jacket and cap—which he guessed would fit Olga—and a couple of heavy travelling rugs, together with a pair of jeans and a sheath hat suitable for himself.

Returning with his purchases to the hotel, Munroe was advised by the worried manager of rumours to the effect that Germany was sending a virtual 24-hour ultimatum to Poland.

"Doesn't sound very hopeful, does it?" Rex commented, offering his friendly informant a cigar from a small box of German smokes which he had also bought while attending to the other matters.

"I'm afraid the fate of Europe hangs in the balance, my friend, and I fear if I were you I should make for Belgium without further delay," the innkeeper advised in friendly warning.

"I thought we were close to certain time," his patron thanked him, informing the hotel owner that he was right, leaving immediately after dinner. "Paying his bill and ordering a taxi for the run to Schmidt's when the time for his departure arrived, Munroe warned the proprietor for the latter's pleasant surprise in the form of mind. A small basket packed with sandwiches, pullover sweater, and a cap and sports jacket for your highness, and I don't think they'll look too awful, believe it or not!"

That might be a good place to camp!' Olga suddenly exclaimed, pointing out the dim entrance to an old gravel pit that opened off the highway. After a brief examination of the place by flashlight, Munroe decided it would do, so, reversing the truck and backing down the road a bit, he then drove inside and switched off the engine and lights.

"It is a pleasure, Herr Munroe," the manager replied in answer to the query of how Schmidt, personally, was getting on. "He is very busy, though, as an return for his thoughtfulness, I'm able to repay in some small way a little of the kindness shown to me during my two years at England as a prisoner of war! I only trust," added with a wan smile, "that I may have the pleasure of seeing you back in Nuremberg when the happier days we all hope for have returned."

With a cordial "Auf Wiedersehen" Rex bid the kindly hotelman good-bye and, giving the taxi driver the address of Herr Schmidt, persisted on the receipt for his deposit on the van, carefully noted the route followed by the driver on the short run to the used car depot.

Darkness was falling by the time Munroe finished taking delivery of the truck and, with the luggage and his additional purchases stowed inside, started his way back to the vicinity of the hotel. The he eventually reached, after losing his way once or twice, but, from a familiar group of buildings, he found the corner around which the bath house was situated without any further difficulties. Past the house a short distance from the entrance, he pulled over and shut the lamps on the side, all that were permitted during the darkness under the blackout regulations—and then posted himself to await Olga's appearance, which, all being well, was to be the moment.

He was not kept waiting very long, as promptly at ten o'clock his companion emerged from the front of the swanky institution as well turned out as—Rex averred her, as a Hollywood model on parade. The overhead lamps of the dome wonders for your ladyship," he commented in humorous comment, "which is a pity, in one way, as you're going to turn gypsy and wants all the expensive beauty secrets, not to mention far her to enter the dilapidated truck standing in the shadows.

"Good heavens, what's this?" she ejaculated with a startled glance of surprise at the battered remains of a once proud example of Herr Opel's skill.

"This, dear lady" (with a hearty laugh at her astonishment) "is your Pullman special for the Riviera! Step in boy in and let's go, the engineer is waiting," escorting her into the vehicle with as much flourish as if it were a Rolls Royce. Climbing in beside her as soon as the door was safely seated, Munroe raved the ailing motor to a speed sufficient to engage the clutch, and gingerly coaxing the gears, started the ramshackle on the next lap of their journey to the German border.

"You're simply full of surprises, aren't you?" Olga exclaimed merrily as they got away at a fairly clear speed on more darkened streets of the city. "Have you a baby accepting turkey away in the back, by any chance?" she ventured, smiling invitingly to her companion's reserved self.

"Sorry, I'm a Kiwi in that respect. "And what is a Kiwi might I ask?"

"An Australian bird which cannot fly. Rex reckoned it was lovely shaking the voice, as they struck a smoother high-

"How far are we going to-night?" Olga enquired after the subsidence of the excitement caused by the sudden bursting of the tire.

"Not very far," Rex replied. "There is a shaded lighter not far from the border, leaving for the country that they're hoping to get through before the highway."

"Have you found someone to smuggle us across?" Olga asked in surprise.

"When we come to a suitable place where I can pull off the road and conceal part out of sight we are going to change right here beside the old car," was the cool answer, "then we'll drive on until daylight, I didn't want to risk being stopped at the border with the luggage in the van, for then we'd be in a bad way, indeed, because those two S.S. men at the station last night were looking for you all right."

"How did you find that out?"

Rex then told his companion about the incident when the greasy agents of the Gestapo had tried to bribe him to give description to the manager. "That's why I bought this old wreck," he added, "so we could use it to sleep in also as camouflage, as an independent of trains, and because I thought it would be safer than hiring one from the hotel. Besides, Hans Schmidt, the Jew-hater, and Freiberg by the military authorities, the waitress informed them.

"Clearing the Saar basin in anticipation of French and British air attacks on the industrial area," Rex commented. "I think I told me about the general situation, I don't want to be caught napping in case things should suddenly come to a head without advance warning of any sort."

The Battle Of Germany

Editorial from The New York Times

For nearly two years Hitler has been sitting like a black spider in the middle of Europe, casting out lines and tentacles in every direction in order to keep death and destruction as far as possible from his own country, and especially from the great forges of war he has built at the centre of the web. He, while always announcing that the Battle of Poland has been fought by the Battle of Norway, the Battle of France and the Battle of the Balkans, has never fought the Battle of Britain. All these operations were inaugurated by Hitler and represented to a large degree the choice of time, place and weapons. He applies also to the vast engagement to come in progress, the Battle of Russia and the Battle of the Atlantic. These two, were started by the same man and under their arms more significant than the two already known, that he goes on to subdue, or, failing that, to destroy. He is increasing instead of diminishing his forces.

In fact, however, we begin to hear of the "Battle of Germany" as announcing that in the last few weeks the Royal Air Force has thrown upon Germany about half the tonnage of bombs which in the whole period of the war Mr. Churchill gave the measure of the air and warfare of Britain's attacks on the Reich. From the effects of this, as from the effects of heavy night bombing of vital spots in Germany and of the air patrols in the Atlantic, the German people will they have attained equality with the British people in the according to the aeronautical expert of The Sunday Times of London, the Luftwaffe has not established superiority on the Eastern Front and has been forced to weaken the air force in Russia by diverting five crack fighter squadrons and a bomber squadron from the south of British readers. The north and eastern coasts of Scotland, the Shetlands and Orkneys are exposed to incessant attack by German planes.

Two things are happening on the Germans. They are spending a staggering amount of men and material as I trained man power on an unexpected scale in the campaign. For the first time yesterday the German High Command announced—the "desperate battle" or "defensive attack." And the existence of the Nazis cannot be overestimated. Not the least of the evil they are accelerating in Russia, the Nazi war machine is destroyed by a terrific effort for guns it will take years to organize and exploit. At the same time German civilians are being made communities are exposed to incessant and gradually effective attack.

The drain on one front and the pressure on the other are bound to convince the German people that the Battle of Germany has indeed begun and this may have something to do with the revival of peace rumors, now in the form of suggestions that Hitler is waiting for "generous" terms in the west in exchange for a free hand in Russia. The Fuehrer has a habit of whipping up his flagging people with stories of rejected peace proposals, and it is clear, when the force of the war strikes the Father Land, he will find the latest advantage, he is probably ready to go to great lengths to stave off an all-out attack on the home front. The Battle of Germany is one battle Hitler never fought in Poland. Until the Soviet army has lost home or other nations have come to the German people they will never realize that the whole world is the implacable enemy of Hitler's Reich.

Address Soldiers' Mail In Ink

Postmaster General William P. Mc-Lorh has always shown a keen personal interest in providing a safe and expeditious service for mail to our overseas troops. One frequent cause of delay—a direct fault of the sender—is illegible addresses on mail matter. It has frequently been found that pencil written addresses become smudged and unreadable during the course of transmission, with the result that it is very difficult for the Canadian Postal Corps to effect delivery.

When INK is used there is less danger of the address fading or becoming obliterated and persons sending letters and parcels to soldiers overseas can help to ensure their safe and speedy delivery by always having the address written in a clear and legible manner in INK.

All mail should be fully prepaid and a return address given in the upper left-hand corner. Letters, parcels and newspapers for our troops overseas should be addressed in INK as follows:

Name of Regiment of Branch of Service.
Canadian Army Overseas.

If the soldier is still in Canada, mail should be addressed in like manner, including:

Regimental Number, Rank and Name, Name and Details of Unit (as above), Name of Regiment or Branch of Service.

ALL IN A DAY'S WALK—

GASOLINE ECONOMY suggests some beneficial consequences. People who have never learned to walk do not realize what they have missed, but they may find out. Even a mile, at leisurely gait, on a country road may open up a new world. Passing trees near enough to touch their bark or leaves, and treading through moist and fragrant grass on one's way to business are experiences no rubber-tire travel can impart.

What our literature owes to walking will never be estimated. It was roaming on foot through Hawkshead and Grasmere, round Derwent Water and Windermere, that inspired Wordsworth to write his pastoral poetry. It is doubtful if daffodils would burst upon the inward eye of one who slipped through Rydal in a motor car.

Thoreau, to our great benefit, was a walker too. So was Charles Dickens. To his excursions in London streets we owe the savory description of Mrs. Gamp's doings at the bird-fancier's front door but one to the celebrated mutton-pie shop, and directly opposite to the original cat's meat warehouse. If he had not had the habit of prowling about "The City" within hearing of Bow Bells, he could never have given us the offices of Dombey and Son near East India House, which teemed "with suggestions of precipitous stuffs and cottons, tigers, elephants, howdahs, hookahs, umbrellas, palm trees, palankeens" and such things, or the "little timber midshipmen in obsolete naval uniforms" like the one by the shop door of Solomon Gills.

He might never have come upon Mrs. Lirriper's Lodgings or the lady's pew at St. Clement's Danes, "with genteel company and my own hassock and being partial to evening service not too crowded." He might have missed the counting house of Scrooge & Marley, and Micawber's house in Windsor Terrace. And one might go on missing subject matter for many a gasless evening. —Christian Science Monitor.

COMBATING BOREDOM—

SOMEBODY ONCE defined war as ten days of boredom and half an hour of ferocious activity. Most nations recognize army morale as a number-one problem.

Early in this war Britain discovered that after four months of active duty her average soldier was inclined to go on his thinking apparatus on the shelf, for the "duration." But the British recognized the symptoms, and have actively combated them, largely with education.

Last month 5,000 lectures were delivered to the military forces on such subjects as "Internal Conditions in Italy," "The German Financial Policies" and "After the War, What?" Thus Private Tommy Atkins may not come out of the war the same lad he went in. He won't have to take down a rusty thinking apparatus from the shelf or spend hours "thinking over" what he was going on."

This is not peculiarly a soldier's problem. Sailors, too, and civilians, for that matter, face the problem of how to do their spare time. On some of the convoy ships it has been reported, sailors are seen hard at their hobbies when off duty: painting pictures, learning how to play the fiddle, or studying Spanish. Wartime, many have already discovered, need not be boretime—to the inquiring mind.—Christian Science Monitor.

A Sobering Thought

From many sections of the country come reports that a large number of Canadian motorists want to be rationed by regulation rather than do it themselves.

Most of these have not yet grasped the situation. They do not understand that any form of rationing would require at least three months preparation and that it would not be sufficient to start saving gasoline and oil in October, because the cut-down must be saved during the peak consumption months of August and September. They do not realize that even if it were possible to put any scheme of rationing into effect immediately such a move would dislocate Canada's wartime industrial economy to an extent that would cause untold damage to our war effort.

On top of these considerations, it is evident that many of those who are crying for a scheme of rationing do not see the grave possibility that no real benefit from of rationing is this country would be to take all passenger cars, except those used for business and professional purposes, right off the highways.

The appeal to the Canadian public to reduce the consumption of gasoline and oil arises out of dire necessity. Individuals in a free country have a right to offer suggestions in an operation of this kind, but none will feel that he has the right to ignore the appeal for a cut in consumption, just because his suggestion is not accepted.

LONDON

London is still dear, gallant old London! I've been right through the Blitzkrieg up to date and except one brief interval in a period of bitter incomparable to excessive quite how marvelous and calm and determined the people are. It's an experience that it will be good to have had for ever. There is a deep normality of behavior that is almost abnormal in its very quietness. Nothing can upset or dislodge their hundred pleas as "External decorations by a notorious ex-painter" and "Come in, and buy our bloated goods." —O.E. in The Christian Science Monitor.

Still Prudent

Mrs. Richard Harding Davis was riding in a Long Island train when an important looking woman took a seat across the aisle from her. Mrs. Davis remembering that somewhere she had met the newcomer, but what her name was she could not recall, in order to make the situation safe, casually asked, "Are you come sit with me, Mrs. Davis?"

Mrs. Davis changed her seat and then began a mental struggle to recall the elusive name. Presently a nice disclosed itself. The lady nervously leaned a brother.

"Oh, yes. Your brother," Mrs. Davis grasped at a straw. "What is he doing now?"

"Oh, he's still President of the United States," said Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of Theodore Roosevelt.

On the Long Side

The recruit was given given clothes and bit at the barracks. They were then sent under an officer for the inspection by the sergeant. "Any complaints?" he called out.

"Yes, sergeant," replied the recruit promptly.

"What is it?" asked the sergeant.

"It's my trousers."

"What's the matter?" asked the sergeant. "Don't you like anything about with them."

"Nothing, you can't see anything wrong, but I feel something wrong—they're challenge me under my arms."—London Herald.

Just the Thing

Mabel couldn't for the life of her think what to get her best friend for her birthday. She kept thinking all the way to the shop but still could not decide on anything. She asked a clerk if he could suggest something.

"How about these book ends?" suggested the clerk.

"Just the thing!" agreed Mabel "She always reads the ends before she does the beginning."

"Pat," he added quickly, "becomes the more abnormal conditions become the harder it will be for the banterers to get our truly! Although as long as we keep away from trains and boats and 'planes I think there is much chance of that happening."

"Just the same, I feel sorry for the poor fellow," Olga replied sadly. "It is terrible! But it is nothing . . . I say to what it will be like when we're breaks out in earnest."

"What I'm interested in," Munroe pondered, "is how this state of affairs will effect us. I think I'll phone the American Consulate and see what can be decided, "and see what they can tell us about the general situation. I don't want to be caught napping in case things should suddenly come to a head without advance warning of any sort."

THE WEEK IN EDMONTON

Edmonton, August 11—According to the Department of Agriculture officials, the danger of norse disease at this time is evident in the province, but not critically so. The department has received reports of outbreaks in certain isolated instances, but no epidemic is apparent. It is said that supplies of vaccine have been held up, but in the event of a big demand there may be some delay in obtaining supplies.

V V V

Temporary employees of the provincial government who suffer loss of income through attending military training camp will receive compensation from the province, according to an order passed recently. Permanent employees already are beneficiaries of a similar order passed last year. The orders apply only to those whose military pay is less than that earned in normal employment. The effect of the orders is that civil servants drawing camp are assured of the same income as they receive at home.

Reliable guest children resident in Alberta have made good standing in school examinations, it is stated by C.R. Hill of the Provincial Child Welfare Department, who is director in charge of foster children for the province. Recently returned from an inspection tour of the province, Mr. Hill said he visited a number of these foster homes, and he expressed satisfaction with conditions and progress made by the children.

V V V

Serious damage to harvest fields by casefly infestation is reported by C. S. Longman, Field Crops Commissioner for Alberta. The commissioner endorsed advice given by the dominion entomology station, that farmers harvest before the pest causes too much damage. Cutting infested fields with binder or swather before the flies lay down the standing grain was urged, even if crops are a little green. A close watch is being maintained by the Provincial and Dominion authorities.

V V V

Further reports of polio cases in the Province have been received by the Provincial Department of Health, and a statement has been issued to guide parents in the care of their children during the period of infection. It is stressed that only 15 per cent. of cases are clinically recognizable, that man is a natural host for the virus which causes the disease, and that all suspicious cases should be given medical attention at once. Ample supplies of serum and good numbers of "iron lungs" are maintained in the Province.

V V V

Provincial and Dominion authorities will confer at early date to discuss ways of increasing Alberta's production of oil, it is announced. Dr. G. S. Hume, of the Federal Geological Survey and George B. Webster of the Provincial Research Council, will meet Hon. N. E. Tanner in connection with the current need for increased production. Provincial authorities are speeding up search programs.

Current publicity campaign directed at U.S. tourists have boosted Edmonton trade 30 per cent, it was announced this week by A.M.A. officials. Camp and hotel officials agreed that the figure may be 50 per cent before the end of the season, and A.M.A. auto camp is filled to capacity every night in the evening. It is add-

Storage Requirements For Vegetables

Choice vegetables and good storage conditions are two requisites for successful vegetable storage Vegetables which have been well grown, free from insect damage and disease, and have been left to mature fully and correctly harvested are the proper type for winter storage.

Temperature humidity and space about was shipped to a Vancouver are the chief factors to be considered in storage for most vegetables temperatures between 34 and 40 degrees F. are best. Most failures to store vegetables are the result of temperatures that are too high, but temperatures either at or below the freezing point must be avoided.

The humidity of the storage room should stand at 85 per cent. Vegetables should be shrivel up in a dry atmosphere while in moist conditions they retain their plumpness and firmness. Two ample atmosphere factors rotting. The storage room should be so constructed as to allow the free circulation of air. Consult the Commissioner in control the house of district to the development of root and tuber crops, and responsible to answer the Dominion Parliament was urged The necessity of good storage conby Premier Aberhart in a statement last week. If these conditions are not available the storage room should be built of Universal Corrugated Iron. Consult the Department of Municipal Policy; Banks and commercial Banking; Safeguards Against Inflation; Orderly Price Restrictions; War Finance and Financing Industry and Trade. The statement attracted widespread attention across Canada.

A MESSAGE... To Alberta Farmers

The suggestion is offered to Alberta grain producers that wherever possible they should deliver their grain to Alberta Pool Elevators, thus strengthening and building up a purely co-operative organization owned and operated by Alberta farmers.

Alberta Pool Elevators has been singularly successful in developing on co-operative principles the largest grain handling organization in the province; establishing on an equitable and fair standard of service for the benefit of all Saskatchewan, through constant contact and interco-ation with the government of Canada, a measure of price protection and other benefits for the farmers of the western provinces

It is of the utmost importance at the present time that farmers should have a strong organization to look for them. The greatest weakness of the farmers' position, from an economic standpoint, is individualism. They must unite if they are to escape being completely submerged.

The Wheat Pool offers a natural rallying point for the farmers. Being founded on true co-operative principles, it is not concerned with politics, religion or national origins

Every individual farmer is welcome to the ranks of patrons of Pool Elevators. It has only one objective, namely, the welfare of agriculture.

Why continue to contribute to the support of capitalistic organizations whose only concern is profit for its owners?

Why not arouse yourselves and support an organization whose one concern is improvement of the lot of the farm family?

The huge surplus of grain in country elevators has complicated the grain handling problem this year, but if you have the opportunity to patronize Pool Elevators, do so. If not, formulate your plans to use the facilities of the next excellent elevator system as you can

Remember, if your industry is to be aided and sustained, it must be done by yourselves

Bardo Male Chorus Makes Adventurous Journey To North Country

BY EDDIE STEEN

After many invitations and definite offers extending over a period of six years, Bardo Male Chorus decided to make a trip into the Grande Prairie region. A feverish period of work practising and planning preceded the trip which began on the rainy morning of June 20th. A motorcade of seven cars, carrying 40 people left the J. H. Stauffer farm home at Bardo. The members of the group were: Bennie and Phillip Anderson, Ivar, Eldon and Art Moen, Fred Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Fimbaug, Gordon Hendrickson, Hans Andersen, Emil Eddie Hoem, Pete Bjornson, Albin Andersen (director) Milton Jevning, Malcolm and Howard Plumish, Eddie Hoem, Olaf Haugen, Ingulf Breaken, Axel Hindley and Mack Hunsperger (pianist). Others were Mr. and Mrs. Jas Stauffer and Evelyn, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hagen. A short time was spent in Edmonton to do some last minute shopping. Everyone felt relieved when the 14 cars had safely crossed the Athabasca River and others.

Mrs. Orgille and four children visited at the Eagleshaun home last week. Two of the children are staying out the month.

Mrs. Beath visited with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Walker spent a week in Edmonton last week. We are sorry to hear that Mr. Walker's father passed away last Sunday. Mrs. Beath remained with the baby while Mr. and Mrs. Mcintyre attended the funeral near Red Deer.

Alvin Steen had the misfortune of having a runaway one day last week. The wagon was thrown against a tree and the box thrown away on the air. The wagon and harness were badly damaged Fortunately no one was happened to be in the wagon at

MARY SNELL HONORED AT SHOWER

On Wednesday evening a large number of friends gathered at the Worton home to do honor to Mary Snell, bride-elect of this week. Bingo was played by the guests with honors going to Mrs. Worton and Mrs. Lois Wilson. Lois also gave a reminiscences of lovely scenes by Faye and Lola Wilson. Lois also gave a reading which was greatly enjoyed. To the music of "Here Comes the Bride" Magdalene Snell and Dorothy Sorenson presented the gifts to the bride-to-be, in a gaily decorated tub, the color scheme being red, white and blue. The gifts were numerous and lovely and after opening all the parcels and discovered all the mail and ends, Mary thanked her friends and invited them all to visit her in her home at Smiley. After lunch was served, the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," everyone departed to their homes wishing Mary much future happiness.

"Very well, m-lord," she answered quietly. "I await with patience your concentration and cogitation."

"Ever hear the story of 'Captain von Kopperunk'?" Monroe opened up after lunch was finished, and he re- plied upon the deck with Olga to talk over the situation.

"Wasn't he some fellow who dress up as a high ranking German of- ficer during the ex-Kaiser's time, and fooled the upper and loral dignitaries of some little town so well that they entertained him at a specially pre- pared banquet in his honour?"

"That's the story," Ree confirmed. "It was a play written around the incident which was the funniest thing I've seen on the stage, accord- ing to all I've heard about it. The theme of the whole thing which is known as 'Hauptmann von Kopp- enick' Boche where uniforms are concern- ed.

"How long does our Dutch friend expect to be gone, Ree?" Olga ask- ed?". Ree asked Olga on the Mon- day morning during breakfast in the barge saloon.

Turning to the Dutch skipper, repeated Monroe's question to the old man, who replied in reply, "That God alone knew how long the Schwanhund' Boche would keep him waiting for an answer, especially as he was going down to the barges after breakfast to find out," he added, "that no hope of being able to leave before the next day at the earliest. Why not change into our own boat- ing to-day?"

"Haven't needed yet," Olga in- formed him, "but will do so after we have been into town and made some purchases. Should you require any- thing for the barge, please let me know."

"What's the next move, command- ant?" Olga enquired upon rejoining Monroe in the street again.

"I really believe you're enjoying this part, and evidently delight and intrigue aren't you?" Ree smiled at her.

"I am enjoying it under what were, after all, very dangerous circum- stances for both of them. The situa- tion had been difficult and risky e- nough before, but with war an actual- ity the frontier closed to all civil subjects, the position had become ex- ceedingly desperate, as their British passport would no longer serve as a safe conduct across the border.

"Now that I've had a week to study know you, I don't mind admitting about that. I am actually enjoying our adventure," she confessed, and with a little catch of excitement in her voice: "It's such a far cry from anything I believed could ever hap- pen to me as my wildest dream- of imagination. Travelling as your- wife on a doctored passport, steal- ing documents and treasure from un- der the noses of the Gestapo, and of duplicity to leave the country who wouldn't be thrilled?"

SEASONAL BEE NOTES

The honey crop is now being ex- tracted. It promises to be larger than that of the two previous years. There is a good demand at present prices, and Canada as a whole is not going to have an exceptionally large crop. It is reported that present prices will be maintained. There is strong com- petition, but the excellent quality of the Alberta product assures a pros- tous for it.

Many beekeepers are preparing to winter their bees. It is felt that by doing this they become less dependent on the weather conditions and can de- rive foreign exchange that is badly needed in the war effort.

A NEW DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE—

IN ONE OI' the most dramatic and certainly what will become known as a most historic meeting, between Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain and President Roosevelt of the United States of America, a joint declaration was made. The meeting took place at sea, which in itself was unique, and is most likely the first time the leaders of two great world powers met in such a way and in such a declaration held out to millions of people in many parts of the earth, a real hope for a better and more peaceful future world. The declaration, bearing as it does, the personal signatures of the leaders of the two great world democracies, will no doubt become a declaration of great historic value. The fervent wish of millions of people is that though the task be hard and the way be long, the principles embodied in the declaration may finally be achieved. The declaration follows:

FIRST, their countries seek no aggrandizement, territorial or other;

SECOND, they desire to see no territorial changes that do not accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned;

THIRD, they respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of Government under which they will live; and they wish to see sovereign rights and self government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them;

FOURTH, they will endeavour, with due respect for their existing obligations, to further the enjoyment by all states, great or small, victor or vanquished, of access, on equal terms, to the trade and to the raw materials of the world which are needed for their economic prosperity;

FIFTH, they desire to bring about the fullest collaboration between all nations in the economic field with the object of securing for all, improved labour standards, economic advancement and social security;

SIXTH, after the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny, they hope to see established a peace which will afford to all nations the means of dwelling in safety within their own boundaries, and which will afford assurance that all the men in all the lands may live out their lives in freedom from fear and want;

SEVENTH, such a peace should enable all men to traverse the high seas and oceans without hindrance;

EIGHTH, they believe that all of the nations of the world, for realistic as well as spiritual reasons, must come to the abandonment of the use of force. Since no future peace can be maintained if land, sea or air armaments continue to be employed by nations which threaten, or may threaten, aggression outside of their frontiers, they believe, pending the establishment of a wider and permanent system of general security, that the disarmament of such nations is essential. They will likewise aid and encourage all other practicable measures which will lighten for peace-loving peoples the crushing burden of armaments.

SILK—COTTON! COTTON—SILK?—

WAR, LIKE LIFE itself, has many different phases. The necessary sacrifice of noble men and women, the heat of battle, the long drawn out boredom that frequently precedes it are features that immediately come to mind when war is mentioned in conversation or in any other way. And this war in particular, is full of heroic deeds of civilian populations in bombed areas.

But there are other things connected with war, less heroic than the work of the armed forces, and purely economic in their scope, but sufficiently important to arrest the attention of many people in a country at war.

Quite recently there was announced a drastic cut in the manufacture of silk hosiery both in Canada and the United States. However necessary to the marts of trade and however necessary for the adornment of "all-lady" silk hosiery may be, government financial experts decreed that far too many Canadian and American dollars were going to Japan for silk, dollars that could with profit be used on this side of the Pacific in the general war effort. Consequently only quite recently in the large departmental stores of this continent there was a run on silk stockings—not a run in them. Thousands of women all over the continent pushed and jostled at departmental store hosiery counters in order to get at least a few pairs to lay in reserve for special occasions. Nobody thought much about it, for with supplies dwindling fast and no more available, a heavy demand for silk stockings was expected and after a few days of unusual activity, the situation became commonplace.

The whole incident would hardly be worth mentioning but for the fact that in Japan a few months earlier, an identical situation had developed. You see, Japan wanted to save its foreign exchange too, so earlier in the year had stopped or greatly restricted the importation of cotton from the United States. The Japanese women wear white cotton hosiery, a white half sock with a place specially made for a great toe. They too had dollars that could with profit and are subjected to many washings. These are considered quite as necessary to the style and comfort of the Japanese woman as are silk stockings to the style and comfort of the Canadian woman. So the Japanese order went into effect restricting the importation of cotton, there was an immediate extra demand for these cotton socks and like the Canadian women pushing and jostling for silk hosiery, the Japanese women pushed and jostled for cotton hosiery. So it would appear that if not exactly the shoe, the stocking "is on the other foot." The Canadian and American women will have cotton where before they had silk, and the Japanese women will have silk where before they had cotton. A kind of topsy turvy situation, brought about by aggressor nations, believing in the power of force and not in the right of reason.

The Week In Edmonton

Poliomyelitis

In view of the spread of Poliomyelitis in Alberta, strict orders banning all children under seventeen years of age from public assembly, were issued by the Provincial Board of Health this week. The order affects thousands of children in the province. It was pointed out there are nearly thirty cases of the dread disease in Alberta, and prompt action may serve to curtail further spread of the disease. Schools will not open on September 2nd. unless the order is lifted. This will depend upon developments in the meantime Provincial officials said a close watch is being kept on the situation in Medicine Hat, where the total of poliomyelitis cases stood at 200.

Grain Shortage

Canada is faced with a serious shortage of coarse grains, according to Major H.G.L. Strange of Winnipeg, Major Strange was a visitor to Edmonton during a recent trip, in connection with the Provincial Committee on Agriculture. Prices have gone up one cent a quart for milk, two cents a pint for "Superior" milk and two cents per half-pint for cream.

Freight Rates

Plans for a vigorous resumption of Canadian National Railway freight being charted by officials in the city despite the obstacles of car and freight rates. To date hundreds of tons of scrap metal and other materials collected from farmers by line agents.

A. R. P.

Rt. Royal Highness, Air Commodore the Duke of Kent, youngest brother of King George VI., was the given a royal welcome to Edmonton last week. The occasion was a meeting of the City Council, Mr. Parsons declared— Lady Astor, speaking at a Canadian Women's Air Training Scheme, His Royal Highness spent three and a half hours of very crowded activities, inspecting airport and hangar facilities, the Provincial Institute of Mental Hygiene and other civic groups should be established as part of the organization.

Propaganda

Complaints from tourists that they were being robbed at a rate of $5 per day to travel further north than the Columbia Ice Fields are again being heard in Edmonton. Others were reported to be told to go to Jasper and return by the way they came if they arrived in a number of these cases", said J.A. McNeil, Secretary of the Edmonton Branch of the Alberta Motor Association, "but they are such isolated

SIXTEEN HUNDRED MEMBERS OF HOME DEFENCE ARMY AS SIGNED TO DUTY ON ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC COASTS

From the 4,500 trainees completing the first four-month training period under the National Resources Mobilization Act, some 1600 have been assigned to defence duties on the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. Approximately 2800 more are being retained to fill administrative vacancies in training centres and to complete Home War Establishments. Of the remainder many have enlisted in the Active Forces of Army, Navy, or Air Force, a privilege accorded after their training period. Others have received permanent appointments and it has been considered in the best national interest that they return to their civilian occupation, or are compassionate grounds.

The new way which will be known as the Canadian Active Army on Home Defence will have the same status as other members of the Active Army except that they cannot be called on for service outside of Canada or its territorial waters.

After two months' service those trainees will be given furlough for two weeks' furlough, the same applies to enlisted men who have completed six months in the army.

number than last year". Efforts are being made to find these responsible for the reports.

Retirement

Doctor W.A.R. Kerr, of the University of Alberta, for the past five years, will retire from that position at the end of August, it has been announced by Premier Aberhart. Dr. Kerr will be replaced by Dr Robert Newton, Dean of the Arts's Agricultural Faculty at the University. In making the announcement, Premier Aberhart also stated that a committee will be named to make a survey of—"the organization and general efficiency of the University".

Milk Prices

Consumers of milk and cream in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge are paying more for their privilege since announcement was made of an order by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners. Prices have gone up Health Minister Chas. Mitchell said he was convinced producers were not receiving enough to meet increased wages and costs. In the case of milk producers are granted an additional thirty-five cents per hundred pounds of their product. The same ruling order allows skimmed milk to be sold for the first time, the price set to be five cents a quart or fifteen cents per gallon.

Wheat

The Wheat Pools of Western Canada are endeavoring to induce the federal government to increase the price of wheat to $1 a bushel. In the United States, wheat farmers are receiving approximately $1.10 a bushel through a guaranteed minimum price and special bonuses. The figure is considered on a parity with other prices.

The Price of Wheat

With the cost of manufactured goods and most commodities rising steadily, the price of wheat is at a ridiculously low figure. On the basis to be called $160,982, bringing a total of Canada's No. 1 Northern at the terminal, the average price to farmers at local shipping points in Alberta, after averaging grades will be around 65c a bushel. Even with a big crop such a price is profitless Alberta's wheat crop this year is less than half of last year's output, which makes the price situation even more acute.

HASTINGS LAKE

The Woolaks family had their daughter Daily from Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Bergner of Leduc, for week end guests.

On the M.H.R. sheep ranch, 'the boss' is reported, as having quite a bit of trouble with the sheep. It was said some of the sheep are trying to learn to swim, one jumping in the well to try and learn how to dive. It is rather tough on those sheep ranchers in the vicinity.

Most of the men have left this vicinity for harvest work.

Mrs. Ward was visiting Mrs. P. Donald for the week end.

Some of the Hoover family were victims to the city for the week-end.

Mr. Jack Seabey, teacher, is teaching school at Hastings Lake the coming year, we understand.

Art Bergner has returned from the South where he has been working.

Mrs. Ward is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Donald at Iberville for a few days.

LINDBROOK

Cutting in general here now and the harvest will be rushed, and the kind of a job. Moisture just now wouldn't help much, might freshen it up a bit and that's all.

Mrs. Best of Athabasca, who has been spending a few days with her sister-in-law, Mrs. F. Evans, returned home last Friday.

Mr. Ted Chester, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Hedley Barnes, is staying with them on a vacation from the Flin Flon mining district.

A few years ago it was imperative that every rural school possessed a team to stable the pupil's ponies. All, lately it seems a bicycle stand will be needed, a few years hence it may be garages that will be needed, and later perhaps, hangars and tamarac for the pupil's planes.

Mr. J. A. Richardson motored down to Rowley, Alta., near Drumheller, over the week end on business.

Master Gary Hooper is at present on a visit to his grandma, Mrs. E. W. Hooper of Lindbrook.

Miss Lillian Gould of Mountain Park, Alta., who has been here on a visit to her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gould and family, returned home this week.

Farmers are to pay a monthly fee of ten cents whether present or not at the meeting. The fees to help cover the cost of buying any supplies needed in addition to those obtained from the Red Cross Society. The group is divided into three working groups—east, north east and south. The three executive meeting will be held on the first general meeting will be held on Thursday, August 28, at Mrs. A. Hunter's. Anyone who can possibly get there will be very welcome. If you cannot attend and would care to help with the sewing or knitting, let anyone in the Lakeshore vicinity know and she will pass the word along to the supply committee who will see that you get material to work with.

Cooking Lake Claim Four Victims in Sad Boating Tragedy

On Sunday afternoon, some time after four o'clock, four lives were lost in a sail boat tragedy at Cooking Lake.

The four to lose their lives were C. P. Christensen, 63, pharmacist at the Royal Alexander hospital, Edmonton; Norman Christensen, 16; Mavis Christensen, 14; Isobel Blair, 17; also of Edmonton.

The Christensen family were daily visitors at their summer cottage, three miles east of Lakeview pavilion and in addition to these tragically lost, included Mrs. Christensen and two children, Vera, 18, and Peter, 6. Miss Blair was a guest.

The party of four set out for a sail boat ride about 3 p.m. There was a good breeze and the lake was choppy. Later a squall came up and it is believed that it was during the squall the boat capsized and the occupants were drowned.

A search for the party started late Sunday night when police, farmers and residents walked the shoreline in the hope of finding the boat or some clue to the party's whereabouts. On Monday the boat was spotted by a plane and about the same time seen by searchers in boats.

A member of R.C.M.P. constables from Tofield was on the scene early Monday to search the lake and surrounding district. The bodies of Mavis Christenson, 14, and Isobel Blair, 17, were recovered late Monday, and the bodies of C. P. Christensen, 63, and his son, Norman, 16, were recovered about noon Tuesday.

Ella Lindberg is home from the city.

Mrs Olwyn Hoover was home for the week end.

One Lone Chinaman and Fifty Hungry White People

BARDO MALE CHORUS PARTY MEET WITH FURTHER ADVENTURES—FORGET MUSIC BUT SAVED IN THE NICK OF TIME

BY BEDDIE STEEN

The preceding part of the story ended where we were receiving a hearty welcome from the people of La Glace when we arrived Sunday evening.

On Monday afternoon after a good night's rest and having many ships sampled the cooking of the good housewives of La Glace, were quite able to practice and had a business meeting at the Hall. We did not find that we were all together after the bumpings and shakings over part of the road we had travelled had jarred our vocal chords so that they were out of tune. Director Anderson put us through a stiff practice and acted his best to remedy our vocal troubles. How well he succeeded we do not know. At the business meeting it was decided we should give a concert at Fawcett, July 7th on our return trip. We were again entertained as the Bayway Hall had been engaged for that evening by a Moving Picture Co., so to our regret, we were unable to see the picture.

Our first concert was given at the Hall in La Glace, on Monday night, 30th. Mrs. Lerbekmo assisted us with a recitation and Jackie Lerbekmo played a violin solo. A full house greeted us in spite of a rain which fell during the concert.

Rudolph Johnson was chairman and introduced all the singers, and did a cheerful, obliging manner. All in all it was a successful concert and the audience was pleased. Everyone really ocdidd himself and put one over with the "work of the week." On Tuesday, July 1st, we were scheduled to stop at Rolla, B.C. about 77 miles from La Glace. With a large following of stomach supporters from La Glace, we left at noon for Rolla. We found good roads and a most pleasing country on our way there. Travelled through by Peace Creek, the basin plans of the Rolation Colony. They have approximately 500 members out here and have their houses built close together like a village, while they farm the surrounding land. Just outside of Peace Coupe at a camp site, we had a picnic lunch. Our La Glace friends had brought eats with them and we simply helped ourselves and agreed to.

Then we went on to Dawson Creek which is the town that starts the distribution of being at the end of the road. A few of the boys also attended a dance of Norway picnic north of Rolla. The country around Rolla, B.C. is a open, rolling prairie, a beautiful country. We were due to stop in that evening and what a site of entertainment when it was discovered that the music had been forgotten at La Glace Hall. After some agonizing moments, trying to figure out what could be done, it was found that a car load, that had just arrived, had brought the music with them. They sure were glad to see us under the circumstances. The La Glace Orchestra ably assisted us at this program.

Returning from Rolla we stopped at Peace Coupe for a midnight lunch. Almost fifty of our number lost a pair and found one less chinaman looking after the lunch, and his eyes almost popped out as his cafe was filled. He exclaimed "My Oh My, business is looking up." He was quite excited as he ran for the kitchen to cook coffee. Mrs. J. Yeday, who is always a helper in need, ran after him, grabbed a knife, a loaf of bread and started to make sandwiches. Others volunteered as waiters. The Chinaman's face beamed with "We are to be sold. "You work, I get pay." It is likely he would be glad of another invasion like this one. On the way back the lights in one car went out and they passed by the road side at Tupper Creek till next morning, when they proceeded to their stopping place.

Party Enroute To Tofield Have Accident

An automobile containing Mr. and Mrs. Thos Noland and Mr. and Mrs. Radabaugh met with a serious accident near Bonnie Perry, which is near the Canadian-United States border, according to a telegram re-ceived by Mr. T. Schultz, who with Mrs. Schultz were visiting friends in the Tofield district.

The accident, a collision with another car, occurred on Tuesday and resulted in Mr. and Mrs. T. Noland having to enter a hospital.

We understand the party were enroute from Washington to Tofield to visit relatives and friends here, and both Mr. and Mrs. T. Noland and Mr. and Mrs. Radabaugh being well known here.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Schultz from Grande Prairie were to have met them here. Mrs. T. Schultz and Mrs. Radabaugh are sisters and are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Noland. On Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. T. Schultz left for the south and will contact the injured as soon as possible. Mrs. Noland, we understand, suffered severe head injuries, but there are no details as to the nature of the injuries to any of the other occupants of the car.

MISS M. McCAULEY DEAD IN TORONTO

Miss Maud McCauley, daughter of Edmonton's first mayor, Matthew McCauley, died Sunday morning, August 24th and was buried at Whitby, Ont.

Former Edmonton school teacher, Miss McCauley had resided in Hollywood for the past 15 years and died, while on a visit to Toronto. She taught at the McKay ave. school here for a number of years.

Surviving are a brother, A. J. H. McCauley, Tofield; and three sisters, Mrs. J. A. Norquay, Edmonton; Mrs. N. L. Thompson, Nome Jew; Mrs. George Scott, Peterboro, Ont.

Same Staff At Tofield School for Coming Year

Upon the opening of Tofield Schools, which will be upon instructions of the provincial health authorities, the same staff will be on hand as during the previous term. The only exception will be the absence of Miss Mace, who was compelled to resign last term due to illness. Her place will not be filled however, the staff of five carrying on. They are: Principal, Mr. W. H. McDonnell; High School, Wilbert Stevens; Public School, Miss Ruth Cash, Miss Beth Wampers and Miss Jeannie McCrae.

Some new furniture has been installed in the junior Room Country. It is not known exactly what date schools will open. The order of the Provincial Board of Health banning the public assembly of children 17 years and under will stay in effect until September 15th, it is announced. Further announcements will be made and the nature of announcements will depend upon the scheduling of the infantile paralysis epidemic.

Mrs. Tofield 81 Yrs. Young

Displaying a vivacity which would be credible to lady many years younger, Mrs. Tofield was impromptu in bestow to a party of friends who called in to wish her many happy returns of her birthday. The occasion was Mrs Tofield's 81st birthday and many friends were delighted to see her looking so well. The afternoon was spent in conversation and in admiring the flowers back around the house. A delightful lunch was served by Mrs. Tofield's two great-granddaughters, Doreen and Lorraine Moore. Mrs. Tofield was the recipient of many gifts. Those present included: Mesdames Wisser, McAllister, H. Rogers, Chisholme, Moore, Chapman, Swift, Coshnen, Norton.

BERT EVERITT TOFIELD

Rendez-vous in Vienna

A story of romance and adventure in Europe prior to the outbreak of the present war.
By LESLIE HAMILTON

"Straight to Venice!" Olga instructed the driver at eight o'clock, after Herr had packed their luggage in the tonneau of the car.

Settling back in comfort on the thick cushions of the luxurious limousine, the "Mercury's" radio in control at her side, Olga was content to ride almost seven miles from Dunceford when the car was passing along a lonely stretch of road, which wound through a heavily wooded section of the countryside. At this point Herr suddenly swept into action by jabbing his gun in the driver's back while Olga, tensely waiting for just such a move pre-emptorily ordered the startled Fritz to halt the car in a small clearing off to one side of the highway. Hissing a sent move was to be his last, the chauffeur, who was then deposited on the floor of the car by the former, and secured with front compartment and armored cutting cord and bandages from all possibility of motion under cover of one of the said cords. Thanks for the conveniences of its patrons by the owners of the vehicle.

"Quick, Olga!" Herr commanded after the "Berlin" was disposed of, "to your costume while I keep an eye on the road."

Five minutes suffered for Olga to don the nurse's uniform and to take Munro's place as lookout, while Herr in turn changed into the clothes of a stout member of the Nazi Labour corps.

"Raphia!" he announced after tipping the somber plates of the car to render them temporarily telephone unable. "Sit up in style, sister; here's where we go for Holland!"

"Do you think you can smash the barricade alright?"

"There! You heard what the old Dutchman said! There's only a couple of light guns which swing across the road, and they won't stop this locomotive! I'm afraid more of the frontier guards firing as we go through," he cautioned her, "so be sure to lie flat on the floor when I give the word."

The high-powered Mercedes soon ate up the remaining miles to Venlo and in almost nothing flat the little Dutch-German town here into view just as darkness began to settle down in earnest. With his headlights dimmed and the heavy motor in second gear, ready for a terrific burst of speed when shield upon, Munro cautiously followed the directions given them by the old Dutch burgoman until he saw, straight ahead, the white point of the frontier gate which beckoned like a beacon of hope and safety in the dim and thickening shadows. Several Nazi guards with rifles were pacing slowly up and down along the approach to control quarters, but they paid no heed to the car driven by a uniformed member of their party and containing a German Red Cross nurse in the tonneau, until Munro, gripping the wheel tightly to the short of the axle, smiled a sharp; "Now Olga!" and pressed hard down on the accelerator until the car-splitting roar of the powerful motor caused the soldiers to look at them with sharp glances of suspicion, then to each sudden cries of startled alarm as the heavy car hurtled straight on an arrow for the flimsy border gates, indicating the line of demarcation between Germany and Holland.

Munro overloaded were shrieked in German, rifles cracked in spiteful rattat and bullets banged like angry bees, with a smashing, rendering impact, the huge car bore the gates from their fastenings and shot across the frontier onto Dutch territory, where groups of astonished Dutch guards now joined the vigorous clamour for the driver to halt.

Munro paid no heed to the hue and cry, however, but kept right on going until he reached a side road, into which he quickly turned and then followed for several miles, until he found a place where their German habiliments could be discarded and their spare civilian attire resumed again.

"We had to get rid of those uniforms," Herr laughed in high spirits at the success of their coup, getting out and readjusting the license plates. "Otherwise they would get us into trouble over here For heaven's sake, what's the matter?" he asked sharply when Olga failed to reply. "Were you hit during the firing?" anxiously bending over the still figures, hoping it is a state of collapse on the back seat of the car

"It's nothing . . . Ran! Just . . . the . . . reaction, that's all!" came in sobbing snaps from his companion. "To think . . . we are really out of that terrible country . . . now it's an accomplished fact I . . . Well . . . I feel as though I want to cry . . ." she stuttered in halting phrases, "you understand!"

"Good Lord deliver us!" Munro ejaculated. "Women are certainly queer creatures. However, go ahead and turn the tap on, it will probably do you good; only, remember to keep down out of sight while you finish the spasm because I'm going to push on. When you're ready to get rid of that nurse's outfit just drum the thumb and change in the dark, then we won't have any time over it.

Munro's reason for driving on without delay was in order to reach Rotterdam where he could communicate with the British Consul in case there were any arguments with the Dutch authorities over his mode of entry into Holland. Being in neutral country, he was now able to make better time by using his headlights, which he did by turning them full on when deposited on the floor of the car.

A small salmon seal for 1,000 pounds would be regarded by some people as expensive, and there are also 1,000 pound bills, but the privileged paying 310 pounds for 100 pounds is the least of them.

Sausages may be scarce, but 80 pounds for one sausages a good price, but 80 pounds for a dozen at 40 pounds are a cockerel, 210 pounds for a musical clock and 65 pounds for a calves tongue.

All the articles offered were gifts obtained or given by Hitler's network traders and the members of the Nazi Party. The fact that they sold them was assisted by Syd Walker, the B.B.C. jackman, who added a few pounds to the prices.

Munro was interrupted by Olga, who voted to put through, if she cared to, before leaving the Consulate.

Munro explained to her that Ran and Olga were going to London first, the Consul and Countess were so entertaining, and that Herr Rapha and myself had to remained them it was Sir Charles' orders that two Armbergs old rembled Ran, however, of his enemies to make a foursome with Olga and themselves at dinner after his arrival in London, and they insisted that he remain with them until he left for Holland.

"Your brother-in-law and sister were anxious to see you before you good a certain promise of mine," Ran replied to Olga's query as to what the argument had been about.

"I should think they did!" she also "Why, after he had explained matters. They want to thank you for what you did, and they would terminate the conversation

LINDBROOK

After a hot scorching summer when the crops needed rain, there was nothing doing; hence, here crops; now that the time has come to harvest these fresh specimens of plant life, the weather is ominously threatening to put in a wet fall and a most "enjoyable" harvesting season. It's like the Journal's cartoon "They'll do it anyway."

Mr. Jas. Brocgville returned home last week from his trip to the Coast, having had some "sweet" experience en route.

A bit of pun remember Earl P. Brown that lived here and joined the R.C.E. early in the war. Well, we are in receipt of a cutting from the "Herald" Fernie, England, dated July 19th, 1941. It reads as follows:

"MARRIED AT ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH

Miss Gladys Florence Solomons and Earl Patrick Bruce Brown: Royal Canadian Engineers.

An interesting wedding took place at St. Bartholomew's Church, Sandgate on Sunday, June 29th, when Miss Gladys Florence Solomons, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Solomons, formerly of 4 Parma Crescent Lavender Hill, London, S.W. and now of 32 Rifle Fields, Hazelmere, was married to Sapper Earl Patrick Brown, 1st Batt. Royal Canadian Engineers, eldest son of Mrs. J. H. Brown, of 2414 Hillcrest Road, Lacey Prairie, British Columbia. The Rev. Canon Johnson, M.C. Rector (for Rev. A. B. Ritchie). Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a long sleeved, full length dress of lace and lace with veil and wreath of orange blossom. She carried a gold cross and chain with a sapphire in the centre and a shower bouquet of red roses. The bridesmaid were Miss Iris E. Solomons, sister of the bride, and Miss Joan Bruce, cousin of the bride, and they were also ladies. They were attired dresses, with flat hats trimmed with ribbon to match and wore silver shoes Their gold and pearl pendants were from the bridegroom and they carried bouquets of pink carnations. The best man was Sapper Ronnie Jarvon of the Royal Canadian Engineers. The bride's bouquet was forwarded from the camp of Sapper J. Brown, a friend of the bridegroom, who was killed in an accident at Thursley. The reception was held at 32 Rifle Fields, and the bride's father received the bridegroom left for their honeymoon at Canvey Island where a bungalow which was lent by the bride's mother. The bride went away in a blue dress with white accessories. There were many useful wedding gifts. The bride gave the bridegroom a wrist watch and the bridegroom gave the bride a gold cross and chain.

All Earl's Lindbrook friends hereby take this opportunity to wish both he and his bride all the best of luck in life and a long and happy one together, hoping a copy of the "Mercury" finds its way over and that the top of the cutting is a picture of the wedding group or couple of them, but guess it would be impossible to get it in print. Best of luck, Earl, from the bunch.

The Government Inspector, Mr. T. Cory, who is checking cattle cars for acreage in course grains and cornmeal'age, is at present busy in this municipality. He has been the last few days in the district.

Mrs. Lindberg and daughter of Calder, Edmonton, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Geo. Last of Lindbrook N.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Gardner of Calgary spent the week end with Mrs. Gardner's aunt and sister, Miss A. Stephens and Mrs. E. A. Moore of Lindbrook. Mr. Gardner is a member of the R.C.A.F.

U.F.W.A. NOTES

In spite of busy times, a goodly crowd of members and visitors met at the home of Mrs. C. Aviateson for the August meeting of the U.F.W.A. The roll call, "My pleasantest School time Experience," brought out many interesting recollections, some of which were enlarged on by erstwhile school ma'ams.

Following a general discussion, the meeting decided that in future, refreshments should be simplified and limited, to be more in keeping with war-time measures.

The amount of Red Cross work turned in is steadily increasing. Besides the usual knitting, a patch-work quilt and a knitted afghan are under way this month.

A review of the current book "Two Years of Life" was given by Mrs. A. Torvie. This book is by W. J. Liddell K.C., and gives an interesting comparison of life conditions in the nations now in desperate struggle against each other.

The U.F.W.A. meets on the second Thursday of each month and cordially invites all farm women to attend.

Pressed Dahlia Blooms Memento Of Trip

BY EDDIE STEEN

In our last chapter we were on our way to the Government Experimental Farm located near the town of Beaver Lodge. A contingent of our La Glace friends accompanied us and the saying "the more the merrier" was proven true. There were over fifty of us and we arrived at the farm at 2 o'clock. We were welcomed by Superintendent W. Albright and Mrs. Albright who proved to be kind and the genuine kind and hostess. Mr. Albright took us on a tour through his lovely gardens, both vegetables as well as flowers. His flowers were of many kinds and they were practically all in bloom, making a gorgeous sight. He presented each lady in the party with a dahlia bloom, and some of these are now laying pressed between tissue paper to be kept as a memento of the trip. The orchards contained cherries, plums, crabapples and apples. Of the small fruits he had many different varieties, his strawberry patch being at its best, and this proved most fortunate for a few of our party, who picked their grain and grass plots, Mr. Albright describing the different varieties, making the visit most interesting, as well as educational. Then came lunch, our La Glace friends did not forget "eats" while Mr. and Mrs. Albright generously treated all to coffee and strawberries, it being another feed. Both Burske and LaGlace Choruses sang a few songs and Mr. Albright gave us a humorous speech, in which he told about a Norwegian, a Swede and a Dane. The Norwegian and Swede were talking and came to the gates of St. Peter, making for admission. Telling St. Peter about his good life and great deeds he had performed, he was told, "I am sorry, I cannot let you pass through the gates, you will have to go to another door, as we can not make 'Swedish' fee now."

The whole party then signed the register and cameras were brought out and clicked for a number of pictures. In the evening we gave a concert in the town of Beaver Lodge. We were assisted by Mrs. Lorbetskie, who gave a recitation, and Miss C. Brecken, who rendered a solo. Mr. Albright being the chairman, introducing us to the audience as a Norwegian Male Chorus, directed by a Swede, and had one Englishman in it, (Rolet, Barrowclesh being English.) After the concert the whole gang went to a cafe for lunch and we were served by some genial sons of "Old China." Now back to La Glace we trekked and on the way there, our director, organist and chauffeur had the wrong road and became lost. It being a beautiful starlight night and in the entrancing twilight an air of romance hung over the land, causing a mood for adventure, as no one worried about the lost ones, who turned up before our stopping place and all were conscientious as no accident party was sent out.

Sunday morning, July 6th, we held a practice at the Northfield church. We gave a program of Sacred songs in the afternoon at the church. Rev. Isle Anderson was the speaker. As we were practising for the big Jubilee Concert meeting immediately after the concert. The two Male Choruses sang "Oh Lord Most Holy" composed by Choral Society. A ——— of four cars was elected, Elmer Isaac, Norwegian, chairman; Monrad Finseth, O. Lundberg and R. Johnson, secretary Each to take charge of a certain district. The aim of the committee is to contact Male Choruses at other points and arouse greater interest for musical work. It also wants all choruses to learn and practice a repertoire of similar songs and have a Singers' Convention every year at some central place.

On Sunday evening we drove to Lake Saskatoon and gave a Sacred program at the Bible camp there. We were accompanied by the La Glace Chorus and two numbers were given (continued on back page)

Farmers should, without delay, consult the plain circular sent to them some weeks ago by the Dominion Department of Agriculture regarding Prairie Farm Assistance Act. This contains instructions as to the eligibility of a grain farmer for financial assistance under this Act. This short report should be made out and mailed to the Superintendent, Prairie Farm Assistance Office, Edmonton, Alta. An addressed envelope was sent to every farmer for this purpose.

If you have lost your pink cultivated acreage check, there are still a few left at the M.D. Office.

It is important that all grain growers fill in these pink forms and mail them at once, whether they believe they are eligible for financial assistance or not. Be sure now and not sorry later.

Mrs. Bill Beers and Mrs. Jim Ingram returned Sunday evening after spending an enjoyable three weeks visiting friends and relatives at Vancouver and Victoria.

Gerald Barnhard, 10 Years, Accidently Shot

When a shotgun he had taken from the house and loaded exploded when he brushed it against something in the grannary at his farm home northwest of Tofield, Gerald Barnhard, 10, was instantly killed at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Coast James of the R.C.M.P. detachment at Tofield, is reporting the shooting to Edmonton headquarters stated the dead child and three other children were alone at the farm home at the time. Father of the victim, Clarence Barnhard was threshing.

There are eight children in the Barnhard family. A brother, Edward Barnhard, 13, Edris Bullintine, 11, and Carl Ring, 7, were present when the accident occurred.

LINDBROOK

A garden party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown here last week to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. Friends from Wainwright, Edmonton, Vermilion, Kingman and their immediate district gathered to wish the host and to start them off on the right foot for the next 25 years. Tea in the garden upon which reposed a splendid wedding cake and was tastefully decorated with candles set in 25 pound shell cases from the 1914-18 war, was served by Evans Brown's friends and neighbors by her sister, Mrs. Ivan Brown, assisted by a number of young ladies.

A very unfortunate accident occurred here last week. Mr. and Mrs. Dirks living the victims. No one seems to know just what happened, except that the horses bolt it, throwing Mrs. Dirks out and breaking her leg in two places, whilst Mr. Dirks was dragged along for some distance and suffering severe lacerations and bruises on head and body. Mr. Dirks is staying with his friend, Mr. Peters, and Mrs. Dirks is still in the hospital, but we have also to hear that she is O.K. and around again.

"They Cut Down The Old Pine Tree"

MINISTIK

Ministik's famous landmark has finally gone the way of all good things. The lone spruce tree, that silent sentinel that has marked the half-way by George's farm for many a year, is no more. As it had begun to lean it was removed for fear it would fall across the road.

Mrs. McIntosh, mother of Mrs. George, was pleasantly surprised on Friday, when a number of neighbors and friends gathered to wish her many happy returns, on the occasion of her birthday. Mrs. George acted as hostess, serving a most delicious supper. A large birthday cake graced the centre of the table.

Mrs. Hester Pengaley and friend have returned to Revelstoke after a visit with the Bosses.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Whitford have moved back to their place on the Reddick farm.

Mr. Alan Kleinbrotch and gang were hard at work pulling stumps and breaking up land on his place opposite A. J. Leach's.

The community extends its deepest sympathy to Mrs. Christensen and the children and relatives at their recent bereavement.

Bill George was home for a few days before returning to help thresh down Ismith.

The concert and sale of work at Ministik hall announced in last week's issue has been put back to be postponed to Friday, September 19th.

There was a gathering of the clan at Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hennessy's growth and fruition, the old spruce tree seems to say in spirit, "I am a native, I am a Canadian, I am an Albertan, I am a Ministik Hillbilly." Years ago nothing also. The earth in animal grandaughter, Mrs. G. Sehl; and has two great-grandchildren, Gordon and Dorothy Sehl. Also present were Mrs. H. Hennessy and Mr. G. Sehl. They returned to their homes at Saskatchewan Monday. Mr. and Mrs. J. Moore have moved to the head of man cemented family of New Sarepta were terred for and wide, but I remain. present too. On Monday A.C. 2 Schon, faithful to the land of my birth, crown fathered of Mrs. Moore and Mrs R. to the end."

German Transport At Mercy Of Britain's Air Force

Because of the disorganization of road and rail transport in Germany, and occupied countries caused by the relentless attacks of British Bomber Command, Hitler has been forced to try controlled shipping. As a result the R.A.F always quick to seize new opportunities now maintains a ceaseless convoy of the seas from Norway to Brest. Daily reports of the sinking of enemy supply ships and the damage of everything that moves in the Channel and North Sea ports bear witness to the domination of the R.A.F day by day. The picture taken at one of many R.A.F Stations in Britain from which "Hurricane" bombers operate in this phase of the air war, shows the crew of a "Hurricane" unloading their gear on returning from a sweep over the seas.

James Hartley, Social Credit member of the legislature for Macleod since 1935, and deputy speaker of the house, has volunteered for active service. He is awaiting orders to report for duty with the Royal Canadian Artillery. Mr. Hartley was in the same branch of service during the last war attaining the rank of captain. He entered politics in 1926 and was re-elected in 1940, being elected to deputy speaker last spring.

Duck Hunting

Duck hunting season in the Edmonton district and all territory lying south of the Athabasca River opens on September 15th and continues until November 15th, according to an announcement by Hon. N. E. Tanner, Minister of Lands and Mines, by whose department the fish and game branch is administered. Prairie chickens may be shot in the same area for the month of October. Sage hens and ducks has been set at 12 per day and 100 for the season. Five per day and 25 per season is the limit for geese.

More Holidays

All schools in Alberta will remain closed until September 15th at least, following an order issued by the Provincial Board of Health. This applies to both day and Sunday schools attended by children under 17 years. The action follows the steady increase of Poliomyelitis cases in the Province, last week's total standing at 58, in addition to those there were twelve cases of encephalomyelitis or sleeping sickness in Alberta. Neither dread disease is confined to one area but is striking at widely separated points.

Parents are urged to keep their children at home as much as possible as that suspicious cases be given prompt medical care.

Varsity

Drop from the 1,357 students registered in 1940 at the Alberta University is expected for the new session to open next month. This is the opinion of A. E. Ottewell, registrar. The war is said to be the cause for the expected reduction. Registrations begins September 23rd and continues for three days. All new students must undergo thorough physical examination and psychological tests before the lectures begin on September 30th. A big problem this year will be housing for students. Three University residences have been rented by the R.C.A.F. and fraternity houses are fully occupied. Private homes and boarding houses will have to be found for other students.

WORLD'S LARGEST POTATO FARM

Two English villages, whose names are recorded in William the Conqueror's Domesday Book, today supply Britain's fighting forces with millions of packets of potato crisps. They come from 20,000 tons of potatoes, grown on what is claimed to be the world's largest potato farm and producing about 125,000,000 packets of "crisps" a year. It is the biggest purely agricultural estate in England, covering an area seven and a half miles long by four and a half miles wide of the best Lincolnshire heath and fenland. It is served by a light railway, with 30 miles of track, 120 trucks and 5 Diesel engines and it takes in the whole of the village of Nocton and most of Dunston. All the potatoes from the estate and the output of 80 other farms, are turned into "crisps" in ten factories distributed throughout Great Britain. There are two other factories in Australia, one at Sydney and the other at Melbourne. The English and Australian factories use 60,000 tons of potatoes a year to produce 3,000,000 packets of "crisps" a week. They are a staple food in Britain, as well as Service canteens and troop ships. A special variety of potato the Maiden, was imported from the Netherlands and this strain, now quite acclimatized to Britain, still gives the best results.

The Real France Speaks

By Edouard Herriot

Former Premier of France and Mayor of Lyons

Excerpts from an article in The American Mercury for September

In his last broadcast, Mr. Churchill gives to her towns the right of self-government, which French revolutionaries often curtailed or suppressed completely. I admired the intelligence, love of local initiative, which has given the problems of human work and men; the tender regard for children; the desire to take nothing out of everything that nature has to teach. I verified what I had read from my readings; when, even in the eighteenth century, Voltaire was describing to the French people the enviable attachment of the English to freedom. The feeling was not lost before the French Revolution. It was carried out in the principles of 1789. At times it has been abolished, but it has always been restored. In Great Britain, love of liberty crops up in every page of the people of the nation's history. It penetrates everything, extends to everything, dominates everything. The King himself places his honor in being the protector of the liberties of every citizen. After this journey, I was completely won over to those principles.

Of my relations with England in the years 1914-18, I say nothing. But all just one experience because it reveals so much about the English, and about myself.

V V V

I had decided to stimulate in Lyons a great exposition for the year 1914. Now the city of Lyons thought that it would be the part of wisdom to insure my enterprise against possible deficit, and decided to apply to Lloyds of London. I took advantage of the circumstance that the New Year holiday brought me. When I arrived in London, a friend introduced me to Lloyds and to their director, Mr. Heath. I laid my plans before them. When I saw Mr. Heath smile, I was tempted to censure myself and withdraw. "Don't go," he said, "I am not hearing you talk, but because every time anyone proposes to me to insure an exposition, he promises wonders, brilliant successes, financial profits; and every time I am faced with a deficit. However, that's of no importance. Here is a pencil and a slip of paper. Write down the amount for which you wish to be guaranteed; I will detect the premium to be paid; then the deal will be closed."

I remember correctly, I asked for a guarantee of 2,000,000 francs. I promised to pay a premium of 250,000 francs. The whole thing was drawn up in a single sentence—in hand writing—signed and dated; then said to me, "Now then," I said to Mr. Heath, "where shall we go to find a lawyer to transform our contract into a legal document?"

WAR TIME FOODS

At the present time, Canadian housewives are asking themselves just what they should be doing about food. It is the harvest season the season of plenty, and as she looks at the shelves and cupboards she can't help but think of the horseniffe in England, and wonder just how she can reserve the seas can be helped.

For this reason the Consumer Service of the Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, has prepared the following points on war-time foods, including buying hints and conservation. It is pointed out that home food stuffs are the most frequently and that the announcement of such changes should be looked for.

War-Time Foods

CEREALS—Cereals are cheap and plentiful: bread, rolled wheat, rolled oats, wheat germ, macaroni. Whole grain cereals are best.

CHEESE— Britain needs cheese. Canadians under the circumstances by can do without.

EGGS— Britain takes Canadian eggs in quantity, but there are still plenty for Canadian consumption at present.

FATS —Lard is cheap and plentiful. Left-over drippings when clarified also make wonderful shortening.

FRUIT— Use Canadian fruits. They add variety and health to meals. Use all you can in season. Preserve them for winter use.

MEAT— Britain needs bacon and ham. Eat 50 per cent less and use beef, lamb, veal, poultry, liver, and fish.

MILK - Can be freely used.

SUGAR —There is plenty of sugar at present.

VEGETABLES—Use Canadian products in season. Store for winter use. Canned and dehydrated vegetables can be used in winter and are reasonably priced. Pickles and relishes drum up simple meals.

Buying Hints

Increase the purchasing power of every dollar.

1. Use Canadian foods in season when they are fresh and most reasonably priced.

2. Buy in as large quantities as can be stored.

3. Both foods are usually cheaper than packaged goods, but care in purchase is necessary.

4. Cheaper cuts of meat are as nutritious as steaks and chops; beef and pork liver are good.

5. Certain foods are cheaper at dinner—fresh fruits and vegetables used in winter. The price of eggs varies with production.

6. Watch one-time markets. Do not buy those products Britain needs. The situation changes.

7. Read market reports in local newspapers.

8. Watch for sales, but be sure you are getting good value.

9. Keep nutritional values in mind in making your food purchases.

10. Buy by grade and buy the quality best suited to your needs.

War Saving Certificates Issued Speedily

A section of the War Savings Office in Ottawa has been moved to the Canadian National Exhibition. In the booth of the War Savings Committee in the Electrical Building the equipment has been transferred from the head office to show the public just what happens when they apply for a certificate. In fact, Mr. John Public may purchase a certificate and watch it issued right on the spot.

A War Savings Certificate is issued with all the efficiency of an instrument of war. A battery of machines reminds one of the devices in the machine shop of any munitions' plant. Pretty young stenographers girls from the Ottawa office—pull levers, press keys, guide accountants, manipulate jigs and so on, in much the same way as the girls in the war plants.

It requires several processes to produce the completed certificate. A clerk by puncher writes the name, address and denomination of the purchaser on a card Girls in the War Savings Office who operate punchers, average 900 cards an hour.

Each card is checked for accuracy and goes to a tabulator, a more complicated machine which writes the actual certificate. The tabulator is a pretty worker turning out certificates at the rate of 1,200 an hour. Most interesting of all is the signing machine which writes the signature of the Deputy Minister of Finance and the head of the Public Debt Division, on the card and puts on the official seal—the Government seal. It separates the long line of certificates into individual certificates and folds the slips which were employed to keep the certificate in position on its wanderings through the various processes. The signer is a regular spread artist doing the work at the rate of 10,000 certificates an hour.

A tidy bit of apparatus is the inserter which places the cards in the envelopes at the rate of 2,500 an hour. A mail bag clerk, Pte. Ingle, is ready to serve them. In Ottawa, cards are filed according to counties and districts as well as alphabetically.

YES; PRETTY BAD, ISN'T IT?

(Christian Science Monitor)

An "authorized spokesman" of the German Government, giving reports of damage to German cities, is quoted by the United Press as saying, "All this bombing of civilians could have been avoided by really humane warfare."

The pathos of this remark will be felt by the people of a score of ravaged countries and doubtless by Americans. It is uttered apparently the more poignantly by the Nazi officer now that his own race is feeling some of the scourge which fell in mass raids on England last September and which several months earlier had left the Dutch city of Rotterdam an utter ruin.

Who was it that started this bombing of civilians? Historians may be reading military reports for years after the war to determine just where some missile, intended for a railroad yard, first went astray and hit a home. But readers of the war news as it comes from both Berlin and London have a pretty clear idea of which command first made extensive and evidently planned use of indiscriminate bombing.

Herr Hitler at the unleashing of the attack on Poland, Sept. 1, 1939, declared he had given strict orders to the German air force that only military objectives should be bombed. Two weeks later Polish sources asserted that 20,000 civilians had been killed by German air raids on the city of Lwow, a number which the military casualties may approach that place. Nazi planes were declared to have dropped bombs into a market place filled with peasants and then flew low to machine-gun crowds in the street. This machine-gunning was also reported against Belgian refugees on the roads during the battle of France and against streets and houses in parts of England.

By last fall, the Luftwaffe was prepared for mass bombing of Britain and the propaganda ministry was ready with self-justifying pretexts. Some stray bombs had hit civilian residences or hospitals both in Britain and in Germany. Referring to the latter incidents as a "nuisance," the Reichsfuhrer talked of "the great guilt" of British "terrorists" and vowed, "If they attack our cities, we will simply erase theirs."

The air battle of Britain in September did not end quite that way, though the German press radiated its cry to "thousandfold retaliation" and demanded attacks that would "make the bombardment of London seem like a gentle zephyr before a hurricane." Then came the devastation of Coventry which leveled whole blocks of dwellings and business establishments and from which Nazi officials tried boastfully to coin a verb, "to Coventrize."

Yes, it is regrettable that "all this bombing of civilians" was not avoided. One questions, however, whether the Nazis are the ones to give the world lessons in "really humane warfare." And those who listen to them may reflect that not only the bombing of civilians but a great deal of other destruction and misery could have been avoided by a willingness to try out peaceful means of adjustment instead of resorting to warfare at all.

Giant Meteor That Fell In Prehistoric Age May Be Sought To Provide Vital War Minerals

By Max K. Gilstrap

A huge blazing meteor that burned itself beneath Arizona's painted deserts near Canyon Diablo in prehistoric times may soon become the objective of one of the United States Government's most spectacular searches for essential industrial metals, nickel and platinum—needed for modern warfare.

As yet no one has seen this mysterious sky wanderer, which fell, indian legends report, in a burst of flames many months ago to the earth, left beneath a yawning crater a mile wide and 300 feet deep. But hundreds of meteor fragments around the crater and many drilling operations give evidence of this metallic body whose size, geologists figure, may approach 16,000,000 tons.

If estimates are correct, a meteor of this proportion would yield 700,000 tons of nickel or enough to give the Nation perhaps 10 years. To this fixture Vincent W. Vandiver, a Government geologist, adds that allowing for waste and concentration a meteor this size would yield 700,000,000 tons of nickel-bearing iron ore, and roughly 40 times that amount in the form of low-grade ore. Platinum is usually found in the ratio of one part to 10,000 parts of nickel.

Mr. Vandiver, a mining engineer, and Dr. Daniel Barringer, the first man personally to exploit the mining possibilities—board of the place prior to the

THANKSGIVING DAY

A proclamation in the Canada Gazette of August 16, 1941, appointed Monday, 13th October, 1941, as Thanksgiving Day. In the quaint language of Royal edicts, the proclamation reads: "Whereas it hath pleased Almighty God in His Great goodness to vouchsafe this year unto our Dominion of Canada a bountiful crop and other blessings, We therefore considering that these blessings call for our duty and people throughout the said Dominion do call for a solemn and public acknowledgement have thought fit, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council for Canada, to appoint and We do appoint Monday the thirteenth day of October next as a day of general thanksgiving to Almighty God for the bountiful crop and other blessings which Canada has been favoured this year; And We do invite all Our loving subjects throughout Canada to observe the said day as a day of general thanksgiving".

Per years a fruitless search to locate it was carried on by drilling within the crater itself. Then geologists and astronomers came to believe that the meteor must have entered the earth at an angle. Following out this theory the United States Smelting and Refining Corporation sank some drills outside the crater and found evidence that it lies over 700 feet beneath the earth's surface some 1,400 feet south of the crater rim. Work of sinking a shaft to the meteor and tapping its fabulous wealth is now being contemplated.

Canada Must Aid Her Forgotten Man: The Farmer

(By "European" in Toronto Saturday Night)

Again and for the umpteenth time I have been privileged to see Canada at a stretch from coast to coast, from Halifax to Vancouver. My greatest thrill was in the early 'twenties, when I first had the opportunity to watch the unusual expanse of Canada's real wealth—her endless acres. I have never lost this thrill, whether I was motoring through the prairies, watching the green pastures of the Laurentian like district, like cultivated acres of southern Ontario, or the fat meadows of the Fraser Valley.

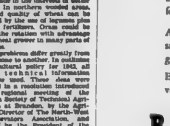
We hear much of Canada's natural resources, unbounded water-power, mineral wealth and industrial potentialities. They all exist. They are all great assets. But wherever you go you must come to one overwhelming conclusion. Essentially, fundamentally, and primarily Canada is an agricultural community.

The war and its aftermath are touching and will touch even more forcefully Canada's economy. It is based on questionable premises, in general on conditions in any crisis, unless its people can be assured a physical standard of well-being. It is based on the Canada of Nature which feeds, clothes and warms.

It is the momentary policy of the United States treasury which pegs the price of gold; it is the consumption of Finland and Soviet pulpwood products which determines at the price of our timber to level of unhoped for returns; it is the rudest demand of the industrial system of the Great War consumed men, which here in Canada encouraged a mushroom expanding our industries far beyond any demands of normal markets. But Canada's economy is not dominated by artificial, unnatural factors. Its economy is basically sound. Its people can safeguard the interests of her people through safeguarding a peacetime economy that is based on her fundamental wealth, her land.

Canada has built her prosperity on export markets. She exported abroad her wheat, she exported abroad her minerals, she exported abroad her lumber and her pulp. She exported abroad her fish and her pelts. A rich, healthy balanced outside world economy absorbed our goods and enriched Canada on the one hand and subsidized our economy on the other.

It does not take those of us who have lived great parts of the world to studied the trade and commerce of the Orient or of the European countries, a long time to realize that Canada has built herself sources of revenue and prosperity which are peculiar to herself. The last war cut off from the Old World its industrial markets, because part of European conflict changed a peacetime economy into a war-time New World on the one hand, and established and gave impetus to industrial developments in new overseas areas which meant permanent loss of markets in the Old World principally. And this war will complete the liquidation of world trade as established in the nineteenth century: the



Using Soil Scientists

Some years ago, in this column, I suggested that the necessity of reducing wheat acreage presented an opportunity to encourage the adoption of soil conserving practices. The immediate war misery surgery becomes clear that the acreage of hay and clover seed to be exported. Last year 11,000,000 pounds were sold for sale to forces all about minimum reductions, but, if not, surely an effort should be made to see that the reduction is made in the interests of better farming. In northern wooded areas, and good quality of wheat can be increased by the use of legumes plus fertilizer. Clovers could be used in the rotation with advantage to the wheat grower in many parts of Canada.

These problems differ greatly from area to area and time to time. In outlining an agricultural policy for 1943, all available technical information should be used. These ideas were embodied in a resolution introduced to the regional meeting of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists at Brandon, by the Agricultural Director of The Martin-Weir Line Elevators Association, and passed by the President of the Dominion Wheat Pool. It is certain that such a resolution introduced in public name for field investigations of the problems involved, and for practical advice, and, also, one would many farmers. The resolution called for the appointment of a committee of such persons with special training, and this can surely be reviewed by all of us.

Farmers who have not previously sown grass or clover seed should consult the nearest experimental farm or district agriculturist.

We can grow many wheat and better wheat on lower acres, if we follow the examples of our best farmers.

A Winston Churchill "Toby"

A Toby jug of Mr Winston Churchill's resolute and cheerful face is reported to be a best seller in the United States and Canada. The makers have doubled the value of china figures sent to North America since the war. All told, Britain shipped nearly 2,000,000 pounds worth more pottery overseas last year than the year before, and was at the same time making much more industrial pottery for home use, especially chemical stoneware, to take the place of metals needed for the war. Chemical stoneware is now being used for pipe lines, valves, tanks, and storage vessels. It compares in strength with grey cast iron; it can be worked with a chisel; and it can even be ground to the most precise measurements. Stoneware, moreover, resists corrosion longer by hydrofluoric acid. Once Germany alone was making laboratory porcelain.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Bowman, Director "The Crop Testing Plan."

The Crop Testing Plan has just finished the analysis of some fifteen thousand growing plots of wheat, each plot representing a prairie farmer's actual field of wheat which was grown this year.

A decided improvement in quality is shown over last year. There are, however, still far too many farmers who are growing bad mixtures which are losing money for themselves and tending to degrade the quality of Canadian wheat in general. Many farmers, for instance, have Garnet and other farmers are growing a mixture of an early variety such as Red Bobs, and a later maturing variety such as Marquis, Thatcher, Renown, Regent and Apex.

Mixtures of early and late varieties make it impossible for the farmer or harvest his crop to the best advantage. Either he loses grade, because of given margin because of the later maturing variety, or he loses yield and grade, because of the shattering of the overripe early variety, and because of shrunken berries.

Farmers then can certainly help themselves, and can also improve the general quality of Canadian wheat, if they would make a special effort to eliminate mixtures of varieties from their crops.

QUITE A PLACE

Montreal, September 1— One thousand miles from the Atlantic, the harbor of Montreal thrives busily for eight months of the year. After New York, it is the busiest seaport of the continent and the greatest wheat-exporting centre in the world. Last year 109,000,000 bushels of grain elevators can hold 12,000,000 bushels. Besides a floating dry dock 600 feet long and 125 feet wide which can accommodate vessels up to 25,000 tons, Montreal harbour has 21 miles of wharves and 68 miles of harbour railway track. Montreal is the headquarters of the Canadian National Railways, the largest railway system on the North American continent.

Forage Crop Seed Distribution

The Field Crops Branch is prepared to secure supplies of forage crop seed for distribution to farmers at cost plus transportation charges to distributing points

This service will be in addition to securities given under the Forage Crop Encouragement Policy which has been in effect for a number of years.

Applications for seed must be made through Municipal District offices or, in Local Improvement Districts, direct to District Agriculturists.

Too many farmers give little thought as to their requirements of forage crop seeds until they wish to seed in April or May. Owing to this tendency, exporters have in the past met little competition for our element stocks of seed, many of which are sold soon after threshing.

Last year Western Canada over-reported and it was necessary to import certain stocks at greatly advanced prices. Under such circumstances, farmers paid much higher prices in the spring than had been received by growers at time of sale.

A get-together effort this fall, through the agencies indicated, will assure a reserve of seed held within the province for distribution at fair prices.

COMMUNICATION

Toronto, Ont.

Dear Editor,

Just a few rambling lines, I hope of interest to the many friends at Tofield.

I have sometimes feared that mankind was going to destroy all of the finer beauties of Nature, but the trip here, passed the thousands of beautiful tree bordered lakes. And agree as I loathed across the imposing gorge of the mighty Niagara River the other day, and thought back of the millions of years that the mighty river had been cutting its way through that rock walled gorge a few inches per year, I realized that man is too small and his efforts are too puny to move them temporarily dumbage the grandeurs of nature, and in the end his efforts will fall and in the decaying years a new beauty will arise.

The buildings here in Number 1 Technical Training School (T.T.S.) was originally built for a mental institution and has been over the war done barrag a bend every six months and we say here that when the bars seem to have straight-ened out, we are half way through the course (or half loged).

It was not built for anywhere near the number of men that are here and they do not want to change the design of the buildings as there is not quite serving accomodation at meal time and we have to stand in line. We enter a hall of about 250 feet before we get to the dining room and about 75 feet before we get there, there are two right angle turns and when one has been in line two or fifteen minutes before they get into the hall they can appreciate the humor of the man who chalked on the wall "Slow down, curve ahead."

It is here each two minutes rain from here, on the electric railroad, main street car, to a Summer resort at Port Stanley on Lake Erie. A wonderful beach and a lovely place if not for the rain bunch of buildings. They charge 35c to like for a locker to put your uniform in while swimming. You may swim all day if you wish, but this is of little use to an R.C.A.F. man who is not off duty until six o'clock. It is great fun when the waves are three or four feet high, even for one who can swim but little. You seem to be part of the swell and when they lift you in shallow water. It is great to lean against them.

The Y.M.C.A. is one organization that we have every reason to be thankful for. They furnish us with free stationary, a lounge, a library, information, advice, a free picture show two or three times per week, a good dance each week in St. Thomas, cheap eight-seeing-tours, and in some places canteens of various kinds. In London, Ontario, they maintain a Service Mens Canteen where one can spend a week-end or a 26c per day for a good bed and fine meals for from 50c up, a swimming pool, and all kinds of games free. I would say all kinds of power to the Y.M.C.A.

Some of you will be wondering how an old fellow like myself likes the military life, and I will reply that if we only had a band all of the time, that drills and parades are thrilling. Though as I lifted my spur from the back of the neck of the man ahead of me the other morning, for I was not looking for motorized dandruff! I saw a lone duck flying, at its zero free will, overhead and for a minute or two I felt the urge of the "wide open spaces." But there is a thrill that one feels, when hundreds of men line up on parade, and you realize that you are a part of it. And of that even if one should get out of step it would be noticed. And I lose the desire for other life until the need of men in this life is passed.

Best Wishes,

Abernethy, Gen., R166863.

HOW THE "CARDIFF GIANT" STARTED AN INDUSTRY

W. P. Kenzley, in the Christian Science Monitor.

In 1869 "Stub" Newell, a farmer of the town of Cardiff, in the state of New York, started to dig a well in his back yard. About three feet down, his spade struck stone. Further digging disclosed, first that the stone was shaped like a man's foot, and then that the foot was attached to the gi-nor figure of a gigantic "man."

The "Cardiff Giant" he was soon christened by people and press, appeared over four feet from top to toe, with shoulders a yard and a half wide, and feet nearly 20 inches long In no time, farmers of Newell's find spread to all corners of the United States. Writers, scientists, geologists, newspaper men and hordes of curiosity seekers swarmed over the Newell farm. It is estimated that the farm had 50,000 visitors in less than a month and a half, and each and fifty cents to see the Cardiff Giant.

As to who or what the giant was, opinion was divided. Some held it to be a prehistoric giant turned to stone —one of the ancient "sons of Anak" mentioned in the Bible Others thought it to be a prehistoric piece of sculpture, probably Phoenician. The great showman, P. T. Barnum offered $150,000 for the giant, but Newell would not sell.

Finally, however the Cardiff Giant was exposed as a huge hoax It seems that Newell's brother-in-law, George Hull, and a man named Marsh, had bought a hunk of gypsum near Fort Dodge, Iowa. The fiction-block was shipped to Chicago, where the giant was carved from it by a stone-cutting crew When completed, the figure was treated with acid and dirt to give the appearance of great age, and needle-studded lea ves and muscles were used to produce the myriad tiny pores which were later thought to be skin pores, lending color to the theory that the giant was actually a petrified man. The completed gypsum figure was buried and delivered at night to the Newell farm where it was burned, to be dug up "by accident" a year later.

But out of all the excitement caused by its "discovery" and exhibition, Fort Dodge gypsum gained so much publicity that in 1871 the first mill for its utilization on a commercial scale was built. This proved to be the beginning of one of Iowa's most important mineral industries and portugs the only industry in the world in its founding to a giant.

HARDO MALE CHOIR MAKES HOMEWARD JOURNEY

jointly, fifty voices on all. The duet of the camp was the chairman at this concert. He was journey to Lake Assiniboine we passed the Hermean Trail and Mount Edith, homes of the Walde champions at polar wheat and oats.

In our sojourn of the Grande Prairie country, some outstanding features were noticed, one being the long days of sunlight and twilight that lasted till midnight, it being dark about one hour Another peculiarity was that we never saw a gopher north of Athabasca. The decendants of the Vikings were strong in representation north of the Peace River

All things come to an end and so did our visit. Much as we would have liked to have prolonged it, our duties called us home and so choose, as the first car for return journey had to leave Monday morning, July 7th, all members of the Hardo male choir package was ready for the start for home at 10 a.m. We took supper at Grave Glace, including Mrs. Carl Larsen's lovely garden and fine strawberry plants from which we had received a generous treat Mr and Mrs. Bah had ordered us all for lunch at that site before leaving which was accepted and much appreciated The homeward bound 'Bus was loaded to bad a good bye and some of our friends from Hardo lawyers" up there many "lawyers" up there Leaving Grave Glace at 4 we made a brief stop at Beaverlodge where we had good bye to Mr. and Mrs. H Beskrea and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hansen. We had to return trip we travelled the Sturgeon Lake road which shortened the distance to Edmonton by 102 miles but this route was passed through the Klondike district where we met Mr. Thompson of Kingman, now deceased, had a large store some years ago The Smoky river was crossed on a ferry at a place called Smoky River, passed on to Smoky where a stop for lunch was made Smoky is a small town, there is inhabited by Indians and half breeds. A broken spring and tire trouble was the big bit during the trip west of High Prairie and this caused a delay, but we reached Edmonton at 9 p.m. and here we camped for the night on the shores of Star Lake Some of the party got a refreshing bath as we enjoyed fish for our supper. Leaving Edmonton on Tuesday morning at 8 a.m. we had to be pulled through a mud hole east of here. An Indian with his team of horses mustered 50c per hour from the government to tow cars over this place There was also one driver with a yoke of oxen hitched to a wagon that pulled a car through the mud Here we saw the contrast of the "way minutes" and the streamlined "fly" modes of travel all up The cars had the bumps on the horseless carriages when passing mud holes Reached Stave Lake at 10 a.m Stopped for lunch here and then pushed on to South where we had dinner after the Athabasca River Ferry had been crossed. Set off, making a brief stop at the town of Athabasca At Perryvale one of our number, Mr. Chas. Sapsford, treated all to coffee and nuts at "Toots Lunch" Leaving here we made good time arriving in Edmonton at 7 p.m., having supper here. Here we had to say a short time good bye to Mr. Albert a "flat" being the cause. After supper we started on our last lap of our journey One driver of the party, who can and passed the pennys all day, forgot that gasanks go dry and to his amazement, for car stopped a short distance east of Edmonton After getting enough gas from a farmer, he was enabled to reach a service station and fill up. We eventually made home at Hardo at 10.30 p.m. Each arriving family had driven all night so had reached home in the early hours of the morning, from the first car to finish the journey

Our adventurous trip had come to an end, and we all felt thankful for all the kindness and hospitality shown us, making our holiday a pleasure a suite of hot roads and then, all in well. Thanks well

THE GOAL

It's hard to keep on climbing
When it's uphill all the way,
It takes a cheery soul to smile
While clouds above are gray,
It takes a heart that's brave and true
To carry on the fight,
When friends betray, and no bright ray
Of hope breaks through the night.

V V V

It takes a noble spirit
And a will that does not bend
To struggle on undaunted - and to hope on to the end.
We know what we are fighting for,
'Tis not the whole world free'
And who does fail or falter
If the goal is Victory?

P.F.A.A. Circulars Should Be Mailed At Once

Some time ago, each farmer received through the mail from the Dept. of Agriculture, a pink circular upon which to make a calculated acreage report. This is in connection with the Prairie Farm Assistance Act.

Most farmers generally understand the principles of the Act, but for those who do not, a brief and sketchy description is given.

The Act is designed to render financial assistance to farmers whose wheat crop has suffered by drought. Actually it is a form of crop insurance, as every farmer is docked a cent per bushel when selling his wheat for this purpose.

Originally it was proposed to base the amount of assistance given on the average yield of each township, but an amendment to the Act changed the area to one-quarter township, providing the area is rectangular in shape.

Assistance will be given in such areas where the average yield of wheat is 12 bushels per acre or less and the amount of assistance given will vary according to the average yield. There is a sliding scale as between 11 and no bushels per acre.

The Municipal District has already estimated the yield in each township, but for those who may settle likely be taken from threshers returns.

The important thing for farmers to do now is to make sure their Declarated Acreage Report sheet has been filled in and mailed in the self addressed, postage paid envelope provided for the purpose.

Reconsecration Week

September 10th to 17th

OTTAWA, CANADA

Wednesday, September 10th, marks the beginning of the third year of Canada's participation in the war. In acknowledgement of that fact the Government has issued a Proclamation setting aside the period September 10th-17th as a week of reconsecration of the Canadian people to our cause and as national honour "for those who on land, sea and in the air are defenders of our country."

THE FOLLOWING IS THE WORDING OF THE PROCLAMATION:

WHEREAS on the tenth day of September, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine, the Dominion of Canada declared a State of War with the German Reich; AND WHEREAS at the beginning of the third year of this war the leaders of democracy have re-affirmed their determination to continue the struggle until the evil of Nazi tyranny has been destroyed; NOW KNOW YE that WE, by and with the advice of our Privy Council for Canada, have thought fit to ordain and declare and do by this Our Proclamation ordain and declare that the week commencing Wednesday the tenth of September and ending on Wednesday the Seventeenth of September, inclusively, in the present year, be observed throughout our Dominion of Canada in national honour for those who on land, sea and in the air are the defenders of our country, and in proud memory for those valiant hearts who have gone out from among us in the most precious of all sacrifices for our comm.n freedom; AND KNOW YE FURTHER that We do also hereby ordain and declare this week as one of reconsecration of our lives and principles which under God we humbly pledge here now our stay and help in the past, to the end that torment may be lifted from men's hearts and peace and safety come for all nations and peoples; OF ALL WHICH Our Loving Subjects and all others whom these presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and to govern themselves accordingly."

Reconsecration Week Prayer

O Lord of Hosts, in this time of our reconsecration to Thy service and in defence of the light brought into this world by Thy Son, Jesus Christ, our Saviour and Lord, we turn to Thee in prayer. We pray for our fighting men on land, on the sea and in the air that they may be imbued with courage to persevere and strength to vanquish the dark forces which now seek to rule this earth. We pray for endurance for all those who, in any way, are engaged in the conflict. We pray for our peoples, understanding of the truth. We pray for mercy for the stricken, consolation for the bereaved and eternal rest for those who, having blazed the path, have been gathered to Thine arms. These things we ask, O Lord, so that in the fullness of time the dread conflict may cease, the right may triumph, and our children be brought up to serve Thee and to do those things which are of good renown, to know and to spread the Christian Light. Amen.

Reconsecration Week Grace

For the courage of our fighting men and the devotion of those who stand behind them: for our continued freedom and for these blessings of our unscarred earth, we give thanks in this week of reconsecration to the Lord of Hosts who is the only Defender of the Right. Amen.

Mr. and Mrs. Combs, Mr and Mrs. Green and Mr. and Mrs. Currie have returned from their holidays. They took the circle tour, stopping to fish enroute Dr. and Mrs. Law of Edmonton were in the party.

The Week in Edmonton

Edmonton, September 5.— Alberta continues to show marked increase in business throughout the industrial fields, and, including small gains in the value of grain marketings from January to May this year, the upward trend was evident in 22 other phases of provincial economy. Forestry production rose 130 per cent during the period, cement, 151 per cent, coal, 7 per cent, oil, 66 per cent, natural gas, 2 per cent, clay products, 42 per cent, wholesale trade, 17 per cent, merchan- sales, 13 per cent, new motor vehicles, 3 per cent on a value basis, bank clearings, 18 per cent, customs receipts, 39 per cent, building permits in the cities, 40 per cent, construction, 69 per cent, butter, 87 per cent, cheese, 94 per cent, wheat, 7 per cent, other grains, 6 per cent, cattle exports, 11 per cent, packing plants, 41 per cent, concentrated milk, 69 per cent, flour milling, 16 per cent. Horse export trade continued to decline, the drop being 38 per cent, and a small drop in fish- eries was reported. In the same period, unemployment declined, 62 per cent with 21,448 fewer recipients.

Belief that a teacher shortage is possible in the northern sections of the province was expressed this week by Dr. H. C. Newlands, supervisor of schools administration, in an editorial parts of the province in thought to be the extent that any shortage is likely to develop. Earlier in the year, the department of education moved to counter any shortage by appealing to former teachers to take up the profession again. Some 60 are re- ported the call, but it is now found that most prefer to take schools in the home districts. Should a drastic shortage appear imminent, regula- tions governing certification will be passed, so as to augment the number of teachers available.

Alberta's poultry marketing board is now carrying on operations as the board grading and storage plant in Edmonton, acquired from the H. Weinberg company some time ago. The plant is served by 32 agencies. According to C. E. Christensen, chair- man of the produce board, it is planned to make the transition from existing to centralized grading and marketing in as smooth a manner as is possible, "always having in mind the interests of the consumer and the producer." He said that special "grading areas" will be established as time goes on.

First meeting of the committee which will conduct an inquiry into the organization and administration of the University of Alberta will be held in the near future according to Dr. G. Fred McNally, chairman of the committee and deputy minister of Education. At the University, material for the information of the committee is being assembled by A. R. Ottewell, Registrar Committee members are Dr. McNally, H. H. Par- lee, K.C., chairman of the Board of Governors, Dr. Robert Newton, act- ing President of the University, Dr R. C. Newlands, Supervisor of Schools, Francis G Whipple, C.A., of the school of commerce, and J. W Burnett, secretary of the Alberta Teachers' Association.

First United States hunters of the season were in Edmonton this week preparing to hunt the Grande Prairie section immediately upon season on ducks is effective. They are all prom- inent businessmen from New York, including E. J. Law, chairman of the board, Home Life Insurance Co., E. A. Litchfield, realtor, T. Eastman of Eastman Dillon Co., and William Beach, retired president of the Penn- sylvania Cement Co.

POULTRY CATCHING CRATE

Poultrymen cannot afford to be without a catching crate. Many poultrymen lose money because they do not call their flocks. to remove poor layers, early moulters and oth- er unprofitable birds. Usually the failure to do so is because of lack of catching facilities. With a catch- ing crate, birds can be caught quick- ly with a minimum of effort and loss.

Plans for a simple but efficient catching crate may be obtained by writing to the Agricultural Exten- sion Service, Department of Agricul- ture, Edmonton.

Shown in flight is the Lockheed P-38 Interceptor Pursuit, claimed to be the fastest aircraft in the world, of which it is stated, the British R.A.F. have ordered a slightly modified version to use as the Lockheed Lightning. Of revolutionary design, and already in all the principals of aero- dynamics, the P-38 is said to have a speed "in excess of 400 m.p.h. with an exceeding high rate of climb". It is already in production for the U. S. Army Corps, and the R.A.F.

WARN CHILDREN TRAFFIC DANGERS

When the schools open in this pro- vince, there will be a great need to observe the principles of safe dri- ving.

Attention to this essential need is drawn by officials of the Alberta Mo- tor Association, which in a press release of observance of safe driv- ing.

In the first place, some co-opera- tion on the part of parents is nec- essary. They should warn the young sters, especially those going to school for the first time, to stop, look and listen, then do it again, before cross- ing the street or highway. Many a fatal accident would be avoided if the parent had taken just a little more time to impress the dangers of high- way crossings upon the child.

Drivers also should exercise care- ful caution when in the vicinity of schools. Children will be found dash- ing across the street at play and are ally chasing balls or one another. They are unmindful of the dangers that lurk on the highways. Motorists should keep a wary eye out for chil- dren when driving near schools.

This also is a time when drivers should see that their car brakes are in good condition. Road surface condi- tions may not be so safe as during other times in the year, more vigi- lance have to be faced. Good strong brakes prevent accidents.

PREPARING PULLETS FOR THE LAYING SEASON

Pullets are now maturing, and care must be taken to ensure their going into the laying house in good condition. The more advanced birds should not be put in first, but every morning any birds in the laying house must be thoroughly cleaned and fu- migated. Pullets must not be housed with old birds if they are to do their best.

Young birds should not be forced into heavy production, and every ef- fort must be made to keep them in good condition and to maintain their body weight. After housing, feed birds on developing mash and all the whole grain they'll eat. A good grain mixture is two parts wheat, one part plump whole oats and one part barley. Continue this feeding until the birds are laying at a 25 per cent. rate. Then, start to change gradually from developing mash to laying mash, and continue feeding

Body weight can best be maintain- ed by feeding whole grain. Clean water, oyster shell and hard grit must be available at all times. Feed, shell and grit hoppers, and water troughs should be on stands, to cut down the more advanced birds to avoid contamination with litter and drop- pings off the floor.

Another Boy Scout "Blitz" Hero

"For courage shown while lying for 12 hours partially re-buried (and down, with a crushed leg beneath a pile of debris, and subsequently the heavery and cheerfulness shown through two operations, including amputation of his leg." This was the citation which went with the award of the Cornwell Badge, Scoutcraft highest decoration for fortitude, to 15-year-ol- Boy Scout Leonard Gold- er of London.

During one of the city's heaviest raids, the boy, a member of his street fire-watching squad, had been active in sandbarring incendiary bombs. The attack slackened, and he returned to the shelter occupied by his family and their neighbors, when the shelter received a direct hit. During the 12 hours work required to release the boom holding him, and although fully conscious throughout, he never once complained.

Exhibits Of Alberta Cheese Wins Awards At Vancouver

Alberta cheese factories made a very creditable showing with their entries at the Canadian Pacific Ex- hibition, Vancouver, Illinois & Com- pany, Resolute Hill, are awarded three prizes and one third, while Burns & Company Brederbrae secured two second prizes, and the Combi- Cheese Factory secured one second and one third prize. Other factories listed among the prize winners were Burns & Co., Bowell; and the Ar- strong Co-op Cheese Association, Armstrong, B.C.

The production and quality of Al- berta cheese has increased considera- bly during 1941 and an all eastern cheese is being exported to Great Britain, the consumers in Western Canada will be able to receive high quality cheese manufactured in the West.

It is interesting to report that for the seven months' period, January to July, Alberta and Quebec are the on- ly provinces in the Dominion to show an increase in cheese production Al- berta's increase amounts to 10.7 per cent over the same period for 1940. Recent rains and increase prices for milk should insure satisfactory pro- ductions of cheese during the fall months.

Warning To Poultrymen

It has come to the attention of the Department that there are quite a few flocks suffering from worm in- fest- The condition is due to the- that poultrymen are feed or a wet mash in which there is no or- por- tion of im- ature insects. The type of feed should be fed that it has an opportunity to eat at least one month. A large por- of the fa- facing experienced in dairy where they are compelled to pasture ground — watering — by grass and this condition is intro- fed with grain is many. Attention given to the proper rearing and saving of which to be fed to poultry will control this condition.

THE UNPROFITABLE BOARDER IN THE POULTRY FLOCK

(Experimental Farms News)

Every poultryman has to face the problem of keeping the flock on a profitable basis at this season of the year. Many birds may cause to lay while others continue in production under the same feeding conditions.

In order to keep the non-layers down to the lowest number it is ad- visable to cull thoroughly and remove all the birds that are unprofitable boarders. says W. T. Scott, Head Poultryman, Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ontario.

Summer culling is easy, as most birds capable of laying a profitable number of eggs throughout the year are still in production at this season. Those that are not laying are doubt- ful performers and should be handled and examined. Only by so doing can a definite opinion be formed of body condition, and unless the birds carry a fair amount of flesh they will not continue to lay throughout the year. This breasted birds, and those in poor feather, should be removed from the flock.

It is unlikely that the good layer of the yellow skin breeds will possess much pigment at this season; that is, the yellow color in beak, skin, and legs will have mostly disappeared. The attractive, bright, smooth new feather and with bright yellow legs and beak should come under suspi- cion as of poor laying ability. Those that cast their feathers early in the season are usually always poor lay- ers.

Hens are going to be in greater de- mand and every effort should be made to keep the flock in profitable productions. The mash hoppers should be kept filled with a good, balanced mash in which the meat and fish meal should form fifteen to twenty per cent of the whole commercial. Scratch grains should not be fed too heavily, as the consumption of mash will be less than is necessary to keep up production.

It may be advisable to feed a li- tle of the most mash slightly moist- ened with skim milk or buttermilk, and it is well to remember that the whole flock may be thrown out of production at this season by the lack of clean, cool water or succulent green feed or the presence of mites or lice.

FOUR NIBBLING BRITONS FIND RESERVE SUPPLY

London, Aug. 27— The London Newspaper Reynold's reported today that an intrepid English farmer is growing a field of sweet corn, which he will cut for cob eating at 15 cents an ear. One writer under- stands the plan in this way.

"There is a future in food in Amer- ica," he is grown largely in the Middle States. It is also regarded as a delicacy by Anglo-Indians throughout the East.

"The cob is boiled for 15 minutes and served on a plate in its jack- et. The grains are then eaten with or- nge marmalade smeared over the corn and it is sprinkled with pepper and salt.

"Thus, by the time it is the end, you have had the whole meal."

Bank Of Montreal Crop Report

General — Grain-cutting in the Prairie Provinces is well advanced and is estimated to be 85 per cent completed, but frequent rains during the past two weeks have delayed threshing operations, which are not more than 60 per cent finished, with Manitoba furthest ahead. The Bu- reau Evans Statistical Agency's pre- liminary survey indicates a wheat crop of 298,000,000 bushels, with grades averaging No. 2 in 2 North- ern, 6 Grades were adversely affected by extreme heat in July and the wet weather now prevalent is causing some blocking. Rust-rains have improved the feed situation in poor crop districts and have been benefi- cial to pasture. Sugar beets in Al- berta and Manitoba are progressing favorably. In the Province of Que- bec, the harvesting of grain is nearing completion in most districts and average yields of good quality are expected. Corn crops are making good progress with normal yields in pros- pect. While early apples are plenti- ful, the crop of late varieties is now reported to be below average. In On- tario, potatoes and late crops have benefited considerably by recent in- termittent rains; these, however, have delayed threshing in some dis- tricts. Root crops and fruits general- ly are progressing satisfactorily. Soil conditions are now favourable for fall plowing, and in the winter- wheat areas seeding has already be- gun. The season is two weeks ahead of normal. In the Maritime Provinces harvesting has been delayed by ad- verse weather conditions, but reports on all crops are favourable and av- erage or better returns are indicated. In British Columbia, wet weather has delayed threshing of grain, the yield of which is below average. Roots and vegetables generally give good promise; apples are sizing and col- oring well and stone fruits are of good quality and yield.

ALBERTA.— Cutting is well ad- vanced and threshing has commenced but in most districts delays have oc- curred, owing to heavy rains, and a period of dry weather would be wel- come. Wheat yields show considerable variation but generally are below av- erage although slightly better than anticipated. Coarse grain yields are poor. The sugar beet crop continues favourable. Pastures has improved.

Reconsecration Week September 10-17 Honors Defenders And War Dead

Government Proclaims Period for Canadians to Rededicate Themselves to Democratic Cause Against Tyranny—Need for Still Greater Effort

September 10 marks opening of the third year of war; and the Govern- ment of Canada has proclaimed the week of September 10-17 as "a week of reconsecration of the Canadian people to the democratic cause against Nazi tyranny."

Inspiring the nation to even higher resolve and even greater sacrifice is Canada's war record:

Two years ago, Canada's soldiers, sailors and airmen, including reserves totalled 58,000; today they number 400,000. In the Canadian Active Army are 230,000 volunteers; in the Can- adian Army (Reserve), 170,000 vol- unteers and trainees; and single men between 21 and 24 are being called for the Canadian Active Army on Home Defence. The Royal Canadian Navy has new 250 vessels and 23,000 officers and ratings. The Royal Can- adian Air Force numbers 67,000 in all classifications.

In the British Isles are more than 180,000 Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen. Troops include the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Divisions, the Canadian Ar- tic Canadian cranial batteries guard vital shore areas. Canadian divisions are posted to an honor sector and would form the spearhead of British defence in case of invasion. Canadian airmen have won undying glory over Brit- ain, Germany, France, Dunkirk, Nazi-occupied territories, the Middle East, Greece and Libya, and off Nor- way. The Royal Canadian Navy has, with the Royal Navy, convoyed freighters carrying over 20,000,000 tons of supplies; has sunk U-boats, captured enemy vessels and compiled- led wrestling of others; aided in the evacuation from France, rescued many from bombed and torpedoed ships. Over 1,300 Canadians have fig- ured in casualty lists; of them, 736 killed, 186 missing.

Mechanized Units Go Soon

Training for overseas in the 4th Division. The 4th Armored Divi- sion will be transferred to Britain this year. A 4th Division has been author- ized. Home defences along Atlantic and Pacific coasts are constantly be- ing tightened.

The Canadian Active Army is sil- ling for 7,000 volunteers per month. The Royal Canadian Navy aims at 400 ships and 27,000 men by next March. The Royal Canadian Air Force is sending more and more pi- lots and ground crews overseas. Due to go to Britain this year are 2,500 radio locator specialists, who want of approaching enemy raiders; an ad- dition to the 1,000 already there. Wo- men are being enlisted in auxiliaries of both Army and Air Force, to re- lease men for front-line service.

Canada is spending between $8,000,- 000 and $4,000,000 a day on war; two years ago, the arms bill was less than a million. By March 31 next, the war bill will have passed $2,000,- 000,000, including well over half a billion to finance purchases for Bri- tain.

In addition to assuming barrier loans, Canadians have bought war bonds and savings certificates worth $1,540,000,000; they have contributed about $20,000,000 to auxiliary war services, and outright gifts in the Government total nearly $2,000,000.

Two Billions in Orders

War contracts and commitments, both for Canada and Britain, pass $2,000,000,000. Over $520,000,000 have been advanced for plant con- struction and expansion, and for ma- terials. Canadian civilians have paid $800,000 to the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan. Some 400 other construction programmes will cost $1,150,000,000. Naval building calls for $120,000,000. Munitions orders, $1,000,- 000 will be spent. Personal and main- tenance equipment for the services requires $100,000,000.

War material production covers steel ships, planes, land, naval, anti- tank and anti-aircraft guns, Bren and other automatic guns, gun mountings, anti-tank mines, bombs, grenades, small arms ammunition, shells, depth charges, land, naval and air- ves and war chemicals, precision in- struments, trucks and other trans- port vehicles. A surplus of some mu- nitions will be sold to the United States under the agreement covered by the Hyde Park Declaration.

Food shipped to Britain includes 200,000,000 bushels of wheat, 7,000,- 000 barrels of flour, 13,000,000 lbs. of bacon, nearly 18,000,000 dozen eggs, millions of pounds of concentrated milk, thousands of tons of canned goods. By December, 800,000,000 lbs. of pork products will have to be sent; by March next, 118,000,000 lbs. of cheese.

All this constitutes elements of Canada's war effort; and still the peak has not yet been reached.

Canada Appeals to The Housewife

Ottawa, Sept. 8— The women of Canada are being afforded an oppor- tunity to emulate their cousins in Great Britain, the United States, Australia and New Zealand, by giv- ing warm out and broken utensils and otherwise useless aluminum articles to help the Canadian Red Cross So- ciety. The National War Services De- partment is launching a Dominion- wide drive for this material, needed in the manufacture of airplanes and other war equipment.

Concentration points will be more- pounds in the parks and school grounds of every town and city. Chi- toons will be asked to bring material to these compounds. All worn out, broken or useless aluminum articles should be cleared out of each home and brought to the community pile. The National War Services Depart- ment points out that useful articles which have to be kept in repair should not be given. Appropriate art- icles would be baby pots, pots which burn only in one spot, old shoe trees, broken shakers, golf clubs that will not be used again, and broken parts of washing machines, and sweepers. The Department asks for all domestic- ue articles which are not required in home or shop.

The material collected in this cam- paign will be rushed to Canadian fac- tories engaged in manufacturing air- planes and other essential articles of war. 80,000 lbs. of this aluminum will build a modern bomber plane and 4,000 lbs. a modern fighter plane.

Every Canadian housewife anxious to do her utmost to assist in the ur- gent prosecution of the war will find an opportunity for her to make a most valuable contribution to the war effort. Those old pots and pans, which she can so easily collect and bring to the community pile will make bombers and fighters. Those very bombers and fighters may be the deciding factor in winning the war.

The National War Services Depart- ment will lose no time in making the material collected available to Can- adian manufacturers, and the money collected from the sale will be turn- ed into the wonderful work which the Red Cross Society is doing for Can- adians sailors, soldiers and airmen. Thus the giving of useless aluminum ware in this campaign serves the double purpose of providing much- needed material for war vehicles and of assisting one of the noblest of the war charities.

The aluminum drive will be con- ducted on specific dates as follows: Ontario and Quebec, September 8th and 9th; Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, September 12th and 13th; The Maritime Provinces and British Columbia, September 19th and 20th. These dates are arranged to afford proper marketing arrange- ments. Canada counts on each and every woman to do her share in the glorious cause for salvaging useless alum- inum ware.

Could Sell Her

The young salesman was looking very depressed on his second day in his new job.

"Come, come!" said the sales man- ager "Don't look so down in the mouth. I know it's difficult at first, but you'll soon get into it. When you have had a little more experience, you'll get along all right."

"It isn't that," said the young man. "When I got home last night, I pro- posed that sales talk on my wife and now I've got to buy her a new vac- uum cleaner." —Montreal Star.

New Bible School Opened At Regina

Regina is the centre chosen for the opening of a new Bible School this Fall. Its name "The Canadian Bible Institute" is suggestive of the scope of its operations. It is to serve the needs of Eastern and Western Can- ada.

The New Bible Institute is in close association with the widely-known "Haven of Hope" broadcast. Its headquarters will be in the Alliance Tabernacle, 13th Ave. and Osler St. Regina.

Rev. Geo. M. Blachett, formerly dean of the Winnipeg Bible Institute, has been chosen as Principal. Rev. W. H. Brooks, an widely known in connection with the "Haven of Hope" broadcast is a member of the Executive and of the teaching staff. Rev. Gordon A. Hiltch, the dynamic District Superintendent of the Christ- ian and Missionary Alliance for Western Canada, is also a member of the Executive.

The purpose of the Bible Institute is to impart a thorough knowledge of the Bible and kindred subjects and to train young people for all forms of Christian service.

The classes of the Canadian Bible Institute afford a unique opportun- ity for Christian fellowship and of- fer unusual opportunities to the stu- dents to take part in all forms of Christian work.

Its sessions will commence on the first of October. Christian people in- terested in investing their lives in service that really counts, should write for information to The Cana- dian Bible Institute. 2000 Osler Street. Regina, Sask.

First Mechanic: "Why do you pre- fer fabric to leather upholstery?"

Second Mechanic: "Have you ever tried to wipe your hands on leather upholstery?"

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By N. C. L. Strange, Director "The Crop Testing Plan."

A recommendation has been made to the Dominion Government to pro- hibit the export out of Canada of oats, barley and of feed wheat, all in order to conserve these grains for animal feeding in Canada; this con- servation being considered necessary because the coarse grain crop is less than it was last year and because in addition an increase has occurred in Western hog population.

My own rough estimate is that the coarse grains will be about 50 per cent. bushels under the amount re- quired as compared with last year's needs. Canada has, however, an a- bundance of wheat, and 30 million bushels of wheat has the same feed- ing value for hogs as 50 million bushels of coarse grains.

My own suggestion, therefore, is that there should be no prohibition of the export of coarse grains and feed wheat abroad because our hog producers can easily use wheat in place of these exported coarse grains and these exports will certainly tend to raise the prices of these grains; a price increase our farmers badly need.

Considering the relative hog feed- ing value of wheat, oats and barley based on feeding experiments, and taking into consideration today's grain prices, I calculate that wheat costs less to feed to hogs today than oats, and that wheat is no more ex- pensive than barley.

The recent wet weather has hindered harvesting here, and the amount of moisture that fell is as the military communiques term it, "of a nuisance value," especially now it is too late, why, didn't it come in July?

Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Logan and Mrs. E. Scott who left here by car recently for B.C., that they enjoyed a short stay at Banff and are now enroute to their destination in B.C.

Farmers with very poor crops, and there's no lack of them this year, are looking askance at those odd fortunate ones that received the odd shower that did the trick and made their crop a fair one. The reason being the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, they fear that those odd crops may just be enough to boost the average for the district and that they will not receive "assistance."

Different Approach

When a well known Chicago attorney started work with a legal firm after his first year in law he was given a routine collection of overdue accounts Among them was deemed absolutely bad, and included Mr. the youngster's last as a joke. Two days later a check in full payment of this account arrived by mail The head of the firm, astonished and curious, called in his new man.

"Walker, I see you've collected Smith's account. What on earth did you say to him?"

"I didn't know what to say," the other admitted, "so I just mailed him the bill with a letter."

"We've been doing that for years. Let's see a carbon of that letter." It was told on his desk. A broad grin spread over the executive's face as he read:

"Dear Mr. Smith:

Unless we receive your check by return mail for the full amount of the enclosed bill, what we will do will amaze you."—Coronet.

Just a Few More Statement Of Claims To Be Filed

Out of a total of about 435, statement of claims under the Wheat Acreage Reduction Regulations, there are in the Cornhill M.D. about 40 left to be filed. It is possible that these farmers do not intend to complete the transaction, but if there are any among the 40 who do, it should be attended to at once, as inspections of acreage are now taking place. In some cases changes under these regulations have already been received.

Red Cross Sponsor Aluminum Drive

Aluminum is needed for the successful prosecution of the war, and right across Canada from coast to coast housewives are searching out discarded aluminum articles which will be rushed into war production.

Commencing Thursday, September 18th, the Canadian Red Cross, through its many branches, will sponsor a nation-wide collection of old aluminum.

The Tofield Branch is heartily co-operating with other units to swell the volume of aluminum going and to be made into war products and request that housewives within town and district cast their old aluminum utensils onto the pile. A drive with the Tofield Unit established over the vacant lots immediately north from the Service Garage for a week following September 25th, and it is hoped a really worth while collection of old aluminum will result.

The salutation for that week will be "Aluminum Collection Week."

Potato Grows Through Handle of Scissors

Young Stanley Ewanovich, when digging potatoes last week came across a curiosity in the potato world. It was a potato half on one side of the handle of a pair of scissors and half on the other. The scissors were old and rusty and had probably been in the ground for some time. Anyway as the potato grew, it went through the hole usually used as a thumb hole and expanded on both sides.

Owing to last minute demands on our space we are compelled to carry over Tofield Town Council News over to next week.

The Week In Edmonton

Edmonton, Sept. 15— Although the number of new poliomyelitis cases is decreasing, provincial health authorities are strongly warning parents against permitting children to congregate in groups. "Keep them in their own backyards" is the advice offered, together with the injunction to prevent over-tiredness through intensive activities. With the teaching season now materially shortened, edmonton officials are working on a stepped-up schedule of teaching in the hope of making up lost time between opening day and Christmas.

Two classes of 30 women students will be open for registrations within a few days at the Technical School in Edmonton, for the purpose of training girls for special aircraft work. The course will last ten weeks. At the aircraft repair depot in Edmonton, there are about 100 vacancies for trained women and the demand is expected to grow as activities increase. The course offered is designed to fill these demands.

When this province is able to supply cancer sufferers with free hospitalization and surgery in addition to the existing clinic services, "Alberta will become one of the leading world centres for the treatment of cancer." This was told to doctors in annual convention at Edmonton by Dr. George H. Hutchison, renowned radiologist and director of the Provincial Diagnostic Clinic. Dr. Hutchinson said since establishment of the free clinics at Calgary and Edmonton, 3000 persons had received treatment. "Only 500 who applied were suffering from cancer, and 300 will receive treatment.

"The majority who applied to the clinics and were found to have cancer were, on the average, eight months too late. There is no hope for 35 of these unfortunate people. There is a good chance for the others," said Dr. Hutchinson.

Also speaking on cancer were Dr. C. F. Bearr, associate professor of surgery at McGill and Dr. T. C. Routley, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association. Both agreed that early treatment is essential for sufferers.

Alberta's Normal Schools opened September 15, for students 18 years old and over. Younger students have been asked to report September 22. Decision to open the schools was made after the provincial board of health had acted in the poliomyelitis situation. It is reported that students registered in Edmonton will number 210 and in Calgary 215, a total of 425 for the province. Because of military needs, the schools proper will not be utilized and classes will be held in other buildings.

For the information of the public, the Alberta Department of Health has issued a statement on sleeping sickness, or encephalomyelitis in horses and humans. A summary follows: There are two types, Eastern and Western. The Eastern type is caused by a distinctly different virus than the Western. Clinically, the Eastern is much more severe. A wide range of animals, including birds, may suffer. Man can contract the disease from animals. Biting insects may transmit it, as may horses by contact.

V V V

Sleeping sickness takes about two weeks to materialize after exposure. It appears abruptly, usually with fever of 103-106 F and severe headache, or generalized aches and pains, cramps, vomiting, milk or without bowel movements. Sleepiness sets in after three or four days. It is preceded usually by the excitement stage —irritability, restlessness, tremors, muscle twitchings, sometimes delirium and convulsions. Light hurts the patient's eyes. With the Western type, about 60 per cent will recover after the acute stage; 30 per cent will make part recovery over several years. Ten to 15 per cent of cases will prove fatal.

Belief that an Alaska highway running through Edmonton would connect more strategically with vital U.S. eastern industrial points was expressed here during the week by Anthony J. Dimond, of Valdez, Alaska, delegate in the U.S. Congress. Alaska residents, however, appeared to think the Pal. route better. "Some connecting road is urgently required," he added. He cited construction of the road and of new defence bases as the two most vital problems facing American authorities in the northern state.

Fire Prevention Week in Canada will commence Sunday, Oct. 5, and it will be preceded by a nation-wide press and general publicity campaign in which all newspapers and publishers are invited to participate, in endeavouring to avoid a repetition of the Alberta Fire Insurance office will participate as a major interested organization. At a recent meeting in Edmonton, Hon. E. C. Manning said the office had written $4,000,000 worth of business in two years, and was exceeded in business by only three of 100 agencies operating in the province.

Wages of truck drivers will be the subject of discussions to be held by employers and the Industrial Relations Board of the province in Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Edmonton this month. Under the chairmanship of Clarion Adams, the board has won pay raises of $145,000 a year and last year collected $27,000 in back wages for workers. More than 7,000 investigations were carried out in the same period.

A short open season on cock ringneck pheasants has been announced by the Game Branch, Department of Lands and Mines. These planted birds are thriving well in certain sections of the province, and the season will be open on cocks in two sections —in the deep south and an area centred by Edmonton. Sportsmen are asked to co-operate with the Branch and with the Alberta Fish and Game Association by conforming strictly to season and bag limits. Only cocks of other game birds. Regulations are obtainable from license vendors and game guardians.

The Farmer Will Go To Town

Most reasonable people will admit that the farmer is getting the short end of the deal. Labor, which has long looked after, industry wants a profit and finance looks out for itself but the farmer was just out of luck. He got no return for his investment— he and his family worked from early morning far into the night and during the eleven years 1930 to 1940 he averaged less than one thousand a year or a 3½ per cent reduction over the preceding period. He could not pay for his depreciation and there just weren't any profits.

The reason for the plight in which the farmer found himself was that he had no organization such as labor had and industry had and finance had. He was left to fight alone against the stone wall of isolation and getting all the kicks. He was looking to others to do what he should have done himself. His condition became so insufferable that he was forced to take resignances of it. The result was he organized like the rest of them under the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. Now he could get somewhere—could command a respectful hearing.

The Federation, we are happy to state, is now effectively organized with an office in the Canadian capital. Its president is H. H. Hannam and its national secretary, W. K. Hankin. Both men are devoted to the problems of agriculture and are doing their utmost to bring those problems before the public. They realize the importance of the weekly press of Canada and its nearness to the people and will from time to time release reliable data, through which the weekly press will be able to give intelligent discussions of the agricultural problem and assist in awakening as the Huntsville Forester says: "the consciousness of the people and the governments of Canada to something approaching a realization of the vital character of this problem and the urgency of the need for something to be done about it."

The goal to press party To achieve this the farmer must have a salary report from his family, based on his investment, depreciation and a profit like the manufacturer, an more, no less.—The Advocate-Topic, Petrolia, Ont.

Gardiner Says Save Wheat

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, has decided ideas of his own. In an interview with Winnipeg last week he advised against western farmers using wheat as hog feed.

"I am not yet searching round for a plan to throw to the hogs what may turn out to be the greatest potato producing asset of this country," Mr Gardiner said. "One pound of wheat will keep a man from starvation as long as one pound of pork, and it takes four pounds of wheat to produce one pound of pork."

At the same time Dr. Sinclair of the University of Alberta presented a report showing that wheat fed to hogs would bring $2.10 a bushel to the farmer. The Wheat Board price averages 51c a bushel not to the farmer.

The Issue: Shall A Madman Be Allowed To Shape Our Future?

Editorial in "Country Gentleman" Published by Curtis Publishing Co.

At this issue of Country Gentleman reaches its readers an International conference at Williamstown, Massachusetts, is discussing the kind of world we want to live in after the war. It is a topic very much worth considering. The lives of all of us are bound to be affected by the character of the world we shall live in after the war. And, in one way or another, the people of this country will have a responsibility in shaping the kind of world that it is.

For that reason we wish to reaffirm the position taken by Country Gentleman in its May issue. At that time we and the present war involved a contest to the death between British totalitarianism and the common heritage of hopes, principles and humanism which the American people share. Believing this, we indorsed the national policy of unstinted aid to those opposing the archaggressor. That position has been sincerely challenged by some of our readers

But when any attempt is made to think about the kind of world we want to live in after the war, the rightness of Country Gentleman's position becomes perfectly clear. For there is no use thinking about the matter at all if Hitlerism, in its Nazi and Japanese forms, is to win. The kind of world we would live in then is self evident. It is the fear-haunted kind that already exists over a large part of the earth.

For us at least that kind of world would mean living in a perpetual armed camp. That we should not be safe in doing otherwise is proved by the tragedy which has overtaken one peaceful nation after another. Living under the threat of war, harmful to trade interferences and ravaged by incessant armament competition are the dark realities of such a future. In that kind of world we could not know the peace, progress and prosperity to which the American people want to look forward.

It is not enough to say that we could not be successfully invaded. The human spirit requires something other than the soil of a fortified camp in which to grow.

Before the fanatical madman, Hitler, set about destroying the world, centuries of struggle had won for men and women certain humanities and decencies of life. We want to live in the kind of world in which a continuing progress in that direction is possible. It is not possible for us alone. Recent events have proved all too well that we cannot insulate ourselves against forces and happenings abroad. No American citizen is without ample first-hand evidence of that, whether he is farming, selling merchandise or serving in the selective Army. The acts of international marauders already have cut deep into our way of living, our national and personal welfare, our outlook.

There are some of the reasons why it is timely to begin thinking and talking of the kind of world we want to live in after the war. But before anything can be done about it, Hitlerism has to be kept from winning.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By W. G. L. Strang, Director "The Crop Testing Plan."

Dr. L. H. Newman, the Dominion Cerealist, guarantees that our millers and bakers will soon be turning out a finer and broad flour that will be rich in the natural B vitamins that are present in the wheat kernel, and that the Government is setting official standards for the new flour and bread.

This should be great news for our wheat growers and to all interested in our great Canadian wheat industry; for it is expected by medical authorities that this new product will increase the consumption of bread. Doctors say they will recommend an extra slice or two of this new bread instead of advising the purchase of Vitamin B pills.

These new loaves, which are already being manufactured experimentally in Montreal and Toronto, are to be presented at a number of "Crop Testing Plan" field days held recently in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Hundreds of people, including a number of ladies, examined and tasted the new bread; they declared unanimously that the loaf was quite white enough, that the texture was good, and that the bread had a most agreeable "nutty" flavor. All said they would buy the new bread and flour as soon as it is available.

Little Or No Increase In Shoe Prices

Ottawa, September 2.—Preliminary reports on fall and winter shoe prices received by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board indicate that retailers are conforming to the June forecast of Hiden and Lauther Administrator Mordecai Bowman that there would be no general increase in the retail price of shoes in the last six months of 1941.

Many retailers, embracing a considerable number of cities and towns in the Maritimes, central Canada and the West, state that prices in all shoe lines are unchanged from spring levels, and, where prices have been altered to take care of increased costs, the average increase to the purchaser is less than 25 cents a pair.

THE LITTLE PEOPLE OF ENGLAND

By MRS. VALLANCE S. PATRIARCHE

"THEY carry no weapons, wave no banners, chant no stately measures of poesy, these little people of England. Pale clerks, laborers with stiff, gnarled hands; old fishermen and young mechanics; housewives, washer-women, nursemaids and chars, and tired children singing underground fit to break your heart.

"THEY climb to heights of glory as if born to sacrifice and heroism, scaling the peaks by humble paths and mean alleys which turn to pits of flame; or attaining the summit of valor through dark and cruel descent into the icy waters of the sea. Like soldiers they have borne the shock of fire and shell; like sailors they have gone down unflinchingly to their death in shattered ships, and like aviators they have given their strength to rise 'By Labor to the Stars'.

'NO Abbey walls have space to record the deeds of these simple ones, gone sadly or gaily to eternity. Their names shall not be graven on stone nor parchment on glass; no Roll of Honor could set them forth. But the dust of England, the winds which whisper in her trees, the waves which beat upon her shores, shall vibrate with the passion of their courage, the splendor of their sacrifice. Each dawn shall tell how they arose in humble cheerfulness to light their tiny corner of the earth with a candle of faith, each sunset shall be a flaming beacon to remind all men of their burning steadfastness."

MINIMUM MUNICIPAL TAX--

THE ANNOUNCEMENT at the recent Cornhill Council Meeting that a minimum four dollar tax for municipal purposes is now compulsory, requires a little explanation.

There are really two minimum taxes of four dollars each. One is a straight municipal tax and is mandatory. This apparently means that ratepayers with property upon which the taxes are less than four dollars will be charged four dollars. As there are a comparitively few ratepayers whose taxes are less than this figure there will be little change here. It also means that a minimum municipal tax of four dollars will be charged to residents over 21 years who are gainfully employed. While we have no official information, we are of the opinion that the tax applies more to salaried earners residing in the municipality, such as school teachers, elevator agents, miners, etc., rather than to farm workers, unless the farm worker receives more than ordinary farm wages. As said at the beginning, this is a straight municipal tax and the council or secretary has no choice as regards granting it.

The other minimum tax of four dollars is an educational tax. This tax has been optional with town, village and municipal councils for quite a number of years. If your levied money to town councils than by rural municipalities and was chiefly directed against wage earners who did not pay any other form of educational tax. To levy such a tax the municipal body concerned first had to pass a by-law. This made the levying of this tax optional as unless a by-law governing it was passed, no minimum education tax was levied. We believe the same conditions hold good.

Up to the present M.D. of Cornhill Council have not passed such a by-law, though it has been spoken of from time to time during the past few years. This, then, is the situation as regards minimum municipal and education taxes in M.D. of Cornhill: as regards minimum municipal tax the council has no choice; as regards minimum education tax, no by-law has been passed and it is unlikely that this tax will be levied in 1941.

A MULE AMONG MEN--

The "orneriest mule that ever stuck her nose into an Army feed box" is what the Associated Press calls her--little Wild Rock, in relation to Little Buttercup. Wild Root has just been retired with military honors at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. The AP's title was well deserved; she threw soldiers off her back as fast as they could get on. her biographers say. But doubtless sweet Wild Root could have thrown them off twice as fast as they got on, for when twelve mules go on, if only there weren't a mere mathematical obstacle to such a performance . . . . .

Wild Root did nothing by halves. Since a mule has to be a cross between a horse and a donkey, Wild Root decided to be very cross. She probably deserved to be retired with honors, though had the Army the foresight, it does seem her willing services could have been turned to training parachute troops.—Christian Science Monitor.

Trees For Planting To Be Distributed By The Forest Service, Government of Alberta

By Hon. N. E. Tanner, Minister of Lands and Mines

With 1941 entering its last quarter, the all-important question of tree planning for the coming year presents itself once more for serious consideration.

The importance of this annual undertaking has been often emphasized by the Department during past years and it is gratifying to note the ever-increasing interest taken in this matter. The vital necessity for trees and more trees has been continually pointed out--their important place in Alberta's agricultural life and the benefits which they provide. It is hoped and believed that this interest will continue to grow.

The following information has just been issued by the Forest Service, which gives details regarding the distribution of trees for planting to be made after the close of the year.

Trees, free of all charge excepting the express charge covering shipment are to be given by the Forest Service to farmers in the province for the following purposes:--

1. For planting within natural poplar or willow bluffs.

2. For replacements in established windbreaks or shelterbelts.

3. For additions to established windbreaks or shelterbelts where the trees to be planted are set out close enough to the old plantation that they receive protection against wind and, in the case of conifers, against the sun, by the established trees.

Applications for rural schools and cemeteries will be given consideration.

Trees are not available for beautification only, nor for the establishment of new windbreaks or shelterbelts. Persons requiring trees for the Provincial Department of Agriculture, or if they come from R.O.P. flocks, they must be blood tested under the supervision of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. During the summer of each year application forms are sent out with letters of instructions to hundreds of approved flock owners and new applicants for this service, and on September the first the permanent and temporary field staff of the Poultry Branch, Alberta Department of Agriculture, commenced blood testing operations. Last year at this time applications had been received for approximately 96,000 birds, whereas this year applications are for approximately 120,000 birds, this increase being attributable to two chief factors--increased confidence in the quality of baby chicks being produced by Alberta hatcheries and Alberta approved flocks and prospects for a continued reasonably good egg market.

In order that flocks are accepted under the Hatchery Approved Policy a flock must be pure bred, the hatching must meet with the approval of the inspector and the house and yard must be in a clean and sanitary condition. The flock must be free from disease and parasites and the hens must be free from parasites. Where pullets are bled tested they must be early hatched in order to be coming into maturity at time of testing and must show every indication of efficient management and indications that by that time the flock will be sufficiently managed throughout the winter years.

Where the reaction to the Pullorum test is 4 per cent or over the flock must be destroyed as intervals of six weeks until the reaction is under 4 per cent. Alberta carries out the most stringent blood testing policy in Western Canada.

The cost of blood testing is 3c per bird and where retents are necessary the department, owing to the financial circumstances of many of the poultrymen, do the first retest free of charge.

At time of blood testing the inspectors also remove comb and wattles) all single comb male birds, it the poultrymen is agreeable, thus eliminating the possibility of freezing during the cold weather where artificial heat is not supplied in the house, resulting in better health, more vigor and better fertility during the hatching season.

About the 15th of November, approximately 1,500 turkeys will be blood tested and banded under the Alberta Breed of Merit policy and the same rigid requirements as for the poultry applies to the turkeys. Every turkey tested must be a perfect most type before feathers and have points and take into consideration. Each year the results of the turkey banding policy shows a considerable increase in the percentage of birds in the higher grades being sold by Alberta turkey raisers.

Just the Proprietor

A long queue waited outside the shop. On the door was a notice: "Opening at 10 a.m."

They waited patiently--but there were mutterings of indignation as a little old man failed to insert himself at the head of the queue. He was told to get out of that.

He did again lower down, with the same result.

"All right, then," he said. "I shan't open the shop"-- and walked away. --Answers.

Hatchery Approval Policy

All chicks hatched by Commercial Hatcheries in the Province of Alberta for sale must come from flocks that have been blood tested for Pullorum disease under the supervision of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, or if they come from R.O.P. flocks, they must be blood tested under the supervision of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Every turkey tested must be a perfect most type before feathers and have points and take into consideration. Each year the results of the turkey banding policy shows a considerable increase in the percentage of birds in the higher grades being sold by Alberta turkey raisers.

Just the Proprietor

A long queue waited outside the shop. On the door was a notice: "Opening at 10 a.m."

They waited patiently--but there were mutterings of indignation as a little old man failed to insert himself at the head of the queue. He was told to get out of that.

He did again lower down, with the same result.

"All right, then," he said. "I shan't open the shop"-- and walked away. --Answers.

New Bacon Contract

An agreement for the third year of the war has been completed with the British ministry of food for the delivery of 600 million pounds of Canadian bacon at $22.12 per 112 pounds A grade Wiltshire f.o.b. Canadian seaboard. The price is slightly in excess of the present price being paid for bacon by the bacon board.

The quantity under the new agreement has been increased by 175 million pounds, and will require weekly shipments of 11,500,000 pounds. The total quantity of 600 million pounds represents the product of approximately 5,250,000 hogs, which is greatly in excess of total annual hog marketings in Canada for any year prior to the war.

Dollar Wheat Urged

The agitation started by Clarenbach farmers to induce the government to guarantee the home price of wheat from 70c to $1.00 a bushel is spreading throughout the country. The Wheat Committee of the federal cabinet has stated definitely that no such advance will be made. But the farmers feel that their cause is just and that before many months pass pressure from the public for payment for dollar wheat will be so great that the government will be forced to make the change. --Alberta Wheat Pool Bulletin.

AGRICULTURE MARCHES WITH OUR ARMED FORCES

Behind the lines where men and women are risking life to defend home and country, men and women are toiling to supply the materials of war—ships, planes, tanks, guns. These manufacturers—management and workers alike—are thus fighting shoulder to shoulder with our armed forces.

But what about the farmers? They are doing a work of equal importance. They too are marching to battle, by toiling early and late to persuade nature to increase the food supply on which the issues of the fight so greatly depend. The farmer marches side by side with the soldier and his armourer.

Farmers who are doing their bit to help Canada's all-out war effort may find it necessary to borrow money at the Bank. You should not hesitate to discuss your requirements with our nearest branch manager. Your business will be regarded as strictly confidential.

KINGMAN

A few ladies helped Mrs. J. Barron celebrate her birthday last Thursday Sept. 11th.

Mr. Thomas Fenwick of Brandon, Manitoba, visited his son, Mr. W. E. Fenwick several days last week.

Mr. W. E. Fenwick made a trip to Edmonton last Tuesday.

Mr. Jack Herron went to Edmonton with Mr. H. Asp last Monday.

Mr. Clifford Christerson had the misfortune to break his collar bone.

Mrs. Sarah Wideman and three daughters, Lydia, Edith and Hazel, visited with Mrs. A Wilson last Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Baumgartner on the Baptist Church last week on Tuesday. A large crowd was present.

Rev. Vogt will hold services at Kingman on Sunday, Sept. 21st, at 2.30 on Sunday afternoon.

The Kingman Luther League will hose to Bethlehem Church on Sunday evening, Sept. 28, to put on a program.

MINISTIK

The U.F.W.A. held their monthly meeting at Mrs. A. J. Loseh's on September 9th. Seven members and one visitor, Miss L. Lawrence, were present.

Mr. and Mrs. John Baumgartner and family are here from Copper Mountain for a three week's holiday which they will spend with their parents at Minstik and Tofield.

The threshing of the district is well under way. Mr. Flower's gang have pretty well finished up the West and and Mr. Ferguson's outfit has been busy in the east end, and Mr. Hawken got started this week.

Mrs. Baumgartner we are thank full to say escaped from an accident which might have caused serious injury with no more than a bump on the head and a bit of a scare. Mr. and Mr. Baumgartner, when driving home after a visit to Tofield last week were side-swiped by an approaching light delivery, locked with no harm.

LINDBROOK

Rooms like we are fated to endure the joys of a wet harvest season this year, last week's rain held up operations but it was hoped to be able to resume same early this week, but Sunday night's downpour put the "kibosh" on that, so now it is uncertain when things will move again. We note that the local weather bureau is taking an over the mental reaction to the vagaries of the weather to be of the kind that says to the weather, "Well, when you've finished, we'll start."

Mr. and Mrs. Baumgartner sr., had the misfortune to have a car smash-up last Wednesday night. It seems that their car came into contact with a light truck. Luckily no one was hurt.

A farewell party was sprung on Mrs John Pruden Wednesday evening at the home of her father, Mr. Otto Lindgren. Dancing and singing were the order of the evening and a delicious lunch was served at midnight.

Mrs. Pruden, who is exporting to leave for Calgary soon, was presented with a lovely gift from the members of the W.M.S. club of which she is a member. We all join in wishing her the best of luck.

Mrs Percy and Miss Carol Braun, girls returned home from a visit to relatives in Wainwright, now their sister, Miss Inge Strangelin is visiting there.

BARDO

Ness, Mr. and Mrs. Jos Stauffer, Mr. Alma Fosberg, Mrs. Arnold Steen, Mrs. John Ness, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Rude, Mrs. Monrad Fossvoll and Miss Alice Sandahl.

Edna Steen left last week for Vancouver after working on the Banff Springs Hotel during the tourist season.

Threshing would have been nearly completed this week-end if rain had not interfered. Yields of oats average as high as 13 bushels per acre while oats and barley on the whole is below average for this district.

The C.J., Emil and Clarence Rudes, Finnefrock and Bjornsons power party at Rev. Rude's home at Armena recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard and two boys, also Mrs. Rude, mother of Mrs. Sheppard of Grand Forks, B.C. has been visiting relatives here.

Kenneth Hills and a friend went to Edmonton last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorbehme at Bardo Siding. Both lads are there for the first time in the new fore. G. Lehne and Miss Alice Brought-on still tend to be Bardo's capable boy. This year Miss Hennie Aasness will teach Grand Forks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson's little daughter was christened, and named Beverly Ann.

Mrs Barbara Stauffer slipped on the floor, fell and broke her hip a month ago. She was taken to Edmonton for hospital treatment and is still there.

M. Erickson has purchased an Allis Chalmers tractor from Conrad Putterson in Tofield.

Mr. and Mrs. Inge Johanson and two sons and Mr Johanson's sisters visited the Johanson and Falfield homes last Sunday

McKENZIE

Glen Olsen, son of the McKenzie School teacher, who was hit by a car last week is improving more all the time. He seems very glad to get out the house after being confined to bed for a while yet.

A family get-together was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albin Olsen on Sunday, when Mr. and Mrs. Perry Rinfield of California and their sister, Miss Betty Marts of Artesona, The Bell family from Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Walter and family and Mr. and Mrs. Lorimer Hunter and children all gathered for dinner. "Don't you wish we could shorten the war?"

He: "Well, in a way we can, you know."

She: "But, George, we're not trained to do anything . . ."

He: "Training doesn't matter for what I'm thinking about. I was wondering whether we couldn't put more of our income into War Savings Certificates."

She: "And why not? We might have to go without one or two pet luxuries—but wouldn't it be worth it to bring back peace again?"

He: "And won't we be glad of the money—and the interest it will have earned—in a world without war restrictions!"

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days at war the thoughtless selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending to save a total necessary as to leave the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

The Week In Edmonton

Edmonton, Sept. 23— Alberta lumber workers will benefit through pay increases ordered by the Board of Industrial Relations, according to Department of Trade and Industry officials. About 6,000 workers are affected in camps, mills, box factories and woodworking plants situated more than ten miles from centres of less than 1,000 inhabitants. Minimum wage is raised from $27.50 to $30.50 a month with board and lodging for a ten-hour day schedule and from $26.50 to $28.50 a month with board and lodging for a nine-hour day schedule.

The demands of war, especially in regard to women workers, have soon resulted in an order by the Board in connection with hours of work regulations. The Province, in line with other progressive centres, had prohibited employment of women workers in certain industries after 12 midnight. This order has now been rescinded, because of the labor situation. Work conditions will continue to be investigated by inspectors for the Board.

Lifting the ban on juvenile gatherings because of the poliomyelitis epidemic, all elementary schools, teachers and students the "go" signal for the new educational year. It was anticipated by some educational officials that host ground will be made up by Christmas. Alberta has been lightest hit of the three prairie provinces since the disease assumed a foothold this year. Because of the fact that the disease incubates for nine weeks after infection, it is thought that early banning of assemblies while not showing immediate results, brought about a lowering in the number of cases later. Cold weather brought a marked decrease in all affected sections of the country.

Alberta government members and representatives of the bondholders' have made considerable headway in post-war analyzing plans for the refunding of the provincial debt, following extensive conferences during the past week and adjourning when Hon. Solon E. Low and Hon. E. C. Manning were called to Ottawa. In the province's capital, these ministers were expected to confer with Dominion officials in connection with the income and corporation tax transfer.

Edmonton's traditional fall show will be held as usual this year, despite occupation of the Exhibition grounds by the R.C.A.F. It was announced last week that 300 rooms have been entered in the sheep classes, together with 60 cows. Good entry lists are promised in the swine classes, Yorkshire and Tamworth.

University of Alberta will offer students who plan to join the R.C.A.F. at the end of the forthcoming session, a special course in basic training and subjects of general interest at the university, Dean it was announced this week. Prospective students will be required to pass a medical examination and affirm their intention to enlist General military training will be carried on, but medical students in the fifth and sixth years and apprentice students in the third and fourth years may be exempt under special circumstances.

Arriving in Edmonton after five months spent in the North, A. M. Jolliffe of the Dominion Geological Survey declared that country has a great future, and that while more is being done there, as long has "just begun" when yesterday's are realized. He has spent five years in exploratory work in the Northwest Territory, and this summer surveyed Langston deposits at Gilmour Lake, 60 miles west of Yellowknife.

Despite inability to determine the length of the present war, preparations should be commenced now for post-war rehabilitation, declared military authorities.

THE PRISONER IN THE CORNER

A young member of the R.C.M.P. at a northern Saskatchewan post, a former Edmonton Scout, is Assistant Scoutmaster of the local Scout troop. On a recent troop meeting night he found himself surrounded with a young prisoner. What to do? He took the prisoner with him to the Scout meeting and placed him in a chair in a corner. The culprit was a lad of 17, of sullen countenance. As the Scout programme progressed he gradually relaxed. A smile appeared in his face, and finally he was enjoying the games as much as the participating Scouts themselves. Which suggests the thought that had he had the opportunity of becoming a Scout he or all probability would not have been on the chair in the corner, awaiting whatever was in store for him.

Hon. E. C. Manning this week at a luncheon meeting of the Optimist Club of Edmonton. "Let it not be said that having won the war we lost the peace," said the minister. We'll think things well win neither the war nor the peace, he continued. "We must let no stone be left unturned, no room unoccupied, and then take the necessary action to fulfill those facts."

U.G.G. URGE GOVT. ASSISTANCE TO WHEAT FARMERS

Ottawa

R. S. Law, President of United Grain Growers, Limited, today issued a statement on behalf of the Board of Directors of that Company advocating a payment on an acreage basis to western wheat farmers, comparable to the rest of living beans, to compensate farmers for increased costs prevailing this year and to remedy the deficiency in western farm income. The statement is as follows:

"It is becoming more evident every day that the present wheat price is inadequate for the satisfactory maintenance of agricultural production in western Canada. The situation calls for full government review at the earliest possible moment to bring about an adjustment. Western farmers are suffering not only from reduced production caused by adverse weather conditions and by their compliance with the government's war effort (acreage reduction); they are suffering from increased costs of living and operation due to the rise of prices in Canada. Adjustment of income is required for exactly the same reasons which have brought about some of living bonuses on industry and of the Civil Service, and is more urgently required because farmers have to provide not only for rising cost of living but also for cost of operations.

"The most practical and equitable method of making such an adjustment. One would be a considerable increase in the basis of calculating payments for wheat by the Canadian Wheat Board. Such action was taken by the United Grain Growers Limited advocated such an increase as far back as last January; it has since been repeatedly borrowed, because of subsequent developments in the general situation, in question for an alternative basis. One reason is that the government has not seen fit to make any increase in the initial payment for wheat this year, although it has increased the initial payments for oats and barley. The Company is showing no lack of sympathy with the efforts now being made to support the plan which it suggested, that of increasing Wheat Board initial payments. Their efforts are based on the same facts as the efforts of the Company, the need of more farm income to meet increased costs, and the need of government intervention in the situation. To recognize such need is in line with the war effort of Canada, which for maximum effectiveness requires that agriculture be kept functioning efficiently only to strengthen the Canadian economy but also to insure the maximum production of food for supplying Great Britain."

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By R. G. L. Gerrard, Director "The Crop Testing Plan."

One hundred and twenty eight years ago this very month Napoleon, at the head of an immense army of $12,000 veterans, entered Moscow on September 14th as a great conqueror, and left it a defeated and broken man on October 19th.

Napoleon was defeated simply because he had taken a long chance contrary to his usual practice, and it had failed him. He gambled on finding sufficient food for his Grand Armee in Moscow, but during those fateful 35 days the Russians, refusing to meet him in battle, adopted the "Scorched Earth" policy and burned all the food in Moscow and triple to the cost of living bonus given to wage earners. Its benefits are equitably distributed with the distribution against the farmer whose yields this year were low. It would not require to be applied immediately to be effective, but necessary that some steps be taken by government of Canada to study the problem, and decide in bring the plan before Parliament.

"In reviewing the situation the government may properly take into account the fact that as a result of government policies in both countries much higher prices now prevail for wheat in the United States than are ruling in the Canadian farmers. Prices there are quite on a parity with industrial prices, an state of affairs very different to what prevails in western Canada. The contrast in conditions north and south of the international border, and the natural disadvantage which a contrast creates, provide one more reason for substantial governmental reconsideration of the plight of the producers of Canada's wheat farmer.

"In putting forward this plan, the Company is showing no lack of sympathy with efforts now being made to support the plan which it suggested, that of increasing Wheat Board initial payments. Their efforts are based on the same facts as the efforts of the Company, the need of more farm income to meet increased costs, and the need of government intervention in the situation. To recognize such need is in line with the war effort of Canada, which for maximum effectiveness requires that agriculture be kept functioning efficiently only to strengthen the Canadian economy but also to insure the maximum production of food for supplying Great Britain."

Alberta's Honey Crop 3,000,000 Pounds

Alberta's honey production of somewhat more than 3,000,000 lbs., beats the previous record of 1929 by 20 per cent. This record is the result of a greatly increased interest in beekeeping during the last three years, rather than the result of a high average production per hive.

The season promised to be extremely favourable. The honey flow was very heavy in the early part of the summer. Unfortunately the advent of the heat rob warm moth, in many heavy producing areas, ended the main flow of nectar prematurely. These moths appeared in such numbers, that, it seems, they removed the nectar almost completely for ten days. After the moths died, the season was so well advanced that only a light flow remained for the bees. The average production per hive was not much more than normal.

A large part of the increase in beekeeping is amongst farmers who are producing honey for their own use. This is in contrast to the early development of beekeeping which was largely a money-making activity, with more producing honey on a commercial scale. Commercial honey production nevertheless, has also been expanded somewhat in the last three years.

They were working on a new building, and Pat shouted to his pal Mike: "Throw up a couple o' bricks, half-a-dozen bricks."

Mike did so, and in due course Pat came panting up the ladder with his load full.

"Well," said Pat, "we're short of bricks down there, and I wanted to bring a full load up."

LAST CALL SEPT. 30

TO PAY YOUR 1941

Income Tax

On the Government Monthly Plan

You Must Start At Once!

NEXT TUESDAY will be the last opportunity to pay your 1941 Income Tax on the Government Monthly Plan. This gives you the privilege of paying in twelve monthly instalments without interest, instead of by lump sum in March, 1942.

Here is how to get the monthly payment privilege! Divide the total of your 1940 Income Tax by twelve. This is your first payment — and must be paid to the Receiver General on or before September 30, 1941. You will then pay the same amount before the end of each month for the balance of 1941. When you have estimated your 1941 income tax at the 1941 rate, you will deduct the four payments you will have already made, and pay the remainder in eight equal monthly instalments, starting January, 1942.

The Government offers the above plan as the most reasonable and convenient method of meeting income tax obligations. Ask your local Income Tax Office for Instalment Income Tax Remittance Form—and any further information you may require.

After Two Years of War

Editorial from Liberty Magazine, September 6th, 1941

The war is two years old. September 1, 1939, Hitler threw his armies across the Polish border and war became an actuality. September 3, Britain and France made good their promise to Poland and were themselves at war. Hitler's submarines were lurking on the seaways of the world, giving the open lie to his peaceful protestations. On that day, almost before the ink had dried on that declaration, the Atlantic had been torpedoed and 118 deaths about as a pitiful evidence that frightfulness was once again abroad in the world. Six days later—September 9, 1939, Canada's own parliament solemnly declared this country at war.

Two years since these fateful days. It is worth while to reckon the toll of human destruction, to see to what they have held of tribulation and sorrow, to estimate how much sorrow accumulated and tribulation survived one promise for the morrow.

The British Empire has stood the war with a measure of hope. Russia and Italy and Japan, sharing the destruction, were put under tragedy's able. But the rest of the world looked on with sorrow, sympathy toward Britain and France.

Yet, never in the course of human history has so much fallen to so few such an overwhelming series of encounterings as fell to Britain in the days that followed.

In those early months Poland died. But beyond the seas of the world Britain's boasted Luftwaffe has been wiped out. British skies, and Germany's skies, that were to be invisible, are black with retribution. His is the case of Canada; and then again others have a mixture of agriculture and industry with neither one predominating. But there seems to be this common factor in the economy of all nations, wherever either industry or agriculture live together in the same country on unequal terms, the government steps in (perhaps after much urging) and tries to even things up. Thus we find or did find before the second great war commenced, the wheat growers of Europe heavily protected and the industrialists of the Americas heavily protected also.

The ideal economy in any country would be where the average person's income would slightly exceed the cost of living necessary and to some extent, desired expenses. Furthermore the incomes should be, if not exactly even, without the wide differences now prevailing. And by this we are not referring solely to the 40 or 400 (however many there may be) big shots. But this is getting away from the strictly wheat growers problem. However, the same rule applies to wheat growers as to other folk, their incomes should be just a little more than their necessary and to some extent, desired expenses. That this is not so, everyone knows, and to aggravate the situation the wheat grower knows that in the Industrial East, the industrial east which to a large extent his wheat industry helped to build, factories are booming and high rates of pay prevail. Consequently it is not just mere agitation that causes the western wheat growers to ask for some form of assistance which would put them at least somewhere near on a par with the industrial worker as regards income and financial comfort.

The most effective and simplest method would be to increase the minimum price level of No. 1 wheat at Fort William to 90c or $1.00 per bushel. Many people find fault with this method saying that it is financially unsound. If only this and nothing more was done they are probably right. Allowed unrestricted acreage and unrestricted sales at a profitable price it would only be a few years and Canada would be laying under a blanket of wheat. However there is now in effect, a number of bushels per acre quota, also a wheat acreage reduction plan both of which it seems to us could be utilized in any increase in the plan adopted.

The relation between the actual selling price and the minimum price is not nearly so important as it may seem. It is not altogether certain that over a period of years that the Dominion government would lose money in its handling of the wheat problem, but even if it did it seems to us the result would be worth the cost. The increased purchasing ability put into the hands of the western farmer would do either of two things. it could still further increase the industrial activity of the east or it could help to increase the purchase of British goods, of which so much is heard these days. There is one factor of a government guarantee of the wheat industry which is often forgotten. It is only on strictly export business that any loss could occur. Obviously if the Canadian government purchased a bushel of wheat from a Canadian farmer for 90c and sold it to a British miller for 70c, there is a transaction loss of 20c. However even some of this 20c would have been regained through taxes on business the extra 20c made possible. But if the Canadian government buys a bushel of wheat from a Canadian farmer for 90c and sells it to a Canadian miller for 70c, there is actually no loss. Why? Well, look at it this way. Canada is a sovereign state. It has its own financial system, in a measure, linked with gold. It has boundaries, geographical, political and financial clearly defined. Within those boundaries any money existing must be distributed among the Canadian people and the Canadian government is the direct representatives of the Canadian people. Any such a loss did occur the government's domestic wheat transactions, it would really be equivalent to a man taking money from one pocket and putting it into another pocket. He would have changed the location of the money, but he would still have it. Visualize Canada as a man with many pockets and you will see what we are driving at.

It is neither right nor fair that agriculture should be the Cinderella of a nation's economy. Its contribution to the nation's welfare in peace and in war is as great as that of any other industry. Consequently those actively and intelligently engaged in it should enjoy as high a standard of living as those engaged in other industries. Furthermore it is the duty of the government, as far as it is able, to see that they do.

Agriculture the "Poor Relation"

1. That the initial payment by the Wheat Board should be increased to $1 a bushel for One Northern wheat at the terminal.

2. That the stocks of wheat represented by the carryover as at July 31st, 1941, should be taken off the market and held as a national emergency war reserve.

3. That, as from August 1st, 1941, all sales of wheat should be credited to the crop year 1941-42.

4. That the crop year 1941-42 should be declared an emergency year under the terms of the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, irrespective of market prices prevailing.

The above four requests were made by a delegation, representing the western Wheat Pools, which, on August 9th, interviewed the Wheat Committee of the Federal Government.

—still

The delegation pointed out that principally because of the short crop, the farm revenue from wheat produced in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be approximately $90 million less than last year, and this in the face of continually rising farm costs.

The delegation compared the government's wartime wage policy with its agricultural policy. From the government's viewpoint wage rates are fair and reasonable if they are as high as the highest rates paid between 1926 and December 16th, 1940. If farmers were treated on the same basis, the prices of grains would be as follows:

Wheat, per bushel	$1.60
Oats, per bushel	.90
Barley, per bushel	.90
Rye, per bushel	1.55
Flax, per bushel	3.00

If Canadian unity is to be maintained, the Wheat Pool memorandum pointed out, and we are to reach our maximum effort in the successful prosecution of the war, the great disparity between agricultural and labor policy must be eliminated. "We would urge upon the government of Canada that the farm producers, who form such a large part of our population, should not be regarded as the "poor relation" of the Canadian family, and that it is in the national interest that steps should be taken to place the living standard of those engaged in farming on a basis commensurate with the rest of the country.

"We realize fully the necessity of maintaining our war industries on the highest possible pitch of efficiency, and that in order to reach this workers should enjoy fair and reasonable wage rates. We know of no foundation upon which the principle can be established that agriculture should continue to produce food supplies at prices below the cost of production in order that other groups of our population, already protected by cost of living bonus regulations, should enjoy a lower cost of living at the expense of agriculture.

"In this memorandum we have not tried to emphasize the unrest, dissatisfaction and anxiety now prevailing in the western provinces, largely as a result of lack of adequate farm revenue to maintain reasonable living conditions. At the same time we would like to emphasize that, in spite of conditions at present prevailing, there are neither strikes nor lockouts in the agricultural industry."

WHEAT PRODUCERS OF CANADA SHOULD CLEARLY UNDERSTAND WHAT IS BEING DONE TO HELP THEIR CAUSE. THEIR ORGANIZATION CAN GO SO FAR. FURTHER PROGRESS CAN BE MADE ONLY BY THE WHOLE-HEARTED AND ENERGETIC SUPPORT OF THE WHOLE BODY OF FARMERS

ALBERTA POOL ELEVATORS

Farmers Urged Not To Throw Dump Grain

Farmers of Alberta were urged to avoid losses which may be incurred by threshing their grain before it is properly dried, in a statement issued today by J. G. Bowery, Deputy Minister of Agriculture.

The statement reads:

"Reports have reached this Department, that, owing to unfavourable harvest conditions, grain is sprouting in the stook and in the swath. In many districts, lower grades will result from these conditions, and losses will be unavoidable. Alberta farmers are urged to use the greatest care in having grain matters before commencing to thresh.

"If threshing is commenced before the grain is dry, further trouble will be experienced with heated grain in the bins or at elevators. Farmers cannot handle heated grain on the farm without sustaining heavy losses and the lack of elevator space this year makes it impossible to handle any large volume of damp grain at country elevators or terminals."

Farmers are also warned not to whether their grain is ready to thresh may obtain tests at local elevators to show the moisture content and whether the time is opportune to thresh.

Speaking of Defense Orders

R. A. Uhle, Purchasing Agent of a Detroit manufacturing concern received the following letter from a manufacturer:

"Keep your temper, gentle Sir, writes the manufacturer

Though your goods are overdue, for a month or maybe two,

We can't help it, please don't swear, labor's scarce and steel is rare,

Can't get chrome, can't get dies, these are facts, we tell no lies,

Harry's drafted, so is Bill, all our work is now uphill.

So your order, we're afraid, may be still a bit delayed,

Still, you'll get it, don't be vexed, maybe this month, maybe next,

Keep on hoping, don't say die, we'll fill your order bye and bye."

PRAYER OF A RED CROSS KNITTER

(By Mary Pride)

I do not know the name of him
For whom my shining needles fly,
But I can see, through eyes grown dim,
A knight in khaki who may die,
Who fights on land, in air, on sea,
To make life safe for you and me.

Small wonder that one needles fly
For knights serve, though we sigh
Because the tribute is so small—
Dear young crusader, offering all.

Her islands, without heavy guns or tanks. Her air force inadequate, but planes comparatively few. Hitler had the Channel ports, the one great friend that had always stood in British hearts. Across Britain's life line through the Mediterranean and Suez he provided the legions of the "second Caesar," his considerable fleet and air force. Hitler's dark shadow lay across the Balkans. From these were to come oil and food and metals for use in a pitiful evidence that frightfulness was once again abroad in the world. Six days later—September 9, 1939, Canada's own parliament solemnly declared this country at war.

Two years since these fateful days. It is worth while to reckon the toll of human destruction, to see to what they have held of tribulation and sorrow, to estimate how much sorrow accumulated and tribulation survived one promise for the morrow.

Husband: "There's one thing we can thank Hitler for. He's got us saving at last."

Wife: "Yes! Imagine! Until it became a positive duty we certainly never managed to put anything by each week."

Husband: "I think it's partly because these War Savings Certificates are so simple to buy."

Wife: "You mean the idea of getting the office to deduct a regular amount each week from your salary?"

Husband: "Yes! And how they're mounting up! Quite a nest-egg when you count the interest they're earning."

Wife: "We'll the more the merrier, I say! There are lots of things we'll need the money for, so the years roll by!"

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war she thoughtless selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to victory. Save the money for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

Dear Ketchamaret Friends,

I'm really ashamed of myself as I received your parcel two weeks ago, and although we've been on the move and I've spent seven days in Scotland on leave, I should have written and thanked you sooner. I assure you everything was enjoyed to the last crumb. Please accept my thanks!

I suppose I should say something about my duty over here, but since of it is news so I'll just say I've enjoyed it, although I'm getting impatient and wish it were over.

Thanks again for the parcel. I remain,

Yours sincerely,
FRANK HULL.

LONG SERVICE

For thirty-five years this Farmers' Company has been at work for western agriculture. Its customers have benefitted directly in the satisfaction they have found in marketing their grain or in buying farm supplies. All western farmers have benefitted from improved business standards set by the Organized Farmers in business. And western agriculture as a whole has also been served as this Company, by itself sometimes and often with other organizations, has represented it before governments and governmental bodies, before the public.

The Rival Performance

John Kemble was once performing one of his favorite parts at some country theatre, and was interrupted from time to time by the crying of a child in the gallery, until at length, annoyed by this rival performance, he advanced with solemn step to the front of the stage, and addressing the audience in his most tragic tones, said: "Ladies and gentlemen, unless the play is stopped, the child cannot possibly go on."

The Voss Washing Machine

The VOSS WASHING MACHINE, either electric or gasolene engine, is really the latest word in domestic washing machine construction. Its floating agitator forces the water through the clothes hundredths of times per minute and the clothes come out brighter and cleaner than from the ordinary power washer.

The "Electro-Safe" wringer responds instantly at the touch of a finger—and stops instantly. Should mishap occur the slightest touch on a full width bar releases the rollers and stops the motor.

Be sure and see this VOSS WASHER. Models now on display on our floor. Easy terms and trade-ins.

Triple Wedding At Salem Church

A unique wedding ceremony at which there were 500 or more people present, took place at Salem Mennonite Church on Sunday evening, September 28th. The church was filled to overflowing, every available seat being taken. The contracting parties were Mr. Edwin Zitler and Miss Martha Koch; Mr. Melvin Zitler and Miss Martha Roth; Mr. Melvin Lehman and Miss Grace Roth. The Misses Martha, Mattie and Grace Roth are all daughters of Mrs. Jacob Roth and the late Mr. P. L. Roth. The Messrs. Edwin and Melvin Zitler are sons of Mrs. Martha Zitler of Camrose and the late Mr. Milton Zitler. Mr. Melvin Lehman is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Lehman of near Dodds. The ceremony was performed by Bishop J. B. Stauffer.

All three brides wore identical dresses of white taffeta and were a cornage of white mums. They looked very beautiful and charming. The grooms all were navy blue with a white boutonniere.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Zitler and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lehman left for a brief honeymoons at Edmonton. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Zitler left for Camrose, where all three grooms are farmers and will continue to follow this occupation.

A wedding reception will be held on Friday evening, October 3rd, at the home of the bride's parents, when a large number of invited guests will be present.

Mrs. Holmes sr., left for the East Wednesday evening after holidaying here with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes.

ALUMINUM DRIVE STILL IN PROGRESS

Dropping a piece of old aluminum on McCarthy's drug standing just north of the Service Garage is still fair sport. During the week quite a few pieces, some hefty ones too, have been thrown on and now there is a nice pile for a small town. This stuff is needed and if you have any old aluminum ware, throw it quick and then help Canada's war workers.

To Dismantle Old Skating Rink

The regular meeting of the Municipal Council of the Town of Tofield, held in the Town Hall, Monday, September 29, 1941, at 8 p.m.

Members present: Mayor Swift, Councillors Burbs, Lovell, Hammond.

Communications:

Royal Alex. hospital expressing appreciation of the promptness with which our accounts owing to them are paid, and there are no accounts owing as at August 31, 1941.

Tofield Post Office asking consideration in placing No Parking signs on the sidewalk directly opposite the building in order to facilitate the handling of mail. The Secretary was instructed to advise the Postmaster that the sign would be placed at the South edge of the building and the North side of the Posthall, and would read "No parking between these signs."

Sharp's Theatres, advising that moving pictures would commence again October 1st.

Signs have been set up, following the change in regulations as to parking, prevalent by-law No. 316.

Report on skating rink by Councillor Burbs and Secretary-treasurer to the effect that the building which has taken a decided list westward, and conditions generally, the building has been condemned for public use by the building inspector. Councillor Burbs was named chairman of a committee to set up an open air rink under the events of Town, and to take the necessary steps to dismantle the skating rink in effect this change.

Ole Bruns w as to purchase a lot for the purpose of erecting a carpenter shop and Secretary-treasurer was authorized to sell him one on a business street for $60.00.

Moved by Councillor Lovell, seconded by Councillor Hammond, that accounts as submitted be passed for payment.

The Case For War Savings Certificates

When a country is at war to protect and safeguard its very existence it uses up money very quickly. Right now the amount that Canada is spending each day due to the war effort is tremendous. And as the number of men and women in the war services increase, the amount will become larger. One of the principal sources of this money, THE principal source, is the people of the country itself, and from them money can be obtained voluntarily as in the case of War Savings Stamps, Savings Certificates and Victory Bonds, or semi-compulsory, as in the case of various forms of taxation. At the present moment Canada is using both methods, urging its citizens in kind freely, and increasing some forms of taxation.

The voluntary system of Canadians helping to finance their country's war effort is so arranged that every individual, young or old, rich or poor, may participate. School children of tiniest pursestrings and multi-millionaires may share equally in the effort and will be helping their country win this war. War Savings Stamps afford a splendid opportunity for young folk and those with very limited incomes. By means of 25c. a War Savings Certificate is acquired. War Savings Certificates are issued in denominations of four dollars, which in seven and a half years become worth five dollars. Victory bonds are issued in amounts beginning at $50.00 to, we believe, $5000.00. Thus, no matter how flush or limited one's means are, there is an avenue through which all may help.

This policy is particularly concerned with War Savings Certificates. There are in addition to the all important over-riding reason that the government needs the money, two other reasons why every Canadian should buy War Savings Certificates regularly, according to his or her means. The first is that every four dollars received with the government decreases by that much the amount of money available to spend for non-essentials, luxuries, and secondly, every four dollars thus invested releases some worker somewhere from the time required to make four dollars worth of non-essential products, the time saved presumably being used by the worker in making something directly connected with the war effort.

Industrial plants with payrolls are without doubt the best field for the regular sale of War Savings Certificates, but agricultural area, particularly one in which the crop has been none too good, is also suitable for the sale. Here in Tofield and district three grooms are farmers and will continue to follow this occupation.

A wedding reception will be held on Friday evening, October 3rd, at the home of the bride's parents, when a large number of invited guests will be present.

Meets Brother For First Time in 44 Years

Mr. Job Rogers of Elnora, Ontario, arrived this week to visit with his brother, Mr. Asa Rogers of Tofield. Until brother Job stepped off the train Monday morning the brothers had not met for 44 years. In 1897 which if we remember correctly, was Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee, the brothers parted in Old Ontario, and while Asa pursued his fortunes "out west" Job stayed with the eastern province. Both were carpenters by trade In addition to brother Job, Mr. Asa Rogers has brother Aren visiting him. All three gentlemen are well up in years and the reunion will no doubt be greatly enjoyed.

PLAN AIRGRAPH SYSTEM TO SPEED LETTERS FOR OVERSEAS FORCES

With a view to speeding up the delivery of letters from relatives and friends in Canada to the Canadian Forces in the United Kingdom, Honourable William P. Mulock, K.C., M.P., Postmaster General, stated that arrangements are now under way for the institution of a time and repeat-concerning Airgraph Service between this country and the United Kingdom. In handling with his policy to do everything possible to facilitate the transmission of mails for our Forces, with the minimum of loss and delay, Hon. Mr. Mulock is planning to institute this special service at an early date. Following completion of arrangements now under way, a definite announcement will be made by Hon. Mr. Mulock as to the date of commencement.

Under this special system the sender of an Airgraph communication writes the message and address on a special form provided by the Post Office. The completed form is next photographed on miniature film which is despatched by Air. On arrival in the United Kingdom photographic enlargements are made and delivered through the Army Postal Service to the troops in the usual way. The rate on an Airgraph message will be 10 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bruce returned last week end from a short trip to Banff.

Murray McHeffey Killed In Accident

The sad news was received Wednesday night of the death of Winfield Murray McHeffey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McHeffey of Tofield. The news which was very brief and which at time of writing had not been added to was to the effect that Murray had been killed in a railway accident. It is presumed the tragedy occurred somewhere near Macleod.

Murray McHeffey McHeffey leaves to mourn his loss, a loving wife and two children, Norleen Mae and Dennis Susan; also his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McHeffey, sr., of Tofield; two sisters, one has been in Eastern Canada for the past six years. By a tragic irony of fate, Horace was enroute home when the tragedy occurred.

Murray has been a member of the R.C.A.F. for the past 18 months, and was due for promotion the beginning of this month. He was 22 years of age

Whitewashing on the Farm

(Alta Dept. of Agriculture Notes)

Although whitewashing is usually done in the spring, a number of farmers are finding it desirable to use whitewash this fall. For the benefit of those who may wish to whitewash a building this fall, we are repeating the instructions given in these notes earlier in the season

For general outdoor work, the following formulae are good:

A. (1) Add 15 pounds of common salt to 7½ gallons of water.

(2) To this solution slowly add one sack of hydrated lime.

Stir constantly.

(3) Thin the mixture to a milky consistency with water

B. (1) Make a paste by adding 1 sack of hydrated lime to 7 gallons of water

(2) In 1 gallon of boiling water, dissolve one pound of common salt and one half pound of zinc sulphate. Cook.

(3) When (2) is cold, stir it into (1) and add two gallons of skim-milk.

For higher grade work on buildings, dairies, etc., use formula C.

C. (1) Make a paste of one sack of hydrated lime and 7 gallons of water.

(2) Dissolve 4 pounds of salt in 2 gallons of boiling water.

(3) Mix (1) and (2) when cold. Stir thoroughly.

(4) Into the resulting mixture, stir 3 pounds of fine hydrated cement.

It is always advisable to prepare the lime and water paste a few days before the cement is added.

Whitewash should be applied to a dry, cleaned surface. A good stiff brush will remove loose dirt. A whitewash is best to apply with a brush. Work rapidly and vigorously. The "brush out" as with paint. One gallon of whitewash will cover, on the average, 200 sq. feet of wood, 100 of brick and about 270 of plaster.

Profanity Fines Help Queen's Fund

Moncton, N.B., September 29— Not that railwaymen are any more addicted to profanity than the ordinary run of mortals but the Queen's Canadian Fund received a rather unexpected contribution recently from a Canadian National crew who undertook to time themselves every time they uttered a swear word. By mutual consent it was agreed that any member of the crew who made use of a profane word while in the van would place a penny in the receptacle set aside for the fund. The last week-end on which the crew reached their terminal, the receptacle was full to overflowing—it contained a few dollars and fifty-six cents, which went to aid victims of German bombs in Britain

T. TICK, HIS WORD

"If you finish her by noon, I'll let you throw one more bomb." So they told his 102nd Combat Engineers at Fulton, Ark., as they started work on a 750-pound bridge. Ted Dyer of Reno spanned by noon—a squad of privates tossed the Colonel and a Lieutenant in —Pathfinder.

Infantry Foolishly Maligned, Underrated

By Kim Beattie

The most underrated soldier is today's warfare — and in the 1941 Canadian Army — is the man who is going to win our war for us in the long test of it. He is the hard-working, hard-fighting, durable footslogger.

No matter how irresistable are tank-supported shock-divisions proved in future battle, no major operation will be recorded as a victory without him. No matter how devastatingly the army co-operation squadrons of the Air Force pound get a path with their flying barrage, no British Canadian tank-wave, not the Bren-gunner screw without his stalwart prancing on the ground.

In the last war the infantryman was dubbed the P.B.I in cynicalky, not as a disparagement. His arduous and hazardous job, and h ungerprone in our armed forces were soon established. They are today the foodgrowers of the fact that all was labor in modern war, not that the foodgrower not only fed more of it than any other arm, but also most of the murdering, and most of the fighting

But seldom the truth is understood and less that the infantryman is armed and trained to fight, there is grave danger that he will become the P.B.I in all truth. He is not only still carrying the lug burden, but he is being grudged it—indeed, he is wrongfully and foolishly belittled as an obsolete and wheezing old horse. Since 1939 a score heroes of the almost fabulous sources of German panzers against "soft" opposition. As a result he has lost his former public popularity to the men in the black berets of the more spectacular armored corps.

This is not a defence of the old-style army which was based on "masses of infantry". It would be folly, also, to decry the striking power of armored formations; but it should be remembered that it is only through supporting the infantry that the expansionist nerves which gives armored attack its demoralizing strength and deadly momentum.

The blitzkrieg into France proved that the British Army had retained all its traditional fighting quality. It also disclosed that the tank was not at all invincible. When faced with determined and properly armed "ordinary" divisions, the tank failed.

In other words against weak opposition the tank is as irresistable as it is powerfully supported. Against well-armed and trained troops, it is stoppable, and if the latter have adequate anti-tank armament, plus tank units, the land-battleship becomes just another weapon. The famous panzers are exemplified in quality of troops and their training, becomes the exception.

If that were not so there would never have been a Dunkirk. For three days the German panzers attacked the British from the south in desperate effort to prevent the evacuation which obviously had been planned. The crisis failed, utterly and finally. The enemy then began bringing up his artillery forward, before the infantry-artillery battle was in full cry, the evacuation was accomplished.

The infantryman of today is badly, if not a light machine-gunner, and can turn his hand — or actually carries — many weapons. He can handle Bren, Lewis and Tommy guns, grenades and pistols, anti-tank rifles and machine guns and at least two types of mortars. The rifleman is a sniper, an ammunition carrier, and an all-round fighter at either short or long range. His infantry platoon is so well armed that it could hardly be more so—invent and retain its own speed.

Further, the 1941 infantryman is trained for "as independent, resourceful shock trooper from the start of his training, when he finishes he has advanced to company, battalion or more ambitious appointments, he is fitting perfectly his place and has acquired an instinctive knowledge of both field weapons and tactics.

The opinion has even been expressed that the infantry man has a "safer" job in this war in the belief that he no longer slays it on foot.

It is true that on urgent orders he travels to distant battle sites by motor transport, held in reserve and specially detailed for that purpose. They rush him into the fight with a speed that was not even imagined in the last war. But that is no reason to withhold sympathy for the amount he has to walk in battle.

Call For Greater Road Surfacing

Alberta has 2,000 miles of main graveliled highways and more than 600 miles of "blotteed" or bituminous surfaced roads, forming part of 95, 000 miles of roads in this province.

Some interesting facts regarding the statistical position of the road situation were made known recently by the provincial government.

These show, in the opinion of officials of the Alberta Motor Association, the need for greater development of hard surfacing in this province. Only by such expansion will the tourists be encouraged to visit this province in larger numbers.

On the reconstruction of the main No.1 highway from Edmonton to Calgary and Macleod, the province has spent in recent years a total of more than $2,000,000. Level crossings between Edmonton and Calgary have been eliminated.

Municipals who are paying millions of dollars into the provincial coffers each year, work more than winds in

U.G.G. Urge Government Assistance To Wheat Farmers---

R. S. Law, President of United Grain Growers, Limited, today issued a statement on behalf of the Board of Directors of that Company advocating a payment on an acreage basis to western wheat farmers, comparable to the cost of living index, to compensate farmers for increased costs prevailing this year and to remedy the deficiency in western farm income. The statement is as follows:

"It is becoming more evident every day that western wheat income is inadequate for the satisfactory maintenance of agricultural production in western Canada. The situation calls for full governmental review at the earliest possible moment to bring about an adjustment. Western farmers are suffering not only from reduced production caused by adverse weather conditions and by their compliance with the government plan for wheat acreage reduction; they are suffering from increased costs of living and operation due to the rise of prices in Canada. Adjustment of income is required for similar the same reasons which have brought about cost of living bonuses in industry and in the Civil Service, and is more urgently required because farmers have to provide not only for cost of living but also for cost of operation

"There are several possible methods of making such an adjustment. One would be a considerable increase in the basis of initial payments for wheat by the Canadian Wheat Board. The Board of Directors of United Grain Growers Limited advocated such an increase as far back as last January. It now feels it necessary, however, because of subsequent developments to put forward a suggestion for an alternative basis. One reason is that the government has now twice refused to make such an increase. Another is that owing to new factors which have entered the situation, an increase in Wheat Board payments would only partially meet the present problem. If granted, to make it reasonably satisfactory, it would be necessary to supplement it by direct payments in respect to a large volume of wheat which cannot or will not be delivered to the Canadian Wheat Board this year but which the farmers will dispose of otherwise, by sale on the open market, by feeding on their own farms or by sale to neighbors for feeding purposes. To farmers so disposing of their wheat, or to those who have had less than average yields, an increase in Wheat Board payments unless otherwise supplemented would either be a minor or an inadequate benefit

"Nevertheless, it is clear that it is in respect to wheat that farm income needs to be adjusted, for wheat is the one important commodity in Canada which is still selling on a basis of distressed prices. It is the wheat farmer on whose behalf adjustment is most urgently required, and those farmers who have also other lines of production require adjustment in respect to their wheat operations.

"For such reasons the Board of Directors of United Grain Growers Limited advocates that there should be paid to each wheat farmer a bonus on his wheat acreage. It should be applied not on the acreage sown in any particular year, but on what is known as his basic wheat acreage. That is the acreage established by the Canadian Wheat Board for each individual farmer in order to regulate quotas to deliveries of wheat this year. It is with minor exceptions a repetition of the acreage sown to wheat in 1940. The total of basic wheat acreage established by the Canadian Wheat Board is probably in the neighborhood of eighteen and one-half million acres. A payment of $2.00 per basic acre would amount to $36,500,000. Any calculation of western farm income will show that for the current crop year it will be at least three times what is enough to provide adequately for agricultural maintenance. That such an estimate is moderate may be seen by noting that if western farmers and farm workers were to receive a cost of living bonus only on the same basis as is being widely applied to industrial and civil service workers, it would amount to some $15,000,000 or more, and that their need for adjustment, which applies to every producer as well as living costs is greater than that of wage-earners.

"A few of the comparative advantages of such a plan may be mentioned. It would be unnecessary for the Dominion government to make any new decisions. It has already made. It would be in conformity with the acreage payments already provided for in connection with the crop year 1941. It would not involve any encroachment in that plan of government responsibility for supply—wheat for export. Initial payments from wheat. It would not interfere with feeding of wheat to live stock. It corresponds in principle to the cost of living bonus given to wage earners. Its benefits are equitably distributed with no discrimination against any farmer or province. It would not require to be applied immediately to be effective, but necessary time could be taken by the government of Canada in working out details, and possibly to bring the plan before Parliament.

"In reviewing the situation the government may properly take into account the fact that as a result of government policies in both countries much higher prices now prevail for wheat in the United States than are available to Canadian farmers. Prices there are quite on a parity with farmers' costs, a state of affairs very different to what prevails in western Canada. The contrast in conditions north and south of the international boundary is a striking one. Equivalent which such a contract creates provide one more reason for asking government reconsideration of the plight of the western Canadian wheat farmer.

"IN PUTTING FORWARD THIS PLAN, THE COMPANY IS SHOWING NO LACK OF SYMPATHY WITH THOSE WHO CONTINUE TO SUPPORT THE PLAN WHICH IT EARLIER ADVOCATED, THAT OF INCREASING WHEAT BOARD INITIAL PAYMENTS. THEIR EFFORTS ARE BASED ON THE SAME FACTS AS THE EFFORTS OF THIS COMPANY, THE NEED OF MORE FARM INCOME IN WESTERN CANADA AND THE NEED OF GOVERNMENT INTERVENTION IN THE SITUATION. TO RECOGNIZE SUCH NEED IS IN LINE WITH THE WAR EFFORT OF CANADA, WHICH FOR MAXIMUM EFFECTIVENESS REQUIRES THAT AGRICULTURE BE KEPT FUNCTIONING EFFICIENTLY NOT ONLY TO STRENGTHEN THE CANADIAN ECONOMY BUT ALSO TO INSURE THE MAXIMUM PRODUCTION OF FOOD FOR SUPPLYING GREAT BRITAIN."

United Grain Growers Ltd.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By R. G. L. Strange, Director "The Crop Testing Plan."

The U.S.A. Government believes that the purchasing power of any agricultural product should be the same as it had in 1913-1914. This purchasing power they call "parity." In Canada today the wages of industrial workers average 27 per cent ABOVE each 1913-1914 parity. The prices of sheep in 11 per cent ABOVE parity, of hogs 17 per cent ABOVE parity, butcher steers 14 per cent BELOW parity, and the price of wheat at Ft acents Port William is 46 per cent BELOW each parity. The price of American wheat at Chicago $1.18 is about at "parity."

It is evident, therefore, that industrial workers and the farmers who are producing mainly livestock products are not badly off as compared with 1913-1914, but the Canadian farmer who grows mainly spring wheat for a living is most certainly in a bad way, for in addition to this serious handicap of low price, the wheat grower's income is still further decreased by the Government's reduction of the amount of wheat the grower can sell. The wheat grower, therefore, certainly deserves the most sympathetic consideration and active assistance of the Dominion Government. Considering the great military value of our wheat export, I often think that none have done more for this war nor received so little for their services as our wheat growers.

being spent on the highways, now are making an insistent call for this situation to be remedied. They demand that these motor revenues be earmarked for roads, as it is called that Alberta needs a genuine mileage of hard surfaced highway, and surfacing of this type should be of a type that will stand up without necessity of maintenance from year to year.

Birds That Attack Aeroplanes

(By J. Wentworth Day in "London Calling")

After twenty years of intensive development of civil aviation, culminating last year in the British skies becoming a vast aerial battleground, birds are rather less perturbed by aircraft than they are by the sight of a man with a gun. Indeed, some of them have actually attacked aircraft and brought them down, which is more than any bird has ever done to a man with a gun —if we except the rare instances of sportsmen being downed by falling birds.

Plainly, they have come to accept aircraft merely as a noisy metter one of the skies: something which, since it has never harmed them, is not to be feared.

The behavior of the gulls at Dunbeg during the height of the battle of last autumn was most Dismaying. High-flying aircraft they left them. Nor did the regular passage of bombers and fighters over Prance But when the big air battle developed and the anti-aircraft batteries came into play, the gulls rose in confused, indignant crowds and left the estuary, and the sea for the peace of inland plough.

The pains fort is that birds regard offensive but final victory or disaster will rest on the skill, spirit and battle-hit. He is always ready to rallying up behind them. That is simply because no battle is won until defeat and has been established and until all counter-attacks are beaten off — by the infantry. In defensive operations, the loose will be also decided by the infantry. And contrary to the usual opinion, and to the arguments of many arm-chair tacticians, the modern Canadian "ordinary" division, as armed and equipped is perfectly capable of defeating German tank attack.

That assertion will not find its proof until the Canadian Corps is in action. But in the meantime no proof is required for the statement that it is the infantryman who will take the brunt of the fighting, the toil and the casualties. The second, seven and, more —in the battles of decision. He should also have the honour.

Government of Alberta Agricultural Report

Final Report

For period ending September 15th, 1941 Issued by the direction of Hon. D. B. MacMillan, Minister of Agriculture

General: Harvesting has been delayed throughout the Province by wet weather. In Census Division 1, 2, 4, 5 and the northern part of the Province a lowering of grades has been reported due to sprouting in the stook and shrinking. If wet weather continues, further damage may be expected.

Cutting is practically completed, although one district reports 75 per cent of coarse grains are still standing and in Census Division 5, considerable soft wheat crop is still in the boost half finished. Threshing is nearly completed in the south and east of the Province but varies from "just beginning" in the north and Peace River districts to 20-30 per cent completed elsewhere.

Yields are disappointing and threshing returns indicate that a below average yield per acre will be obtained. Reports have been lowered due to wet weather. Frosts have occurred in several districts and have resulted in sprouting, rather than high average production. Both commercial and domestic potatoes are a poor crop. On October 15 and 16 beekeepers of the province will meet their annual convention in Calgary.

Antelope may again be hunted in Alberta, this fall during a short season set by the Game Branch of the Department of Lands and Mines. Shooting may start October 20 and continue to November 1. The bag limit is two animals, either male or female. Special licenses must be obtained. They cost $5 for a resident and $15 for a non-resident of the Province. No small-bore guns or shotguns may be used.

V V V

Full co-operation of Alberta's Prize Parade Board, headed by W. D. King, Deputy Minister of Trade and Industry, was offered the war time prices and trade board. The offer was made following a resolution declined for the main trade channels of Alberta, passed by a recent meeting at Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge and federal government men now declare that they may be given authority to act under provincial regulations. About 30 per cent of the potatoes marketed in Alberta pass through the three inspection zones.

Rent control becomes effective at five Alberta points, including Edmonton, on October 1. Other points are Red Deer, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and Canmore. Already some rent control are Calgary and Canmore. The central extends to domestic rents only, and the basic rate for each rental is not at that prevailing January 1, 1941.

Edmonton, September 29— Hint of a government move to bring about reduction in the cost of whole farm machines was given by Premier Aberhart at an Edmonton meeting this week. Britain Learns To Eat Sensibly

BY VICTORIA CHAPPELLE ...

It has taken a war to make the British people eat sensibly. Dieticians and doctors had warned for years that the national diet contained too much meat and too few properly-cooked vegetables, too much white bread and too few salads.

Then Hitler intervened, and to-day the entire nation is being fed on a basis which is no near scientific as makes no odds.

Meat is cut to a minimum, but that loss can be made good by eating fish rich in fats, such as herrings. Vegetables—which are being grown by everyone who owns even the smallest patch of ground—have been popularized by skilful Government advice on various ways of cooking them.

The sale of natural wholewood bread containing 100 per cent. of the wheat germ, is going up rapidly. Purchasers have become a great fruit-eating country, owing mainly to the introduction of cheap fruit from the Dominions and the Colonies.

One of the discoveries of war-time Britain is the carrot.

In peace-time something of a Cinderella among root vegetables, it was found during the first winter to cure night-blindness—one of the discoveries of the blast-out. From that moment, it bcame to be popular.

Doctors believe that its use has had a good deal to do with the nation's high standard of health since the war began. In addition to its high content of vitamin A it contains an enormous amount of sugar. Moreover, the green tops are rich in the anti-scurvy vitamin C.

By virtue of all this, carrots are now being used for salads, sandwiches, and sweet puddings. Washed and grated, they are even bought by children in the shelters instead of sweets.

To children are all the better for their new diet, especially perhaps for the lack of ordinary sweetstuffs.

● Things are happening where Jim is . . . in the navy . . . things Jim is not allowed to write about. If Jim could write what he would like to write, we at home might be more concerned about the war. Jim says "everything's O.K." and that's what we expect from fellows like Jim . . . but things aren't O.K. or Jim would be back home at his regular job. We've got to do our part, too. One thing we can do is lend our money to pay for the war. We've got to see to it that the men in the services get the ships and guns and tanks and planes they need to do their job. War Savings Certificates help to provide that money. We must all buy more War Savings Certificates.

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless, selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

GOOD HIGHWAYS For ALBERTA

If all money from motor taxes is used for road purposes there will be ample funds to build and maintain a satisfactory system of market roads, and also to improve all main highways.

The province is in a hopeless position to ask for a federal aid towards road improvement in the province so long as it is itself diverting to other purposes taxes paid by motorists of the province for road purposes.

A united effort now by citizens, farmers, motorists and the general public of the province, can stop this unsound practice and can insure that at least all the motor taxes raised be expended on the roads of the province.

You are asked to approach your local M.L.A. and to join in pressing for this very necessary reform.

BARDO

An event of unusual interest to this community took place at the Bardo Mennonite Church Sunday evening. The three daughters of Mrs. Valentine Kein and the late Mr. V. Kein exchanged their marriage vows at a triple ceremony. Mattie, the eldest daughter was united in marriage to Edwin Zeiler of Lake Isabella, third daughter, exchanged the marriage vows with Melvin Lohnson of Annuk Creek district.

The three brides were dressed in similar creams of white taffeta and were unattended. Two of the grooms are brothers while Melvin Lessman is a cousin of the brothers.

Bishop Stauffer performed the ceremony before an audience that packed the church. The brides have lived in this community all their lives and attended the Bardo school. Miss Martha is a teacher and has a school in the Onoka district. A reception for everyone will be held this Friday night at the home of Mrs. V. Kein.

Thursday has also been a busy day for a baby of three weeks.

Amerose Hilsroad as Lawrence, Wash., has been visiting on the district.

Bert—Tu—Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hagen on September 23, a daughter.

Donna Mae, at the Local Anes hospital, Edmonton.

The sympathy of the community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hagen in the passing away of their little daughter on September 25th, at the age of one day.

Little Donna Mae was laid to rest in the family plot at the Bardo cemetery on September 27th. Rev. Sullivan of Camrose officiated, and four little girls were pallbearers.

Otto Johanson has returned home from Vancouver where he has been employed in the fishing industry.

Fred Steen left last week for Vancouver, where he has been employed in the fishing industry.

Ivar Olsen has purchased a 1927 Chev. coach from a party at Holden.

G. Johanson has purchased a 1929 Pontiac sedan.

A. C.L.B.I. group from Camrose gave a program at the church Sunday.

Muriel Ness commenced her teaching duties at the Ingman school and Mrs. Myrtle Bjornson at a school south of Ryley last week.

Mrs. Joe Stauffer entertained the Bardo Ladies' Aid, at her home last Thursday.

Mrs. Barbro Fineth celebrated her 36th birthday September 19th.

Mrs. Martha Hagen is ill, we hope she will soon recover.

Reuben Roth and Dan Stalter who have recently had auction sales are planning to leave for the U.S.A. to make their future homes. Good luck to you folks.

Mrs. Barbara Stauffer, who broke her leg some time ago is now back at the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. D Stalter She is not as well as her friends had hoped she would be now.

Anna Jewing from Victoria B.C. who has been visiting relatives and friends, left Saturday morning to visit Mrs. Raymond Jensen at Prescott, Alta., over the week end. She is returning to the coast this week.

MINESTIK

The concert and sale of work held at the Hall last Friday evening in aid of the church was a great success, both in attendance and financially. Thirty-five dollars was handed to Mr. Layton for the church. Those who were pleased to see Rev. Allen and family present.

Mrs. McIntosh read an address of appreciation for the good work done by Mr. Layton this summer. He was presented with a blanket from the ladies.

What might have been a terrible tragedy was prevented last Tuesday when Mr. Flowers was getting his threshing outfit ready to start, he found two sticks of dynamite in the separator. The police are working on the case.

Mr. and Mrs. J Baumgartner and party left last Sunday for Copper Mountain after being here on a holiday for the past three weeks.

The builders are busy in this district. Mr. Stevens and H. Hovland are putting up new houses. Mr. Jack Reddick intends to build in the near future.

Miss Burger (the teacher) was interviewed by me that is interested in Cadet work. He would like to get a Cadet Corps started in this district. What do you think of it hope?

Your writer visited Mr. T. Waterer, last week. He is doing fine after his operation.

We are pleased to hear that Mrs. Bert Williams is improving and we hope to see her home from the hospital soon.

LINDBROOK

Despite the wet weather, snow and muddy roads here, a few parties and a dance have been held. Threshing is at a standstill and no fall plowing much is done owing to the ploughs being still there, also prohibiting the livestock from enjoying their autumnal gorge on the stubble, and don't they know it too.

On Friday evening, 19th of Sept., a birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Kortmann here, in honor of Mrs. Kortmann's birthday. Guests were present from Edmonton and various other points, and together with local friends all enjoyed a wonderful party. Many Happy returns of the day, Mrs. Frank from all your friends of the district.

A farewell party in honor of Mr. Leon Chisholm, for many years a resident of the district, and who is now leaving to make his home in B.C. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schmalzbauer on the 19th inst. A splendid fowl feed out, but a sudden rainstorm kept others from getting there. Everyone present enjoyed themselves and all left to join in wishing our old friend the best of luck and success.

A dance was held Friday night at the Hall and quite a large turnout was present. The members from Edmonton supplied excellent music and some very commendable dancing marks we e heard in regard to it. The proceeds went to the Hall Board's fund, so we hope they had a good example. Ever, one reports it a d—— success.

The ducks have been getting it "in the neck" this week around here, both from the gun and the hawks, and several good bags have been reported.

Mr. Jos. Bruegginhs has installed a new Delco lighting plant in his store here, and now the "corner" of Lindbrook fairly beams, all we await now is a Neon S gn and traffic lights and we'll dub it "Great White way" of our own here. Gets more like Nos York every evening.

HASTINGS LAKE

The Glades family had some friends and relatives visiting them over the week end.

The Armstrong family were also invited to "company" over the week end.

Alex Donald has completed the job of ploughing at the school. Alex has Adolph Campion jr., helping for a day.

Mrs. P. Donald visited with Mrs. A Donald over the week end.

Frank Donald's family was able to cut his grain this week.

Members of the Hoover family attended the service conducted by Mr. Layton at Minstik on Sunday. They also visited Edmonton early in the week.

The Communion Service will be held in the evening at Tofield.

The Voss Washing Machine
The VOSS WASHING MACHINE, either electric or gasolene engine, is really the latest word in domestic washing machine construction. Its floating agitator forces the water through the clothes hundreds of times per minute and the clothes come out brighter and cleaner than from the ordinary power washer.
The "Electro-Safe" wringer responds instantly at the touch of a finger—and quickly, too. Should mishap occur the slightest touch on a full width bar releases the rollers and stops the motor.
Be sure and see this VOSS WASHER. Models now on display on our floor. Easy terms and trade-ins.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the many expressions of help and sympathy and also for the floral tributes received in our recent bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Burnstad.

CARD OF THANKS

For and on behalf of the Tofield Branch of the Canadian Legion, I wish to express our sincere appreciation of the generous support given by the citizens of Tofield and district to the Legion Whist Drive held on Friday evening, September 26th, in the Tofield Hall. Also to the ladies who so kindly donated prizes and to those who assisted in any way to make the evening a success.

Yours sincerely,
Secretary, Tofield Branch, Canadian Legion.

WEDDING

The marriage took place on August 30th, at All Saints Catholic Church, Ostod, of Miss M. A. O'Reilly, eldest daughter of Mr. J. O'Reilly of County Meath, Ireland, to Tpr. C. H. Roberge, a member of the Canadian Force, son of Mrs. W. Roberge, and the late Mr. W. Roberge of Tofield, Alberta, Canada.

The Rev. Canon Brown officiated. The bride Miss O'Reilly looked lovely satin with a veil of real Irish lace, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. She was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. R. Higgs, with whom she has made her home at the "Green", Tolefield. She was attended by Miss H. Tapsell, who wore a blue silk dress. Sergt. Roberts of the bridegroom's regiment was best man.

A reception was held at the residence of Mrs. Thompson, Porta Wood-road. The happy couple were the recipients of many useful gifts from friends of Tolefield.

Miss Lorette Rose visited home folk in St. Albert over the week end.

L. C. C. NEWS

The regular meeting of the L.C.C. was held at the home of Mrs. A. Gill on September 24th. There were ten members and two visitors present, the visitors being Mrs. A. Gill and Mrs. Kitchen. The roll call was answered with apple recipes. A gift of five dollars to the club from Mr. Finley was thankfully received and will be used for more cigarettes for the overseas boys.

Miss Gill and Mrs. Bailey are on the committee to visit the sick this month. Two sessions were put on by Mrs. Smith, Ilsing won by Mrs. Hurdon and Mrs. Bailey.

The club members will be the guests of Mrs. Kitchen at the next meeting, everybody to appear in Hallowe'en costumes. The afternoon was brought to a close by a delicious lunch served by the hostess.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks for the many expressions of practical help and sympathy, during our recent sad bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McHeffey, and family.

War Savings Certificates and the Farmer
The income of the average farmer is rarely ever stable. With price fluctuations and crop hazards continually to be faced, how much money will be received from month to month is often a mere guess. It is rarely more than was needed for or expected and oftimes less. But farmers do handle money, otherwise it would be very poor packings for the rest of the community.
The war savings committee at Ottawa are requesting provincial committees and local committees to put forth a special effort this fall to increase the sale of war savings certificates. Every class of earning capacity is being approached, industrial, agricultural and the honored and now vacuous in-between. It is a call to the people of Canada.
For each separate class, arrangements have been made so that the purchase of war savings certificates may be made easily. Among industrial plants, the employer of the staff may arrange for regular deductions taken from the pay cheque To make it easy for farmers to purchase, agricultural firms have been approached, with their representatives as elevator agent, a creamery manager or cheese factory operator. Every dollar so spent will be a weight of Canadian dollars from the amount due the farmer, and in due course a War Savings Certificate or Certificates will arrive in the farmer's mail.
This paper goes into farm homes almost exclusively. To the dividend of the eight hundred or more homes into which it goes, we feel safe in saying that every subscriber is a War Savings Certificate holder. Others are asking or expecting Alberta farmers to do the following. But we also feel safe in saying that a few War Savings Certificates tucked away will create a comfortable feeling of satisfaction.
Purchasing-agents, bankers, storekeepers and others are glad to advise you how to purchase, if you are not sure. Where there is a desire and willingness to purchase — and the rest is easy.

Airmen Attend Last Rites Of LAC McAuley

As training aircraft roared overhead, military funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon for LAC. Kenneth McAuley, 20, of Tofield, who was killed at McLeod, last Wednesday when struck by a train.

The services were conducted from Anderson's funeral home to Cemetery, Rev. J. Gordon Brown, R.C.A.F padre. Interment was made in the air force plot in the Edmonton cemetery. The service was attended by members of the R.C.A.F. in training here, representatives of the No. 7 S.F.T.S. at McLeod, and many citizens of Edmonton and district.

Pall-bearers, all from No. 4 S.F.T.S. in Edmonton were: LAC. W. C. Watt, LAC. R. R. Weaver, LAC. J. K. Saunders, LAC. A. F. Wright, LAC. H. B. Minnis and LAC. R. W. Webster.

The training school also provided an escort party, an attendance party and trumpeter. Officer in command was, P/O. W. F. Sweet.

Remains were borne from the funeral chapel to the cemetery by an R.C.A.F. tender. The cortege consisted of the trumpet party, the air force escort with full honors marching slowly on each side, the attending party, chief mourners and the public.

Mr. C. Ingram Passes To Her Reward

Mrs. Emma Beatrice Ingram, wife of Chas. Ingram, died at her home in Tofield on Monday, September 29th, after a long illness. Deceased was born 63 years ago in Ontario and came to Alberta 40 years ago. She was married to Mr. Ingram 42 years ago and they have lived in Tofield, where they were highly respected by all who knew them. She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, two brothers, Geo. Mollies, Lacombe, and Jonas Mollies, Calgary; two sisters, Mrs. Harrison of Seattle and Mrs. Carter, Idaho. Interment was made in the Tofield cemetery, Tofield, Thursday, October 9th at 2:30.

RED CROSS SPECIAL

By Garry Allchorn

London, Oct. 6— It is officially announced there are nearly 50,000 persons here still undergoing medical treatment for injuries received in enemy air attacks. Between raids and blitzing, whose sonorous reappearance has become a commonplace, the services and resources of the Canadian Red Cross at a consistent and persistent high level.

When each disaster drops into the calm, normal existence it is experience so violent that the work of repair is only for skilled medical and surgical experts. But there are exceptions.

Mrs. Hilda Hunter says it was Hitler who first saved her luxuriable paralysis. She had been confined to bed at her home in south Wales for four years and was given up by nine doctors. When Swansea was bombed, a high explosive missile fell by her street, causing great destruction. It blew Mrs. Hunter such a shock she jumped out of bed and down the stairs. Her husband thought he saw a ghost walking. Ten minutes later both were having a cup of tea at a safe distance and here by the Welsh Canadian club.

New Surgical Chapter

That is a beginning for which the Red Cross cannot claim credit, but it can for hundreds of others. A few days ago, Mrs. Sybil Anstey, young mother was taken to a special hospital where her home in Tofield. Stricken when her home at Margate was bombed. Surgical skill from across the Atlantic saved her life and a new medical science there yesterday.

Steel pins were implanted on each side of the fracture inside her jaw, and from each chromium fasteners. This new treatment, almost painless, will make it possible for Mrs. Austin to leave bed and undertake light household duties while the fracture is setting.

Canadians Save Thousands

But there is a great deal of hasty surgery done by Red Cross nurses and doctors amid ruins and rubble. Sometimes while bombs still fall. Often there is no time for hospital operating rooms or careful examination. These Canadians, inheriting resource from their country and their forefathers, must diagnose in split seconds and operate with whatever instruments are along or what can be devised

And over and over again they do it, marvellously snatching from death hundreds for whom onlookers hold not the slightest hope.

"The Only Thing That Matters To Free Men . . ."

Editorial from Liberty Magazine August 9th, 1941

The one vital issue that faces every one of us today is so new to it that when this war is over we shall live in a free world in the years just past, freedom has become a vastly precious treasure. In these years, or so all the continent of America, the flickering lamps of freedom have been going out. Half a world has fallen under the shadow of a perverse and vicious doctrine where freedom cannot live. Men who were free have become puppets of gangster masters.

Today, we who have lived in free doom in more kindly times must face the challenge of this darkening world and determine whether any other good that a man could find for himself could be worth while if freedom were lost to him. We have to determine in the light of that issue and whether any consideration of present advantage that might accrue to ourselves, whether as individuals, as social groups, or as political organizations, can be justified if we jeopardize that future

In some parts of our democratic world people are sharing their goods, their residents and their lives; but in other parts the "haves" still cling to their established prerogatives, and the "have-nots", remembering some bitter days not so long past, are seeking in an emergency the promise of advantage to themselves.

We confidently believe that, should Canadians be called upon to face some dreadful happening, they would meet it with the same stout courage that has marked the people of Britain. Perhaps there will be little chance for many of us to show our mettle. Perhaps the only emergency we will be called upon to face is a life shorn of the bread margins to which we have grown accustomed. Today, little sacrifices challenge our easy ways and find us half resentful. We have not taken kindly to the suggestion of voluntary restrictions on the sale of gasoline. Since the war began, the citizens of our sister Dominion of New Zealand have been restricted to 150 miles of pleasure travel per month. We are told that coal were free have become puppets of were to be scarce, and we grumble at the hardship. We forget that many of our race have neither coal nor homes. British hatred breeds not something of antagonism we have been speaking of the possibility of conscription. British and other countries of our democratic world conscripted their men power months ago. We speak of the magnitude of our war effort, but there are already overseas half again as many Australians as there are Canadians.

The reverse of our attitude is that we have not yet fully realized that this is a personalized war. It is not a war of kings and prime ministers and rulers. It is the war of the common man. They are the liberties, that are struggled a thousand years to gain, that are now at stake. What will it profit us to spare ourselves some monetary hardship or to abhorrence some present advantage if in doing so, we lose the heritage for our past? It is our devotion, our effort, our sacrifice that will win this war, or, failing that, it is our short, shameful defeat that will lose it.

This country has been good to us. We have lived well in it. We know that in no way of freedom lay of us all things that we hold most dear. There are no personal rights that hold precedence over our country's rights. There are no political considerations that are more important than the maintenance of its ways. There is no sacrifice too great to make for its security.

If we are not prepared for sacrifice, then we cannot expect if our future is under that same dark shadow that broods over Europe. If we are ready to give all, for even though we may suffer many privations, we will receive the reward in order which we may rebuild our world.

Premier Menzies of Australia, standing before the Canadian Parliament, spoke words that may well find an echo in every Canadian heart. Talking of the new world that may spring from the ashes of the old, he said:

"What does it matter if we cease into that world then? What does it matter if we come into that world with lower standards of living and living than we have now? What does it matter if, in that world, the rich are not so rich? What does it matter if, in the last resort, the business of statesmanship is that we shall become the business of sharing justly a new and honourable poverty? These things do not matter. The only thing that matters to free men is that the policies under which they live shall be the policies which they themselves have devised as the representatives of their own people."

Signed, Joseph Lister Rutledge. Reverend for Distribution by Alberta Wheat Pool.

Youth Training

During the last four years thousands of young men and women in all the provinces have had an opportunity to take special courses of training which have been arranged through the Dominion-provincial youth training programme. The programme will again operate this fall and winter, when similar courses will be held at rural centres in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The youth training programme is financed jointly by the Dominion and Provincial Governments. Details of organization and arrangements for instruction are left to the Provincial authorities. Because of this, the programme is flexible and can be adapted from time to time to meet the needs and objective in the same time, to provide an opportunity for worthy and needy rural young men and women between the ages of about 16 and 30 years to attend courses of the kind mentioned above, in or near their own communities. The first schools of the season generally commence about November 1st. Applications for courses must be sent in by 15 communities interested. Before any application can be filed, however, preliminary organization work must be done. Details of the authorities can be secured of a certain minimum attendance, and a suitable building in which to conduct the course.

Applications for courses in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta should be sent in and more complete details of the courses offered and the arrangements which are to be made by the local community may be secured from Director, Extension Service Division, Department of Agriculture, Regina; Director Department of Extension, University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, Director Department of Extension, University of Alberta, Edmonton.

Circus Animals Under The Hammer

Bulletin From Britain

A circus, owing to wartime horrestments, is forced to dispose of a mother lion and three cubs . . . A elephant wants to buy a young lion but not "too young" . . . A purchaser must be found for a gaudy and talkative parrot. Such are some of the abnormal problems of a nation at war.

It is difficult for a political democracy to be ready at all times for war; as well as very upsetting and expensive when a nation which has been both hopeful and planning for peace suddenly is plunged into war, myriad problems arise, many of them amusing as well as important. This importance, however, is relative.

Amongst the problems that have had to be faced are those which involve the animals at the London Zoo and Whipsnade. In the past two years the difficulties there have attracted widespread attention, as most of the literate and free world knows that the Zoo denizens are raised and trained.

Many animals were sent as temporary guests during the course of an auction sale of the world-famed Sanger Circus.

The elephant Annie, aged 50, weighing four tons, brought $210 from a Manchester zoo where she will give rides to children. Another elephant, Alice, weighing 3½ tons and therefore eating much less—brought nearly $300, she went to another circus. As sales were completed Annie and Alice trumpeted and pranced in resentment at their removal.

Farmers bought 18 performing cream ponies for light field work. When brought out on exhibition the ponies indulged in many amusing tricks performance and made the customary bow to the spectators.

There was unusually an-mated bidding for the gaudiest parrot in the circus, which eventually went to a bird fancier for $140. The man who purchased the parrot asked just before the completion of the auction whether the bird could talk. The auctioneer replied:

"Yes—but he can. He's been bidding against you for twenty minutes."

There was one unusually reverend individual in the auction crowd: Chaplain George Key of the King's Own Royals. This British regiment has been stationed as a cap badge and is the only regiment in the army list permitted to have a live lion as its mascot. The regiment is still at present encorporated. The K.O.R. officers, ahead of time, as November 1st, subscribed $240 and deputized the Chaplain to obtain a lion at a bargain price. Key surprised that the three cubs offered for sale by the Rangers were too young for separation from their mother and, as he was empowered to take only one on regimental strength, the Aberdare Zoo is to another buyer for $100. Key could not let his associates be disappointed so he appealed to a circus owner attending the auction and this man raised the price. He offered, and got, a three-months-old cub from his menagerie, when it was old enough to leave the parent.

Footnote: the sale attracted 2,000 people, including the Aberdare Zoo chief in a Tartan shirt who bought nothing.

The Care of Fall Pigs

(Experimental Farms News)

Growing hogs require liberal amounts of minerals to assure the proper development of their bones, and the rays of the sun promotes the assimilation of such substances. If young pars are not exposed to the sun's rays, it is necessary to feed substitutes such as cod liver or pilchard oil that will have the same effect. Therefore, in order to economize, fall farrowed pigs should be turned out for a while each bright day as long as the weather permits, says M. J. McPhail, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Melfort, Sask. By so doing, they may be developed successfully until about Christmas, when each should be given a tablespoon of oil once a day. Their improved health and development will far more than pay for the cost of the oil.

Suckling pigs often suffer from the lack of iron. The mother's milk never contains a high percentage of this mineral and if she is raising a large litter, the supply of iron she contains are likely to appear in the young before they start eating grain. All this condition cannot be corrected by feeding iron. It is necessary to give the extra iron to the young pigs. Mr. Mc. Phail, when carrying out the experiments, the little ones may be given a small amount of soil from the pasture field. A piece of sod three times a week should prove sufficient iron supply.

Some feeders may prefer to purchase reduced iron and supply it direct to the pigs. If this method is followed, three doses should be administered at weekly intervals, commencing when they are not more than a week old. The amount that can be held on a small five cent piece is a suitable dose for each pig, and the iron should be placed well back on the tongue.

Lack of iron has caused very great loss to swine breeders, and it is useful to see that it is supplied to all suckling hogs in some form.

Wintering Farm Cattle

In North Eastern Saskatchewan cattle are commonly stabled at night and turned out to feed at straw stacks during the day. Under these conditions, it is essential that the barn be free of drafts and that the atmosphere be dry. Cattle barns should not be unduly warm, as the animals have no extra covering when outside and if they are inclined to sweat at night, the sudden change in temperature when turned out will act as a severe check, says M. J. McPhail, Dominion Experimental Station, Melfort, Sask.

With the feeds available on most farms, it is difficult to keep the bowels of the cattle sufficiently loose in winter. Plenty of water will tend to overcome this difficulty and by taking the chill off through using a tank heater, the animals will drink more. Furthermore, cold water will chill them and more feed will be required to keep them up in condition. They should of course, have access to salt at all times as their systems require it and at the same time salt whets their appetite for water.

Cattle often develop sores at the base of their tongues and this is more likely to happen when feeding barley straw or hay containing skunk grass. When this trouble does occur, the animals will show signs of having difficulty in swallowing In order to remedy the trouble, the animal should be held by the nostrils with one hand (being careful not to close off its breath) and while the tongue is pulled well out with the other An assistant may then remove all the hoards and foreign matter from the base of the tongue and apply caustic This treatment should be repeated once a week until the sores have healed

For about Christmas, the lice on cattle are likely to have become so numerous that they will be a definite worry to the animals A cheap and effective louse powder may be prepared by mixing sulphur and powdered grey hellebore in equal parts, by bulk The powder should be sprinkled on the back, around the neck and under the tail once a week. A bathing powder can with the top perforated, makes a very suitable sprinkler.

Only sedated salt should be used for five stock and the importance of feeding and watering at a set time cannot be over emphasized

LINDBROOK

Mr. Ware was elected to hear of his sister, Mrs. Cornell, of Grand Lake, Saturday afternoon, R.C.A.F., and has completed all the arrangements with the undertaker, Mr. Murray, who has charge, and assures us practically all will be well. We can do no more for us with the living.

Just as a finish up on the high days, weeks and sometimes days this one unusual Saturday night, Sunday no one was badly hurt, but both cars were in bad enough shape for the occasion. This somewhat business here seems to be a regular thing now Maybe the curves and hills but more likely fast driving and poor lights.

Mrs. H. Burton paid a visit to the city this week. This is unusual, so we mention the fact.

We hear nowadays of "waves of unrest in Europe" and "waves of sentiment in the Balkans" without a few of the wavelets of our own in this country side of sorts; not that ours are at all subversive in character and certainly will not lead to bombings etc. In fact nonsense. We have a wonderful harvest weather after a prolonged rain, and also the delivery of most of the beans for whom acreage reduction, after being secured it was only a matter of days, it turns into months and maybe years. To judge from talks on this subject by those concerned, it seems that quite a few banked on that as their own over a poor crop or failure of this year's crop, in fact in lots of cases it was earmarked to pay off certain bills, taxes, payments, etc., and it hasn't matured as yet. So as the farmer put it "well, if they (the govt.) don't pay me, I don't pay them," whether he went taxes or otherwise we don't know. Anyway, it seems a do-good nurse for non-payments and will take some talking down. As it stands, it is, to put it plain "if the government don't pay, why should I?" Of course one would have to eventually with the "beauties of harvest" attached. Which by the way, the government does not pay.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Helgaland of Hodds visited Mrs. E. W. Hooper on Sunday.

Mr. F. Wood has been quite strongly in last week First this later, by getting an old cement work down on the basement of his new house before the frosts up. It will now allow to dry out nicely now, and not sour, no mould, we would say for him as his new situation appears on the landscape.

Messrs. A. J. Brown and Isaac of Edmonton visited the Hooper family this week.

Mr. Ralph Hartman a home from Southern Alberta where he has been working this summer.

Mr. Leslie Baird is home from Army service for a while.

Messrs. R. Scott and H. Logan were home for the week end from Edmonton, where they are attending Trades School for mechanics.

The district loses by death in an Edmonton hospital one of its pioneers in the person of Mr. Fred Dunn. Deceased was somewhat of a recluse and has been neighbours, Mr. and Mrs. J. Limberg were at last week in touch with him. Some time ago week two of Mr. Limberg's youngsters went over to see him and found Mr. Dunn in bed with fever and chills. They sent word to the effect of their father, who immediately got in touch with Councillor P. Kortzman, who made arrangements and had him taken to hospital. He is survived by one brother, Mr. Bert Dunn of Deville.

HAY LAKES

(Correspondent: Canadian)

MR. GALLOP HANSON

Previous to the sight of the Lord to the south of his cousin"—Psalm 116:15.

Mr. Halvor Andreas Hanson was born in Helgeland, Norway, April 3, 1870. There he was baptized, confirmed and grew to manhood within the Lutheran church. On November 9th, 1903 he was married to Johannah Marie Swann in Norway. In 1903 the young couple emigrated to Alberta and Mr. Hanson filled on a homestead in the Hay Lakes district. Here they resided ever since.

The Hansons are among the very earliest settlers in this community. Being a builder, Mr. Hanson was instrumental in building up the new settlement. He was also a good singer and given to much reading and writing. He delighted in contributing to various newspaper articles.

He leaves his wife and seven children, Oliver, Aslaug, Albert, Theodore, Jennie, Hilda and Helena. Three girls died in infancy. Mr. Hanson had only one grandchild, Owen Hanson. He has a brother, Hendrik, living in Norway.

Mr. Hanson's health has been failing for many years. He passed away Wednesday, Oct 1st, at 4:15 a.m.

Mr. Hanson's funeral took place at Hay Lakes Lutheran church on Saturday afternoon. Many friends gathered. A quartette sang two appropriate numbers and Pastor Rude spoke of comfort in Scriptural and English.

He was laid to rest in St. Joseph's cemetery two miles north west of the church. Many of his friends expressed their sympathy by memorial offerings to various branches of church activity and charity. To Carmen Lutheran College—Anne and Bill Swan and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. Perager, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Swann and family, Vernon Theodson and family, Hans Swann and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. Rogers Family Enjoy Thanksgiving Reunion

Happy Dinner Party at Earle Wilson Home

It was a real Thanksgiving for the Rogers family this year, for after many years of separation, all the members of the family were together once more. Brothers and sister of Mr. Asa Rogers of Tofield, the family (listed as follows: Mrs. M. E. Franklin of Kelso, Sask.; Mr. Samuel Rogers of Waseca, Sask.; Mr. Silas Rogers, of Walker, Sask.; Mr. Job Rogers of Eleen, Ont.; and Mr. Aaron Rogers of Dauphin Man.; Alberta. Aaron and Job had been here for several days, and Mrs. Franklin, Samuel and Silas arrived Friday, October 10th. All members of the family were look back on many years of happy life, the combined ages of them all being 422 years. The family was raised in County Wellington, their grandparents coming from Vermont, U.S.A., in 1788, settling in York, Ont., which is now Toronto.

On Sunday a reunion Thanksgiving dinner in which all five brothers and sister, together with Mrs. Aaron Rogers, participated, was held at the other home of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Wilson.

The dinner was planned by Mrs. Franklin and followed the pattern of meals their mother cooked. The five Roger boys voted thanks to their sister for her thoughtfulness. The Misses Maxine Rogers, Corine Wilson, Phyllis Brown and Lois Wilson, all grand-daughters of Mr. Asa Rogers, served at the table.

All joined in appreciation of the C.N.R. in stopping their through train at Tofield in order to give the three Saskatchewan members of the family an extra day on their Thanksgiving excursion.

War Savings Certificates
A Stake In The Country

Quite a number of years ago, even before the 1914-18 conflict and certainly before such things as depressions, whoot surpisses and other ills came to bother us, men were pouring into this country by thousands—yes, tens of thousands. On railroads, hastily constructed, and just as hastily equipped, newcomers arrived. Frankly, cans seated cars with their coal and wood burning heater in the corner carried many an adventurous spirit, "out west," and in the tourist cars it seemed as if the conductor always chose a time when you were sleeping soundly to awaken you in order to inspect and punch your ticket. One heard in these days quite a number of different ideas and plans for the future, but one of the most frequently expressed desires was to "get a stake in the country."

Quite a great many happenings of vital importance to all of us have happened since those days. War and peace and war again has been our life's portion, but through it all, that "stake in the country" idea has stuck. Farmers, business men, miners, in fact all classes of society have been proud to own something personal property.

Today Canada is urgently calling upon its citizens to increase its "stake in the country" by buying War Savings Certificates. If in those days of long ago, the dollars didn't have up to buy them, the urgent need now is for national safety. There is personal profit of course — but it is for your rights and those of your children. Can Government needs a large sum of money to protect Canada, and Canadians, to make you address! Save up to buy War Savings Certificates regularly, you are really getting a "stake in the country." One that will help to protect the investment which you may already have and one that will mark you as a true Canadian.

This October, westerners are being urged to buy War Savings Certificates wherever possible. Banks, insurance companies, grocery, crockery managers, can be of assistance to you if you ask them.

ADULT EDUCATION CLASSES CONSIDERED

A start in the field of adult education may be made in Tofield during the winter months. At present plans which are still in the very early stage, include a course in the five basics of the Holden Inspectorate, including Books, Hobby, Relay, Tofield and Viking. The school board in each centre would be asked to allow the use of school facilities, the provision of a teaching staff to be arranged for.

Courses which will be flexible, may include citizenship, community singing, lectures on various subjects, English, home economics, shop, dramatics, typewriting, physical education. One evening a week is suggested, classes to commence in November and run for 15 weeks. A small fee will be charged.

The Tofield School Board has signified their willingness to allow the use of the school for the purpose.

Will those interested, please notify Mr. J. R. Stinson, Tofield.

Further information will be published in this paper when available.

Golden Weddings Celebrated at Bardo and Lakeshore

LAKESHORE

On October 12, 1891, Miss Addie Ferguson and Mr. T. William Ferguson both of Grandy, Quebec, were married at Grandy by the Rev. Hindley, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson came to C. J. Rude on their 50th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs Rude came to this district in 1909, taking up a homestead and settled in the immediate vicinity. On Monday, the children and 39 of the 34 grandchildren met with Mr and Mrs. Ferguson, on the occasion of their golden wedding, to have dinner with them. They must have been a real day of thanksgiving for the family In the afternoon Mr and Mrs. Ferguson were at home to friends and a large number took the opportunity to call to extend personally their congratulations and good wishes to this esteemed people. Mr. T. R. Murray, with a few well chosen words, presented Mr. Ferguson with a lamp and a purse and flowers from the neighbors. As one saw the family gathered at their old home busy boosting their father and mother and doing their utmost to give them happiness on this special day the thought came that fifty years is a long time to live together — a century of living — and it was.

Rev Vinge presented a purse of money on behalf of friends and neighbors. The children's gift in their parents was a radio. A bouquet of chrysanthemums from Dr. Law of Edmonton and one of yellow roses from the students but the name of Hitler at Bardo Ladies' Aid was also appreciated to the guests of honor

Mr and Mrs. Rude, both in well chosen words made speeches, expressing their thanks for the honor bestowed upon them

Lunch was served, the honor guests, their children and relatives, sitting down to a decorated table, centred with a three tiered wedding

Red Cross Special

BY GARRY ALLIGHAN

London, Oct. 14—The Luftwaffe staged another carnival of death in the southeast corner of this country recently.

Living midway between London and the attacked coastal town, I was able to get into the thick of the raid with a Canadian Red Cross ambulance without loss of time. While it lasted it was as hot an affair as I have been in. After the first sweep the Nazi bombers had swung off a score of minted channel sky, leaving reverse squads to dig for dead and Red Cross to bind the wounded people made homeless.

I went with a Canadian ambulance to one of three public houses which had been wrecked. Somewhere under the mass of tangled iron girders, twisted lead pipes, broken masonry, smashed timber and hundreds of bricks and slates were landlord, bar tenders and customers. You could hear trapped people knocking inside their fearsome prison. Pinks, with which rescuers were tunnelling through perilous pyramid cross, tapped back a message of hope. As the tunnel lengthened a new sound began to make itself heard from within — moans and pain. 'Red Cross forward" shouted a rescue chief Three nurses emerged from the tunnel. "We'll be through in five minutes unless that bit collapses on him," explained the chief "You better go in first. There'll be plenty of work for you to do." In a few minutes they disappeared, one by one, headfirst through the tunnel-hole into the dark cellar with "tripalift" consisting of four wide metal handled canvas strops passing under the head, shoulders, knees and buttocks to form a cradle."

Fly Indian Pie

Just then Nazis returned flying bodies fire across the star-lit sky power-diving down with racing engines screaming terrifyingly They released salvoes of high explosives while a barrage of tracer bullets ppricocheted around. Rescuers never paused. Nurses continued to bandage the wounded homeless people and salvaged belongings from wrecked homes with fatalistic stoicism as if to say. "They can't do any worse than they've done to us."

Driving in another part of the town a Canadian Red Cross Ambulance in which I rode was slithered onto face by a blast from a heavy calibre bomb as it skidded on the dry pavement. When I recovered I raced to the scene of the "incident." A block of working-class dwellings, two hopelessly demolished, a dozen with heaping walls, stripped roofs, glassless windows and sagging chimneys. Rescuers carried two still forms out, removed them from stretchers and laid them beside a wall. "They're not for you, nurse," said the warden. "You can't waste time on the dead. We need those stretchers for the living." In five minutes the Red Cross was surrounded with wounded while the ambulance shuttle serviced to the hospital

Ate on Her House

In a corner the wilderness of wreckage looked like an etching of Dores in moonlight, a scene heading the log of Mrs. Elsie Joyce with Canadian surgical dressings Yet badly hurt, she said to me. "I was just going to get the old man his supper when the cupboard door was blown out of my hand and the light went out. We crawled into the hall and all the old man could say was, bandfirst through the tunnel-hole into the dark cellar with "tripalift" consisting of four wide metal handled canvas strops passing under the head, shoulders, knees and buttocks to form a cradle."

FARMERS...AS IMPORTANT AS ARMOURERS

It may not appear so dramatic to operate a dairy farm, to grow grain or raise bacon as to make planes and steel tanks, but the work of the farmer is just as essential to victory as the work of the armament maker.

Always interested in the development of agriculture and practical co-operation with farmers, the Bank of Montreal is especially desirous now of assisting our growers of foodstuffs.

Farmers are cordially invited to talk confidentially with our nearest branch manager respecting their credit needs.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board

Ottawa, Canada — Departmental country general stores, large hotels and soda bars, manufacturers and auctioneers, every person and firm in Canada manufacturing or dealing in food, feeds, livestock, poultry, yarn, cloth, clothing or footwear must secure a licence from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board by December 1 of this year.

After that time, no unlicensed person or firm may buy for resale, handle or sell any of these commodities.

More than 200,000 businesses are affected by this vast plan to set up the machinery necessary for policing prices and for securing speedy reports on available supplies in the event of wartime shortages. In the Tofield area, it is expected that over 18 persons and firms will soon be displaying on the door or window of their place of business the attractive gold and blue certificate which shows the public that they have obtained their wartime licences.

There is no charge for the fee. Licence application forms will be distributed through the mail late this month and any businessman who is subject to the licensing order and does not receive an application form should apply for one at his post office. At the post offices copies of the complete licensing order will also be available. To facilitate further the intendent or the licensing plan, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board is appointing over 900 local licensing directors, blown out of my hand and the light went out. We crawled into the hall and all the old man could say was, bandfirst through the tunnel-hole into the dark cellar with "tripalift" consisting of four wide metal handled canvas strops passing under the head, shoulders, knees and buttocks to form a cradle."

Changing Prairie Agriculture

Many people these days are thinking about the future of Western agriculture. All kinds of changes are being proposed by those who feel that the wheat surplus is too large, and that it will remain too large if nothing is done about it. Some are even suggesting plans for changes in our Western agriculture after the war is over.

In thinking of all this, there are certain fundamental considerations which should be borne in mind. One is that the kind of agriculture we may adopt in the West will be governed by the kind of Peace that is finally made. It is futile, therefore, to make plans for after the war until we know the terms of the Peace that will be made.

It is being suggested, however, that in any event, wheat acreage should permanently be reduced and that more attention should be put into coarse grains and into grasses. In this connection it may be remembered that it is not the land but what the land produces that brings the farmer his living, and that moreover these products of the land, whatever they may be—wheat, coarse grains, clovers or grasses— must be sold if the farmer is to remain on the land.

The difficulties of the West during the past ten years have not been, in the main, difficulties of production but have been difficulties of finding MARKETS FOR OUR AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS. Production therefore, who are thinking of changing our agriculture, should first of all investigate the possibilities of finding profitable markets for the products they propose should be substituted for wheat. The products of hens, 10 hens; Geese; 22 tons of feed, wood, of levers, alfalfas and grasses, daisy products, mutton and wool; dows, and afford position of the pig and a minor extent, cattle.

Before these can be market, and at a profit to our farmers, these final products, with the exception of cattle, must be disposed. Then when the International Red Cross decided to send supplies of concentrated food extracts for the use of the wounded of all armies in Greece, they were forced to send them by air mail, as they were unable to do so by rail.

The port of Piraeus and the districts around have been heavily damaged by the explosion in the middle of the port of a ship loaded with munitions. It was caused by a German raid last April. There was no direct hit on the ship, but on some barges loaded with oil, from which the resulting fire spread to the munitions ship.

When the Germans occupied Athens they compelled many Greek shipowners living in Greece, although their ships were trading abroad, to telegraph their agents in America and elsewhere to withdraw their ships from the Allied service. Those telegrams were commandeered in the Greek agents in N w York by the German Consul General, through whom they were addressed to them. The Greek agents, of course, refused to comply with these evidently enemy-dictated orders. The Gestapo threatened to turn the wrath against the shipowners in Athens and compelled them to work in Piraeus to clean up the wreckage, demolish wrecked buildings, and sweep up the streets. Such men, old or young, not used to this work, were included in this cruel, typically German order, which is still being applied by the Italians.

Canada Year Book For 1941 Is Published

Brimful of interesting and valuable information on production, trade, transportation, finances, education and, in fact, on a wide variety of subjects of public interest, the 1941 Canada Year Book has been published by the King's Printer, Ottawa, and is available for distribution by authorization of Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce.

The Canada Year Book is the official statistical manual of the Dominion and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, vital statistics, different wa.

There are special articles selected to illustrate effects of the war on Canadian economy and to show such changes and developments as have taken place to date.

Applications for the volume may be addressed to The Dominion Statistician, Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa.

Food Shortage in Unhappy Greece

(By a special correspondent)

Sympathetic neutral witnesses who left Athens a month ago give a sombre picture of the Greek capital. The vivacious, elegant city queen now a hopeless aspect. One sees Athens in a pressure condition of gloom, dilapidation and depression.

As soon as the Germans arrived they enforced the evacuation of all the wounded soldiers from the Athenian hospitals in order to make room for their wounded. The streets of Athens are now full of wounded Greek soldiers still bandaged and often begging for bread.

The horror of the German occupation felt by the Greeks in seeing defeated Italians replacing German troops. The former show an arrogant attitude, although their endeavour to show themselves more humane than the latter.

Looting by the Germans, either openly or by means of spurious marks, was so complete that it left very little for their successors. Moreover, the German remains the supreme master and his exactions are the same as in every other German-occupied country. Some well-educated and cultured Greeks felt the German tyranny so cruelly that they have committed suicide.

The food situation becomes daily worse and worse. Bread, however, remain in their chaotic condition. The bridge across the Corinth Canal, destroyed during the occupation, has now been replaced by a temporary wooden bridge, which, however, is such a weak structure that only the smallest locomotives with one or two carriages may pass across it.

Railway communications beyond the zone of Thermopylae continue to be disrupted. Thus when the International Red Cross decided to send supplies of concentrated food extracts for the use of the wounded of all armies in Greece, they were forced to send them by air mail, as they were unable to do so by rail.

The port of Piraeus and the districts around have been heavily damaged by the explosion in the middle of the port of a ship loaded with munitions. It was caused by a German raid last April. There was no direct hit on the ship, but on some barges loaded with oil, from which the resulting fire spread to the munitions ship.

When the Germans occupied Athens they compelled many Greek shipowners living in Greece, although their ships were trading abroad, to telegraph their agents in America and elsewhere to withdraw their ships from the Allied service. Those telegrams were commandeered in the Greek agents in N w York by the German Consul General, through whom they were addressed to them. The Greek agents, of course, refused to comply with these evidently enemy-dictated orders. The Gestapo

HEROES OF LITTLE HOMES

Able to them who sell unchanted sons,
Or lone
Through little homes in a crowded street
Make all the world they know.
They stand dry-eyed amid a heap of stones,
(For hard-earned happiness is dearly dear.)
They carry on, with hearts ashase with scars
Too proud to shed a tear.
They scoff at danger, while a furious foe
Finds in their fortitude his sure defeat,
And phoenix-like, winged victory will rise
From ashes in a street.
They shall know homes and happiness again,
(This pledge their Britain will not fail to keep.)
—A little kettle singing by the fire,
—And children fast asleep.

NEW COLOR SCHEME FOR ALBERTA PLATES

Alberta's color combinations on the motor license plates for the new license year which opens April 1 will be white numerals on a blue background, according to information received by officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

It has been several years since the combination has been used in this province.

Part of next year's supply has already been delivered to the provincial government as the order for plates was placed in 1940. The previous year's plates were white with blue numerals. It was indicated that manufacturers might have difficulty in obtaining material for the plates, owing to war conditions.

While there have been suggestions from some states that it is intended to adopt a permanent plate, it is not likely that Alberta will take such action.

British Columbia, it is claimed, tried a permanent plate as an experiment, but decided to revert to the system of changing the colors each year.

Officials here also point out that a certain number of plates are lost each year and these have to be substituted now in any case.

Threshing Tough Grain

Farmers will how money if they thresh their grain when it is rough. On the other hand, they run risk if they let it stand in the field. The records do show, however, that there have been many years where sudden frost good weather came after October 1st to dry out grain in the field.

Any Searle Agent will test a sample of grain for any farmer without charge to determine its moisture content.

The War Increases Wheat Sales

The annual average exports of Canadian wheat and flour overseas for the five years immediately prior to the outbreak of this war, that is from 1934 to 1939, was equivalent to 175 millions bushels of wheat. For the two years of war the exports have averaged 317 million bushels a year, and for the two months of August and September of this crop year, exports have been running at about the same high rate

It will be observed from this that, while the war has cut off many markets for Canadian wheat, yet the amount of wheat and flour which has left Canadian shores for export has actually increased substantially since the war started as compared with similar annual exports for the five years immediately prior to the war.

It is apparent, therefore, that it is not the war that has built up the present surplus of goods that fortunate people were able to sell to Canada and to the United States, but making it impossible for these same foreign people to obtain goods from Canadian and U.S.A. dollars with which to purchase that amount of Canadian wheat which they formerly sadly need and were anxious to buy. —Searle Grain Company, Ltd

FACTS ABOUT CANCER

(By Dr. George H. Malcolmson, Chief of the Alberta Cancer Diagnostic Clinic)

Until the 20th century the diagnosis of cancer was rarely made until the disease was so far advanced, that cure was hopeless. The last few years, however, have brought about a change.

FALSE: That diagnosis of cancer means the patient's death warrant.

That if a patient recovered, it was not cancer

This belief is all wrong, because TRUE. Due to the wonderful achievements in modern medicine, cancer can be diagnosed now in its early stage.

CANCER CAN BE CURED IF THE PATIENT CONSULTS HIS DOCTOR IN TIME.

When you develop cancer the chances of being cured depend largely upon yourself. Procrastination is the thief of life in cancer.

All persons of middle age having pain, bleeding, lump, ulcer, indigestion, loss of weight — see your doctor. If he thinks you ought to go to the Cancer Diagnostic Clinic, he will give you a completed form to take with you.

The Cancer Diagnostic Clinic is NOT a charity clinic. It was established for your especial benefit by our Government.

DON'T DELAY: The chances are over 60 per cent that you do not have cancer. Why not free yourself from worry and anxiety and find out?

Non Interest Bearing Certificates Being Sold

Sales of Dominion of Canada Non-Interest Bearing Certificates during September totalled $67,000 from 244 subscriptions, the Bank of Canada announces on behalf of the Minister of Finance. Aggregate sales to date amount to $7,211,262.

Banks, post offices and agencies of the Bank of Canada handle applications for subscriptions to these Certificates, and no commissions are paid on sales, the entire proceeds being devoted to the purposes for which they are sold. Series "A" issue is earmarked for prosecution of the war, while Series "B" proceeds are for relief of suffering caused by war

For the September sales of the Series "A" issue, which totalled $66,876, there were 96 subscribers, and of these 84 were previous purchasers of the Non-Interest Bearing Certificates. There were 149 applications for the Series "B" issue in September, for a total of $1,038.

The Week in Edmonton

Following attendance at a meeting of government members of the Legislature and New Democracy members of Parliament in Edmonton, John H. Blackmore, M.P., leader of the federal group, left for Ottawa prior to going to Brandon. Mr. Blackmore is one of six M.P.'s who will fly to the Mother Country to witness at first hand British progress at war. They will be guests of the Empire Parliamentary Association and will probably travel by bomber across the Atlantic.

The minister said roads to great highways were more necessary than ever in this time of war. He added that a Commission ought to survey routes and make recommendations for a system of roads to be built through the Dominion in the various thereupon turned its wrath against the shipowners in Athens and compelled them to work in Piraeus to clean up the wreckage, demolish wrecked buildings, and sweep up the streets. Such men, old or young, not used to this work, were included in this cruel, typically German order, which is still being applied by the Italians.

KETCHAMONT

There will be no preaching services at the school house Sunday. We are invited to attend the Anniversary services in Tofield. Let's see how many of Ketchamont people will be present.

Mrs. W. A. Mitchell entertained the Ladies Aid at her home Wednesday afternoon of last week. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Peter Lerbekmo.

Mr. Lyle Coombes is wearing His Majesty's uniform, being in the transport service. He is still stationed in Edmonton, and spent Sunday with home folks. Stanley Sones and Jimmie Ingram took him back to the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Mitchell and family attended the wedding of Mr. Mitchell's sister at Calmar recently.

Miss Ethel Coombes returned home Monday after spending the week-end in the city.

Mrs. C. J. Williams returned home Thursday of last week after spending several days with her mother in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Clemmon and twin sons left one day last week to make their home in Ontario, their original home.

Mrs. P. A. Owen accompanied Mr. and Mrs. John Ness to Kingman Sunday to visit old time friends.

Mrs. P. A. Owen is staying with her brother, C. A. Ingram for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee journeyed to the city and brought back a tandem day-old baby girl with them, two weeks ago. He will answer to the name of Roy Delbert. We wish them the best of success.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jack and daughter Dawn of Edmonton spent Sunday at the Schultz home. Mrs. Alvin Schultz and son Bobbie accompanied them back to the city. Alvin has accepted a position in Red Deer. Mrs. Schultz will join him shortly.

Mr. P. O. Moline returned to Lemoile Thursday after attending the funeral of his sister, Mrs. C. A. Ingram.

Miss Ethel Anderson of near Deville is assisting Mrs. A. F. Schultz with her house work.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Sears and son Gary visited with Mrs Sears' parents, Mr. and Mrs. McLennan at Ryley on Sunday, also with an uncle and aunt near Pen.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Mitchell, Mrs. Mc. B. Baumgartner is starting to build a barn $14.99

You would think to hear the Clay Gilbos' birthday was held all over the place that the war had reached Alberta. If they get a bird with such shot, a terrible slaughter of partridges must be going on.

COOKING LAKE

A pleasant Sunday afternoon, supper and evening were spent at the home of Mrs. E. Pickers, when friends from Edmonton, Calgary, S. Cooking Lake and New Sarepta arrived as a surprise on Mrs. Pickers. It is understood that Mr. Ed Neuman of the Keating farm entertained several young friends at a birthday celebration Saturday evening. Many more Ed.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends and relatives for their practical help and expressions of sympathy during our recent sad bereavement in the loss of our darling daughter, Audrey Fay Reade.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sutton and family

J. Temple and Miss Margaret Mitchell motored to Edmonton on Monday.

Mr. C. A. Ingram spent Friday and Saturday in Edmonton having dental work done.

Miss Kathleen Ingram, who is clerking in the Co-op store in Tofield spent Sunday at the parental home.

Ray Andrey Patricia Sutton, tenement-kid daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sutton passed away at their home Wednesday morning, after a short bronchitis. Funeral services were held Tuesday, October 14th, at the home of Rev. Mr. Stutzman officiated. Pallbearers were Gladys Coombes, Hattie Joris, and Evelyn Sutton, and Doris McGinnis. Interment took place in the Tofield cemetery. Beautiful floral tributes were received from: Mother and Dad, sisters and brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sutton and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sutton and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sutton and family, Mrs. Fanny Sutton and Allan.

The Sterrit Mutual Telephone Co. and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Miller, Mr. Henderson, Mr. R. Sitrret and family, Mr. and Mrs. P. Lerbekmo and Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Miller, Mrs. McMullen, Chester and Ida coombes, Mildred Wiley, Gertie and Les Ovelson, Miss Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ford, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Al Sedman, Mr. and Mrs. Jason Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. H. McGinnis and family, Mrs. Fanny Owens.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the family.

AMISK CREEK

Our deepest sympathy is extended to C. Ingram and the Moline families in the sudden bereavement in the loss of a loving wife and sister.

Our sympathy also goes to Mr. and Mrs. M. Ihlgen in the loss of their infant daughter.

Mrs. Hindley at Tofield was hostess to our Ladies' Aid on Wednesday of last week. Twelve members and several visitors were present. It was decided to have the annual Ladies' Aid and children's Christmas party on December 17th. Alvin Schultz and son Bobbie accompanied them back to the city. Alvin has accepted a position in Red Deer. Mrs. Schultz will join him shortly.

Several were home for Thanksgiving Sunday and Mon. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Olsen, Myrtle Olsen, Hennie Anobo and Lilly Hansen.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee and little daughter and Arnold Berg from Edmonton spent Thanksgiving at Mrs. C. Berg's home.

A Junior choir from the Norwegian Lutheran Church in Edmonton motored down and held a concert in our church on Thanksgiving Sunday. There were 19 young singers, their ages being from 9 to 16 years. They were all very good singers. Between 50 and 60 persons accompanied them from the city. The church was pretty well filled with listeners. After the concert the Edmonton people were guests in the home of Mrs. Berg for each home for supper. After that they journeyed to Ryley to sing in the evening.

Mrs. C. Erickson has been with her sister, Mrs. Grunland for the last week helping to care for the new born son. She returned home on Sunday.

When Alfred Patterson was thinking a team of horses in a wagon last Saturday the team bolted and Alfred was thrown to the ground. He suffered broken and a bone in his left arm was broken. He was taken to the hospital in Edmonton on Sunday. Dr. Sorenson from Ryley and Pearl Patterson motored up with him. He is reported home again some time this week. We all hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Shaw and family and Miss M. Pederson were guests at the C. I. Olsen's and Lindstrom's giving Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Keating and family from Camrose were supper guests at L. C. Olsen's on Thanksgiving Sunday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. Brosmer at a hospital in Edmonton, Mrs. Stromsmo has been staying with the Brosmer people since their return from their honeymoon trip and is well on the road to recovery.

Those visiting the city lately are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Moen and Georgevalma.

Mrs. Ferguson, her twin girls and little boy and Mrs. K. Bruha visited with Mrs. F. O. Flaaten last Friday afternoon.

Pearl Patterson, who is now a nurse in the Viking hospital, was at her parent's home Sunday. She visited the city on Monday and returned to Viking Monday evening.

LINDBROOK

The fine weather of last week has been enjoying lately has planned and planned everyone. Threshing is now a thing of the past, and while it is only a poor memory, this year's crop is being put in many places. Everyone seems to have plenty of hay, however. People seem to be busy getting in hay for winter, some are plowing and tillering, others are housings of it to make a few visiting trips.

Mr. Steve Sellmen, one of our residents is quite ill with a cold in head, and is despoeing of his sheep, etc., most of which have been bought by neighbours. We understand that Mr. Sullivan will take up his residence somewhere in the city for good health, good luck and a pleasant residence to Mr. Sullivan.

Still no bonus, and in and behold, we get promises of more to come. If rural ears are like the first promised, we'll sure get fat on them, we don't think! Talk's cheap, even politicians' promises. Its about time we got wise to the kidding we're getting, in any form. Two cheers for Ryley, and 9 p.m.

Capt. Hugh Caldwell (dentist) of the R.C.A.F., Calgary, visited Tofield on Friday.

MINISTIK

The pupils of Ministik School have started to collect and handle books and magazines to send to the forces of Canada, having say to donate please leave them at the school or in A. J. Leach's last.

The well drillers have started work again on Matthew Ferguson's farm. Good luck, Maddie, we hope you get gas or oil.

Threshing is just about cleaned up in the district.

Miss Barger attended the teachers' convention last week.

Mr. Sam Fleming and family spent the Thanksgiving holiday with Mr. Barnes. They brought Vivian and Kay out home.

Mr. A. Kleinschmidt and son George, are working on their new house. They have it all ready for shingling now.

Mr. and Mrs. Frith have moved out to the Barron's farm to stay with Ida for the winter.

Mr. Hennessy went to Leduc to fetch Jean Lees and Peggy Mercure for the Thanksgiving holidays. Mrs. Lees, Mrs. McConnell, Mr. Abernathy, Mrs. Appleby, Mrs. Bethel, Mrs. W. E. Soule, Mrs. L. J. Wood, Mrs. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. R. Johnston and Mrs. M. C. Wood were all on hand at the dinner table to make short work of the roast turkey. At the bridge tables Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. W. E. Soule of Lousea Vista, were each of the rest of the players, and had to cut for first prize. Mrs. Johnston being the lucky one. Mrs. McConnell won consolation prize.

Mr. T. W. Ferguson was taken to the hospital at Lamont the other day. Mrs. Ferguson, too, was not feeling well for a day or two, but is better now.

Mrs. Soule of Calgary, better known to people around Lakeshore, as Della Fry, and her two baby, visited at Grace Evans last week.

DEVILLE STORE ENLARGED

Mr. Alec Mercure of Deville, homesteader and storekeeper of that area, has made another improvement to his store and residence during the past summer. An extension on the north end which alder has been built on, a basement dug, new fully concreted, and a new furnace installed. The new extension is finished in new Winchcraper with heavy duty hardwood. The new rooms make two more rooms with stream line window casings, a very nice job of plastering and maple floors.

Canadian Red Cross Calls For Blankets

Thousands of blankets, now at "good ne new," are urgently needed for bombed out victims in Britain. And the people of Canada are asked to "spare a blanket" to the Canadian Red Cross Society, which today has launched it's second big appeal to provide those necessities for raid sufferers.

In the last campaign the Red Cross collected throughout Canada 126,137 blankets and 101,254 quilts. The supply has been distributed to bombing victims, military hospitals, and for the benefit of distressed merchant seamen.

Many expressions of gratitude have been received by the Canadian Red Cross from bombed sufferers in Britain, and many have called the contributions of blankets and quilts a "god-send."

In such centres as Birmingham, Coventry, Plymouth and London, thousands of Canadian blankets and quilts were available when people were homeless within a few hours of the raids due to the efficient system of distribution planned by the Canadian Red Cross overseas organization in London.

According to advices from Britain do not get in touch with their personal or local branch headquarters for directions as to where the blankets and quilts may be sent.

WAR DOLLARS

Do These Essential Jobs

1. HELP CARRY ON THE WAR
Every possible dollar will be needed to bring the war to a successful conclusion. THEREFORE, every dollar you lend enables you to play a vital part in the great fight for freedom.

2. CURB WASTEFUL SPENDING
To retard spiralling prices and rises in the cost of living, income must be diverted from unwise purchases and made available for war use. WAR SAVINGS mean money put aside to aid essential war production.

3. PROVIDE A NEST EGG
Following every major war, there is a period of economic re-adjustment. The man who has taken his share of WAR SAVINGS will find this money very useful during this transition period.

"Going Back"—2.

Two words age I tried to show that the habit in many of agriculture process which led to "going back" or "running out" of crop varieties was ill-founded. So far as wheat and barley are concerned, I believe that the necessity for renewal of seed is due to unfavourable conditions during seed occasional natural crossing. The proposal to discontinue registration of general can but the first of registration of Marquis wheat, which is recognized as a basic principle for long as wheat and barley stocks will pass field and seed inspection. There is no doubt to worry about new seed.

Hybrid corn seed must be renewed each year because it owes its vigour to its immediately hybrid ancestry. If we were to produce hybrid seed of wheat, and we could do so at a cost of about $100 per bushel, it would be more ruinous and productive than the standard varieties, and it would be back in succeeding generations just as hybrid corn does. There is no economic justification for it.

Oats may be different. It seems likely that false wild oats may increase to the point where the supply of seed is necessary. This might be called going back, running out, or anything you like.

Three important imports to England from Scotland are Scotsmen, whiskey and seed potatoes. The Scotsmen drift in like rust spores, whiskey flows in because it is welcomed, and potatoes are brought in because English potatoes "go back." The going back is due to the accumulation of disease necessitating the importation of disease-free seed. But, after all, potato tubers are not seed!

THE WEEK IN EDMONTON

Edmonton, October 22 — Growth of the credit union and co-operative movement in the province continues at a steady pace, according to the August report of the co-operative activities branch, Department of Trade and Industry. Since the beginning of 1940, new co-operatives have been established and are working actively, 12 are ready to commence activities, and 71 are organizing. The total now in operation is 176.

V V V

In the credit union fold, 48 unions of people having a common bond of interest have accumulated $472,810 in 34 months of operation. Of this sum, $113,326 was out on loans at the end of August, $15,324 was on hand and $8,237 was invested, largely as war stock. Total membership is given as 4,163. Throughout the country 26 unions are in process of formation, and it is stressed that with proper organization, the number can be increased materially. Recent additions to the credit union family are Macleod Savings and Credit Union and Calgary Municipal Railway Employees Credit Union. New students of the idea include Edmonton Police Force

V V V

An instance of good credit un on organization is cited in the St. Lina union, where in two and one-half years the membership has grown to 114 and the assets to $6,400. The original membership was 26 and after two months assets were $210. Since the union started, loans granted to members for provident and merchandising purposes total $7,833.50. Not a single bad debt has been incurred.

Warning to farmers against purchases of poultry for breeding or laying stock which may carry pullorum disease was issued by the Alberta Department of Agriculture this week. Poldoos are suspecting all birds and clipping the tails of those which prove reactors to the disease. Farmers are warned not to purchase birds so marked, when intended for breeding or laying.

V V V

Bringing the total to eight in the province, two new health units have recently become established under the direction of the Department of Health. They are at Holden, comprising the Holden school division, and at Clover Bar. Technical staff of each health unit will be located in the Qu'Appelle Bldg., Edmonton. Object of the unit system is to bring medical services on a par with urban centres to the rural areas organized. A medical officer and nurses are full time staff members, responsible with all phases of public health. It is reported that Peace district is also considering adoption of the unit plan.

V V V

Operations of credit unions in the province of new instalment buying regulations is the subject of inquiry and study by provincial officials since Ottawa announced the curb on time sales, especially in regard to loans granted to finance purchases. Credit Union members save systematically in order to be able to borrow money for such purposes from their own income fund.

V V V

Annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads association may be held in Alberta next year, if an invitation attended by Hon. W. A. Fallow at the recent Niagara Falls convention is acted upon by the executive. On his return to Edmonton, Mr. Fallow said the convention had adopted his suggestion that Ottawa be urged to establish a National Highway Commission to investigate and report on highway projects. During the forthcoming year, the minister will be an executive member of the association.

V V V

"One thing is certain. We have to get all the oil we can out of Alberta." Thus G. H. Cottrelle, Dominion oil controller, revealed one of the greatest exploratory programs in Canada's history is under way here. "A tremendous amount of work has been done in mapping out prospective fields and what remains to be done is to drill wells," added Mr. Cottrelle. "It would give me a feel of peace of mind and some pleasure if they would get busy and drill wells in the Vermilion and Battleview fields. These people who have lands under lease had better go to work on it."

Alberta's prime hobby attraction, the Jasper-Banff highway, is closed for the season. Snow has blocked the highway at the summit. Reports indicate that the hunting season is attracting a great number of sportsmen to the areas adjacent to the National Parks, and that the bird hunters are flocking in to centres in all parts of the province. Bags are good.

Breeders Were Skunked

Charlottetown, P.E.I., October 20—Some thirty years ago, this island province, the world's main source of supply for fur animals, tried out an experiment which, due to the vagaries of the fur business, has backfired. The islanders were then on breeding cattle whose hide could be used in the way of fur so they imported a lot of skunks which are not native to the province. The experiment did not pan out, these being no money to be made in the project, and it was abandoned. But the skunks themselves continued the experiment with the result that the provincial government is now paying a bounty of fifty cents per snout for the pole-cats in an endeavor to prevent them over-running the island, according to the Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways.

THE AMAZING SOVIETS—

By William Henry Chamberlain, The Christian Science Monitor

One of the greatest surprises of the present war has been the prolonged Soviet resistance to the German invasion. When Hitler first struck at Russia few observers would have imagined that the Soviet armies would still be resisting, even hitting back, after three months of struggle. The explanation of this resistance, I think, must be found in four factors which were not adequately appreciated when the war began.

1. Intensive indoctrination with Communist ideas stimulates in the Soviet youth the same kind of fanaticism that intensive indoctrination with Nazi ideas produces in the Nazi youth. It is the younger generation in both the dictatorships that is most under the influence of official propaganda, that is the least disposed to criticize and doubt. And it is the young men who make the best soldiers. Over and above the effect of Communist propaganda there is doubtless some element of Russian nationalist feeling, just as German patriotism in time of war carries Germans who are not Nazis along.

2. The Soviet Union was the first country to prepare for modern war, to concentrate on the production of tanks and airplanes. Just because the Revolution represents such a complete break with the past, the new rough-hewn leaders of the Red Army were not obsessed, like the cultivated veteran Generals of the German General Staff, with outmoded conceptions of warfare.

Unlike Germany, the Soviet Union was never subjected to armament limitations. It consequently had a much longer period of time in which to prepare its armadas of airplanes and its hosts of mechanized weapons. As regards efficiency Soviet preparation was clearly inferior to the German. Otherwise the fighting would be around Berlin and Dresden, not around Leningrad, Kiev and Odessa. But the Soviet regime evidently imparted a higher element of quality to its war production than to its civilian production, or effective resistance could not have been maintained as long as it has been.

3. The Soviet Union is on a permanent war economy basis. Every country engaged in modern war ultimately approaches a system where the State controls everything, from the distribution of labor to the allocation of raw materials, with the sole purpose of stepping up the output of implements of war to the highest possible level.

But like changes from peace to war methods is inevitably slower and more painful in a democratic, individualistic country, where businessmen wish to make the usual profits and labor clamors for higher wages and the consumer resents curtailment of his customary needs than it is in a dictatorship where articulate complaint is effectively discouraged by a Gestapo or an Ogpu. Even in time of peace there are no organized strikes in the Soviet Union and labor can be thrown about from place to place in a way which would be inconceivable in a democracy.

4. The vast size and huge population of the Soviet Union make a Blitzkrieg, such as the Germans carried out against the relatively tiny countries of Europe, much more difficult. The Soviet Union is approximately forty times the size of France. Its population of 170,000,000 exceeds that of all European countries which Hitler conquered separately.

The Germans have already occupied, or at least overrun an area in Russia greater than that of all France. But there is still a vast area in which the Soviet armies can withdraw, reform, counter-attack, always assuming that supplies of munitions can be maintained and that morale holds up. The supply of manpower is practically unlimited, although this is not true as regards trained pilots and tank operators.

One should not, to be sure, build too great hopes on a Soviet front somewhere in the Ural Mountains or in Central Siberia. Despite the pronounced shift of the center of industrial gravity to the East as a result of the new industrial building of the last decade the main centers of Soviet industry and population will be captured or destroyed, the Soviet armies, even if they continue to fight, would scarcely represent more than nuisance value. It is in European Russia and perhaps around historic Moscow itself, the old city that became the new Soviet capital, that Hitler will win or lose his great Russian adventure.

"Can you tell me what the hump on the camel's back is for?" he asked politely.

"Well, it's pretty useful, sir. The old camel wouldn't be much use without it, you know."

"But why not?"

"Why not!" exclaimed the keeper in surprise. "Well, you don't suppose people would pay sixpence to see 'im if 'e adn't got an 'ump!" —Tit-Bits.

FACTS ABOUT CANCER

No. 2

About 86 per cent of cancers of the stomach occur between the ages of 60 to 70. Symptoms which demand its early visit to the doctor are:

1. An "indigestion" which appears in an adult and persists for any length of time.

2. A "hunger-like" distress in the upper abdomen one or two hours after eating.

3. A change in the character of "chronic indigestion" which has been suffered for years.

4. No definite indigestion but a gradual loss of weight and strength.

5. In some few cases, vomiting as a first symptom.

6. A few may complain of a very definite dislike for meat.

The persistence of any of these symptoms over a period of time demands investigation.

Cancer can be diagnosed by an x-ray examination aided by viewing the interior of the stomach with a new instrument, the gastroscope.

Cancer of the stomach is curable but only by surgery, and this depends on the size of the growth. The size of the growth depends on the length of time it has been present. Don't delay consulting your doctor after the appearance of the above symptoms.

Don't take "indigestion" too lightly. Soda and other pre-digested foods will not cure cancer of the stomach.

The Master Key to success in the treatment of cancer is EARLY DIAGNOSIS. Patients who have come to the Alberta Diagnostic Clinic have had their symptoms on an average of one year.

That is TOO LONG.

Wartime Prices and Trade Board

Ottawa, Canada — Heralding their introduction with the statement that "money, materials and manpower must now be marshalled in the common cause", Finance Minister J. L. Ilsley last week tapped on Canada's national pocketbook by a series of drastic limitations on consumer credit.

"Now, when people are receiving more money," said Mr. Ilsley, "they should be reducing their debts, not incurring new ones. We are asking all Canadians to save out of their present incomes to lend their savings to the government for war purposes. Any system of buying which not only hinders saving, but encourages people actually to spend more than their current income must be carefully regulated if we are to ensure enough saving for war purposes and check the inflationary effects of excessive consumer buying. Canadian factories cannot fill our war requirements and at the same time meet all the demands of Canadian consumers. If the purchasing power of the Canadian public is allowed to bid without restriction for the supplies of consumer goods that remain, a strong upward push on prices will be the inevitable result. "By these restrictions on instalment buying, strikes purchases are postponed rather than prevented. A brake is placed on rising prices. Materials are released for war industries. Money, materials, and manpower must be marshalled in the common cause."

"The volume of instalment sales in the first seven months of this year," Mr. Ilsley stated, "was twenty-five per cent greater than in the same period of 1940, a year which itself shows a major increase in instalment buying. This expansion of instalment credit, natural in a time of rising national income, is an important inflationary influence under present circumstances.

Made effective by an order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the new restrictions on consumer credit affect not only instalment buying but instalment credit transactions under whatever legal name instituted.

Instalment purchases of a wide range of articles—from radios to engagement rings, stoves to formulain pens, are now subject to drastic restrictions. This same agreement must now be at least one-third of the total cash price, in any case not less than ten dollars, and the balance must be paid in full within twelve months. Per passenger automobiles a down payment of fifty per cent is required, and the balance is to be paid within twelve or eighteen months depending on the cash value of the sale. These provisions go much further in restricting consumer credit than the regulations of the United States Federal Reserve Boards.

One for the Quiz Kids

A good example of one of those questions grasped out of this air by the family's young hopeful and then tossed at an unsuspecting parent is the following:

"Dad, why do you wind up a business when you want it to stop?"

THE SOLDIER

(By Rupert Brooke)

If I should die, think only this of me!
That there's some corner of a foreign field
That is forever England. There shall be
In that rich earth a richer dust concealed;
A dust whom England bore, shaped, made aware,
Gave, once, her flowers to love, her ways to roam,
A body of England's, breathing English air,
Washed by the rivers, blest by suns of home.
And think, this heart, all evil shed away,
A pulse in the eternal mind, no less
Gives somewhere back the thoughts by England given:
Her sights and sounds; dreams happy as her day;
And laughter, learnt of friends; and gentleness,
In hearts at peace, under an English heaven.

Britain Experimenting With Powdered Fruit

Montreal, Quebec, October 20 — Experiments are being conducted in Britain on the powdering of fruit in an effort to save bulk storage, according to Dr. John Bracken, Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways. The product can be converted into a puree of any desired concentration by the addition of the required amount of water, while the pectin content is ample to form a firm jelly when the powder is diluted with water and sweetened with sugar. Another advantage is that the powder will keep over a long period. So far the tests have been with plums.

"So I do," stammered the other, "but on a smaller scale, you know."

300 COOKS WANTED

Canadian women are now being invited to fight Hitler with one of their favorite weapons — a good meal. An urgent call has gone out from the Department of National War Services for 300 cooks.

Applicants don't need to be fancy culinary experts or dietitians in order to qualify. The main requirement is that they know the simple recipes for the "home-cooked" style of food so dear to the heart of the airmen and soldier boy.

If the volunteer is accepted, she will be issued a smart uniform and enlisted in the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Air Force or the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

The need is a vital one and authorities have promised there will be no delay in handling applications. Immediately applicants will be notified as to date for medical examination. Rate of pay is ninety cents a day, with uniform, medical services and board supplied.

Applications are available at all R.C.A.F. recruiting centres, at Military District headquarters and at the offices of National War Services divisional registrars throughout Canada.

Successful volunteers for the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Air Force will be sent for three weeks of training at Havergal College, followed by a special six weeks course at Guelph. They will then be posted to R.C.A.F stations.

Chances for promotion in the cooking branch will be as good as in any other trade of the service auxiliaries. Every woman who steps forward will be playing an important role. Not only will she be helping to keep Canada's soldiers and airmen in trim by preparing good food for them, but she will also be releasing a man for service behind a gun.

SHADES OF THE PAST

There are few of us who at some time or other, have not read novels in which lonely deserted houses have been chosen by the author as a central theme. It was the editor's experience this week to run across just such a house, at just such a time to fit such a setting as would have delighted the heart and excited the imagination of any writer of that class of fiction.

But let's start at the beginning. Two years ago, a group of Tofield young people were tobogganing on the North Cooking Lake trail and came across a number of cottages, all with the exception of one, apparently being vacant. One rather large one attracted their attention, and following a pathway overgrown with weeds they arrived at the front door. The door was found invitingly open and hesitantly entering, found themselves in a large room. In the room and in front of a very large fire place, was a long table around which were a number of chairs. Upon the table were dishes, dusty with the passing of time, and the chairs were in such a position as if a group of people had suddenly got up and left (seemingly speaking), the building was in good order, at least as good order as an untenanted building could be expected to be in. Only one room was entered, doors leading to other portions of the building being locked. Mystery!

On Sunday last, the editor, being in the vicinity of North Cooking Lake, was taken to see this building and in the quietly deepening evening shadows, the air of mystery surrounding it was still further enhanced. Imagine a trail, the grass by the side of which is dried and withered, the trees bare and gaunt, as of mourning the departure of summer greenery, the sandy water of the lake, spotted by something undistinguishable, appearing dark and foreboding, as the shadows of evening fall. A pathway leading up to a building commanding a view of a mile of water. An elaborately constructed log building in which there were still signs of luxurious appointments and which, like the trees outside, seemed to be mourning the passing of more pleasant days.

In contrast to the first visit two years previously, the work of vandals was observed everywhere. Broken windows and marked up doors. A number of French type doors, glass from almost the bottom to the top, and divided into panes of five or six inches square, had numerous panes of fancy glass wantonly smashed. The main feature of the large room was a grand fireplace. Built of rugged stone, which continued on up to the ceiling, it had on one side, cemented in, possibly as a decoration but more likely as a reminder of the end of all human endeavor, a human skull! In the now very dim light, this object was especially conspicuous.

One could easily imagine past evenings when by the flickering light of lumbers burning in the fireplace the skull would grin and nod and seem to say to the company assembled "to-day you were full of life and vigor; you enjoyed the sunshine, the trees, the flowers and the water. Many years ago I did this also, and now, this is all that remains of a once vibrant body of flesh, blood and bone. But see through the wood the smoke haze, I am smiling. My spirit? Well, smiles do not come from a distressed spirit.

There were no furnishings in the large room on Sunday. The table, chairs and dishes of two years previous were gone. All that was left were two useless chairs, one in each side of the fireplace—a grim reminder of what a fireplace is for.

Have You Ever?
Another thing I'd love to see;
'Tis something I have never seen—
It all someone point out to me,
A greenhouse that is palated green.

Warning To Poultry Raisers

Poultry raisers who plan to buy birds to increase their laying flocks should beware of purchasing those with tails clipped short.

The tails of such birds are clipped by Fieldmen of the Poultry Branch when they are inspecting the flocks of poultry owners, each fall and winter, under the Hatchery Approval Regulations. When a fieldman visits a farm, he must be satisfied that the birds are healthy, free from parasites, properly housed and managed and that the flock is from purebred stock. The pullets must also be in a clean, sanitary condition. As the fieldman handles each individual in the flock, those having standard disqualifications, or which show lack of vigour, have their tails clipped short. Those that are passed for breeders or commercial laying purposes are then blood tested for Pullorum disease and any birds reacting to the Pullorum test also have their tails clipped short. The regulations require that all three substantial birds that have their tails clipped short must be disposed of within 24 hours. The majority of these birds are satisfactory for market purposes and they are usually sold to some dealer. These birds with short clipped tails are not satisfactory stock for the laying or breeding flock and poultry raisers are warned not to buy them for that purpose.

War Work Service I.O.D.E.

During the summer months the members of the Dr. Tofield Chapter of the I.O.D.E. have been busy. 56 parcels were sent to our local hospitals and from which letters of gratitude have been received. 4 large quilts of useful articles have been sent for the bombed people of Great Britain, containing 14 woolen blankets, 2 wool comforters, 13 knitted woolen afghans, 13 hand knit girl's and boys' sweaters, 5 girl's dressers, 7 nappy dresses with bonnets, 3 pair boys' linen suits, 8 baby jersey, pillow slips, 4 ladies' flannelette nightgowns, 4 girl's slips, 6 pairs girl's bloomers, 10 personal repair bags filled with toilet articles for the unfortunate women bombed out of their homes, the articles are all new and made up by the members. 2 cartons of knitted articles for the soldiers in khaki, 40 force blue and navy blue, such as 30 pair mitts, 30 pair socks, 30 pair turtle necked sweaters with long sleeves, 7 navy scarves, 3 pairs of mitts, 3 helmets, 2 pair of the long cuff mitts. This is the work done since the May meeting throughout the War Work Service. Right now we are collecting for our khaki Aid. Anyone having any articles they can spare, 58, Mrs. Braden. This far is sheared to make linen for coats for men on active service. Several lots of books have also been collected and sent to the camps. A unit for field comforts and cigarettes is tough the War Work Service by the Queen's Chapter. Mrs. Burden, War Work convenor.

Grain Storage

Beyond a doubt, the safest place to store grain is in a licensed country or terminal elevator. However, it is not always considerable grain on the farm, of necessity, be stored on the farm.

If sound weather-proof farm storage is inadequate, information on suitable inexpensive structures will be welcomed.

An enquiry has been received from Ottawa on the Province of Alberta Department of Agriculture and Immigration, Edmonton, giving list of temporary and permanent structures are described and illustrated, together with details on construction. There are few if any farmers to whom this bulletin will not be of use Morris bins, once built and known what bins are not costly and, if properly constructed, will keep grain in good condition. They insist of course, be covered with tar paper or shakes.

Circular No. 34, distributed by the Agricultural Extension Service, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton contains a number of useful suggestions particularly regarding coverings for temporary bins and protection against sudden changes in the bottoms caused by soil moisture.

It is unwise to have grain on the field in unprotected piles. It can be protected at very small cost by methods described in the two above-mentioned publications.

For special problems, information can be obtained from Departments of Agricultural Engineering at the University of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba Edmonton, Saskatoon and Winnipeg respectively.

The Voss Washing Machine

The VOSS WASHING MACHINE, either electric or gasolene engine, is really the latest word in domestic washing machine construction. Its floating agitator forces the water through the clothes hundreds of times per minute and the clothes come out brighter and cleaner than from the ordinary power washer.

The "Electro-Safe" wringer responds instantly at the touch of a finger—and stops instantly. Should mishap occur the slightest touch on a full width bar releases the rollers and stops the motor.

Be sure and see this VOSS WASHER. Models now on display on our floor. Easy terms and trade-ins.

Cooking Lake Forest Reserve Changes Status

Cornhill Council met in regular session on Friday, October 24th, and dealt with many different items of business. Normally, Council meets on the second Friday of each month, but one fall meeting was omitted and the October meeting date put about midway between the September and November meeting dates.

There were present at the meeting on Friday, Reeve Walther, in the chair, Councillors Anderson, Breen, Coombes and Kettleman.

Minutes of previous meeting together with list of grounds passed at that meeting were read and adopted.

Mr. Gladue interviewed Council regarming his taxes. It was suggested that he come in to the December meeting which he agreed to do.

Mr. Reynard Armstrong interviewed Council regarding obtaining title to W half 7-51-20 for $250.00. This land he understood, was bought at $650.00 and $250.00 paid upon it. As this transaction took place a number of years ago, the matter was left over to give Secretary an opportunity of preparing a report upon it.

The monthly financial report for September was studied and included in the minutes of the meeting.

The fire insurance on the bunkhouse having expired, it was on motion of Reeve Walther, renewed. The amount of the policy is $250.00 and the premium $8.00.

By-law no. 11-41 regarding the sale of S.E. 4-50-20 W4th to Otto Gutz was given ... third reading and passed.

Municipal District of The Pines had made enquiries as to whether Cornhill could grade the two miles of road running from Cornhill's northern boundary to the Vegreville highway. Council was of the opinion as the large road outfit was still busy and frosts up likely to come at any time, this work could not be undertaken this year.

Just as a passing remark, Councillor Anderson said that he had recently been in five different municipal districts and on the average the roads in Cornhill M.D. were the best. The roads in Division 5, Councillor Coombe's division, came in for some praise.

Further mention was made of the Weed Inspector's and Pest Control's report. It was mentioned that next year attention would have to be given to ground fires earlier in the season.

Adjournment for lunch.

Mr. L. E. Rovang, Kingman, interviewed Council regarding the purchase of N.W. 6-41-20. This is fairly rough country and he thought it was $200.00 should buy it. Council doubted the wisdom of the sale, saying that it was quite difficult to make a living off of these rough quarter sections and suggested Mr. Rovang look to another location and further council again.

Mr. Hamilton of the Adams Machinery Co., interviewed council regarding the sale of a snow plow for about $200.00 should buy it. Council doubted the wisdom of the sale, saying that it was quite difficult to make a living off of these rough quarter sections and suggested Mr. Rovang look to another location and further council again.

Mr. Hamilton also mentioned blades for the graders, saying they were

Money For War Work Instead Of Hallowe'en Apples

Very quickly falling in line with the suggestion that some form of war effort take the place of children soliciting Hallowe'en apples this year, Tofield, at the moment of writing, is making plans to put the suggestion into effect.

The children of course, will be the ones who will make the decision as they are really the ones who will be making the sacrifice. Suggested early Thursday morning by Mr. Burke, it will be taken in school today and acted upon.

It is suggested that each household instead of giving apples, nuts, candy, etc., give the youngsters when they call, some money, or the signed promise of some money, this money to be used in some war endeavor.

The exact procedure is still to be planned, but it is safe to say the idea will be favorably accepted in most of the households here.

United Church Calendar

The Anniversary celebrations were most successful. The supper on Saturday evening was up to its usual high standard and more people attended the supper than before. It was a financial success. Much preparation had gone into the making of this splendid event and the praise one heard by those who participated in the good things was deserving and well earned. The Ladies' Aid wish to thank everyone who contributed in any way and those helped in its success. The young folks who waited on efficiently on the large number of guests come in for a word of praise also.

The Sunday services were largely attended. The guest speaker, the Rev. C. E. Wragg brought inspiring, thoughtful and inspiring messages.

The Choirs, the Junior in the morning and the Senior in the evening made valuable musical contributions to the Services. The pioneers of the church, Messrs. John and George Cochoon were honored with dedicated in their duet. The solo also of Miss B. Brish, Edmonton, was greatly enjoyed.

Everyone seemed to co-operate so splendidly in making our 47th Anniversary something to be remembered.

Next Sunday, November 2nd Services—

THE WEEK IN EDMONTON

Doubt as to the worth of the new federal orders in the program of price-fixing and hoarding was voiced by Hon. D. Bruce MacMillan, minister of agriculture this week. Mr. MacMillan said that if eastern farmers are to receive financial assistance worth $60,000,000 and western farmers assistance worth only $15,000,000, then some explanation would be necessary. Naturally the farmers of Alberta will be interested in the freight assistance policy rendered to eastern farmers and its effect upon the price, demand and disposition of feed and live stock in Alberta.

V V V

Government members of the legislature, sitting in caucus, declared acceptance of the federal government's tax transfer plan must be under protest. They also declared the action of the Dominion in creating a situation which compels the provinces to accept the proposed agreement.

V V V

The taxation transfer entails surrender by the province of a long list of tax sources, including personal income taxes, corporation income taxes, corporation taxes on banks, electric and power companies, express, theatres, gas, amusements, automotive, land, loan, pipe line, telegraph and trust companies, as well as miscellaneous companies not classified. The province would also be required to prevent any municipality from imposing income or corporation taxes. The means provided that "the proposed agreements constitute a flagrant violation of the rights of the province and involve centralization of power, the very principle we are now combatting in the present European struggle!"

Praise for Alberta's educational system was given by Dr. Raymond F. Hawk, director of research of the Eastern Washington College of Education, at a Rotary meeting in Edmonton. Dr. Hawk was in the city to address the convention of teachers. "Three of the main points of your system are definitely an asset," he declared "If the two points of years and ears were combined it would without doubt be the best system anywhere." Alberta led in support also, the definite philosophy of the system, and the fine teachers' organization, he said.

Announcement has been made by the Canadian Post Office Department that the transmission of fresh fruit is prohibited in the Canadian mails to the United Kingdom and other countries, except the United States. Under war conditions, the carriage of fresh fruit by mail to other countries has been found to be impracticable. In many instances, damage has been caused by rotting or squashed fruit to other parcels in the mail, and much delay has been occasioned in connection with parcels for delivery

Although fresh fruit may no longer be sent by mail to the United Kingdom, facilities are available outside the Post Office for forwarding apples to members of the armed forces or friends in the United Kingdom. A Special Plan has been arranged by the Dominion Department of Agriculture under which shipments of apples may be ordered through wholesale or retail fruit merchants who maintain a stock of certified apples for export. The apples purchased under this arrangement will be shipped in bulk lot to Great Britain and then distributed by Parcel Post. Complete information regarding the forwarding of apples may be obtained from (1) the nearest local Dominion Fruit Inspector; (2) from the Publicity Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa; or (3) the Secretary, Canadian National Council, Ottawa.

Apples For Britain But Not By Mail

RED CROSS SPECIAL
BY GARRY ALLIGHAN

London, Oct. 28 — All through one night recently a child scanned pleasantly in a South Wales hospital. I sat in a waiting room with the child's mother. They could still subsist in my mind; I shall never be able to shake it out. It is all part of the tragedy

Deeply, the latest victims of Hitler's recent pretext raid on South Wales. Muriel, aged eight, was her mother's only child and the joy of a family of six. Muriel's future life will be one of long horror, while her mother's reason is shocked beyond repair.

"Eleven people killed, 12 detained in hospital is the result of a raid on a south Wales town," stated an official announcement with dreadful condonancy next day, telescoping the tragedy into one automated sentence. "The rest was on a small scale."

To Mrs. it was no small scale raid that brought down the house over their heads, flung a heavy fireplace from a bedroom on to her husband, blasted a baby from its cot, flung the child's body and planed down and horribly injured Muriel—all this before her nearly maddening eyes as she lay bound and helpless up to her neck. No wonder she is peevish; perfectly on the cage of insanity.

When a rescue squad with the Red Cross rushed to the wrecked house, even such workers turned to horror and fainted. Muriel was found by the child at the sight and sound—the sight of death and the mad light in her woman's dilated eyes. She heard of "Muriel's moaning. It took two hours to release the child, during which she sprawled beneath the rubble in mortal unconsciousness, indeed it was finally declared dead by Canadian Red Cross. She was spared the sight of the removal of her dead husband, the boys and the baby, spared the sound of Muriel's moans when she was lowered from the stretcher and carried from the wrecked home to a fine three-piece Red Cross mobile unit.

Surgical dressings, drugs, medical supplies of many sorts provided by Canada, are stored in the dispensary car during part of the unit. A surgeon skillfully performed a preliminary operation on Muriel's drugged form, then she was quickly transferred in a Canadian Red Cross ambulance and rushed to hospital.

Mrs. only spoke once in the By although her head, arms, face and legs are incessantly trembling and fluttering to some invisible spring that has been set vibrating. As every moan seeps through the ward heart the grave an aching grasp.

only voice here is the hospital "Oh, my poor little darling," she said in a high pitched, unnatural voice. "Now we can't go home for Christmas."

Please send your donation to the Red Cross British Bomb Victims' Fund, either through your local province division or to the Canadian Red Cross Society, 95 Wellesley St., Toronto.

A lump in the breast is a cancer signal, a warning to that person to seek medical advice. Not that a lump in the breast means that it is cancer. It is probably not, but it is also true that a cancer may never be found until it may be one cancerous if neglected for any length of time.

Lump in the breast is a very definite sign. It is a red light of warning, but like a red light it becomes referenced if precautions are taken. What should be done if you discover a lump in your breast? First of all, don't get panicky or hysterical about it. It is not usually as serious as many other conditions attended to at once. There is practically a hundred per cent chance that cancer in the breast will come of it if proper medical advice is sought early.

Don't try to measure it by your or somebody's "wonder cure" on it. You are only spreading it and making it more difficult for later treatment.

Don't be ashamed of it. Don't try to hide it or forget about it. SEE A DOCTOR AT ONCE. Not nothing or to the delay is dangerous. Thousands of lives would be saved every year if it were not for the delay. Don't wait for pain to occur with the idea that if it isn't painful it cannot be cancer. Unfortunately, EARLY CANCER IS NOT PAINFUL.

Don't put off consultation on account of expense. If you are worried by your family it is all the more reason for looking after yourself.—Alberta Branch, Canadian Society for the Control of Cancer.

Alberta Poultry Producers Marketing Board Commences Operation

By popular request of egg and poultry producers in the Province, the Alberta Poultry Producers' Marketing Board has been established under the Natural Products Marketing Act.

The purpose of this producer Marketing Board is to take control of the handling and packing of eggs and poultry throughout the province by means of licensed operators and generally making regulations where under the trade is expected to operate. It will be the purpose of the Board to gradually assume control of the manner in which those products are handled, assembled and marketed and to this end they have purchased the warehouse and business previously operated in the name of B. Weinberg and Company, Edmonton. The Board is now in active operation at those premises and at branches and agencies formerly operated by B. Weinberg and Company, receiving shipments of eggs and poultry. The prevailing market price for these products is paid according to grades.

It is the aim of this co-operative marketing service to eliminate unnecessary overlapping of seasonally and purchasing services and by diverting an increasing volume of eggs and poultry through Board channels, to make possible a more stable and uniform return to the producers.

The Marketing Board is a producer organization and it is hoped that through this channel marketing a greater ultimate return will be made to the producers.

Through the Marketing Board producers can control their products from the farm to the consumer and it will be the policy of the Board to extend its organization throughout the province, eliminating costly duplication of services and making available this co-operative marketing service to all producers. How readily this service can be developed to the full extent of the ultimate also depends upon the support and immediate response which these efforts will receive from the producers generally. It is assumed that, as this enterprise has been launched by the popular request of producers, it will be enthusiastically received and supported by all egg and poultry producers interested within reach of the Marketing Board service.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By F. J. G. Stanger, Director "The Crop Testing Plan."

Some people blame the economic system known as "laissez-faire" for the accumulation of the Canadian wheat surplus, and so for the present low wheat prices.

By "laissez-faire" is meant that order which for long we had become used to, and by which merchants sold the farmers' products on the markets of the world, and brought back to farmers in exchange the goods and commodities made by city people; and all without undue interference by Governments. The fact, however, that wheat markets have been lost, and that a wheat surplus has accumulated, is definite evidence, allege these people, that the system of "laissez-faire" has broken down, and so must be replaced by a so-called "planned economy."

The truth is that it is not "laissez-faire" that has failed, but that Governments with their policies of high tariffs, quotas and other restrictions on international trade, have interfered with that healthy system of "laissez-faire" and so have made it impossible for merchants to perform their proper functions.

What is needed, therefore, is not the abolishing of "laissez-faire", but rather the abolishing of those tariff walls and other ingenious interferences with legitimate trade, that have prevented international trade from functioning in the interests of farmers and of all of us.

COOKING LAKE FOREST RESERVE CHANGES STATUS —

DURING THE EARLY years of settlement in Alberta and when the natural resources were under Dominion control, various areas throughout the province were set aside as "forest reserves." The name would indicate that statesmen at that time realised that the time would come when an ever expanding agricultural industry would depiete the park lands of the province of trees, and the forest reserves were a precaution against an absolutely treeless area. One of these reserves was in the Cooking Lake Area and has been known throughout the years as "Cooking Lake Forest Reserve."

For quite a number of years there was a persistent effort to have the area thrown open for homesteading, but without success. In 1913 we were told it was only a matter of a year or so before it would be thrown open for homesteading, but the years rolled on and the area remained a forest reserve, and so remained until a year or so ago when the provincial government took over the control of natural resources from the Dominion government. No particular change was made however, until quite recently when provincial authorities decided that the area would not be continued as a forest reserve, but as a community pasture area.

This is probably a move in the right direction as in any case, the area has been used for grazing for some years. There is one feature, however, that is not satisfactory, namely, that the municipal districts within the area, or perhaps it would be more correct to say, borders on the area, are not provided with responsibility as regards fire supression and control. Thus we have a situation where the provincial government controls the land, issues and permits and presumably accepting the revenue therefrom, and the municipality saddled with the responsibility of fire control. This is not right. The provincial authorities should either be prepared to accept full responsibility or hand over the control to the municipal districts concerned.

Another thing that needs clarification is how much of the Cooking Lake Community pasture area is in any particular municipal district. Up to the present the boundaries of each municipal district and of the area in question have been clearly defined. Crown land was crown land, and as such was never included in municipal district areas or records. Where the responsibility of one municipality ends and another begins is going to be quite a problem.

COMMUNICATION

3 Hayward Terrace,
Tunbridge Wells, Kent.
8th September, 1941.

The President,
All aid sorts provided by Can.
Edmonton Branch,
Canadian Red Cross Society,
17 Customs Building,
Calgary, Alberta.

Dear Madam,

I have great pleasure in letting you know that the wonderful consignment of girls' and women's clothes and also layettes have been allocated to this part of Scotland. We should like to try and express to the women of your Division our very grateful thanks for their generosity to all the women and children of this part of the world who need them so badly.

The clothes are sent first to this depot where they are unpacked and distributed among the towns and villages in this district who need them so badly. Many of the women and children from badly bombed areas have evacuated to this district and the clothes which you have sent are just what are the immediate need of in such an emergency.

Will you please assure the ladies of your Division that the clothes are very much appreciated and a great comfort to the women and children here?

Yours sincerely,
(Sgd) M. L. Thornfield.

British and Foreign Bible Society Canvas On

The Annual Canvas in the town and country in the interests of the British and Foreign Bible Society is now under way. We trust the collectors will meet with a generous response to this worth while fund. The sole support of this work is from the gifts of Christian people. It is hoped that Canadian gifts will enable the Society to exceed at the close of the present war, as it did in the last, "by dint of hard work and personal sacrifice, the income was maintained and, in the goodness of God, we came through the years of strife without accumulating debt." It is a matter of history that the main burden for world-wide work has been borne since 1804 by the friends of the Society in the British Isles. The pressure of necessary income tax, the increased cost of living, to say nothing of blackouts and bombings which have curtailed evening meetings, must all tend to diminish contributions this year from Gla Country sources. Canada and Newfoundland for over a century have contributed generously to this great work, and never was the need more urgent. Such contributions should manifestly be increased in attended to the world situation there is the cost of the Special Scriptures distributed on to war conditions, estimated at $30,000 If the war continues, this sum will accumulate to a sadly must pay as it goes. From the time of the outbreak of war until the present the Society has carried on and seized the opportunity of the hour to present New Testaments to soldiers, sailors and airmen on active service willing to receive the same and to supply the Scriptures in required speech for the person and internment camps. Up until May 1st, 1941, 175,000 Presentation New Testaments have been issued and from this a number of 17,140 have been distributed in prison and internment camps and in other places in need areas. It has been the Society's privilege to present New Testaments to Norwegian Airmen and it is the Society's hope to continue this service as Airmen arrive from many allied lands. The Society in Canada and Newfoundland appeals for, and claims added support to maintain its work at home, and to support more adequately the Parent Society, heroically carrying on from the greatest city in the world

Home-Made Electric Fence Units

(Experimental Farms News)

An electric fence unit can be made from a Model T coil to operate temporary fence lines on the farm. These units are easily made, inexpensive, and are operated from a six volt car battery or a six volt dry cell.

The home-made electric fence unit constructed at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, consists of a coil, a light strap iron standard and a swinging bar to make and break the electric circuit. The standard is made of ¼ inch strap iron, is mounted on the posts of the coil which ordinarily hold the brass vibrator cover plate, and extends above the coil to support a swinging bar or contact pendulum. This unit on a six volt battery will operate one to five miles of fence.

Electric fence units MUST for the sake of safety be operated from BATTERIES. Never attempt to operate a fence unit from a 110 volt or 32 volt line as such a unit is very dangerous. A six volt car battery will operate almost any type of fence unit for more than eight weeks, and charging of the battery is recommended at 30 day intervals.

For cattle, horses and hogs, electric fence has proved very satisfactory but is sometimes not considered suitable for use with sheep, goats, or young calves. The height of an electric fence wire should be about two-thirds of the height of the animals in the enclosure, or about 30 inches above the ground for cattle. Standard bush insulators are suitable mounting units for electric lines. Occasionally, however, farmers use pieces of rubber hose or pieces of old inner tube for insulators, but such insulators may not prove satisfactory in wet weather. Due to failing branches, which short the line, electric fences cannot be recommended in bush lots.

Complete details on "Home-made Electric Fence Units" fence construction, and batteries can be obtained in Agricultural Engineering Circular No. 10. This circular may be obtained, free of charge, from the Field Husbandry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Today. The local collectors, Mrs. Swift and Mrs. J. W. Robinson, will be calling for your cheerful and generous support as in former years. Thank you.

RURAL MECHANICAL COURSES FOR FARM BOYS

Arrangements for the first two new mechanical courses for farm boys to be conducted under the Dominion-Provincial Training Programme have been completed. On November 10th, the first two courses will open all three Leland and Glenchan, Directed by the Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture, these courses are designed to provide farm boys with an opportunity to obtain practical instruction in various phases of agricultural engineering.

For many years there has been quite a interest in Agricultural Mechanics on the part of farm boys, but now under war conditions, this interest assumes much greater importance. Every operator of a farm motor, or any farm machinery, is duty bound to so operate and adjust that equipment as to conserve in every possible way, fuel, lubricating oil, grease and steel used for repairs. A properly operated tractor will burn less fuel, and an implement correctly adjusted will not only draw more easily, but will be less likely to break down. Furthermore, the blacksmithing and carpentry instruction given at the courses will permit boys to do some of the many simple farm repairing and so release trained labor for war industries.

The courses are open to farm boys between 16 and 30 years of age. There are no tuition fees and in normal circumstances, financial assistance may be obtained to apply on the cost of board and room. The courses are of six weeks duration and are conducted under competent instructors, who are employed by the Department.

Now is the time for students in Tofield, those who wish to apply, should see Mr. A. Miller at Bow Island, or Mr. E. Thompson at Claresholm, or write direct to S. H. Gandler, Superintendent Schedule "E", Dominion Provincial Youth Training Programme, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

The courses at Bow Island and Glenchan are the first two of six such courses to be offered between now and the end of March .Dates and locations of the others will be announced soon.

The Bridge Builder

An old man going a lone highway
Came at the evening, cold and gray;
To a chasm vast and deep and wide,
The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
The sullen stream had no fear for him;
But he turned when safe on the other side
And built a bridge to span the tide.

V V V

"Old Man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your strength with building here;
Your journey will end with the ending day,
You never again will pass this way;
You've crossed the chasm deep and wide;
Why build you this bridge at eventide?"

V V V

The old man lifted his bent gray head:
"Good," he said,

"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet must pass this way;
This chasm that has been naught to me
To that fair-haired youth may a pitfall be,
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim—
Good friend, I am building this bridge for him."

Boys we've known since babies

● We see them board the train after their last leave home . . . boys we've known since they were babies. We say "Good Luck . . . we're all pulling for you", as we bid them Good Bye. But are we? Are we "pulling" . . . all we can? What are we doing to help them? Are we giving them the things they need so badly . . . ships and tanks and guns and planes and ammunition? Are we giving them all they need? That's one thing we can do . . . we who stay at home . . . one thing we must do. We must provide the money so much needed to win the war . . . and one way to do that is to buy more War Savings Certificates.

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless, selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.

Turn Surplus Wheat Into War Savings Certificates

The Canadian Wheat Board has agreed to permit deliveries in excess of the established quotas at country points by producers wishing to purchase War Savings Certificates and Stamps. This will be effective until July 31st, 1942.

These over-delivery permits must be entered in the permit books of the elevator companies at which the wheat is delivered. Producers should therefore instruct the delivery in the permit book to show that the over-delivery is for the purchase of War Savings Certificates or Stamps.

When producers deliver wheat in excess of the quotas for this purpose, cash tickets in settlement should be made out to the "Receiver General of Canada" for $4.00 or multiples thereof, and a second cash ticket should be made out to the producer for any remaining balance, provided it is for an amount of less than $4.00. For example—If a producer delivers wheat, settlement for which amounts to $22.00 a cash ticket should be made out for $21.60 in favour of the Receiver General of Canada, and one in the name of the producer for $1.40. The latter amount may be used locally for the purchase of War Savings Stamps

Certificates may be purchased by the producer for himself, his wife, and for any member of his family.

LAKESHORE

On Monday evening, Mrs. Art Redman and Mrs. Gemmill surprised their chefs father, Mr. Johnston, when they had a few friends in for the evening to celebrate his birthday.

Margery Murray left on Tuesday for Ponoka where she will be employed at the hospital there. There are a lot of things that we might say about going to Ponoka, but we know the boys probably said enough. What we would like to say is that Margery will be missed by the people in the Lakeshore district. She has always been such a willing worker for any good cause, and a faithful Sunday school and church attender. We hope she enjoys her new work.

The Ladies' Aid plan to hold an Amateur Hour at the school on November 21, and here is a goodly number of entries. Those wishing to take part can leave their entries with Mrs. Alvin Fraser, Mrs. Mel Wood, or if that is not convenient, perhaps they can be left at the store. There is talent galore in our district, so this amateur hour should prove quite entertaining.

BRITAIN'S GREATNESS

By, ST. G S H. FRY, in the Comox District Free Press

Judge Britons, not, O Lord, when we are winning,
When fortune smiles and all our plans go well,
But when facile pinnacles in our ears are dinning
And each new hour has glorying deeds to tell.
Judge us, thy sons, when, steadfast-ly reinvoking
Where long ground yet never being heard,
We raise a smile and as we take a beating
Each man resolves to do his further part.
Then any of us O Lord, when grim and bitter
We turn at last and find true strength in Thee,
When all the hosts of Wickedness are scattered
We prove their mouths in subservi-ency."
May Thy ways be the ways our feet have trod,
Not proud "Great Britain."—Britain great through God.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

There will be a short service at the Cenotaph on Remembrance Day at 11 a.m. The I.O.D.E. members will meet at Mrs. Malcolm's and parade as a group. Veterans will be present and citizens interested are cordially invited to join us in paying homage to those who gave to the men who paid the supreme sacrifice in the last war. Last we remember they fought because they hated war and gave their lives in a quest for abiding peace. Lest we forget—let us remember the purpose of the old war because the purpose of the new. This time it must be a victory which establishes justice and security for all.

JACK JONES: British Miner-Novelist-Playwright

Addresses Gathering Of The U.M.W.A. At Pittsburgh, Pa.

LISTEN TO NOTE. The following extract from an article taken from the British Lobrary of Information, deals with Jack Jones, a Welsh miner, who at the age of 56 turned writer and playwright. The Mercury, in choosing say special articles generally leans toward agriculture and farmers, but this one will be read with interest by those who are now, or have in the past, been associated with coal mining. The article itself consists of extracts from a speech by Jack Jones at the convention of the United Mine Workers of America, held at Pittsburgh, Pa., in September

I am one who started in the mines at the age of 12, in 1896, and as I look back on that great artist that took me with him down the mine, uncanny, my father—and I describe him as an artist because I used to watch him as he viewed his length of coal at the beginning of each shift—I can see him now, on one knee. He would pull out from his little pocket, after he had stripped to the waist, a brass tobacco box and would put a little in his mouth, and his eyes would contemplate and assess the difficulties that nature would present him with during the day. That great man who wrestled with nature in her most dangerous mood, three-quarters of a mile below the surface of the earth, passed away after having worked 57 years as a coal hewer. And sometimes in these days when those people describe me as being a born writer, as having a gift for words, and when I tend to become rather vain because of what people say about me I close my eyes and picture a far greater man, one of the unsung workers, a man who did not talk a lot but did a lot, a man who never wrote anything at all, but one who wrote his name large across the face of the world in the power that he brought up from the bowels of the earth.

ONE OF MINE' LABOR

I remember, as I say, going to work in 1896,—that is about 45 years ago—with that great old man. A little boy 12 years of age, in the darkness of a November morning, going down a road, a hard road along which the hard, heavy boots of the men were beating a kind of prelude to the day of toil, and I was wondering where my father was going to take me. I had lived in a mining area, but had not been down in a mine. I remember stepping on the pit cage and feeling rather afraid. And then I felt a hand ans I grabbed the rail, I felt a hand come down on mine, like that, a reassuring hand,—and there is nothing more holy than the honest feel of another hand,—my father's hand, and I was no longer afraid.

I remember following him along through the workings three quarters of a mile into a seam only two feet nine inches between rock bottom and rock roof—and after he viewed it, he told me something of what he expected me to do. I remember going home proud, black and tired after my first day's work, and then for 38 years going on as a boy, as a youth, as a young man, and as a married man earning my living in the mines. Then when I began to write at the age of 50 what was I to write about? I found there were no books that revealed the glory of the labor done in mines, and I said, "I will write a book about miners, and about their life and about their work," which I regard to be as important as the work of a sculptor, a composer of any kind of artist whatsoever, and I entitled my first book, Rhondda Roundabout," dealing with the life of the people in the most famous mining basin the world ever, in Wales.

From that book I prepared a play, and it was presented on a west end stage of London, and for the first time in the midst of drawing-room plays, and plays that revealed the domestic and marriage problems of the upper classes, there was shown the Welsh miner on the stage of the Globe Theatre telling the world he was as good as they, that he was the salt of the earth

Since that time I have written considerably, and among other things wrote the first mining film for Paul Robeson.

THE VERDICT OF MRS. JONES

For two years I have been a father of a family with my boys busy scattered; one youngster an officer in the Artillery at Tobruk; another boy a signaller in a camp—he was brought back to the hospital wounded, from Dunkirk; another boy in the Royal Army Service; the youngest boy, at the age of 21, in the Air Force. I live with their mother, and when this invitation came, pressing me to come out and tell the people of Welsh origin in America how things were in Wales I looked at my wife, and I said, "What do you think?" She said, "It looks as if I may have to go into the third winter of the war alone; I don't think I can do it." I refused the invitation, much as I wanted to come to America. A cable came pressing the invitation, and my wife said—and there, again, I enjoy more little limelight in the United States, and she is in a little bungalow in Wales, and no one knows her; who is the greater of the two?—she said, "All right, Jack, if you think you can do any good in promoting a general understanding of our position and of our cause in America, go, and I will do the best I can until you come back."

So before you and before God, I ask him to look down upon the unman whose spirit and whose regal courage made it possible for me to be here. May he look down upon her, may he watch her and all women like her in Britain.

WE DID NOT ASK FOR WAR

For two years I say we have been taking end the smashing of Poland, and then, in succession, by the ravishing and smashing of the once free nations and the subjection and the tyrannising of nations that were independent small countries; and today in Britain we have under our ever-burdened wing, the Czechs, the Belgians, the Dutch, the Poles—and my third road from small Luxembourg; we feel we are fighting not for ground, not for diamonds or gold, nor for something far more precious, namely the intangible values of individuality just revealed in this meeting here today.

At last word, because time goes. When I look at your faces I realize there is not a deadly uniformity in this organization. Each and every man has and cherishes an independent spirit, a critical faculty, a mind which he asks of his fellows, demands the right to exercise. He does not want to be poured into any deadly mould, leading forward into a monotonous state that makes everything that man means and suffers and sacrifices everything. We want to realize ourselves all over the world; you people of America, and we people of Britain, we want to realize ourselves as men.

We don't want to overship any man God; we don't want to be compelled to stiffen at the sound of any man's name. We don't want our families torn by suspicion. We don't want generations within any families pointing to one generation and saying, "Do you not subscribe to the name of the Fuehrer? Why don't we stand up and salute at the mention of his name?" We don't want anything of that sort between ourselves, men made in God's image, and God. We don't want anything between ourselves and God.

May God protect the wealth of American individuality from dictatorship, may God defend the right. I have no persecution or any quotation with which to round off my speech. I have no desire to score any rhetorical triumph. I am here today, morning my soul—believing in the soul, I am morning it with yours.

More Hens — More Eggs

A hen house on every farm, full of healthy, vigorous, well fed and well managed hens, is necessary to supply the eggs that Britain requires. Laying flocks cannot be increased with pullets until next year, so to increase the production of eggs as many good yearling hens as space will allow should be retained.

C. W. Tryon, Poultry Commissioner, recommends the weeding out, culling of flocks and advises farmers not to sacrifice good hirds on the market because of lack of housing facilities Such birds might be farmed out to a neighbor who has the necessary space

Good management and feeding are also necessary. Flock owners may secure detailed feeding formulas from the Poultry Branch, Department of Agriculture.

The Week In Edmonton

Publication of a new Alberta map in three colors is announced by the Department of Lands and Mines. The original was entirely staff prepared. Measuring 52 by 39 inches; the maps have national parks, timber reserves, forest reserves, section lines, highways and railways, trails, irrigation canals, ferries, towns, cities, post offices, settlements, forestry radio stations, commercial radio stations, Dominion telegraph lines, airports, elevations, rivers and lakes. A large number of the maps have been sent to Ottawa to fill Dominion needs. Copies at 35c each may be obtained from the Department of Lands and Mines.

Asked to comment on the British Columbia election results, Premier Aberhart said the conservative and C.C.F. gains indicated a strong political unrest, but that the three-way division of the vote showed there was no clear policy before the people and they were unable to declare they will in a positive manner. "It seems that even the stabilizing influences of war conditions were not strong enough to possess a majority vote, thus being registered on this occasion"

Premier Aberhart was named president of the monetary reform organization which held its first conference in Winnipeg this week. Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer was appointed secretary. Delegates from six provinces attended the meetings, and agreed on policies and principles considered essential to a social system "in which the dollar will work for man rather than the man for the dollar."

"Controlled recruiting" will be the practice at the University of Alberta this year following an Ottawa request that the institution "maintain enrolment of engineering, medical and dental students and others in essential technical studies," said Dr Robert Newton, acting president. "We are willing to make a reasonable compromise and appeal to every student through Col. P. S. Warren, officer commanding the C.O.T.C. at the University. Local recruiting officers say they want young men who can be qualified for commission and non-commissioned rank—young men with education so they can use their heads, and act upon their own initiative when they are put on their own.

Over-all surplus of the province has been pilfered to meet special needs, said Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, in an itemized statement issued recently. Extraordinary expenses included $972,064 for implementation of seed grain advances, announced by premier Dominion; fire-fighting cost last summer of $150,000 where the budget provided only $18,000; repair and maintenance of highways through heavy rains in the spring called for $265,000; a steam pipe line serving University hospital cost $18,000; soldiers' re-establishment purposes $20 000; purchase of the Weinberger grading plant for use of the poultry producers' marketing board cost $125,000. In all, extraordinary expenditures aggregated $1,414,564. A surplus of $212,917 on the year's operations, after estimates, special warrants and civil service superannuation fund were allowed.

According to Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, a report on the oil potentialities of Turner Valley will be received shortly. The survey was made by Dr G. G. Brown, professor of chemical engineering at the University of Michigan. Purpose of the survey was to ascertain the greatest recovery possible from the field without injury. Present production is 30,000 barrels daily. Alberta conservation board invited his co-operation here

Alberta's young seed-growers are producing samples of exceptionally high quality, in the estimation of J. R. Bowcsey, deputy minister of agriculture. Many of these samples, now being shown at junior seed fairs will later be shown at the Chicago show in November. It is expected that this year's quality will exceed last year's, but the quantity shown will be less. The department of agriculture will assemble and ship the samples about November 10.

The Bacon Agreements

Swine producers in Canada have now commenced delivery of the bacon order for bacon Canada has ordered accepted. This order is for a minimum of 660,000,000 pounds of bacon in the form of Wiltshire sides for the 12 months beginning October 13th. To fill the order, will require 3,300,000 hogs in addition to those needed for the domestic demand.

Since Alberta produces about one-third of the hogs raised in Canada, the new order is of great significance to Alberta farmers. During 1941 Alberta will market about 1,000,000 hogs, but this number need be materially increased in 1942, if we are to produce the same percentage of the Canadian total.

FACTS ABOUT CANCER

One of the most common sites of cancer is the womb. If it is diagnosed early it is curable. Thousands of cures are on record.

The disease generally occurs between the ages of 35 and 55. First symptom is some abnormal discharge, some change from the normal function. Don't let this fool you. This is a danger signal. See your doctor at once.

Pain is not an early symptom of cancer of the womb. It occurs when the disease is far advanced.

Other women who have had the changes of life and experience return to the previous function—do not allow your friends to mislead you by saying this is natural. IT IS NOT. It is a DANGER SIGNAL. See your doctor at once.

Are you needed by your family? Do you want to keep on living? Then by all means free yourself from cancer yourself.

Don't be afraid of an operation. Every six months. Periodic medical examination will eliminate sources of cancer and save you much mental anxiety and suffering.

There are two Cancer Diagnostic Clinics; in Calgary at the Holy Cross Hospital every Friday afternoon, and in Edmonton in the Provincial Building, 101A Ave., every Tuesday morning. —Alberta Division Canadian Society for the Control of Cancer.

A Small Boy Scout Gave The Lead

A small Boy Scout standing in the crowd watching the military units returning from an Armistice Memorial Service at the Cenotaph in Dominion Square, Montreal, last year, gave a striking demonstration of the power of unconscious example. As each colour party passed the Scout came smartly to attention, and saluted. Other small boys standing near him took notice and began raising their caps. One youngster in his enthusiasm prompted the boy beside him by pulling off his cap as well as his own. A number of men in turn began raising their hats in salute and soon practically every man and boy in the vicinity was following suit.

THE AGE OF YOUTH—

THERE ARE FEW observing persons who have not become aware that in some manner or other the mode of life for millions of people on this earth has in the last few years changed, and is still changing. It is quite possible world tranquility, if such a term can be used, ended in 1914. There has never of course, been such a time as world tranquility, but the quarter century or more immediately preceding the outbreak of world war No. 1 was less troublous than the years which have passed since. Anyway, so it seemed. In those years, Great Britain was the world leader of thought and action. The United States was forging ahead industrially, financially and as regards population. Its oil fields, steel mills, machine shops, lumber mills and many other industrial units were rapidly placing the country in the front rank of world power Canada was busily engaged in filling her vast vacant spaces, and land was to be had for the asking, plus the labor required to develop it. In those years railroads were being built in North and South America, South Africa, Australia and wherever opportunity beckoned. Steamships were becoming larger, faster and more luxurious. The age of steam, having demonstrated itself, electricity came with its myriad of lights and magic power. The moving picture, the aeroplane, labor laws and social betterment tumbled after one another, all apparently with the purpose of making this world a better place in which mankind could live.

Then came the world war of 1914-18. With the surge of battle national economics were wrecked, or at least stripped of their former glory. The world's financial center of gravity was shifted or partly shifted from Great Britain to America. Stupendous sacrifices, both national and individual were made and after it was all over, mankind entered upon the rosy dawn of what was hoped to be a new era. But it was not long before storm clouds gathered and what was hoped would become a time of free trading in which the products of the world could be available to all peoples of the world, became a time of intense competition, excessive tariff barriers, quotas, embargoes and every device known to man to help each particular country at the expense of some other. The net result was that none of the countries gained.

Out of the welter of cross purposes there arose a new movement, or one that could be better described perhaps as a new adaptation of an old one. Youth had always been admired by the old and middle-aged, strength and vigor are always appealing, but it remained for Russia to put youth openly and politically and physically, that the older folk were pushed into the background. Those people in other countries who were in the most fragmentary manner read of the Russian Revolution will recall the emphasis placed upon youth in the commencement of collective farming. Gone were the traditions of the past to such an extent that farm tractors became wedding conveyances. Virile but pliable youth was easily bent to conform, and conscientiously believe in, a new political system, where older men and women lost power as reaching became bent and broken. Only the other day there appeared in one of the Ingersol Russian articles appearing in the Edmonton Journal reference to the absence of older people in responsible positions in Moscow. Even on the streets, so said this writer, there seemed to be a smaller percentage of older folk than one would naturally expect.

Germany was next to systematically mold its youth to a definite way of thinking and acting. Terribly wrong in their outlook upon life and their relationship with other peoples they were, of course, but they were also terribly efficient. German youth imbued with Nazi propaganda have become ultimate automatic robots responding to the strings pulled at Berlin.

There are signs too, that some of the democratic countries are recognizing the terrible power that youth possesses when harnessed to a political or national ideal and are acting accordingly. The youth of Great Britain and the British Commonwealth of Nations, together with the youth of the United States and all other democratic countries, should and probably will be taught the true principles of democratic government of free peoples. In the past only too often democratic principles with their advantages and disadvantages have been merely accepted.

What effect will all this youth movement have upon the peoples of the world after the war? Few will go even so far as to hazard a guess. Certainly there will be social changes, but whether they will come abruptly or gradually, no one now can say. This much appears fairly certain having been enlightened as regards its actual and potential power the youth of all lands will have more to say as regards affairs of state in the future than they have had in the past.

Chief Defences

The chief defences of democracy are not material. They are mental and spiritual. At the very foundation of the structure of democracy must be a sound system of public education. —Calvin Coolidge, 1920

RED CROSS SPECIAL

By Garry Allighen

London, Oct. 27— Eyes and hearts of tens of thousands of bombed children are instead suddenly across the Atlantic to Canada where they see here Father Christmas lives among the snows. To servers which have clouded these young eyes have added a new bitter sadness. They have been told that useless Canadians persuade Father Christmas to harness up his reindeer team and start touring earlier it will be a topsy-turvy Yuletide for them this year. So acute is the shortage of toys in this country that there is only enough for one child out of every 10.

Toy manufacturers have been ordered by the government to reduce their output to 10 per cent of previous figures.

That is the melancholy prospect for the 1,000,000 children, 600,000 of whom will be homeless before the end of "A" by the "Toys Testing Plan." These farmers will have good seed to sell in quantity and at reasonable prices to their neighbors. Next high-est in quality comes Certified seed, which is both safe and sure to grow, but the highest quality of all is Registered seed, inspected in the field and in the sack by officials of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association and of the Dominion Government. Such seed can always be relied upon. A few bushels of high quality seed sown on clean summerfallow is one of the very best investments that any farmer can make.

"If I were you," suggested the operator who delivered the message, "I'd think twice before I'd marry a girl who kept a waiting all day for my answer."

"Ah, no," replied the young Scot. "The lass who waits for the night rates is the lass for me."

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By W. C. L. Strange, Director "The Crop Testing Plan."

—V—

Good seed, I believe, will be scarce this year, for many of the crops grown by some of our best seed growers have been damaged either by drought, by sprtline, or by the abnormally wet fall. Some of these same conditions have prevailed over the spring wheat belt in the United States and in Eastern Canada. It is expected, therefore, that there will be a strong demand from the United States and from our East for prairie seeds. Prairie farmers, therefore, might well consider the advisability of making arrangements for their supplies of good seed as early as possible this fall.

In almost every district there will be found farmers whose crops graded as "A" by the "Crop Testing Plan." These farmers will have good seed to sell in quantity and at reasonable prices to their neighbors. Next highest in quality comes Certified seed, which is both safe and sure to grow, but the highest quality of all is Registered seed, inspected in the field and in the sack by officials of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association and of the Dominion Government. Such seed can always be relied upon. A few bushels of high quality seed sown on clean summerfallow is one of the very best investments that any farmer can make.

Acreage Bonus 75c Per Acre

The federal government will pay an acreage bonus to the grain growing farmers of the prairie provinces in the basis of the an acre on land the cultivated area on any one farm. No farmer may obtain it on more than 200 acres. This means that the maximum bonus obtainable by any farmer is $150.

This latest bonus is in addition to the wheat acreage reduction bonuses and the bonuses payable under the Prairie Farmers Assistance Act. It is seemingly a form of compensation to farmers for the exceptionally low price of wheat, the absence of any government provision for the payment of a cost of living bonus, and the poor grain crops in the west this year.

Apparently every farmer in the prairie provinces is entitled to participate in the bonus, and it is expected that the total cost to the Dominion Treasury will reach $80 million.

It will not be necessary for farmers who have put in claims under the Prairie Farmers Assistance Act because of crop failures, to make additional claims for the new bonus. Seventy-five cents an acre will automatically be added to their other bonus

Other farmers will be required to put in their applications to the secretary of the municipality in their district, as, in the case of unorganized territories, the application should be sent to the provincial officer in charge of the district. Payments will be made from Ottawa after December 1st "A attested area" includes land in summerfallow. —Alberta Wheat Pool Bulletin.

Living Historic Times With Canada

For just one year short of a century-and-a-quarter —124 dramatic, dynamic, historic years—the Bank of Montreal has lived, worked and watched with Canada.

The Bank has seen war come and peace go, peace come and war depart; shared Canada's struggle through every night of economic depression since 1817; rejoiced as our Canada always triumph over all adversity.

Founded two years after the Battle of Waterloo, the Bank witnessed the Crimean War, the Indian Mutiny, each with other loyal Canadians, enlisted for the duration in the South African War and World War I, and now marches with the Dominion and the Empire in World War II

Always, Canada has come through stronger, better, triumphant. May she so come through the present fiery trial. To this end we work and dedicate the resources and energies of our 6000 loyal employees are working and dedicating their personal services.

Mr. and Mrs. Verlyn Moon and Marilyn left on Saturday for a vacation with Mrs. Moon' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper of Mandalay. Mrs. Moon was previously supposed to meet her brother and sister from Oregon, who had arrived at Mandalay but these hopes before she arrived. Verlyn returned home on Tuesday, while Edna and Marilyn plan to stay for two weeks.

A Hallowe'en party was held at the school on Friday night for the school children and their guests. The evening was enjoyed by everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Moon, Edna Myrtle and Marvin of Amisk Creek and Mr. and Mrs. Jacobsen and Marvin were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Short. Mrs. Walker, Pauline and Jean were also visitors there in the afternoon.

LINDBROOK

The weather is gradually getting cooler, so we can expect the wheat season to burst on us soon in all its glory and activities, i.e. feeding and loosing out the stock that we can't fill 'em full time for other winter sports as well.

Mrs. Harry Crone of Edmonton has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. Sortzman of Lindbrook.

Some of the local lads have gone on a big game hunt. We hope they get their means, or whatever it is that they are after.

Mrs. Lindberg of Leduc is here on a visit to her sister, Mrs. George Lust of Lindbrook N.

The proposed New Hall to be built on the road 2 miles N of Lindbrook, somewhere near Tiedeman's is rapidly approaching the actual start of operations. The new Lindbrook will be able to boast of another "Palace of Varieties" to rival the Palais Bergere there put. We don't look for amusement here in winter, with our present facilities, etc. Not forgetting our open air skating rinks, that is if we get a chance to keep the ice clear of snow. We have several good little lakes and some good ice, and as we go to press there some very jolly skating parties have been held on the ice of the Lindbrook. What about a radio hook-up, B!

A dance was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Herbert last Saturday and all present report it did well up to the quality of former dances enjoyed by them at the same place.

Last Saturday, Nov. 1st, a birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Bracegirdle in honor of the 16th birthday of their second daughter, Miss Ethel Bracegirdle. A large crowd of her friends accombled on the evening spent the time with games, music, singing and dancing, etc. Miss Penny was the recipient of many beautiful gifts for her and near and we hope that the sixty five to follow are other such delightful evenings. Many Happy Returns of the Day, Penny, from "me old dad" who wishes you there, is being a younger set affair. Friends from the city attended the party.

Mr. E. W. Hooper spent the week end visiting friends in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hooper were also visitors to the city last week. Their son Robert, "Bob" is attending Victoria High School.

Make Certain Of A Plentiful Supply of Feed

Two often times who finish live stock, especially amateur feeders, receive lower returns because they did not have enough feed to put the final finish on their stock.

Marketing before stock is properly finished is costly because the boss prices are not secured. Those who are fattening any kind of live stock should plan their activities in relation to the feed on hand or which can be raised.

Prof. J. P. Sackville, Department of Animal Husbandry, University of Alberta, states in his bulletin Cattle Fattening in Alberta: "As a guide in the amount of feed required to carry fattening cattle over an average feeding period, each animal will require from three-quarters to one ton of hay and from 40 to 45 bushels of grain." It is assumed, of course, that the feed in each case is of reasonably good quality and that weather conditions will be normal.

In the case of hogs it is generally accepted that 20 bushels of barley, or equivalent, should be available to finish a 200 pound hog.

These figures do not take into account supplementary foods, minerals, etc., but they do provide a rough guide, especially for the beginner, that will assist him to determine the extent of the feeding operations he should undertake.

Father (to infant son sucking his thumb): "Hey, Son, don't do that. You'll spoil it when you're old enough to travel."

Mr. Pete Hladik of the Lindbrook scribe is working for a time at Clarks Mill at Edmonton. Having helped in the threshing of a few of the first world war, he is now helping to manufacture munitions for women who are being trained to take part in the war now being waged. Commendable, I'm sure, but to describe it, by remote control. Ed.

LOCAL & PERSONAL

Mrs. J. W. Robinson, Thanksgiving Secretary E.D.B. of W.A., attended the Quarterly Board Executive meeting held in Holy Trinity church and Parish Hall on Friday Oct. 31st, and returned home Saturday evening.

Miss Isabel Robinson also spent the week end in Edmonton with her mother.

Armistice Day Service At Ceneteph

A brief but impressive service was held at the Tofield Cenotaph at eleven o'clock Tuesday morning. The ceremony which was arranged by the Dr. Tofield Chapter, I.O.D.E., consisted of the honored two minutes silence and an opening prayer by Rev. D. E. Allen.

Then on behalf of the I.O.D.E., Mrs. Barden laid a wreath at the foot of the cenotaph. Following this, Mr. A. B. Clatterbaw, on behalf of the Canadian Legion and Mr. H. Barden on behalf of the Alberta Provincial Government placed wreaths, assisting in honor of the men in memory of whom the cenotaph was constructed.

The ceremony closed by singing "God Save The King."

The ceremony was attended by the I.O.D.E. as a body and also by the Tofield school children, under the direction of Principal McDonnell and teaching staff.

BONUS 75c PER ACRE

Arrangements are now completed for the payment to farmers of 75c per acre on one half of the farmer's cultivated acreage. This bonus is in addition to that for wheat acreage reduction and that ordinarily made under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act. Farmers, market gardeners, and farmers not actually living on or near their farms are not included.

To obtain payment a farmer must submit a cultivated acreage report for 1941 to the office of the municipality. Farmers who have already filed a Cultivated Acreage Report for 1941 under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, need not file any further statement. Farmers who have not yet filed such cultivated acreage report, but who have made a crown Wheat Acreage Claim, must complete a Cultivated Acreage Report under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act. Farmers who have not filed either a Cultivated Acreage Report complete a Crop Report Declaration or a Wheat Reduction Claim must post UNDER CARD.

The maximum payment to any farmer is $150.00. The amount paid is paid in two installments, sixty per cent as soon as possible after December 1st and forty per cent as soon as possible after March 1st, 1942.

Reports are made to the secretary-treasurer of the municipality in which you live. Farmers desiring to benefit under this legislation, and who still to make a report to their municipal secretary, should do so before November 20th, 1941.

Rural Youth Training School Opens At Holden November 17th

A unit of the Dominion Provincial Youth Training Programme will open at Holden on November 17th and last until December 5th. It will be conducted by the Department of Extension, University of Alberta and the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

The courses of instruction are free and are open to young people from 16 to 30 years of age. The course for young men will cover practical agriculture—cattle, field crops, livestock, farm mechanics, poultry, dairying, horticulture, recreation and community leadership.

Full use will be made of lantern slides, teaching films and films of a general educational nature. Evening lectures will be of a non-sectional nature—art, literature, and social problems.

This presents a splendid opportunity for rural youth to obtain adult education at a minimum of cost. The cost is very reasonable, about $5.50 per week student and some of this may even be paid for by supplying fuel, meat, milk, vegetables, wood, fruit, cakes, butter, milk, eggs, flour, chickens, etc.

Those attending should take out or bed, mattress, blankets, pillow, tea towels, soap, towels, ashtray, etc. Take along your nominal instrument if you have one.

Full and complete information may be obtained from Dept. of Extension, University of Alberta, Edmonton, or M. L. Campbell, secretary of the Holden committee.

The Mercury has on hand a number of application forms which we will be pleased to hand out to anyone interested.

Mr. A. Rogers spent his 77th birthday at home with his brother Aaron and his wife, also his daughter, Mrs. R. E. Wilson, who brought in a chicken dinner ready to eat, which was greatly enjoyed. We wish him many more happy birthdays.

No matter what walk of life one may be in there is an avenue through which Canada's War Effort may be increased. The purchase of War Savings Certificates provide an opportunity for ALL to take part in the great struggle for freedom. And it is profitable and fashionable too. Five dollars for four—in time. It is also quite easy to start saving. Wage earners may have deductions made from their pay cheque. Grain Growers may turn their surplus grain into Certificates. Cream shippers may assign a portion of their cheques to War Savings Certificates. Bankers, postmasters, elevator men, creamery men, will all help you to get started —if you need help. Speak to one of these men this week and once you get started you'll find it is like riding in an automobile— the faster you save, the better you'll like it.

Mayor Swift Attends Recruiting Conference

Having been asked to attend a City-wide Recruiting Conference at Calgary on Friday, Nov. 7th, I left Thursday by C.N.R. to Edmonton and by C.P.R. to Calgary. Registered at the Palliser at 9:30 a.m., and hours addresses by Brigadier Harvey, Col. Greer, Major Gainer, Major Chase, Lieut. Col. Cunningham and Capt. Fitzgerald. Cars were provided to take the whole party to the Trades School at Victoria Park and later to Sarcee Camp where we saw some very interesting demonstrations by riflemen, Bren guns and Anti-aircraft guns, firing at small balloons in rapid recent parachutes and bombers, and also at other targets Driven again to Currie barracks, where there were demonstrations of bayonet fighting, grenade throwing, gas demonstration, inspection of vehicles, climbing and sleeping nets, and we had supper in the Mess huts with the cadets serving. Later an address by Lieut. Col. Mess on recruiting and a general discussion of recruiting problems.

Out of it all, it would seem that no matter what we think of government policies or army policies, or management, we cannot wait to change things now, if the war is to be won. The Army, Navy, and Air Force need men NOW, because it takes a long time men to train men for the 157 varieties of jobs and trades needed to keep the services efficient.

There are wonderful opportunities for young men to learn trades and also improve their education, as well as promotion and advancement in the services.

THE BIBLE SOCIETY

The local 1941 contributions towards the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada and Newfoundland were in excess of that of 1940, and in addition new names were added to the subscribers. The officers and canvassers, Mesdames Robinson and Swift, wish to thank all who helped so cheerfully and generously towards this worthy cause. We also appreciated the kind remarks of those who were unable to contribute this year. The canvass lasted seven days, much ground was travelled, for the most amazing responses, and it was all very much while. Thank you again, one and all.

WEDDING

At a simple ceremony in the home of the bride's parents Friday, before a background of calla lilies, yellow mums and fern, Miss Ella Taylor of Edmonton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Taylor, Tofield, became the bride of Mr. James Graham Allan of Edmonton, only son of Rev. and Mrs. D. E. Allan of Tofield.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an afternoon frock of forget-me-not blue, with burgundy accessories. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses and white heather.

Miss Aileen Allan, sister of the bridegroom was bridesmaid. With an afternoon dress of cinnamon brown she wore a corsage of yellow mums.

Mr. William Taylor was best man, and the marriage ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's father, Rev. D. E. Allen.

After the ceremony, a buffet supper was held. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan will make their home in Edmonton.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Preston, Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Fenting, Westlock, Mrs. Dou. Ball and Miss Mona Ball, Edmonton, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gonglein.

Airgraph Messages Effective November 15th to Forces in United Kingdom

SPECIAL FORMS NOW OBTAINABLE AT ALL POST OFFICES

On countless occasions persons belonging to the households from our busy overseas have noted, time after time, the request "Send Me a Letter." Few persons, however, fully realize the gigantic task confronting the Canadian Post Office Department in securing a smooth and regular trans-Atlantic mail service under war time conditions. Despite the careful study given to the handling of these military mails, delay is sometimes inevitable. Suitable shipping space must be found, they more time may elapse before the convoy can be assembled, while the ocean voyage itself often takes longer than in peace time. There too, is always the possibility of loss through enemy action, while on arrival in the Old Country delay may be occasioned because of the black-out, enemy interaction, and similar conditions, so that much valuable time may elapse before the man on active service can hear from his loved ones.

Last summer to overcome similar difficulties and delays of ordinary mail service between the British Forces in the Middle East and their friends and relatives in Great Britain, the British General Post Office introduced the modern Airgraph Message system to facilitate their correspondence. The first to use the Airgraph system from London to the Middle East was Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, who mailed the initial Airgraph message on behalf of the women at home to General Sir Claud Auchinleck, G.C. I.E., Commander in the Chief Middle East, in which Her Majesty sent her greetings to the Forces.

The enormous time and space conserving possibilities of Airgraph recommended the system to the Canadian Postal authorities, and, after careful study plans have been finally completed for the inauguration of Airgraph service to expedite messages from correspondents in this country to the members of the Armed Services in Great Britain. Airgraph, which enlists the aid of Air Transportation and of photography will undoubtedly be welcomed by those on the "home front" and the lads on Active Service.

A person wishing to send a message to a member of the Armed Forces in the United Kingdom may now obtain a special Airgraph Message form at his Post Office — a simple sheet, which has a special space reserved for the written message, and another for the address. From actual experience it has been found that block ink gives the best results in reproducing on Airgraph messages, so do not use coloured inks, greens, purples, and reds, as they do not reproduce so well.

Each Airgraph Message form will be prepaid at the specially reduced fee of only 10 cents — just another of ordinary Trans-Atlantic Air Mail savings! Prepayment will be made by postage stamps, affixed to the space provided on the reverse side of the message form, which will be handed to unfolded by the sender at the Postal Wicket. Envelopes should not be used. Airgraph messages will be given the most expeditious routing and handling, either by air or rail, as is quickest; and will be transmitted to Toronto, where the forms will be checked, numbered and processed, and the original messages filed. These Airgraph messages will be photographed on micro-film in such a degree of reduction that the photographic images of the letters will occupy about 1-200 of the area of material required by the originals. In this way a roll of film would contain 1,700 letters, and would weigh only 1-100 that of the original 1,700 pages.

This film will be despatched by air to Great Britain, where an enlargement will be made of each message, and the prints will be placed in envelopes and delivered to the units or formations of the addressees by the Canadian Postal Corps.

This remarkable new service, which is designed exclusively to provide a speedy means of communication for persons in this country willing to the Armed Forces in Great Britain, will go into effect on November 15th according to the announcement made by Hon. Norman P. McLeod, K.C., Postmaster General.

At the outset Airgraph facilities will not apply to civilian addressees in the Old Land. Airgraph forms are now available at all Post Offices.

Drive For Dollar Wheat

The mass meetings held throughout Alberta by the United Farmers of Alberta and the United Farmers of Canada (Alberta Section), in support of the campaign for dollar wheat, have been characterized by keen attendance and widespread enthusiasm.

At Vulcan the dollar wheat policy received the support of nearly 300 prominent farmers and business men. The meeting passed two resolutions, the first asking that the initial payment on wheat be raised to $1 a bushel, basis One Northern at the terminal. The second urged that the crop year be declared an emergency year under the terms of the P.F.A.A. and that payments under the act be raised upward.

At Drumheller 500 farmers gathered in the Elks Hall and passed similar resolutions. It was pointed out that during the past two years wheat production costs have increased rapidly due to war and other conditions, with no corresponding increase in the price of wheat.

At Strathcona a representative gathering of farmers descended by motorcade that the wheat price be raised to $1. J. G. Baker of Bittern Lake mentioned that farmers may be criticized as being unpatriotic, but there is no body of people more patriotic than the farmers, who ask merely demand equality of sacrifice.

At a rally held under the auspices of the United Farmers of Canada, (Alberta Section) in Edmonton in front of dollar wheat, R. G. Gorman, secretary of the Alberta Wheat Pool, stated that if farmers were treated on the same basis as were the wage earners the price of wheat would be $1.80 a bushel.

At Carstairs, Robert Gardiner, president of the U.F.A. said that the cost of wheat production in around 93 cents a bushel and with the present price, which is around a dollar, around 4 32: a bushel at local shipping points, agriculture is facing a major disaster.

At Lethbridge nearly 700 farmers and business men gathered to hear Robert Gardiner. He urged that farmers pursue unceasingly their action for dollar wheat and for a larger measure of assistance for farmers in their basic war industry. He urged every person in Western Canada, should write to Prime Minister Mackenzie King in support of this.

Many other meetings have been held, and it is anticipated that the farmers are united almost unanimously in support of dollar wheat as a large measure of assistance to farmers with poor crops.

Farmers And Monetary Inflation

Do farmers benefit or otherwise from monetary inflation? That is a question that must receive careful consideration at the present time. All the symptoms for widespread inflation are present in North America today. Governments are attempting to ward it off. Such efforts may or may not be successful.

Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture for the United States, says: "I would say the past two years of prosperity for the past 20 years that whenever farmers get a price rise it is usually swift but brief; whereas when the farmers' costs rise they may not go up so swiftly but once they get up they stay there . . . . No farmer who remembers the bitter experience of the last post-war period wants to see this kind of inflation to gain. He knows that prices jumped up by speculative influence reasons and organizations far greater than the inflationary bump came in 1920 farm prices led the procession down, went trend just as they had led it up, and again they went faster and further. But this time farm costs never did drop as far as farm prices, not until the depression of 1929 did some of these costs really begin to drop. During the twenties farm taxes got so high as to bankrupt scores city wage rates 2½ times, freight rates were increased, interest charges two-thirds above pre-war. When these costs did finally level off they were on a significantly higher level than pre-war level.

The long deflation really got in its worst licks on land values, tax delinquencies, foreclosures and bankruptcies between 1925 and 1932 at least one farm in every five lost-mortgaged changed hands. Between 1934 and 1936 the total farm mortgage debt was reduced by some $3 billion, but it was reduced largely by persons in Western Canada, should write to Prime Minister Mackenzie King in support of this.

The country over, the value of an acre of plowed land was $48 from 1926 to 1930 in 1932. In town improved land that was valued at $134 an acre in 1918 was-bed $252 an acre by 1929. In the years after 1920 farm values and mortgages went up much as they had risen during the war, but they dropped in an average 35 per cent below the modest pre-war values. Yet farmers had to pay debts and taxes and interest and other charges on the basis of inflation nearly double the pre-war level. —Alberta Wheat Pool Budget.

Army Supervisors Airman Thanks Salvation

The following letter, addressed to The Salvation Army's Red Shield Supervisor in Winnipeg, from a member of the R.C.A.F. stationed in that city, is but another of the attributes being received from "the boys" who appreciate what "The folks back home" have made possible for the auxiliary services to provide:

Dear Sir: Enclosed you will find the sum which you so kindly lent me yesterday.

My father and wired some money to me at our headquarters here which I was able to collect this morning. Without your help I am sure that I would have spent a rather painful night, and I hope you will understand how truly grateful I am for your help.

Before this time I had more or less taken the War Service Committees and Organizations for granted, which attitude I suppose is common to a number of our boys until some experience like mine of last evening impresses upon us the real significance of your work, and makes us most devoutly happy that "somebody cares."

If there is any way in which I may assist you please be assured that I am.

Yours gratefully,

"J. G."

Accident Hazards Greater In Winter

Shorter periods of daylight with the advent of winter and more driving hazards make it imperative for motorists to check over and "winterize" their cars, according to officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

Now is the time to see that all safety equipment of the car is in proper working order. Take no chances. The time may come when the saving factor between serious injury and death will be just the margin of safety that exists in the car equipment.

Provincial regulations require brakes to be kept in order and authority is given the police authorities to test the efficiency of brakes at any time.

Under present conditions, motorists are urged to use more care when driving over railway crossings.

Despite the number that have been eliminated in the last 10 years, there still are many of these hazardous crossings in this province.

The toll of fatalities this winter will be substantially reduced if drivers will take every care to see whether there is an oncoming train. In these short days "Stop, Look and Listen" should be applied with greater observance than hitherto.

Germination Tests

Last year we installed in our laboratory two modern germinators, each with a capacity of 500 samples in duplicate per week. We undertook to test seeds for farmers at cost of the machine, plus a small charge for seed boxes, and nearly 1,500 samples of seed were sent in by farmers from all parts of the province. Many farmers got their customers. The results were of great value to many farmers to assess the value of their grain lots.

The germination of cereals and a number of other crops is usually completed within seven days. Timothy, however, requires fourteen days, and alfalfa and sweet clover twenty-one days. Germination tests are made at Calgary, Saskatoon or Winnipeg.

Some farmers cannot easily explain what is known as "dormancy." That is, seeds which in the early days refuse to germinate, especially in the autumn. This means, of course, that the true viability of some samples may be underestimated. It is no exaggeration that this dormancy, or delayed germination, as it is sometimes called, can be broken by special pre-chilling treatment. In the case of timothy seed, the true germination percentage can be found in this way.

We have now installed a fourth unit, specially built for our purpose, which will enable us to pre-chill all samples sent in for tests.

There is as much weathered grain in the country this year that the demand for tests will probably exceed the capacity of our laboratory. The sooner samples are sent in therefore, the better. Consult any grain buyer of the elevator companies now-listed with this department. He will mail your samples to us.

The Present Situation Of The Prairie Wheat Grower

THE PERTINENT FACTS

1. Present price of No. 1 wheat to farmers at average country point is 51½ cents a bushel.

2. Similar price of No. 1 wheat in 1918-14 was 68¾ cents a bushel.

3. Price of wheat today, therefore, is 25 per cent lower than in 1913-14.

4. The cost of living and production for a prairie wheat growing family, according to the Bracke Index is 80 per cent higher today than it was in 1913-1914.

5. U.S.A. Government has adopted the principle of the 1913-1914 parity, which means that agricultural products should have the same purchasing power now over the things that farmers have to buy as they had in 1913-14.

6. For wheat in the U.S.A. to be at the 1913-1914 parity would require a price of approximately $1.32 in store Chicago. Today May wheat, Chicago, is actually $1.19 a bushel.

7. For Canadian wheat to be at 1913-14 parity would similarly require a price of about $1.30 for No. 1 Northern in store Port William-Lister" should be applied with great-Today No. 1 Northern Fort William is 75¾ cents a bushel.

8. A maximum of 223 million bushels has been set for the amount of wheat that Western farmers are permitted to deliver during this present crop year.

9. In order to narrow somewhat the wide gap that exists between the farmers' low income from wheat and the high cost of the things that farmers have to buy, the Government has given wheat growers certain benefits which have amounted in round 82 million dollars. (An additional 8 million dollars to farmers who grow grain other than wheat.)

10. Including these Government bonuses the total income from wheat during the present crop year will amount to about 142 million dollars, as compared with 224 million dollars' revenue from wheat last year, and 441 million dollars in 1928.

A DESCRIPTION OF THE SITUATION

A study of the above facts shows at a glance that our Canadian wheat growers are suffering from severe financial hardships, far out only in the price of wheat, which is 25 per cent less than it was in 1913-14, but the costs of the vitally essential things farmers must buy to stay on their farms have increased by 80 per cent. Gasoline, oil, machinery, household equipment, farm equipment, farm machinery and principal taxes, which all together cost an average farming family $667.00 in 1913-14 today costs the farming family $1,204.80 for the same quantity of goods of the same quality.

In addition to this price burden, our wheat growers have been handicapped during the present crop year and could offer for sale has been curtailed by governmental regulations, and so their total revenue has been drastically reduced. It is obvious, therefore, that unless the cost of things our wheat growers have to buy is considerably reduced, or unless the price of wheat rises somewhere near to parity level, our farmers will continue to have extreme difficulty in continuing wheat production and in maintaining their families at a reasonable standard of living unless, of course, the Government gives bonuses and grants that will considerably increase the wheat grower's income.

In these columns we have drawn attention to this situation time and time again for several years past, and as far back as 1939 we designed the Basic Index in order to keep in front of our farmers, and of the Government and others the difficulties of the wheat and the constantly rising costs of the things our farmers have to buy.

It is quite evident, however, that our Government fully realizes these difficulties, for on October 18th, the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, M.P., Prime Minister of Canada, made a broadcast which included the following statements:

"It is recognized, however, that wheat and other non-perishable products, held in reserve, constitute an invaluable war asset. Agriculture itself is a national asset which must be preserved at any agricultural price, with a few conspicuous exceptions, especially wheat, are better today than they have been at any time during the past ten years. In many cases agricultural prices have not kept pace with increases in costs of production, measures are being taken to bring about a more satisfactory relationship . . . ."

These quotations make it evident that the Government of Canada is seized first with the importance of the service of the wheat grower, and of the high value of our surplus of wheat, and secondly by the obvious fact that the wheat grower deserves and should receive further help.

SOME HELP HAS BEEN GIVEN

The wheat grower, however, has already received some help from the Government. There was the 30 million dollars given for wheat acreage reduction, and then the additional 19 million under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, and now an additional bonus to all farmers of 32 million dollars, of which we calculate 12 million will accrue to wheat growers for acreage under wheat. Adding these bonuses to the 160 million dollars which our prairie farmers would receive from the sale of their wheat (200 million bushels at 80 cents a bushel) comes to a total sum of 152 million dollars which our wheat growers will receive this crop year, as compared, however, with 224 million which the wheat growers received last crop year—it was not considered that last year they received a sufficient income. (In 1928 receipts from wheat alone were 441 million dollars.)

It will be seen, therefore, that the total income from wheat growing for this present crop year will be 82 million dollars less than last year, which situation must result in serious difficulties to them. It is quite true that there are some wheat growers operating in areas where climatic conditions enable them to produce coarse grains and livestock, whose problems will be easier, because the prices of these particular products are on a satisfactory level. On the other hand there are many of what are termed "straight wheat growers" who certainly still face, even after receiving the bonus, with an extremely difficult situation.

In contrast to the low returns to wheat growers we might look at the high returns to industrial labor.

WHEAT GROWERS AND INDUSTRIAL LABOR

The average hourly rates of industrial wages, as set out by the Department of Labour, for 1940, were twice as high as actually 104 per cent higher than, in 1913-1914, and in 1941 wages have been raised still further, and in addition industrial labour has received substantial "cost of living" bonuses.

Some say that it is not fair for the Government to give assistance to our wheat growers. While all history, however we draw attention to the fact that all the high wages and cost of living bonuses given to industrial workers who work directly and indirectly on war production, are themselves paid for by the Government, for the Government itself buys and pays for all the products of these workers.

Considering all this it certainly seems as though our wheat growers are deserving not only of all the assistance they are now receiving, but of any further help they may receive in addition in the future, for it must ever be remembered that the great markets of the world to which our farmers would be selling their wheat, have been cut off by the war and by governmental policies which, of course, is all entirely out of the wheat growers' control. —Steele Grain Company, Ltd.

Edmonton, November 10— Pumpkin pie, mince pie, custard pie, apple pie, lemon pie, cherry pie, and pie-eating records were all broken in Edmonton Monday when 1,000 persons attended the first annual Pie Festival. The festival was held in the Hotel Macdonald, and was sponsored by the Edmonton Retail Merchants' Association. Proceeds from the sale of admission tickets, which were $1.00 each, were donated to the Red Cross Society.

Pie-eating contests were held throughout the afternoon and evening, and the pie-eating champion of the world, Joey Chitwood, was present to demonstrate his skill. Chitwood, who has won 50 pie-eating contests, ate a pie in 1 minute 10 seconds.

This included $2,052,840 in British Columbia, $210,378 for Manitoba and $4,377 in Saskatchewan. Beekeeping Notes

In Alberta there are now in the neighborhood of 8,000 beekeepers, and this figure is being increased at the rate of about 300 a year. The increased interest in mixed farming, where more clovers are being grown is changing many districts in Alberta into ideal beekeeping territory.

All beekeepers are required, by law to register each year. Any beekeeper, who has not registered this year, should write to the Apiculture Branch, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, for a form. The purpose of this registration is to assist the Apiculture Branch in its work of inspecting apiaries and helping beekeepers.

STABILIZATION OF PRICES AND WAGES

Your Country asks your loyal support of this Wartime Measure

TWO NEW CONTROLS have now become essential in Canada's wartime design for living. These are:

(1) Control of Prices

Commencing November 17, 1941, there may be no increase in the prices of goods and services generally unless absolutely necessary and authorized by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

(2) Control of Wages

No employer, with certain limited exceptions, may increase the basic wage rates paid so his employees unless authorized by a Board on which the Government, employers and employees are represented. But after February 15, 1942, every employer with the same exceptions, will be obliged to pay a cost of living bonus and to adjust this bonus every three months.

Action Necessary to Stop Inflation

This Government action has been taken to prevent the inflation we knew in the last war, and its subsequent depression, unemployment and suffering.

Every housewife knows that prices are rising, and rising rapidly, unless controlled, will make it more costly and difficult to finance the war. Rising prices, unchecked, will spread confusion in industry and trade; will hinder production and proper distribution of supplies; will make the cost of living rise more rapidly than wages and salaries; will lessen the value of savings; will result in hardship for almost everyone, and especially those with small incomes. And the result of uncontrolled inflation, after the war, when prices drop, will again be depression and unemployment. Prices cannot be controlled without control of wages. Excess profits are, and will continue to be, under rigid control.

Coverage of Wages Stabilization Order

The Order is applicable to the following employers:

1—Every employer normally subject to the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act.

2—Every employer engaged in the manufacture of munitions of war, or war supplies, or the construction of defence projects.

3—Every building trades employer with ten or more employees.

4—Every other private employer with fifty or more employees.

The Order does not apply to employers in agriculture or fishing, or to hospitals, religious, charitable or educational associations operated on a non-profit basis.

Wage Provisions

Except on written permission of the National War Labour Board, an employer may increase his basic wage rates. This permission can only be given in cases where the Board has found the wage rates to be low. Wage rates which are unduly high will not have to be decreased, but in such cases the Board may order the employer to defer the cost of living bonus.

Cost of Living Bonus

Every employer covered by the Order must pay to all his employees except those above the rank of foreman a wartime cost of living bonus.

Effective November 15, such employer already paying a bonus under PC 7440 of December 16, 1940, shall add to such bonus an amount based on the rise in the cost of living index for October 1941, above the index number used to determine the current amount of the bonus.

Effective February 15, 1942, each employer who has not been paying a cost of living bonus must begin to pay a bonus based on the rise in the index between October, 1941, and January, 1942, unless ordered by the Board to base the bonus on the rise in the cost of living over a longer period.

The bonus is calculated on the following basis: For each rise of one point in the cost of living the amount of the bonus shall be 25 cents per week, except for male workers under 21 years of age and female workers, who, if employed at basic rates of less than $25.00 per week, shall receive a bonus of 1 percent of their basic wage rates.

These bonuses will be adjusted regularly every three months.

Administration

The Order will be administered by five regional Boards under the direction of a National War Labour Board. Labour and employers will be represented on each of these Boards. Work for the commencement of these Boards to which inquiries concerning the application of the Order should be directed.

Whole-Hearted Support Required

Your Government knows that this policy, as it affects labour, industry, commerce, and agriculture, demands a degree of restriction to which Canadians are not accustomed, and is directly a wartime measure. It will demand self-discipline and self-control. It will need the whole-hearted support of everyone who has the well-being of his fellow citizens at heart. But by loyal co-operation, Canadians can have much more assurance that the fears, sense of insecurity, the suffering and profiteering which inflation always brings, will neither interfere now in the winning of this war, nor in the recovery and reconstruction of Canada and the Canadian way of living after the war is over.

Issued under the authority of
Hon. N. A. McLARTY,
Minister of Labour

KETCHAMOOT

Miss Lillian Beatrice Sutton, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sutton, and Mr. William Alfred Curry, eldest son of Mr. Alfred Curry, were quietly married in Edmonton last Tuesday, Nov. 4, by Mr. Meikle, Justice of Peace. They are making their home at the Curry farm in the Round Hill district. Congratulations and best wishes are extended to them from their Ketchamoot friends.

Miss Marguerite Whitham is taking a business course at the Alberta College. While in the city she is making her home with her grandmother, Mrs. Sheppard.

Mrs. Eagre Kay has received word of the safe arrival of her husband in England.

Mr and Mrs. Roy Lee are building an addition to their home.

Mr. Peter Lerbekmo and son Jack, also Henry McGinnis are away on a hunting trip.

William and James Ingram have been doing stucco work all fall They have stuccoed the Appleby, Kleinschrodt and George Williams houses.

Mr. William Stairs of Drayton Valley is spending a few days visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. M. Dawson

The Misses Edith Davison, Hazel Sears, Ethel and Esther Cossboon, Harold Cossboon and Stanley Sears visited with Lyle Coomben in Camrose Tuesday evening.

Miss Margaret Kelly spent the week end visiting friends in Edmonton.

A chestnut was held on the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. William Curry, at their home Monday night, but with dances at Lindbrook, Ryley and Meadow, not such a large crowd was present.

Mr and Mrs. Leonard Stauffer are spending a few days with Mrs. Stauffer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lawson.

Mrs. Petje Lerbekmo spent the week end at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Stauffer at Bardo.

Miss Kathleen Ingram and Mr. John Nickerson of Edmonton spent Tuesday at the J. H. Ingram home.

Mrs. Wm. Thompson and Mrs. Earle Moore visited with Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. W. A. Mitchell on Sunday.

Owing to Mrs. Lerbekmo acting as substitute teacher at Bardo, the Ladies' Aid was held at the Sears home Wednesday afternoon of last week. Seventeen ladies were present and were busy tieing a Red Cross quilt before the meeting. Another quilt will be tied later on. All members are requested to bring their thank offering to the next meeting Lottie yours instead of serving a dinner in the fall, a thank offering was given instead. We think we will have to go back to our picnic and thanksgiving dinner, as it is not so easy either, to pay out the cash.

Miss Kelly and some of her girl pupils gave a jolly Hallowe'en party at the school house Hallowe'en night. All residents of the Community were invited and they turned out in a large number The school house was decorated in the usual spookish way Bobbing and all kinds of games were played by the children and older children. Apples were passed around and lunch was served, after which a draw was made for a box of groceries, Harold Schultz drawing the lucky number. We wish to extend our thanks to Miss Kelly and her girls.

LINDBROOK

The Ladies of the W.S.B.D. Club of Lindbrook held a rather unique meeting or party at their last meeting planning at the home of Mrs. A. L. ench everyone attending brought whatever antiques they possessed, then it if they could carry them, which included many objects. Some very old and interesting things were shown, also some early samples of photographery art. Time and space forbid detailed descriptions, but the present engineered themselves at having thoroughly enjoyed the novel form of entertainment. We fayer the men have a few rules too, for instance, that dirty old sweater or cap that he will persist in hanging onto and wearing, especially in the presence of nifelly dressed city friends who visit you. Also the yards are usually full of rubbe in the form of old implements, chunks of useful old iron and lumbers, might be useful to someone at sometime.

Miss Alice Bailey is home on the sick list for a few days. She is a student in high school in Edmonton.

Mr. Howard Stone was admitted to the Royal Alexandra hospital last week. Mr. A. J. Richardson drove up with the patient, with Mr. Jas. Hooper as orderly. We hope soon to be able to announce Howard's recovery and return home.

Mr. Editor, we have a little bone to pick with you this trip. Your writer objects to being called a "writer." While no doubt it is the correct term per the dictionary, you we don't like it. We as children were taught a lot about these "scribes and phariseers" and they were always thought to be a bunch of dirty hypocrities, bad ones passing as "some good." But in reality the reverse. Anyway we've always felt that being as "old sweat" we have come to be a "publican and sinner" type, feel more natural with that bonch anyway, so please, oh please, don't call me a "scribe."

Cheer up! Guyz! another house warming December 1st. Why not make it a monthly pay cheque and be done with it? A few more babies or weddings don't make much difference now.

Mr and Mrs. Bob Whyte from Edmonton visited with home folks on Tuesday.

LAKESHORE

J. H. Warner is off on a big game shooting trip this week, and we hope he returns with whatever it was he went aiming to get.

Mr. Editor, we have reports a night that was tops at the birthday dance for carman Freeman met Friday at the hall.

Mrs. Frances is going to be a busy hostess this week, Tuesday evening the social Credit Groups are holding their dance meeting at the Frances home and on Thursday afternoon the C.F.W.A. will gather there for their November meeting.

We forgot to mention that the Ladies' Aid Amateur hour planned for Nov. 21 will provide fun and competition for those who are not entering the amateur contest. There will be a quiz program, so study your radio programs and your text books and be right on your toes for the question you'll get that night, for the ladies' amusement, there will still room for a large number of entries on the program and, "we need no such Frieda" unless things take for you. If you think you have talent, see Mrs. Frank Telfold or its mighty giving full particulars." And all next week practise on your harmonica, piano, piano, etc. Forget there is a piano at Lakeshore school now) or any other old gypsy tune that makes dramatic ability, your ventriloquist dummy, or what have you, and be on Jack Frieda' program time things take part in the program.

Mr. Jones, of Clover Bar, father of T.A., Leslie and Jos, was a visitor to this district on Sunday. Though well on in years, Mr Jones is as spry and active as ever, and Lakeshore people are glad to see him looking so well.

MINNITIE

Mr. W. Whitford has moved his house over the new basement. Mr. Jack Reddick moved it with his tractor.

Mr. W. Ingram has finished plastering the inside of Alex Kleinschrodt's house. He has now done a fine job. The house is certainly going to be a credit to the district.

Mr. Pete Heitzman has decided not to have his old house stuccoed this fall. He will build a new house next spring.

Mrs. Flowers sold her farm, both stock and barrell, to Mr. L. Wessell of New Sarepta. She has moved to South Cooking Lake where she has bought the business of Mr. C. Upright.

Mrs. Murdock has been to Sedgewick visiting her daughter, Sarah, for a few days.

On Wednesday, Nov. 5th, a few of the old Social Creditors held a meeting at Minnitie hall. There were 9 old members, and 2 visitors present. It was decided to have a meeting on each Friday evening, and to elect officers for the coming year. Those present had a grand time, and have a good start. Visitors are welcome.

Mr. H. Heitman has got his lumber at last. He has waited for it for about 3 weeks. It is to be hoped considerable toward getting the house up before the cold weather sets in. However some of the neighbors are going to give him help so it won't take long to erect.

McKENZIE

Mr. Anderson, Lisa, Arley and Rae were supper guests at the Walker home on Sunday evening.

Supper guests at the home of Mrs. Moen sr., on Monday night attended Mr. E. J. Anderson and family. Mr. and Mrs. Wickenberg, and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Eagleson and Jean, Mr. and Mrs. V. Moen and Marilyn, James Jones and Rose, Pat and Katie Dieurlais.

Margaret Hartsen is now assisting Mrs. Leslie Rogers with the work. Mrs. Rogers has been in the hospital for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Martins moved over on Anderson's place on Monday.

Dinner guests and visitors at Jacobsen's Sunday were the Hasbedahl family, Mike Erickson family, Mr. and Mrs. Jos Stauffer and Mrs. P. Lerbekmo. It had been eleven years since the Erickson family had been at the Jacobsen home.

Mrs. H. Weatherill visited with her parents for a few days last week.

Mr. J. Sunday has built himself a new garage. Minnitie has certainly the building fever.

If the party or parties who took the two bushels of corn off the card tables in the Hall would kindly replace them, it would be greatly appreciated by the ranch Hall Board.

The Hockey Boys put on a whist drive on November 7th, in the Minnitie Hall. It was a great success financially. There were 9 tables. A number from Lindbrook came down and all said they had a good time.

The monthly ranchers' meeting was held this month at Colchester. There were 9 present and the next Ranchers' meeting will be at Minnitie in December.

We are pleased to see Mr. Alex McSporran back home again after his accident a few weeks ago.

L.C.C. NEWS

On October 23rd, the members of the L.C.C. made a visit to the city on a sight seeing and pleasure trip. They visited the Parliament buildings and McGavin's bakery, and also took in a show. It was much enjoyed all by all.

The regular meeting of the club was held on October 28th, at the home of Chas Morden, Mrs. Ketchin being the hostess. Eleven members and one visitor were present, the visitor being, Mrs. McKenzie. It was a real Hallowe'en meeting, the house being decorated with pumpkins, witches and black cats. Mrs. Herdon and Mrs. Gleu were the lucky winners of the contests. It was decided to make a quilt for the Red Cross. A pot luck supper was also planned for the near future. A delicious Hallowe'en lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lancaster.

Tofield, Alberta.

Dear Friend,

It has been suggested that you will be interested in the project of our Historical Society. You are, therefore, cordially invited to become a member.

We plan to publish a History of the Bardo Settlement, to be called "Alberta Pioneers of Bardo". The book will include sketches of pioneers and early settlements in the districts surrounding Bardo. The stories have been gathered or written by Mrs. Georgey Hendrickson and Mrs. Arnold Stuen.

Mr. M. N. Kenning, author of "Fifty Years in America", says after reading the manuscript:

"Very few of the first pioneers wrote down their experiences; they were so busy making history that there was no time left for writing history. What would it not be worth if some person or persons had done the same for other settlements while some of the first settlers were still living!"

In the case of Bardo this important work has already been done. The grand-daughter of the first Norwegian missionary to Alberta, Rev. Berrevoet Anderson, and daughter of a pioneer of Bardo, Nils Jenning, has spent years in gathering and writing interesting accounts of early pioneer life. The material is now ready. We are inviting you to join us in publishing the book.

Will you fill in and mail to us the form at the bottom of this article and become a member of our Historical Society.

Yours sincerely,
Martin Hagen, Sec.-Treas.

ORGANIZATION

The Historical Society of Beaver Hills Lake was organized in Bardo on October 4, 1941, at an enthusiastic and well attended meeting. Mr. N. N. Kenning of Minneapolis who has been interested in similar projects in the Norwegian settlements of Minnesota addressed the meeting. It was decided to organize, officers were elected and the publication of the book was undertaken.

GUARANTORS

Many of the members immediately guaranteed $10 each, and many others guaranteed $5 each. These guarantors will receive a cloth-bound copy of the book (value $3). The balance will be refunded if it is possible for the Society to do so. In any case the guarantors will receive books for the value of the amount guaranteed.

MEMBERSHIP

It was decided that the membership fee in the Society be set at two dollars. This will entitle the member to a free copy of a cloth-bound volume of the book.

Form to be filled in:

Mr. Martin Hagen, Sec.-Treas.
Tofield, Alberta.

Total amount enclosed $
Amount guaranteed

Please find enclosed dollars for which make me a member of the Historical Society of Beaver Hills Lake, entitling me to a cloth-bound copy of "Alberta Pioneers of Bardo."

To assist the Society I desire to guarantee the sum of $ be refunded in cash if possible or books at $2.00 each.

SKIS TO RUSSIA

Montreal, November 17— Almost on par with the old saw about sending coals to Newcastle is the fact that skis made in America are now being shipped to Russia. When the "Maple Leaf," Canadian National Railways Limited from Chicago to Montreal arrived recently at Bonaventure Station, there was an express car containing skis made in Minnesota and shipped from St. Paul. They are being handled by the Canadian National Express and were transferred to the "Maritime Express" en route to an Eastern Canadian port for trans-shipment overseas.

The consignment contained approximately four thousand pair of skis.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By E. G. L. Strange, Director "The Crop Testing Plan."

An International Wheat Conference now meeting hopes to divide up the World's wheat trade during this war and after the war, and to allocate certain quotas to export countries.

For my own part I do not believe that the best interests of Canadian wheat growers would be served by having their high quality wheat placed on an equal basis with the lower quality produced by other countries.

In any event, however, even if quotas are not, the high quality in Canadian wheat in itself alone should warrant a much higher price from this country than from others.

Certainly it seems then that from any point of view the high quality of Canadian wheat should not only be maintained by but even further improved.

Farmers, therefore, who are in doubt about the quality of their crops should find out the variety best suited for their district, and then should secure a few bushels of the very best Registered or Certified seed, and sow these carefully on a few of their cleanest acres of summerfallow. This will then provide seed for a larger acreage the next year. If every farmer would do this simple and inexpensive thing, the quality of Canadian wheat would soon go up with a bound.

PIG PELLEGRA

Feeding grain of inferior quality to hogs may cause a disease known as Pig Pellegra, according to Dr. T. Alton Jones, Animal Pathologist, Department of Agriculture.

Pellegra is a deficiency disease in which the appetites, scratch against posts, sometimes scour badly and become thin.

Feeding dried brewers' yeast is the recommended treatment. Recently weaned pigs may be given one ounce each per day to prevent the disease, while older pigs, which are already affected and show signs of unthriftiness, may be given two ounces per day per pig.

Only recently a herd of swine in the Thorsby district developed this disease. The farmer was advised to feed two ounces of dried brewers' yeast per day to each animal and to say that after a twenty day treatment the pigs are back to health.

Dried brewers' yeast is not expensive and may be obtained at most feed stores and mills.

Christmas Pudding Produced By Tons

Montreal, Nov. 17— War has not interfered with Christmas pudding, now being made ready for travellers using the Canadian National Railways during car services during the holiday season. All the traditional ingredients are on hand. Some sources of supplies have been closed but new ones are open. For example, the dried fruits which formerly came from Mediterranean countries now come from Australia, and the complete pudding is an Empire product, everything needed in its preparation coming from the Commonwealth partners.

The annual commission carried out by Chefs of the Dining Car Department of the Canadian National Railways is a man sized job calling for the making of two tons of pudding, sufficient to furnish approximately 24,000 individual servings of the delicacy. That is approximately one inch in twice as large as last season's production and is being prepared in large scale to ensure a portion for every man of the armed forces and every civilian passenger using the company's dining car services during the Christmas and New Year holiday season.

Like all good housekeepers, the Canadian National Chefs prepare Christmas pudding well in advance and that task is now under way. After cooking the pudding is allowed to "age" before being distributed to the dining car cars. The mixing and cooking is done in the kitchen of one of the company's dining cars at Stellarton, in Nova Scotia.

Each pudding has been prepared with appropriate ceremony for a number of years. For convenience the pudding is placed in the each holding just over a pound and providing for all individual servings.

THE COMPLETE CIRCLE

"As I understand it," said the heathen, "you propose to civilize me?"

"Exactly so."

"You mean to get me out of habits of idleness and teach me to work?"

"Those are the ideas."

"And then lead me to simplify my life, so that I would break before I had traced it.

Following the melody I came to the front door of a large house in Surrey where bombed children were being nursed back to health.

That is how I found Ruth, a little curly-haired orphan of last year's blitz, aged seven. During a fierce bombing the Red Cross nurses, peering in the streets glistening with broken glass, found the little girl sitting on the curb crying. To every question she shook her head —Who was she? Where did she live? Where were her parents? The Canadian Red Cross ambulance took her to the London county rest centre and search for her parents was the quickest ever success.

"We will call her Ruth after you," an official said to the nurse, who found the child, "and Maple because

RED CROSS SPECIAL

By GARRY ALLIGHAN

Newcastle-on-Tyne, Nov. 4.— Crippled, blinded and scarred, more than 100 persons of all ages left hospital yesterday to run the race of life heavily handicapped. A similar number leaves today and tomorrow, the daily average of bomb victims discharged from treatment centres. As they exit through one gate Canadian Red Cross ambulances enter at another, carrying fresh Hitler victims to take their places. During the past six months 13,182 civilians, seriously injured by Nazi bombers were declared in hospital—fewer than the number the same bombers killed. Although there have been fewer large-scale blitzes in the past half year, there have been more than 5,000 victims in excess of the same period last year when the blitz season was at its height.

These are the statistics of tragedy. Translated by the Red Cross into a challenge to the merciful heart of the Canadian public they become statistics of action. Double the 13,182 seriously injured civilians to find the number not seriously enough injured to be detained in hospital, who have been given first aid by Red Cross nurses and doctors on the spot. To that 26,000 add four times as many whose homes have been demolished or damaged, who have turned to the Canadian Red Cross for assistance, and in the shape of food, clothing and bedding to have been distributed "to age" before being distributed to the dining car cars. The mixing and cooking is done in the kitchen of one of the company's dining cars at Stellarton, in Nova Scotia.

Each pudding has been prepared with appropriate ceremony for a number of years. For convenience the pudding is placed in the each holding just over a pound and providing for all individual servings.

Firing Big Locomotives Is Specialized Task

Montreal, November 17 — John Clinton has been thinking a lot lately about the reasonable task of looking after the family furnace during the cold weather, but the Canadian National Railways' men building fires in locomotives at Canada's largest roundhouse, Turcot, at Montreal have a year round task. There are twelve of these men each building eleven fires per day, or a total of 48,180 fires during a year, and they take it in their stride. Their individual methods may be somewhat different, but the base idea is the same.

To fire a locomotive at a roundhouse, it takes from thirty minutes to two hours and a half, depending on the initial temperature and size of the locomotive. The first stage employs a bunker fuel oil burner which uses fuel atomized by compressed air pressure. This fine system helps the steam pressure up to approximately 125 pounds. Then a four inch bed of soft coal is placed on the grates in the firebox and ignited by the oil burner. Bringing the steam up to full pressure with the aid of a forced draft and more coal gets lively.

For example, the streamlined 6400 type locomotive, which hauls the "Inter City Limited" of the Canadian National Railways, has a firebox grate area of 72.5 square feet. To build up full steam pressure of this locomotive, 28 gallons of oil and over 1,200 pounds of coal. To the householder, the coal consumption would be roughly 24 scuttles.

The use of oil burners for firing has greatly diminished the amount of smoke from the roundhouse, and there is a group of these burners available at Turcot's 57-stall roundhouse.

The director of the Zoo was away on a short vacation, when he received the following note from his chief assistant:

"Everything all right except the chimpanzee—seems to be pining away for a companion. What shall we do until you return?"

"Exercise," was the chief's wise answer.

And so the child without a name became Ruth Maple, and the day she was found was selected by the Red Cross as her official birthday. Thus began an entirely new life.

Completely outfitted with clothes, she was sent by the Canadian Red Cross to a rest home which the Surrey where bombed children were being nursed back to health.

That is how I found Ruth, a little curly-haired orphan of last year's blitz, aged seven. During a fierce bombing the Red Cross nurses, peering in the streets glistening with broken glass, found the little girl sitting on the curb crying. To every question she shook her head —Who was she? Where did she live? Where were her parents? The Canadian Red Cross ambulance took her to the London county rest centre and search for her parents was the quickest ever success.

ENLARGED MUNICIPAL AREAS—

AFTER HAVING READ the booklet published by the government regarding enlarged municipal areas, we are left with two or three definite impressions. The first impression is that the change is much more desired by the provincial government and departments concerned, than it is by the owners of land—and the latter. Larger districts mean more effective control from Edmonton. Whether closer control from Edmonton would work out to the advantage or disadvantage of the average land owner remains to be seen.

The second impression is that the change will not tend to lower taxes, on the contrary, despite a number of reassuring in the booklet to the savings to be made, we believe over a period of a few years the tendency will be for taxes to rise faster under the proposed system than under the present one. There is a possibility that the average land owner may get more for his tax dollar, but it is a fairly safe bet that he will pay out more dollars.

The third impression is that the municipal districts are large enough to be entitled to some say as to whether they wish to be re-organized. The present system has been in vogue for quite a number of years and a year or so longer will make little difference. If the proposed change is really for the good of the average land owner, it should stand the test of public opinion. Our idea would be to conduct an educational campaign within the districts to be amalgamated and then let the decision be decided by a plebescite.

ARE YOU A SHREWD INVESTOR?

ALTHOUGH MORE AND more Canadians are becoming regular investors in War Savings Certificates, and although large numbers are increasing the size of their monthly War Savings investments as a result of the current war weapons campaign, there is an astonishing total of people who are failing to grab their share of just about the best investment Canadians are offered in these unsettled days.

There are even a few people here and there who have been duped into the belief that money which goes into War Savings Certificates may never be paid back. Somehow or other they fail to grasp the obvious fact that the whole of Canada's immense resources stand behind every certificate; that the certificate has first call on those resources; that the only threat against the cashing of War Savings Certificates is the possibility of Hitler taking over the country.

It is a pity too, that most of the victims of truth-ors' propaganda are wage earners who never before had the opportunity to "get in on" a good investment. As a rule in years gone by, good money investments could only be made by citizens with some reserve capital. Never before has it been so easy for everybody to buy a gilt-edged security out of his weekly income.

The smart business people of Canada of course are buying War Savings Certificates. The same insight and foresight which has enabled them to become a little better off than the average taxpayer, prompts them to buy all the War Savings Certificates the government will allow them to buy. They know the interest rate is much higher than it might be, considering the tremendous security behind them, and they know the certificates are tax free. That is the reason why the government will not permit an individual to buy more than $480.00 every year.

It would seem that the misinformed citizen who believes that the purchase of War Savings Certificates is a duty, or constitutes a sacrifice, is missing the boat.

If all Canadians were as smart as the well-to-do persons who purchase the limit each month, there would be no need for canvassers to circulate among the people.

The New 1942 Chevrolet

Setting a new trend in advanced styling, approved prior to enactment of the war-time passenger car restrictions, Chevrolet for 1942, announced by General Motors of Canada, is presented in two Series — the Master DeLuxe and Fleetline.

The Master DeLuxe Series offers a choice of the following models: Sport Sedan, Town Sedan, Five-Passenger Coupe and Business Coupe, and the Fleetline Series comprises the Aerosedan and Sportmaster Sedan.

A commanding and eye-catching feature of the new Fleetline Aerosedan is the striking, ultra-modern rear and design, the smooth, flowing contours of the all-steel Turret-top and sides blending into a smart, sweeping streamline.

All the new and distinctive 1942 models, engineers state, have been built to master conformity of the highest quality and leadership in the low price field for years to come.

The standard attraction in detail, which is characteristic of the exterior design, is the long expanse of the arresting interiors of these cars, which are acclaimed as the most spacious and comfortable ever offered by Chevrolet. A pleasing, rich touch of upholstery is found in the Master DeLuxe and Fleetline models, while a new color treatment in the instrument panel is employed to highlight the smartness of the new design.

A new lower, wider, more massive grille with its heavier bars gives an immediate impression of size. Likewise the bluster, deeper hood, front fenders, and more widely spaced Safety-Sealed Sleam headlights contribute to that effect. Greater length is indicated as seen by the new, elongated front fenders, which flow back into the front doors, swinging with the doors as they are opened. The new fender design assures a complete clearance for the wheels in turning, the low foot arrange at the front of the running board step pad, crusted by a triangular extension at the new fenders.

In the front end, deeper than before, the new hood extends back to the front edge of the front door, displacing the former cowl side panel and making a cleaner line. Hood side panels, also longer than the hood top and are raised with it, facilitating readier access to the engine compartment. The same "driver control" method of unlatching the hood is retained from last year. The harmonize with other appearance lines, the re-designed front end receives a massive shield of gleaming finish inlaid with red and blue enamel. Augmenting this striking adornment on the Fleetline model hood side panels, shining block letters announce the model name. Greater sturdiness is apparent in the new bumpers and guards, and added feature is the relocation of the front license plate guard bar which now spans the tops of the bumper guards.

The famous Chevrolet valve-in-head 85 h.p. engine is retained, assuring the same high performance characteristics so generally acclaimed last year. This is the same engine which powers the thousands of mechanized army units built by General Motors, from the huge Gun Carriers, capable of hauling over eight tons of ammunition equipment to the Standard Half-Ton Pickup used for utility work. Axle ratios and tire sizes are unchanged, insuring hill-climbing agility, acceleration, and outstanding over-all performance. Fuel economy, long a Chevrolet trait is also thus assured.

Chevrolet's time-proved hydraulic brakes now carry a mechanically operated stop-light switch, replacing the former hydraulic-operated device. The new switch eliminates all possibility of fluid leakage resulting from failure of the stop-light switch. A Chevrolet feature for the past three years, the unique vacuum-powered gearshift is retained for 1942, and all steering wheels on both Series are of the full horn ring design.

Of particular interest in the broad range of accessories developed specifically for the 1942 models is a new wheel disc, painted white, which creates an effect said to be startlingly similar to that given by white-sidewall tires.

A rich and pompous man was staying at a small country tavern in England, and as he entered the breakfast room the only visitor present rose to his feet.

"Sit down, sir down," boomed the great and rich one, condescendingly.

"Why," asked the other, "can I get up for some marmalade?"

Larger Municipal Districts May Be Established

Broad plan of reform of rural self-government in Alberta under which larger municipal units would be established, was announced Saturday by Hon. Lucian Maynard, K.C., minister of municipal affairs.

As a preliminary, at least two and possibly five of the larger units will be established by Jan. 1, under the proposed plan.

Before any area is definitely set up as a larger unit, all municipalities within the area will be contacted and the plan discussed, said the minister.

When the dominion census was held in 1936, there was a population of 486,325 in the rural areas of the province and 395,447 in the urban area compared with 234,853 and 137,-000, respectively, in 1911. The total in 1911 was 374,206 and in 1936 772,782.

So far, the province has made no statement as to where the preliminary areas for the present scheme will be located, as the situation is being canvassed.

No announcement was made as to the ultimate objective but it is recalled that a plan of this nature was mooted during the U.F.A. regime, but the lack of the necessary funds killed the scheme.

Under the authority of the minister of municipal affairs, an outline of the present scheme is booklet form has been sent to secretaries of municipal councils in various parts of the province.

In Alberta, there are 143 municipal districts, administered by 720 councillors, together with 143 secretary-treasurers, all of whom are paid officials. In addition to these officials, there are 143 auditors, whose duties are not in all cases of a continuous nature. "Quite a number of districts employ other officials, such as tax collectors, road commissioners, field investigators, etc.," says the statement.

Most of the 143 municipalities administered by councils have six councillors.

While the duties of the secretary-treasurer have greatly increased, the average salary is reported to have declined from approximately $1,800 in 1930 to $1,435 in 1940.

The total cost for secretary-treasurers' services in 1940 was $214,841.

Many municipal districts are said to own large tractors, graders and other machinery which they cannot operate economically due to lack of resources, after the municipality has paid its share of the relief and other social services.

"Experience shows it is extremely difficult to secure a properly equalized valuation of the rural areas of the province under the present system," it is stated.

Further, the report says "the enlarged unit is simply an enlarged municipal unit formed by the merging of two or more of the present municipal improvement districts. Where possible, districts will be merged in their entirety, though in some cases it may be necessary to divide a district." Also, "the enlarged unit will vary in size according to the nature of the country and its state of development."

Benefits to the taxpayer, it is claimed, will result as the merging of several small units will eliminate duplication of personal expense and effort, thus reducing administration costs. Consolidation of governmental units would broaden the tax basis and equalize the tax burdens between various areas, while also distributing the cost of government over wider areas and large numbers of people.

"Roads instead of being located to serve some small area will be located with the broader outlook for co-ordinating with adjoining areas and with the provincial schemes of highways."

Race Track Betting In Canada in 1941

During 1941, the Dominion Department of Agriculture supervised parmutuel betting at the tracks of 26 racing associations, tabbing 35 race meet'ngs over a period of 262 days' racing. There were two days less racing than in 1940, but $6,862 more was wagered and there was an increase of $71,201 in the prize money. The total amount wagered for Canada in the 262 days in 1941 was $21,362,537, as compared with $21,-354,697 in the 264 days' racing in 1940. The 1941 prize money was $1,-078,625. In 1940 it was $1,061,224. The largest amount wagered was at the fall meeting at Dufferin Park, Toronto, $1,852,906, and the smallest amount at the one-day meeting at Clarenbois, Alberta when $819 was wagered.

Ontario with 90 days' racing was granted $13,660,146; British Columbia with 57 days, $3,917,252; Alberta with 26 days, $2,003,366; Quebec with 30 days $1,200,350; Alberta with 31 days; Manitoba and Saskatchewan with 12 days, $382,994.

LAKESHORE

Once more the topic of conversation among the housewives is — chickens. Not that this mild weather has the ladies fooled into thinking Spring is here. It's just that poultry inspectors are about the place.

Mrs. Latzan of Edmonton came down last Saturday to spend a few days visiting relatives in this district.

Quite a number of cattle left our pastures this week, to go to the packing plants, stock yards, etc. Messrs. Bosch, Johnston, John, Lloyd and Mel Wood all waved a fond farewell to some of their best beasts to the last few days.

Mrs. Johnston spent a couple of days with Mr. and Mrs. Gemmil, who are in Edmonton at present, while Mr. Gemmil is working near there.

The C.W.L. wish to thank all those who in any way helped to make their recent chicken supper such a splendid success.

Health Unit Meeting Here Well Attended

A public meeting sponsored by the newly formed Holden Health Unit was held at Tofield Wednesday night. A large number of school children were present and also quite a number of adults.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of Mayor Swift, who, with a few introductory remarks introduced the first speaker, Dr. Wright, head of the Holden Health Unit.

Dr. Wright said the meeting was called to give the public some idea of what the health unit was all about and also to arouse public interest and co-operation in their work. The unit was designed to increase the degree of public good health, paying special attention to expectant mothers, children of pre-school and school age. Since October 15th, he had examined 1600 school children and had found the parents of many of those children valuable advice, which, if acted upon, would benefit the health of the child and save much trouble and expense later on. He wished to make it clear that the unit did not practice medicine in the ordinary sense of the term. Every unit was along preventative lines, teaching people many of the methods of maintaining good health. One of their branches dealt with ordinary sanitation, the fly menace, and other sewerage disposal. As the town of Tofield would be included in the scheme there would shortly be a sanitary inspector around and he would give every public assistance to those things.

Mr. Cook from Edmonton also spoke regarding the health unit. He said until only a few years ago public health units were unknown. The first to put health maintenance on a public basis was Russia to some extent and New Zealand. In Canada, the province of Quebec established the first public health unit and following Quebec, Alberta came second. Starting off about ten years ago with one or two, there were now nine and were more about to be organized, making eleven. The Holden Health Unit was ably staffed. Dr. Wright was a highly regarded family practitioner and the nursing staff stood high individually in their profession. In addition there is a staff technician whose duty it is to keep the records of hundreds and hundreds of children. In time they expect to have a real record of every child within the boundaries of the health unit. Following his address, Mr. Cooke showed four reels of moving picture film. These reels were devoted to the subject of public health and the fourth contained the famous cartoon "Grey Owl" at work and play with his wild life friends, beavers, birds, etc.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

"HANGOVER" FOR SATURDAY

BUTTERFLIES IN NOVEMBER

The Alberta climate is one of many surprises. And so is Dame Nature, on whose butterflies are generally associated with the gentle warmth of summer, along comes one all a-flutter at the side of Greenbank. It landed onto the Brickwork Shed and the Kitchen Window of the house. Many were in our shelter and we will never forget the crash it made. When we got our air in Alberta, along with oil-Labrador and that person's make-up. Speaking generously, there is perhaps more warmth in Alberta's air than here on the Coast, although Alberta is the home of a workman, and lacked in making it. Here, due mainly to very even climatic conditions, we have a fairly even moderate temperature all year round, but seldom is there any surplus made from farming operations.

The "even climate" is perhaps the most outstanding thing in favour of the Coast. We often hear men say, "the climate is fine, but I prefer Alberta's more moderate climate." This perhaps is fairly correct, because from the middle of March on to the end of October temperatures gradually rise to summer heat, (mostly 66 deg. to 70 deg.) and then very gradually recede to Fall and Winter temperature. An outstanding exception to this, however, was experienced this summer. The temperature record over 40 years or so had been 95. This year, for 12 days in July, it was 96 to 98. Everyone was talking about it, but when on the next day it was 99, and then 100, and then 102 it was a record of 106 — well it would have been interesting to have got into a shelter when a bomb dropped. They had just got out of the shelter as good if they had called it 130.

This gradual recession from summer temperature goes on till we run down to our Brickyard, come from Victoria, B.C., and the Gunner came from Edmonton. We had a lovely chat with the Officer, a young lad of twenty-one years. Uncle Will had a visit with the gunner who was interested in making bricks.

I did not get any more of this letter written last night as we were in the shelter for nearly three hours. It was a lot of fun. Jerry passed over our way and we got two German planes' crews and others were interned. We are all kept busy knitting for the boys, George and Mabel have four nephews in the Air Force and two in the Navy. Bob's boy, Jack, is in the R.A.F.

Clothes have gone up in price and we have to have coupons for nearly everything we want. For a coat or costume we have to give 18 or 19 coupons, for a pair of shoes, 5 coupons, and 7 coupons for a pair of stockings. We have to make things last now. Stockings are one of the things to keep going. I have been busy darning all my outside socks!

Starting in October or November we always keep on raising till February with odd days and the rest much of sunshine. While some of those rains are heavy on occasion, most of them won't vet a Scotchman at all, only the Englishman gets slightly damp. One winter I worked out doors on the farm and only got my sweater wet through on one of these. It also has a fortunate habit of clearing up pretty well through the main portion of the day.

There are perhaps three pleasing features of Coast life to Prairie people (1) access to plenty of fish and game, (2) access to plenty of fruit and (3) very green grass, green trees and flowers in the garden throughout the winter.

After six years here I have come to the conclusion that our visitors, such as they are, run about three months shorter than Alberta winters —the Fall about six weeks later, and the Spring about six weeks earlier. For instance, right in front of my window today, stands a lilac tree. It still has about half of its leaves. They will have fallen by about the 25th of November. Then usually the Japanese plum trees will be in full bloom from February 25th to March 1st.

Vancouver Island is about 200 miles long with an average width of about 40 miles. It is therefore not a great deal smaller than England. Victoria stands on the extreme Southern end; Nanaimo (the second largest City, now about 15,000 with suburbs and Camp) is 60 miles North of Victoria and Courtenay and Comox, about 30 miles North of Nanaimo, with many smaller towns and villages lying between those places. North of Courtenay the country begins to get wilder and more sparsely settled till it runs into a wilderness. There is a paved highway from Victoria for about 260 miles North.

With your permission, Mr. Editor, I will write a further letter in a week or so dealing with things primarily of interest to farmers.

Yours truly,
Raymond W. Pincott.

R.W. Pincott Writes from the Coast

Nanaimo, B.C.

To the Editor,
Tofield Mercury.
Dear Mr. Editor,

It is now over six years since I left Tofield. About five years ago I had the urge to contact my old friends through your columns, but at that time I was farming and found out then why farmers do not write many letters. After a day with the shovel or the hay fork, writing just doesn't come natural.

It is perhaps just as well that I have delayed this until now as I might have said things then that would not have been at all orderly correct as when said now after longer experience.

Between visitors from Tofield, of whom we have had many; letters received from her in Alberta, with odd-or Tofielders living here and now some of the boys in our Army Camp, I seem to have been always fairly closely in touch with the old home district. Perhaps a German plane. It meet someone who knows someone that we know. And then, the Mercury comes regularly.

Just as to whether a person would prefer life here in Alberta, perhaps with Mabel and I got Aunt Mary and Uncle Ned into a shelter and they went to help. I cannot tell you where all the men came from to help. Uncle Ned is not some of our workmen had indeed onto the Brickwork Shed and the Kitchen Window of the house. Many were in our shelter and we will never forget the crash it made. When we got our air in Alberta, along with oil-Labrador and that person's make-up. 'Plane Drops Near Home of Writer

Extracts from a letter received from Northumberland, England, last month from Mr. J. W. Robinson's sister Annie, to her niece, Isabel. Dear Isabel,

I cannot tell you how pleased I was to have your lovely letter. I could have wept with joy. It took your letter a month to come. You don't know how I look for letters from you all in these awful times. It is really wonderful we receive letters at all when we think of what our ships have to come through. The weather now is very good this summer August was cold and rainy. September was a good harvest month. The corn crop was good. The vegetable gardens yielded well, but we have not had many flowers or plants. However we manage very well, if we haven't one thing we have another. The Russians are doing well and are bringing a lot of German planes down and are as per R.A.F. (4) the beginning of September we had quite a fright. One of our fighters was chased down a German plane. It landed onto the Brickwork Shed and the Kitchen Window of the house. Many were in our shelter and we will never forget the crash it made. CAPABLE SCOT GIVEN HEAVY WARTIME JOB

Horatio Alger would have liked the story of Donald Gordon's rise to his present position of vital importance. He arrived here, a penniless Scottish immigrant, at the age of 15. At 15 he started out in the field of finance as a clerk in the Bank of Nova Scotia. At 19 he was a bank inspector, the youngest in Canada. At 29 he was assistant manager of the Bank of Canada's main office in Toronto and at 34 was first secretary of the Bank of Canada. At 37 he was the Bank of Canada's Deputy Governor. Now, at 40, he faces a job that will require every ounce of training and financial ability he has acquired in the steep climb from immigrant boy to bank governor.

Postmaster General Thanks Business Firms and Newspapers For Valuable Publicity

Ottawa, November 21st.

The Editor,
Dear Sir,

The Public Relations Branch of my Department has on several occasions within the past few weeks brought to my attention news items, illustrations and, in fact, whole pages from newspapers published in various sections of the country, all stressing the importance of "Early Mailing" of parcels addressed to our Overseas Troops.

I also observed that many newspaper advertisements of business firms included references and general data in regard to the need of "Early Mailing", proper packing and correct addressing of Overseas parcels.

"Early Mailing" at the season of each year is always an important question, but today with an ever-growing number of Troops abroad, it has greater significance than ever. It is expected that the volume of mails for Overseas delivery this year will surpass all records and "Early Mailing" is essential if delivery is to be made by Christmas Day.

The action of the Press and business firms has undoubtedly been a real public service, not only to the people "back home," but to our Active Service Forces abroad. Your co-operation was most welcome and thoroughly appreciated—thank you very much.

Yours faithfully,
W. P. Mulock, Postmaster General.

HUMAN DELUSIONS

The eminent English Philosopher, Dr. Charles Mackay, in the preface to his work "Memoirs of Extraordinary Popular Delusions", made this statement:

"Men, it has been said, think in herds; it will be seen that they go mad in herds, while they only recover their senses slowly and one by one."

History tells us that throughout the ages all kinds of delusions, ill-basions and even madnesses at times have gripped the minds of vast numbers of people.

One extraordinary delusion of recent years was about the so-called "Dust-Bowl" or "Desert Areas" of the United States and of Western Canada. Still fresh in our minds are the pessimistic forecasts made during those drought years. Here is a sample of utterances that were made at the time by some, who most unfortunately were believed by many:

"Normal rains will probably never occur again, and even if they should, the rains will never again grow average crops."

In the columns of this letter, however, we fought continually against this doleful outlook. In the Search Letter of August 8th, 1937, in the midst of the drought period, we wrote in part as follows:

"The outlook for the future of the West is as bright as ever. Records of the past show that the semi-arid area of the prairie provinces have been subjected to a series of dry years, succeeded in turn by a series of wet years. And just as surely as the wet years were succeeded by dry years, so will these dry years be succeeded by wet years . . . . Given average rainfall the prairies can still produce average wheat yields to the acre."

As we all now know, normal rains did eventually come, and the fields

Bank Of Montreal Issues Strong Statement

Indicative of the extent to which the Bank of Montreal is participating in Canada's war effort is the large assets shown in the institution's annual statement just issued,— a figure which is the highest shown in any annual statement of this 134-year-old organization. Important increases are also found in deposits and loans—the former at $630,397,000 also constituting a record at the close of a financial year with high liquid condition, substantial cash reserves and large holdings of high-grade securities, the report reflects the characteristic strength of the bank and gives ample evidence of its ability to meet the even greater demands that may be made upon it as a result of the war.

The statement, which is for the twelve months ended October 31, is set out in its customary "easily understandable" form, the various items of the balance sheet being accompanied by explanatory notations.

Commercial loans, including advances to manufacturers, farmers, merchants and others, have increased substantially, being 18 per cent above the 1940 figure. In Canada these loans amount to $284,427,000, compared with $218,760,000 a year ago; the comparable figure for commercial loans abroad are $21,271,000 and $14,981,000. Call loans, both at home and abroad, show a drop, as was to be expected — the 1941 figure of $20,840,000 being down by more than four million dollars.

A significant decrease is to be noted in advances to provincial and municipal governments, including school districts, which last year stood at $25,½ 2,000. The 1941 figure is $20,-764,000. It is believed that the reduction reflects improvement in provincial and municipal government finances.

Bank Circulation

As a whole, however, with the advance in commercial loans, there is a sizeable increase in the bank's loaning business. Accompanying this expansion, the statement reflects no impairment in the bank's liquidity, or ability to meet any demands for cashing its deposit liabilities. Cash in the bank's vaults and money on deposit with the Bank of Canada amounted from $68,-554,000 to $68,758,000, which is in keeping with the enlargement noted in deposits.

In Canada, the bank's deposits have record figure of $703,110,000, while abroad a small increase has been registered, the 1941 figure of $119,377,-000 being about a million and a half dollars above the corresponding figure a year ago.

With total assets amounting to $1,-046,551,679 and public liabilities standing at $969,845,008, the excess of resources over liabilities, which represents the shareholders' interest in the bank, amounts to $76,905,870. This amount comprises the capital, the reserve fund, the Profit and Loss Account and reserves for dividends, over which all liabilities to the public take precedence.

Profits for the twelve months remain practically stationary. After making provision for bad and doubtful debts and after deducting Dominion Government taxes amounting to $2,347,000, the profit figure stands at $3,437,000, compared with $3,438,-511 for 1940, and is equal to 6.81 per cent on the shareholders' equity, as against 4.8 per cent last year.

Women Fined For Giving Sugar To Children

"When the nation has to ration its food, ought we to spare the sugar money for alcoholic drinks? The point was raised in the Great War, and is now raised again.

Dr. Harold Tucker, senior chemist lecturer at Glasgow University, quoted in a speech the other day the case of a woman who was fined £1 for buying 22 pounds of sugar, which should have been used for jam-making, but which, it was asserted, had been given to her children. Yet in the same week the brewers used thousands of pounds of sugar for making beer, which is no use as food.

"Dr. Tucker pointed out that the shortage of eggs was largely due to the quantities of barley and grain which were going to the brewers. Poultry dealers could not get enough food for their birds, or, if they could, the price was prohibitive. Thousands of young birds had to be killed because there was not sufficient food for them."

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By B. C. L., Chicago, Review "The Corn Trade News"

The price of wheat is now the subject of intense discussion. Some are suggesting that wheat should be at "parity". The term "parity" simply means that a bushel of wheat should be worth the same purchasing power as it had at some previous date; and the date usually considered as fair is the Crop Year 1910-1914.

To calculate such "parity" it is of course necessary to see what the costs now are of the things our farmers have to buy. The Santa Fe index, which was started in 1920 with the very object in view, reveals that today it costs prairie farmers 60 per cent MORE for the things they have to buy than it did in 1910-1914, whereas the price of wheat is only 22 per cent lower than it was in 1910-1914; a bushel of wheat buys, therefore, less a purchasing power of only 38 per cent of what it did in 1910-1914.

For a bushel of wheat to have the same purchasing power as it had in 1910-1914, the price, therefore, I calculate, would have to be approximately $1.30 a bushel for 1 Northern in store Fort William.

The United States Department of Agriculture in 1934 started an index of parity for the farmer. The Legislature has now decided to restore the purchasing power of wheat and other farm products in the U.S.A. to the 1910-1914 level.

crops which the roosters fall produced just the same high yielding crops as they had ever done in the past with the same amount of rainfall.

The same happy sequence of good rainfall and good crops has occurred too, in the United States, where Texas, Kansas, and Oklahoma were regarded by some as fast becoming deserts which could never be reclaimed. We now hear that Mr. Law, the Editor of the "Dalhart Texan" of Dalhart, Texas, has just offered a reward of $50.00 for information leading to the identification of the person who has spread the word "Dust Bowl", to refer to that section of the country which embraces parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico. When and if the author of the phrase "The Dust Bowl" is discovered, says Mr. Law, he will be invited to tour this area and to ponder over the beauties of that region,—the hundreds of thousands of acres of crops which have flourished as never before, the vast herds of fat cattle and all the other evidences of plenitude. The explanation of this new happy condition, says Mr. Law, is simply that good rains once again have fallen. —Scotts Grain Company, Ltd.

THE WEEK IN EDMONTON

Easy Up-To-Date

London's Civil Defence Workers are given occasional holidays from the blitz-tension, as readers of the October 30 issue of "Bulletin: From Britain" may recall. Sometimes they use their holidays in what might seem to be odd ways. One A.R.P. warden recently became lyrical in reporting about his vacation: "I have spent hours each day in Stoke Pogus churchyard," he wrote, "so when I get back to my post I shall be spouting Greg's Elegy up-to-date. Something like this I think:

"The sirens sound the knell of parting day,
The bombing planes drone lowly overhead.
The warden outward plods his weary way,
And warns the town it's time to leave its bed."

Province-Wide Recruiting Tour Planned Again

Another province-wide "recruiting tour" will be undertaken by 13 recruiting missions commencing December 1, Major J. H. Gelmor, M. C., district recruiting officer announced this morning.

The itinerary of the parties is now being drafted and will be released as soon as arrangements are completed, Major Gelmor said.

Practically every town in Alberta will be visited during the campaign. One of the purposes of the drive is to contact men who were engaged in harvesting operations during the last drive and to recontact men who had expressed a willingness to join up when approached during the last drive and who have not yet reported for duty.

Hog Marketing

Hog marketings for Alberta during the period January to October, inclusive, totalled 1,648,000 head of about 60,000 head less than were marketed during the whole of 1940.

During the first ten months last year marketings totalled 1,907,000.

For October only, the comparative figures are 182,000 in 1940 and approximately 172,000 in 1941.

There are also a number of recruits throughout the Province who were rejected in earlier Medical Examinations and are now acceptable for enlistment due to lowering of the previous standard in regard to slight eye and ear troubles. These men may now be re-examined with every chance of being accepted.

TESTED RECIPES

VERSATILE LAMB

In recently discussing the ways of using the front quarter of lamb, methods were given for roasting — either the whole front, or the shoulder alone. If the latter method has been followed, why not carry out these suggestions for utilizing the remaining parts of the front (breast, shank and neck) in other tasty dishes?

It's easy to cook lamb, and as all cuts are tender it is not necessary to employ the ordinary methods of cooking less expensive cuts. Practically every part of lamb may be roasted, broiled or pan-broiled, as well as stewed and braised.

Another point! Lamb, in addition to its neat and flavour, its seasonal availability, and its simplicity of preparation, contains essential minerals and vitamins.

With these facts in mind, the Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggests the following recipes. In testing them, lamb fat (or drippings) was used throughout where over "fat" was called for in the recipe.

The popular lamb garnishes — fresh green mint or sparkling mint jelly—are not included in the foregoing.

Serve lamb often — it's delicious. It's economical: it satisfies!

Lamb Stew

½ pounds shoulder of lamb
Flour
2 medium onions, minced
½ cup sliced fresh or drained canned mushrooms
¼ teaspoon of salt
1 teaspoon granulated sugar
½ teaspoon pepper
1¼ cups hot water
1¼ cups strained canned tomatoes

Trim excess fat from meat, melt in frying pan. Cut lamb into pieces for stew. Roll lightly in flour seasoned with part of the salt and pepper. Saute minced onion in fat left; add floured meat and cook until golden brown. Turn into casserole. Add mushrooms, salt, sugar, pepper, hot water and tomatoes. Cover and cook in moderate oven 350 deg. F. until meat is tender — about 1½ hours. Remove cover during last half hour. Serve with broiled macaroon, spaghetti or noodles.

Tomato Dumplings

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾-1 cup tomato juice

Sift dry ingredients. Add tomato juice to make stiff batter. Combine well. Drop by tablespoon on top of stew. Cover tightly and steam twelve minutes.

Braised Shoulder Chops

4 or 5 shoulder chops
1 tablespoon fat
½ cup tomato juice
1 slice of onion chopped
1 tablespoon flour
½ cup hot water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Brown chops on both sides, add vegetables, seasoning and hot water. Place in a covered baking dish and bake in a slow oven (300-325 deg. F.) until meat is tender (about 1 hour).

The Little People Of England

They carry no weapons, wave no banners, chant no stirring measures of power, these little people of England. Pale cheeks, indrawn with stiff pinched beauty, old fishermen and young mechanics; housewives, washerwomen, curtsemaids and chars, and tired children singing undergrowns fit to break your heart.

They climb in heights of glee; or if born to sacrifice and heroism, seeing the peaks by humble paths and mean alleys which turn to pits of flame; or attaining the summit of valor through dark and cruel descents into the icy waters of the sea. Like soldiers they have borne the shock of fire and shell; like sailors they have gone down unflinchingly to their deaths in shattered ships; and like aviators they have given their strength to rise "By Labor to the Stars".

No Abbey walls have space to record the deeds of these simple ones, long sadly or gaily to eternity. Their name shall not be graven on stone nor painted on glass; no Roll of Honour could set them forth. But the dust of England, which wields whirlpools in her trees, the waves which beat upon her shores, shall vibrate with the pauses of their coming, the splendor of their sacrifice. Each dawn shall call home they arose in humble cheerfulness to light their tiny crevice of the earth with a candle of faith, each sunset shall be a benediction to remind all men of their burying steadfastness. —Mrs. Vallance S. Patriarche.

28 Colt Shows Hold

The value of using good pure bred stallions has been clearly demonstrated as 28 colt shows held during the fall under the supervision of the Department of Agriculture. These shows are conducted as part of the Department's Stallion Co-operative Purchase Policy which is planned to assist groups of farmers to purchase and use approved pure bred sires.

Four hundred and forty-nine colts were shown at the 28 shows and an average attendance of 56 people indicated the interest in the shows held in the districts.

An interesting feature of each show was a showmanship class open to boys and girls 21 years of age or under. A total of 344 juniors took part in these contests.

The shows were judged by officers of the Department of Agriculture and ribbons were awarded the winners. Valuable assistance in making the shows a success was provided by the Provincial Fieldmen, Clydesdale and Belgian Horse Breeders' Association.

Changing The Subject . . .

BY JOSEPHINE RIPLEY IN THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

It is important to laugh. Laughter is courage. It is the outward symbol of moral strength, the companion of spiritual joy.

The British know its value. It was not without purpose that they sent Gracie Fields, beloved English laughmaker on a tour of the factories.

Grace, once a mill worker herself, recently covered 150 miles a day steadily for six weeks, bringing laughter in the tight throats of more than 400,000 begrimed factory workers.

She sang during lunch periods, between shifts in factories spouting at a 54 hour, 7-day-week clip. She sang a canteens; she sang out-of-doors. She sang three and four times a day.

TREASURES IN FOODS MEASURES APPRECIATION

She also sang old favorites such as "The Biggest Aspidistra in the World," "He's Dead But He Won't Lie Down" and "Walter, Walter, Lead Me to the Altar."

That-surred, hard-pressed factory workers broke into gales of laughter. They shouted; they howled. They tossed zealously-learned science, oranges and chocolates—their choicest possessions—at the feet of the comedian less than Lancashire who was doing her bit for England, making it laugh.

Looking back on it, Miss Fields admitted during a recent interview in Boston that she didn't know how she stood it. The pians that they carried with them seem put on that it pinged with dottrons at the punishment. It was a wonder, she said, that her voice didn't "ping" along with it.

"If I had been doing it for myself, I couldn't have stood it. But when you are appearing before people who endure days, and who expect your best, you've got to give them that—and more. And we did!"

Miss Fields loves to tell the story of the old couple who were preparing to hurry to a shelter during an air raid. Mrs. B. for some reason, was slow in getting started and when asked the reason replied that she "was waiting for me fales teeth."

"What d'ye think they're tassels' down out there, sandwiches?" was Mr. B.'s quick retort.

SAY BRAVADO, BUT THE NEED TO LAUGH

Miss Fields, with all quips and fun-making was eager to make it clear that the British attitude is not one of bravado or bravura. They have their struggles with discouragement and fear, and they laugh and joke, not because they're foolhardy, but because they know they need to laugh. Because it's important.

Harry Lauder—Sir Harry to you—has forsaken the tranquility of his retirement to begin the soldiers of this new war with "She's Ma Daisy," "Roamin' in the Gloamin'" and other Lauder favorites.

"Songs are good," says Sir Harry, "and they are important."

The theatres in London, according to Miss Fields, are doing a tremendous business. They have two shows one at three o'clock and one at five o'clock, giving patrons plenty of time to get safely home before the blackout.

The British press and magazines are bright with quips about the war. From "Punch" comes this bit of humor under the heading of "The Changing Jokes of Britain."

"How did 'ee get on up in London, Dan'l?"

"Terrible, Silas—it were that quiet I couldn't sleep a wink."

So it goes—a laugh for every bomb, and that's bad news for Hitler any day.

The value of humor on a tight rope has never been worked out in figures per pound to the pound. But it's just possible that it may be the last laugh, which will win this war, not the last bullet.

External Parasites Of Poultry

Hens infested with mites and lice cannot be expected to produce the maximum number of eggs. Clean, sanitary poultry houses are the first essential. If red mites are discovered the drop boards, roosts, nests, walls and floors of the poultry houses should be thoroughly cleaned in the early spring. They should be sprayed with a disinfectant Three parts of coal oil to one part of crude carbolic acid is recommended. It is necessary to pay special attention to cracks and crevices.

Body lice can be removed by painting a little sl ortine sulphate [Black leaf 40] along the roosts just before roosting time. The warmth of the body causes fumes to rise through the feathers killing the lice. Repeat after ten days.

External parasites in large numbers constitute a menace to the health of poultry, but in small numbers they are very likely to lower egg production.

"Good Neighbor" Contribution To Red Cross

Winnipeg, November 24.— A short while ago a resident of Virginia, Minnesota, paid a visit to Winnipeg and, on his return, a railway official noted that there should be an adjustment on the prices of his ticket. The matter was referred to Walter Dobbs, General Passenger Agent, Canadian National Railways, who quickly sent out a money order to cover the difference.

A few days ago, a letter was received by Mr. Dobbs from the passenger returning the money which had been endorsed back to the company. The letter read:

"We are returning to you C.N. Rebate Money Order N. QQ 978474. We have signed the order and would thank you very much if you would hand this money to the Red Cross.

Wishing for Britain a crushing victory again this year.

Mr. Dobbs has passed the money order along to the local branch of the Red Cross Society.

The foolish think that they can escape punishment; but every wrongdoing carries its own punishment. Punishment is always something that happens to us but rather something that happens in us. The greatest of all punishments is the loss of our humanity. What is more terrible than to lose the open countenance — to be forced to wear the fox's eye and the wolf's mouth! —Edwin Markham.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST
By K. W. Vasby
Provincial Agronomist
North-West Line Elevators Association
Erosion Aspect

Last summer, the writer encountered a district in Central Saskatchewan in which erosion, probably by both wind and water, had risen so far that the top-soil had been entirely blown from the ridges. The crops were stunted and unhealthy. A sample of soil submitted to the Provincial Soil Research Laboratory, Swift Current, revealed a lack of humus in the area and attempts to accumulate the loss in fertility suffered by the eroded areas.

Dr. Doughty surveyed the district and recommended that from the "debris" eroded patches and from adjacent dark areas soil at a distance of not more than fifteen or twenty feet. The results of Mr. Vasby's analyses showed that the samples from eroded areas had less than one per cent humus content while the dark soil samples contained 3½ per cent. Samples of the crops were also taken. The wheat from the eroded areas contained an eroded soil contained 20 per cent less nitrogen than those from undeeded soil and, of course, the yields would be proportionately reduced.

Dr. R. D. Byrd secured, in the same area, an excellent color photograph of a field of mismanagement which is particularly typical of the district.

The results of Dr. Doughty's experiments, together with Dr. Byrd's photographs, are represented in a display which has been prepared by the Agronomy Department of the Line Elevators' Association. Copies may be secured through your local line elevator companies associated with the Department or from The North-West Line Elevators Association Winnipeg or Calgary.

LAKESHORE

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Ray Herbert, (nee Hola Shaw) a boy. Congratulations.

The Ascutney Night held last Friday at the school was a decided success. In spite of a very cold brown, the school was well filled with people and they had a very enjoyable evening. Ten of the eleven contestants were there to take part on the program. The ladies wish they could have given ten prizes, the amateurs all did so well. The judges, Miss Lois Wilson and Mr. Chandler had a difficult time deciding who most deserved the awards, but finally gave Evelyn Wood first and Lila Bailey second, in the senior section. Evelyn's number was a comic monologue and Lila gave a piano solo. In the Junior division, first went to Shirley Stinson and Keith Appleby for a vocalist duet, and second to the pupils of Lakeshore school for their play. Rev. D. E. Allen was a very capable chairman and John Warner Jr., proved to be a real volunteer of a quitsmer when he took over for the quiz part of the program. The members of the Ladies' Aid are very grateful to all who helped to make the evening such a success.

A large crowd attended church service on Sunday, when some twelve or more people were welcomed into the fellowship of the church, and took part with the other members of the church, in the communion service.

Red Wood was admitted to the University Hospital on Monday to undergo an operation on his leg, and on Tuesday Melvin Bethel went to the General Hospital to go through the T.B. clinic as a prelude to a tonsilectomy.

Mrs. Gordon Ferguson visited with Mrs. Heath on Monday.

Minisitik Lake Boys' And Girl's Camp Board Meet

The annual meeting of the Minisitik Lake Boys' and Girl's Camp Board was held on Saturday, November 15, at which the following officers were elected: Chairman, Mr. J. J. Moore, New Sarepta; Vice-chairman, Mr. H. Lundy, New Sarepta; Sec.-Treas., Mrs. R. A. Hennessy, Ed. Tofield.

A very successful camping season was reported with 41 boys and 31 girls attending the camps. The board greatly appreciates the help of all who assisted in this worthwhile community effort and sincerely thanks all who helped.

HASTINGS LAKE

The Todd family who were staying at the T. Tough home, recently left for Calgary where they will make their new home.

Mrs. P. Donald has returned from Camrose after a two week's visit with her daughter, Mr. W. Duchesne.

Mrs. Barrow was a visitor at the C. Lindbrook home last week.

Mr. Armstrong visited the city last week end.

Mrs. Nolan and Mrs. Vice were Edmonton visitors Friday.

Mr. J. Tough visited the city recently.

Miss B. Ward visited the city recently.

It sounds as if this vicinity was in the war zone with so many hunters shooting rabbits. General conversation these days turns to rabbit; about the best way to get this many bagged and that many bagged. One way claims to have invented a system whereby he does not fire at the rabbit, but near it. The rabbit becomes frightened at being cut of its skin and there is a dies lying there all ready to skin out, and the rabbit runs away to grow another skin. Frankly, we don't believe it.

Miss Gwyn Hoover spent the week end at her home.

Isabel and Thelma Barrow were Sunday afternoon visitors at the home of Mrs. Pearson.

We understand that Geo. Wanke is spending the winter on a trap line in the northern part of Alberta, around High Prairie.

Mrs. Wm. Anderson of Bruton was visiting Marcella Compton for the week end.

Cecil Hoover returned home on Saturday last from Winnipeg. It is understood that he has recently undergone a tonsil operation.

Pte. Jim Bruce was home for a week end visit.

We were sorry to hear of Bert Sellstedt's accident. While nailing a rafter, it fell and truck him on the head, leaving quite a cut.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bruce were visitors to the city last week.

Mrs. P. Donald and Mrs. Ward visited Mrs. C. Lindberg the beginning of the week. Mrs. Ward is now making a short visit with Mrs. P. Donald.

Elmer Donald is at Hondo, Alta., since leaving in September. We understand he will be home some time in November.

Mrs. Wanke left at the beginning of the week for Lake where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. Bagyne for a couple of days.

The next Red Cross meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. N. Ellis on December 12th. Every lady is asked to be present.

Pete Houston of Edmonton is visiting Archie Donald at the present time.

Guy Donald is working for A. Anderson, building a barn.

United Church Calendar

The "Canossian" services held last Sunday at Ketchamont, Lakeshore and Tofield were well attended. Sixteen united with the Church by profession of faith and one by certificate.

The "Amateur Night" held at Lakeshore on Friday was a great success.

The musical talent was exceptionally good and received great applause. The "quiz" conducted by John Warner, jr., went over big. Miss Lois Wilson and Mr. Chandler acted as judges for the musical items.

The W.M.S. regular meeting was held at the home of Mr. Sather, west of Lindbrook, on Thursday, 20th November. The members had a very profitable and enjoyable visit. Mrs. Wood of Saskatchewan, daughter of Mr. Sather, at whose invitation the W.M.S. gathered, made a very pleasant hostess.

LINDBROOK

It looked last week as if we were in for a spell of winter, but evidently the weather man thought better of it, for which reprieve we give thanks.

Miss Verna Stine visited her father, Mr. Howard Stine on Sunday last. Howard is in the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton, but is progressing favorably and hopes to be home soon.

Mr. Vincent Glenn, who is employed at Colwyn Ltd., in Edmonton was home for the week end, as was also the writer of these notes. We're the original Lindbrook commuters, that is, for a while.

Many of the fellows around here are getting their extra money soon to be needed for Christmas presents and cheer, etc., from the pelts of the rabbits, for which there seems to be quite a demand and at 10c a skin, are worth getting after. They were fairly plentiful, but with the "price on their hides" they're disappearing rapidly. We hear of some enormous bags, one of 800, and another one just 127 in one day, and luckily there's no quota on rabbits. The hitch now is that the hunters have run out of ammunition and can't get more, what with the war taking the materials, the supply is limited, so now the hunters are resorting to traps and snares. So however the Government economics and the proceeds from the rabbits, it looks like a cheery Christmas for all who enjoyed doing the pest crops.

The "big game" hunters are not back yet, but we'll bet that their hunting was not nearly as profitable as the guys that "bagged" a small game" at home.

The only luck we've heard is that there is just enough snow to help the rabbits' camouflage system, and not enough to make the rabbit a ballot to mistake for a rabbit.

FORAGE CROP SEED

The Municipal District of Beaver Lake No. 486 is prepared to assist a limited number of resident farmers to obtain Forage Crop Seed for use in 1942 subject to the following regulations:

1. Seed available for each applicant: Brome, Crested Wheat, Clover.

2. Seed will be supplied at cost price to farmers who have obtained seed through the Municipality during the past three years and at cost half cost price to farmers who have not previously taken seed from the Municipality

Council is particularly interested in placing the bulk of our Forage Crop Seed with farmers who have not grown any forage crops up to this time.

You are urgently requested to get your orders in as early as possible as the supply of seed is very limited.

Everyone knows that four dollar bills don't usually add up to five . . . BUT, the WAR SAVINGS certificate which costs you four dollars makes this kind of arithmetic come true.

Yes, and every four dollars you send to Ottawa actually gets behind a gun and shoots. It buys vital war equipment of some sort. It helps shorten the war. After this war, you get FIVE DOLLARS, not four dollars. Thus right now, your savings are helping to win and they're helping to build a nest-egg for yourself.

The regular monthly meeting of the Dr. Tofield Chapter, I.O.D.E., will be held in the Anglican Church hall on Tuesday, Dec. 9th, at 2:30 p.m. This is an important meeting and it is hoped all members will make a special effort to attend.

Tofield Creamery Considering Installing Milk Processing Plant

While the final decision has not been made, the Mercury learns on good authority that the Tofield Creamery, a branch of the Woodland Dairy, is seriously considering installing a milk processing plant.

The matter considered is one that will make powdered milk out of ordinary liquid milk. The milk is powdered into a hopper, then passes over heated rollers from which it is scraped in flakes, the flakes being taken to a grinder, from which it emerges as a fine powder.

At the present moment there is some difficulty regarding obtaining the right kind and quantity of power. To get electric power, a mile of line has to be constructed, and two power from a steam engine a new boiler has to be installed. Both of these are quite expensive propositions.

The Mercury hopes that the power difficulty will be overcome as we consider the installation of this machine one of the most progressive moves Tofield has seen for the past twenty years, second only to the establishment of the creamery itself.

Most farmers prefer to sell milk rather than cream. At present the creamery is chiefly tailored fresh cream and whole milk; household skimmers, fall bodies, early shirred waist and flaring skirt and she were ready to wear and much broken. So passengers were seriously injured. The chief damage was proved the value, as no one was cut by splintered glass.

The Hockey Boys had a very successful amateur programme and Basket social. The Lerbekmo orchestra came out as winners in the Amateurs and Marie Haugen and Nina Lawson second. Some of the juniors did very well in their parts, and Mr. Lakes made a very good "Major Bowes." The Baskets sold like hot cakes and netted the boys over $72. Admission was charged which included lunch. The rink is now enclosed with a board fence and a well has been dug which will give plenty of water for flooding purposes. All the ice will need is waiting for real cold weather. The rest of the population are hoping the spring like weather will continue.

Tom Rouse is the party who was big game hunting once back with what they were looking for, a moose Pete Lerbekmo, Jack and John Moss were not so fortunate. They did not see anything that looked like a moose.

WEDDING

RUSSELL — McCARTHY

In keeping with the dignity of lovely Christ church, was the charmingly simple wedding ceremony performed there on Saturday evening, when Elizabeth McCarthy, B.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. McCarthy of Tofield, became the bride of Sergeant Pilot Alfred Robert Russell, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Russell of Edmonton.

Bouquets of shaggy mums in tones of white and mauve graced the altar for the occasion. Rev. A. Wallis of Camrose officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charmingly frocked in floor length gown of waterproof blue featuring a pointed neckline, softly flared skirt and bracelet length sleeves. Over this was worn a fitted bolero set in the neckline and was rounded on a pocket. Completing her ensemble she wore a Victorian hat of black fur felt with a small nose veil, a shoulder corsage of white orchids and boavardin. Her only ornament was a gold locket, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Beatrice Russell, sister of the bridegroom, was her bridesmaid, wearing a smartly tailored frock of wine velvet with fitted bodice, long sleeves, full bodice, softly shirred waist and flaring skirt and she wore a shoulder corsage of white orchids.

Flight Lieut. J. S. Haynes of Lloydminster supported the bridegroom as best man. Ushering guests to the church were Basselle, Decosse and Gruder and Messrs. Thomas and Campbell, representatives of the Alberta Livestock Co-operative Association.

Our W.C.T.U. held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Axel Kinding on the Young farm. They had as their guests the Ladies' Missionary Auxiliary of the United Church and a profitable and enjoyable afternoon was spent. Rev. Collier of Edmonton gave a talk which gave us insight into the different ways temperance work can be carried on and have an influence for the good amongst people.

The Ladies' Aid held their annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Mike Erickson on Thursday, November 27. There was a good attendance and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year. Hon. Pres., Mrs. Held Rude; Vice-pres., Alec Plaseth; Sec., Mabel Pallrid; Treasurer, Mrs. Gerald Lawson. It was also decided to send Christmas boxes to soldiers and to the sailor lads on the east coast.

Sunday school as well as Church service was held Sunday at the usual hour.

Mrs. Ed Rolfe and Mrs. Ed Rolfe and family were visitors to Edmonton on Saturday last

Lessons From Alberta Farming In 1941

A review of 1941 farming operations show some valuable features relative to the business of farming.

In general, the farmer who is practicing diversified farming is in a more fortunate financial position than the man who is a specialized grain grower. Price of livestock, as compared with grain, have been good and farmers have been able to grow and fatten cattle, sheep and hogs at a profit.

The farmer operating a straight grain farm has had a rather bad year. The relatively low price of wheat, the wheat marketing limitations and restrictions and an unusually unfavorable harvesting season have tended to place the wheat grower in the worst position he has been in for years. Even the farmer who produced coarse grains found it difficult to make both ends meet for the reason that he has found difficulty getting his crop threshed and to the bin, says G. S. DeLong, Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, Alberta.

Anticipated shortages of harvest labor influenced many farmers in making up their minds concerning the purchase of a combine, and some are now sorry they did so. Crops that were ready to straight combine before the rainy season started in late August were fine. Unfortunately most of the combined crop has lain in the swath for several weeks and weathering and sprouting has seriously damaged the unthreshed crop. Serious losses also occurred in standing crop left for the combine. In some cases losses due to shattering amounted to fifty per cent and a lowering of three to four grades occurred. As a result there will likely be a definite swing back to the binder in 1942.

Special cash crops, such as flax, clover seed and seed peas proved very profitable. These crops, along with grass seed, are attaining increasing importance as farm crops throughout central and northern Alberta.

The attaining price of coarse grain is high in comparison with the prevailing price of wheat. The per cent of low priced food wheat is relatively high and the price will be low in combination with coarse grain and livestock. Undoubtedly large quantities of the current wheat crop will be fed to livestock.

The lessons taught by 1941 all emphasize the importance and advisability of a diversified type of agriculture for central Alberta. Farmers who have their own vegetables, fruit, meat and cereals have a good living even when adverse climatic conditions prevail, and at the same time, usually have sufficient funds to meet current operating expenses.

The Three Horsemen

It is sheer folly from the farmer's view point to push prices up by encouraging sometime in these like these. The farmers suffered cruelly for twelve long years after the collapse of the inflation of 1920 and 1928; they should not be made to suffer again.

It is sheer folly in the same way for labor leaders to seek new increases in wages every few months.

It is short-sighted for a landlord to charge all that the traffic will bear in defense centers where housing space is at a premium.

It is poor business, in the long run, for any business man to seek exorbitant profits in this period of defense spending.

It is bad banking, in the long run for any banker to exploit the present demand for funds by seeking to charge unreasonable interest rates.

There are always selfish groups in any country which think they can profit from inflation. They are wrong.

Inflation does more than merely rob the wage earner of a portion of his earnings. It does more than seriously injure the farmer with a load of debt which he cannot repay. It is more destructive of morals than any other single force.

No group is a community profits from inflation in the long run as

C.N.R. Joins Business Campaign Against Careless Talk

Montreal, December 1.— The Canadian National Railways have taken steps to co-operate with the Department of National War Services in the campaign to warn the public against careless talk which might aid the enemy, according to an announcement made at headquarters of the National War Services.

Early road cards have been prepared in eye-catching style and will be placed in conspicuous positions in every sleeping, parlor and dining car and every coast operated throughout the Canadian National Railways System. The message, which is adopted from one of the posters issued by the Department of National Defence, is brief and direct. "Warning," tells the notice, "Careless talk may help the enemy. Do not discuss: ship movements, defence plans, munitions, factories, movements, harbor facilities, aircraft production, supply routes. Be on your guard."

Review Discusses Post-War Plans For Agriculture

FUTURE BRIGHT IF WORLD TRA DE ENLARGED

November 26— Three months ago, before their dramatic meeting on the high seas, Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt issued a joint declaration of principles for the reconstruction of the post-war world. In September, at a meeting in London representatives of the eleven governments associated with the British cause endorsed this joint declaration —which Mr. Churchill has called the Atlantic Charter—and passed a resolution setting up the machinery for the rehabilitation of Europe at the end of the war.

The full significance of these post-war plans is only gradually being realized, says the Pioneer Grain Company in a review released today. In particular, the economic implications of the Atlantic Charter and of the schemes for provisioning Europe have received a good deal too attention than they deserve. Apart from the outcome of the war, it is doubtful if there is anything of vital concern to Canada, as a great trading nation, than the plans now being laid for the post-war future.

Thinking in terms of agriculture, certain broad implications are apparent, says the Pioneer review. The first is that a world fashioned in accordance with the economic principles laid down in the Atlantic Charter would have a difficulty in absorbing the output of Canadian farms. If the nations of the world accept the idea that the object of economic policy is to raise general standards of living and to relieve want and distress wherever found, then the productive capabilities of all parts of the world can be put to good use.

More specifically, the review continues, acceptance of the principles means the end of the wheat problem as we knew it during the decade preceding the war. After all, the wheat problem was only one aspect of a general maladjustment in the world economic structure. It had the same general causes as the coffee problem, the cotton problem, the rubber problem and innumerable others and it can be solved in the same way, namely by having each country produce those things for which it is best adapted and distributing its products as widely as possible.

It is disturbing, however, to note the lack of agreement at the International wheat conference now being held in Washington. The delegates, representing the "Big Four" exporting countries and Great Britain, seem to assume that conditions after the war will be similar to what they were before the war. In a progress report released at the beginning of August, they were said: "The need for an equitable sharing of continental competition was fully considered as a new phase of an old problem." Now it may be agreed, of course, that there is no guarantee of adequate world markets for wheat after the war and that it is better to be prepared for a continuation of surplus conditions. A statement of this kind does across the surplus, however, that these participating in the conference are still thinking in terms of "patching-up" the old order rather than in terms of a fundamental reconstruction of world trade.

Another implication the review points out, is that Canada must plan her agricultural policy along much broader lines than heretofore. Our first concern is to produce the food pledged to Britain and needed at home during the course of the war. We have already accomplished much along these lines. But we must also face seriously the question of post-war demands if we are to fulfil our obligations in signing the Allied resolution regarding the rehabilitation of Europe. It is not enough to say that we have plenty of wheat and can to most probable requirements. Definite quantities should be set aside and earmarked for relief purposes. As for other products the whole situation needs to be reviewed thoroughly. It is these products that we may find ourselves seriously deficient in. Definite preparations are made in consultation with Allied European governments.

Summing up, the Pioneer review concludes: From the economic point of view, the Atlantic Charter indicates the true approach to the problem of "poverty in the midst of plenty." It lays down the principles by means of which the enormously productive capacity of the world can be put to use in the services of a fuller life for all mankind.

New Army Cooks Send Mother Cake

Columbia, S.C., Nov. 25— Soldiers at the Army's Cooks and Bakers School at Fort Jackson here have turned tables on their womenfolk by sending cakes home from camp.

The men are so proud of their accomplishments during their three months trailing as cooks and mess sergeants that they frequently send samples of their cooking home for their mothers and sweethearts, reports Sergeant Marvin Austin of Atlanta, Ga., who has trained 1,500 Army cooks and 200 mess sergeants for Uncle Sam's new army.

While the modern day soldier will not practically everything if he gets hungry enough, he's fondest of steak and pie, according to Sergeant Austin, who has spent 19 years cooking for the Army.

THE PRICE CEILING ORDER IS NOW LAW

A fine up to $5,000 and two years imprisonment is provided for offences against this law

What You Must Do to Comply With the Law

1. As a Consumer

You must not buy goods or services for more than the highest price charged for such goods or services during the basic period, September 15 to October 11. If in doubt, ask your merchant for proof the price he asks is lawful price under the Price Ceiling order. Normal seasonal price changes in fresh fruits and vegetables and greenhouse products are exempt.

2. As a Retailer

You must not sell goods or services for more than the highest price at which you sold such goods or services in the basic period, September 15 to October 11.

You must not buy goods or services from manufacturers, wholesalers or any other sources for more than the highest price you paid to them in the basic period.

It is intended that cases of serious hardship should be adjusted by reducing the cost of merchandise to the retailer. Retailers whose cost of merchandise delivered to them after November 30 is too high in relation to the ceiling prices, should get in touch with their suppliers and try to arrange an adjustment fair to both parties.

The price of goods of a kind or quality not sold during the basic period must not be more than the highest price charged for substantially similar goods in the basic period.

3. As a Wholesaler

You must not sell goods or services at more than your highest price (less discounts then prevailing) for such goods or services during the basic period, September 15 to October 11. You must not buy goods or services for more than the highest prices paid during the basic period.

Wholesalers will be expected in some cases to reduce their prices below the ceiling in order that their retail accounts may carry on. Wholesalers in turn may have to ask their suppliers for price reductions.

The continued form of goods of a kind or quality not sold during the basic period must not be more than the highest price charged for substantially similar goods in the basic period.

4. As a Manufacturer

You must not sell at prices higher than your highest price (less discounts then prevailing) during the basic period, September 15 to October 11.

In some cases it will be necessary for manufacturers to reduce their prices below the ceiling so that wholesale and retail accounts may carry on.

Where maintenance of the retail ceiling requires manufacturers' prices to be substantially reduced, the Board will investigate and in proper cases will afford necessary relief.

Imports

Retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers are assured by the Board that any considerable increases in the costs of import of essential goods will be covered either by subsidies or by adjustment of taxes. Details will be announced shortly.

Services Also Come Under This Law

The Price Ceiling law also applies to rates and charges for electricity, gas, steam heat, water, telegraph, wireless, telephone, transportation, provision of dock, harbour and pier facilities; warehousing and storage; manufacturing processes performed on a commission or custom basis; undertaking and embalming; laundering, cleaning, tailoring and dressmaking; hairdressing, barbering and beauty parlour services; plumbing, heating, painting, decorating, cleaning and repairing; repairing of all kinds; supplying of meals, refreshments and beverages; exhibiting of motion pictures.

NO CREATING OR EVASION OF THE PRICE CEILING LAW WILL BE TOLERATED

"How the Price Law Works," a pamphlet setting forth how each branch of business must apply the regulations to its own operation will shortly be available at Post Offices and Branch Banks.

The Board will soon open Regional Offices throughout Canada where problems may be discussed. These Offices will co-operate with business in the adjustment of difficulties.

The Price Ceiling law is vital to Canada's war effort.

A NATION UNITED—

EVER SINCE the present war commenced there have been at least two schools of thought in the United States. They can be roughly described as: those who desired the United States government to go "all out" as regards help to Britain, even to the extent of going to war if necessity should demand it, and those who, while wishing for a British victory, still believed it to be an European war and one in which the United States would be all the better off for not becoming involved. As each month passed there has been a notable strengthening of opinion in favor of aid to Britain and the time having now arrived when "a shooting war at sea" between Germany and the United States is a reality, it is interesting, and gratifying to note that some Americans, who in the past two years have made known their reluctance to see the United States join arms with Great Britain against Germany, have publicly stated that when and if the United States go to war with Germany, they are whole heartedly behind their government.

In time of national danger one of the most important needs of a nation is unity of purpose. Without it, there is little else but confusion; with it, tasks are accomplished and obstacles surmounted that would appear impossible. In most of the wars of the past, unity of purpose has, on the part of the civil population, consisted of patriotic fervor and flag waving and the more diligent knitting and sewing. This war is calling for more than that, and unity of purpose today consists of not merely desiring our side to win but actually helping them to win. In countries where actual hostilities have occurred such as Great Britain, there is no dearth of tasks for a civilian to do. Being close to actual combat causes one to realize the realities of war quickly and "lending a hand" becomes commonplace.

Here in Canada, in the prairie provinces particularly, we have not seen the stark realities of modern war as have the people of other lands. Consequently, we have been inclined to rest upon a certain degree of smug complacency, believing in the rightness of our cause and the ability of our armed forces to win. But in a war (a war which Great Britain did its best to avert) where every little bit of help counts, from the directing of the building of a battleship to the collection of small scraps of "all-ver paper", there is little room for complacency. To put it briefly, unity of purpose in a total war means unity of help. The people of Great Britain (and the outcome of this war affects them more than anyone else) realize this and are going about the business of winning the war in a grim and determined manner in which expressions of fervid patriotism and flag waving are more conspicuous by their absence than by their presence.

There are many different ways in which the ordinary civilian may help Canada's war effort and the particular kind of help given is entirely the choice of him or her. What is most important is that citizens realize that their help is needed and that everyone pull a little on the rope of victory. What we are trying to express is, that helping to win this war is a direct responsibility of every Canadian citizen. Individually the task may either be light or heavy, but if it is undertaken cheerfully and willingly by all, national unity is assured.

THE GRAIN FARMER HELPED—

WITH CONSTANTLY mounting costs the average grain grower will appreciate the financial assistance given him by the Federal government this year. In giving this assistance, the federal government has admitted what has been proclaimed time and time again, that the grain grower in the ordinary course of sowing and reaping was not getting his fair share of national income. To many the assistance seemed to be given in a round-about-way. There was the wheat acreage reduction allowance, the Prairie Farm Assistance Act and thirdly the bonus. All together, according to one Minister's statement, the grain grower was supposed to get a dollar a bushel for his wheat, or pretty close to it.

We have always felt that in matters of public interest the more simple and more easily understood a plan was, the better it was. With practically every major wheat growing country in the world financially assisting its grain farmers, we have argued for years that the Canadian grain grower was entitled to some assistance. Enquiries among farmers here a number of years ago, led us to believe that 90c f.o.b. Fort William would be satisfactory. But here was the danger. Any commercial undertaking that was satisfactory would be subject to great expansion, which even then was feared and not desired. Whether by instituting the Wheat Acreage Reduction scheme, the Prairie Farm Assistance Act and the subsequent bonus, the government believed they were avoiding the dangers of a higher pegged price, we do not know. But we do feel that even though the assistance came in a round-about-way, it was rightly due, perhaps over due—certainly very welcome.

The Week in Edmonton

Edmonton, December 1.— Alberta's representative at the State Funeral of Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe was Hon. E. C. Manning, minister of trade and industry. Mr. Manning was in the east on government business connected with current labor regulations when the death of the Minister of Justice occurred.

Premier Aberhart expressed deep regret at the famous French Canadian statesman's passing. "He was one of the outstanding figures of his time and took a very prominent part in the affairs of Canada for many years. As a representative of French Canada, he was one of the notable figures in that he enjoyed the confidence of both the French-speaking and English-speaking Canadians. In his long and faithful service to the Crown he has given continuously and unstintingly of his great abilities. I am sure his death will be felt very greatly by his compatriots in Quebec," said the Premier.

V V V

Leader of the Alberta opposition group, Alfred Speakman, also voiced regret. "He stands in a long line only to the Government of Canada but to Canada as a whole," he said. He was truly a great Canadian and a great national figure."

Warning that all persons engaged in poultry grading, transporting and marketing eggs, which require licenses must have these licenses by December 1 was issued by the Dairy Commissioner, G. W. Trevor, this week. Mr. Trevor said that under regulations which became effective on that date, the orders will be strictly enforced. Producers are not required to have licenses. Provision is also made to prosecute truckers who do not properly protect from odors or foreign substances, poultry or eggs or containers. Truckers who buy and transports for resale and all peddlers must also obtain wholesalers' licenses, and must post a bond of $500 with the Minister of Agriculture. The license year expires December 31, and December 1 has been set as the deadline for securing current licenses.

Final terms for the transfer of tax privileges from the provinces to Ottawa have not yet been agreed upon, it was stated in government circles this week, and a conference to arrive at a conclusion of mutual understanding may be held shortly. Alberta agreed to the proposals in principle, and the cabinet is currently studying Ottawa submission on the matter.

V V V

No definite date has yet been set for the new conference on debt refunding which is expected. Hon. E. C. on E. Law, Provincial Treasurer, said owing to the time required for consideration of the tax transfer agreement, it had not been possible to present with matters connected with refunding. It is likely that when Hon. E. C. Manning returns from Ottawa the matter will be revived.

Offered jointly by the department of agriculture and the department of dairying at the University, a four weeks' course in creamery operation will be commenced February 15, it was announced this week. Staff members of both departments will give lectures and demonstrations. Students must have spent at least one season in a creamery, it was added, since the course is designed for practical men. It is part of the annual extension work.

V V V

In Alberta wide conference of public health, police, municipal, provincial and dominion representatives have been called under auspices of the Department of Public Health to discuss proposals for the eradication and control of social disease in the province in the civil and military population. Dr. Harold Orr, director of the provincial division of social hygiene, issued the call. The conference is planned for early January, and it is hoped that full representation of all bodies concerned will be present.

V V V

Complete faith in the stability of Canada was voiced by Premier Aberhart in a letter he forwarded to the Calgary Board of Trade in reply to queries made by that body. "At no time have I ever questioned Canada's financial stability," said the Premier. "I have unbounded faith in the financial stability of the dominion, however much I know to be wrong with an outmoded financial system."

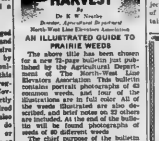
Lament Is Named To Post Held by L.W. Brockington

Appointment of Cecil Lament as successor to L. W. Brockington, K.C. was announced following a meeting of the directors of The North-West Line Elevators Association. Mr. Brockington held the post of general counsel of the association until his departure for Ottawa on leave of absence two years ago to act as solicitor to the War Committee of the Dominion cabinet. During Mr. Brockington's leave of absence, Mr. Lament carried on Mr. Brockington's duties with the Line Elevators' Association.

Prior to joining the Alberta Pacific Grain Company Limited at Calgary 15 years ago, Mr. Lament was with the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company Limited, Regina, and when with that organization made a special study of the Co-operative movement when, in 1928, he visited all the co-operative grain organizations in the United States. During the wheat congestion in Canada in 1928 and 1929 he was loaned to the Canadian Wheat Board by The



AN ILLUSTRATED GUIDE TO PRAIRIE WEEDS

The above title has been chosen for a new 32-page booklet which will be issued by the Agricultural Department of the North-West Line Elevators Association. The booklet contains portrait photographs of 45 noxious weeds, and four of the illustrations are in full color. All of the weeds illustrated are also described, and brief notes on 12 others are included. At the end of the booklet will be found photographs of seeds of 40 weeds.

The chief purpose of the bulletin is to assist farmers and others in identifying weeds. A few remarks on control measures are also given, but methods of control must be adapted to local conditions and no hard-and-fast recommendations can rarely be applied to large areas.

The first essential in fighting weeds, the booklet points out, is to know them. This is particularly true of perennials such as Leafy Spurge, Hoary Cress and others. Control is relatively easy if understood in time, and a delay of only three years may be costly.

Dr. E. W. Newlon, head, in the Canadian Prairie Provinces, of the 11,000 one-mile lines as great as the combined lone due to noxious diseases, plant diseases and insect pests. The situation on the Canadian prairies is probably not very different.

The new bulletin will be found most helpful, and should be in the hands of every grain growing farmer. Copies may be obtained free of charge from any agent of any line elevator company associated with the North-West Line Elevators Association.

Wheat Used In Australia For Power Alcohol

Four plants for the manufacture of power alcohol from wheat are to be erected in Australia, according to advice received by The North-West Line Elevators Association. The distilleries are to be erected in each of the four states of the Commonwealth and each will have a capacity of 2,000,000 gallons annually.

The North-West Line Elevators Association completed a survey three years ago on the possibility of manufacturing power alcohol from Canada's surplus wheat stocks. Following this survey the Line Elevators told this report before the Canadian government as a possible means of creating new markets for 50,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat annually.

E. F. Bower, assistant Canadian trade commissioner in Australia, has reported to the Canadian government that with wheat costing approximately 70 cents per bushel it is estimated alcohol could be produced at a cost of 36 cents per gallon. A committee of inquiry appointed by the Government of Australia reports that the cost of erecting a 4,000,000 gallon-a-year plant is $1,440,600. One bushel of wheat yields two and one-half gallons of power alcohol. By adding a 15 per cent mixture of power alcohol to ordinary gasoline, the efficiency of ordinary gasoline is increased by fifteen points.

Billy, who was beginning a diary, made his first entry then: "Got up this morning at seven o'clock."

When he showed his handiwork to his mother, she was very much displeased. "Have you never been to school?" she exclaimed. "Got up, indeed! Such an expression! Does the sun 'get up'? No, it rises."

That night, having taken the lesson to heart, Billy showed her his second entry. It read: "Set at nine o'clock."

The Price Ceiling . . . Great Human Experiment

Ottawa, Dec. 8.— Christmas shopping in Canada this year is taking place under the tight hinder of price control. Merchants cannot charge as they please for goods. Price tags are held back by law since December 1 to Fall levels.

Over 300,000 Canadian traders from the big city store to the merchant at the cross-roads baker, tailoman, jeweller and hardware man alike — are now operating under the retail price ceiling set by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board as of the basic period September 15 to October 11.

The costs of such essentials as electricity, gas, plumbing, painting, laundering, cleaning and sewing are likewise held against a ceiling. Persons and movies, hair-do and hot dog, pup, beer and hard liquor are equally anchored down.

Beer gave the Board its first chance to crack down on a price raise. On Saturday, November 29, Ottawa hotel keepers took occasion to boost it a nickel a quart, from 30 to 35 cents, because they had previously been selling at a low price to outsell their rivals across the river in Hull, Quebec.

On Monday, December 1, the day price control went into effect, they had to take that nickel off fast at the Board's order and go back to their price as of the basic period. Thus illustrates simply how the control works.

GREAT HUMAN EXPERIMENT

Since December 1 Canada has put into effect under the democratic system one of the greatest human experiments in economic control in history. Dictator states have established such controls by gunlaps method. Can Canada make it work by business cooperation and the public will? Heavy penalties are provided, it is true, for chiselers and cheaters. A license may be revoked and a business shut down for serious infraction. Stiff fines and jail terms are provided. But here at Ottawa headquarters it is said frankly that policing alone could not make price control a success, especially if business were rebellious and the public indifferent.

It would be obviously impossible to check the billion and one transactions that take place daily across Canada. That is not contemplated. Instead business and the public are being asked to play ball in their own and the nation's interest.

SELF-REGULATION IS KEYNOTE

Indeed the Board from the start turned to business and asked it to forge its own controls. Administrators were appointed from within the ranks of business men, manufacturers and producers. These are working out with various groups and trade associations the "squeeze" sharing which may be required down the line from retailer through wholesaler and manufacturer to producer in order to keep under the ceiling.

Merchants, fishermen, farmers, milk producers, bakers, cloth manufacturers—any of these groups might have received, instead, the evidence is that all have sought to shoulder their share fairly and equitably.

CONSUMER INTEREST QUICKENED

Reports received during the early days of the control indicate that the operation. The public saw little change There was nothing dramatic about the way it went into effect. People bought and sold as usual. But there was no one present to say them nay. The only real sign of the change was a quickened interest in the prices ticketed.

Biggest misunderstanding reported on the part of the public was the belief of many that a one-price ceiling had been set for each and every commodity.

A number of housewives complained to the Board that they could not find out why their merchants were charging varying prices for butter, eggs, shirts and other items. They felt that Mr. Jones should not charge more than Mr. Brown in the next street, that department store, chain store and independent should all show one price.

COMPETITION REMAINS

There is to be no such levelling. The Board points out that, owing to local trade freedom. Competition remains and the prices of thousands of commodities will vary from store to store as they always did — so long as each store sells within the prices it charged during the basic period.

In Ottawa the Board, its committees and administrators stay hard at work evolving principles, meeting problems that arise and making adjustments to ease the strain on a particular industry or group. One of the most important problems it has sought to solve is that of imports. After a thorough analysis of the situation it announced a system of subsidy payments by the Government in case of certain cost rise on imported goods. The purpose is to maintain the price ceiling policy in respect to imported as well as domestic goods.

This means that the Government is in the last analysis the public—takes its share of the "squeeze" where imported materials or goods fare in such a transaction at a fixed retail price

CERTAIN EXEMPTIONS

There will be exemptions from this subsidy and the Board reserves the right to exclude any goods. Looked at generally, it will have the effect of easing the situation in many branches of the clothing and textiles industries, for example, and in other essential manufacturers' departments, whole or in part on imports.

Another important order exempted farmers from licenses when they buy for re-sale, lambs or weanling pigs for fattening or finishing. Only when they buy such stock for quick turnover must they have licenses to deal.

The Board is meeting conditions as they arise and seeking to remove inequalities or bottlenecks in the flow of commodities as a result of price fixing. It is evident that, there is a strong desire to interfere as little as possible with trade practices and channels. The only aim is to maintain the ceiling established. There will be no tampering with that.

BRITISH GIRLS BECOME MACHINE EXPERTS

Small Communities Prove Good Source of Waste Materials

Ottawa— Canada's National Salvage Campaign is reaching out into many small communities, whose efforts in collecting secondary materials for war industries are winning the approves. of the salvage director.

Devoted workers in towns and villages and rural communities from coast to coast are doing more for their country than they may imagine," said William Knightley, director of the drive on waste. "They are turning in unexpected quantities of metals, secondary textiles, waste paper — and I don't see at this moment on their way to Canadian factories turning out war contracts."

Lists Some of the Tweets

"Williamsburg is a small Ontario town having a population of 900. During the month of September it unearthed 2,000 pounds of rags, and 1,000 pieces, non-ferrous metals, rags. It raised $150 for war charity during that month.

Wheatley, Ontario, with a population of 1,800, collected over three tons of waste paper, three-quarters of a ton of old auto tires, six tons of scrap iron, three-quarters of a ton of rags, and some waste paper, during September. It raised $115 for war charity.

Rochland, Ontario, with 180 residents, and not on a railroad, is setting a record for small centers. The local salvage drive is under the jurisdiction of the Women's Institute, which to date has collected two and a half tons of scrap metal, nearly two tons of rags, over two tons of tin foil, six tons of a half tons of paper, and other miscellaneous items. The total revenue to the end of September amounted to $440, all of which has been turned over to war charities.

Quebec and Eastern Points

Another example of how centres the salvage activity among the smaller French Canadian centres. Asbestos made a drive in July which netted 24 tons of ferrous metal, scarcely four and a half tons of copper, 44 tons of paper. The value was $3,047. During August and September, Asbestos collected another 66 tons of rags, 214 tons of iron and steel, 14 and a half tons of paper. The value reached to $2,132.

The Maritimes are also active. In Dalhousie, New Brunswick, a women's organization has been making quantity collections since early in July campaign. The first month netted 1,000 feet and collections have since averaged over the October returns came to $600.

The Pi ton County Salvage Committee, of Picton, Nova, Scotia, sold salvage to the amount of $800 during October

Prairie Towns Busy

The larger points in Western Canada are hard put to uphold their lustre for intensive salvage work, according to the returns at national salvage Headquarters, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Calgary, Vancouver have all been recovering large quantities of useful secondary materials. But on a per capita basis, the smaller prairie centers have been doing surprisingly well.

The I.O.D.E. of Kirkella, Manitoba, a very small town, collected $60 and a half tons of scrap iron and steel, which brought in $686 for war charity

The Red Cross of Welwyn, Saskatchewan, made a drive for scrap metal, collected 44 tons, and raised $360 for its war work.

"These are only a few of the 8,227 local salvage committees active across Canada," stressed Mr. Knightley. "Many more returns are available in our files."

The director concluded with the

The Bacon Hog Situation

We have developed a hog industry in Alberta which as a revenue producer stands second only to wheat, from the standpoint of farmer's income and for the next year will have the advantage of an assured market, let thereby assisting in the disposal of our wheat surplus at a price will allow proper market levels for that commodity. In addition recent hog production affords an opportunity for a real war effort and has tremendous possibilities in our post war agriculture.

The weekly quota for domestic consumption in the three Prairie Provinces amounts to 2600 hogs and for the week ending Nov. 8th, the marketings for these three Provinces were 96,000 hogs and before the end of the year will exceed 100,000 hogs weekly. This means that over 50% of the hogs marketed must be of suitable weights and quality to be included in our export bacon, which is the best export value. The general type and quality of our Alberta hogs is up to a standard whereby with careful attention to feeding practice farmers can and must make the number of hogs grading C - D - heavy, and extra heavy, as such hogs are unsuitable for Wiltshire and their inclusion in our export bacon will be expensive in quality which the Bacon Board is striving to maintain.

It is most important at this time when Alberta is at the point where we lead all other Provinces in weekly marketings. At present we market 48 per cent to 50 per cent of the total for the three Prairie Provinces and will in the next year due to increased production be expected to supply one third of the present contract with Great Britain.

In every district there are a few farmers who do not appreciate the importance of proper weights and finish in their hogs and they complain about discounts, which they can avoid in many cases. Canadian packers are required by the Bacon Board to adhere strictly to definite weights and back fat measurements in the various grades and weights of Wiltshire sides and are subject to discounts on all bacon failing below the top grade. Where producers study the question of finishing or under finishing the packer loses the opportunity to make top grade Wiltshire sides, to protect himself resorts to discounts, which may be avoided by proper attention to breeding and feeding.

Worried

Into the cozy cottage of the dear old lady came two billeted soldiers. They were friendly fellows. Friendly smile, showed them to their room. And watched them empty their belongings—tin helmets, gas respirators, packs, kitbags, etc.

Then a worried look came into her fa'ed eyes as she asked. "Young men, are you sure you came by all these things honestly?"

Future Journalist

"Remember," wrote the instructor of the correspondence school of journalism, "to write on on only one side of the paper."

And by return mail came the following letter from the young pupil: "Which side shall I write on?"

warning: "Much more needs to be done. Newspaper reports are now making Canadians aware of the dangerous shortages pending in various raw materials. Salvaging secondary materials is an important way of helping to hold off the danger of factories shut down because of lack of materials. We must keep high, and raise higher, all salvage collections."

THE WEEK IN EDMONTON

Edmonton, Dec. 8— Alberta's war guest children will speak to their parents in the Old Land through the medium of gramophone records specially made for the occasion. According to C. B. Hill of the Child Welfare Branch, it was impossible to arrange for radio transmission of messages, so the alternative method was chosen. Mr. Hill obtained the co-operation of radio stations and while the guests were recording the speakers were photographed. In most cases with the Alberta foster-parents. Records and pictures will reach the parents in Britain together. About 30 have been made so far and others are to be ready for New Year's greetings. Alberta is the only province carrying out the idea.

V V V

Placement of children for adoption from the Child Welfare organization has reached the high total of 549 this year. Of this number, 186 were by parents born in 1941. The placement policy has been so satisfactory that the usual Christmas campaign to find homes for homeless little ones will not be carried out as in former years. Many of the children go to fine homes well supplied with this world's goods. All go to families worthy of receiving and caring for them. In the 27 years that Mr. Hill has been connected with child placement, he has had about 12,000 children pass through his hands. His experience certainly enables him to recall names and faces with uncanny accuracy.

Methodical publishing of Alberta's oil resources in the Athabasca tar sands area is being carried out by Hon. R. Maitland, K.C., Conservative member for Toronto-Davenport. In recent speeches he has stressed the immediate necessity of this the sources as a part of the war effort. He also has in the vaults of his office an Canada, this area would be Hitler's greatest prize. Supporting this argument, he cited the pre-war reports that German interests had wanted to get a pipe-line from these oil-fields to the Pacific. "There is only one oil field big enough to warrant such a line," he told the Athabascans ands," said Mr. MacNicol.

Voicing of The Alberta Debt Adjustment Act by a majority decision of the Supreme Court of Canada has brought so immediate reply from provincial government ministers. It was stated that until proper information has been received and this has been discussed by the cabinet, no official statement will be issued. There are other provisions contained in the Statutes, including the moratorium act which may be made effective by order-in-council.

Streamlining the organization of the Alberta Poultry Producers' Marketing Board, an additional producer member has been appointed in C. H. In consequence of new policies determined by the board, that body will henceforth deal with operative measures, and C. E. Christensen will act as general manager in charge of physical operations. Another of the board's new organization, Hon. E. C. Manning has been trying for nine years to secure the interests of the poultry industry.

LIGHTER SIDE OF DEFENSE

It happened during the constructing of one of the large army cantonments near Boston. The boss of a work crew became irate at the inefficient efforts of one lighthearted young worker. The climax came one day and the boss ordered the young man away with the express purpose of firing him. As unfortunately, all workers on these projects were identification badges with numbers on them. The boss instead, fumed his wrath on the back of the worker mischievously read off—the Alberta man's number on his employer's coat. The sequel? The boss fired himself and it took him five days to get back on the job.

SCRAP METAL—

THE NEWS THAT HAS broken since Sunday morning has shocked and angered the entire English speaking world. True, it was expected that sooner or later, the United States of America and Great Britain would be at war with Japan, but it was also expected that this would only happen after every avenue of arriving at a peaceful settlement of the Pacific situation had been explored. Even though the manner of the Japanese method of going to war, that of striking unexpectedly, was well understood, it was believed that with the Washington "talks" between Under Secretary Hull and the Japanese envoys there was no immediate danger of attack. It was also hoped that some form of settlement could be arrived at. However, the cowardly and premeditated (for a period of weeks) blow was struck and as in most cases, the surprise and initial attack met with some success. It was in much the same manner that the Russian Japanese war was started in 1904 when the Japanese attacked, without any declaration of war, the Russian fleet at Port Arthur.

While the full story of the Sunday attack on Pearl harbor and a number of other points in the Pacific has not been told, sufficient is known that the United States air and naval forces suffered grevious injury. Only a day or two later British naval forces suffered grevious naval losses also, no by a degree of treachery and surprise, if fragmentary reports can be believed, British and United States navy has lost two capital ships each as well as smaller craft. With the stupendous amount of work that these two navies are being called upon to do, the loss is serious, though not of course, decisive.

Many years after the Russian-Japanese war, we remember reading a book or article in which the author endeavored to explain some of the phenomenal successes of the Japanese army and navy. In connection with the army, the author said, much success was due to long range planning of detail. He went on to explain that when the Japanese army came to a river, the bridge over which the Russians had blown up in retreat, they had the size and in some instances the material ready to throw another bridge across. This information was given in this book or article, and perhaps the Japanese passion for detail was exaggerated, but certainly they are a clever, determined and aggressive race of people and for a time at least, will prove to be a formidable foe.

During the past few weeks we have been trying to get some definite information as regards the collection of scrap metal, now that in the east scrap campaigns were being taken seriously. But there the scrap was fairly close to blast foundries where it could be made use of, without a long haul and the consequent charges connected with it. In seeking information regarding this we were in conversation with a man who had only recently been in contact with a train man, and this is the information we received. This trainman had only handled one car of scrap metal destined for British use, but over a period of years he had piloted trains where it could be made use of for export to Japan. It is rather galling to think that the initial successes of Japan against Great Britain and the United States are at least partly due to the ease with which she was able to buy scrap metal here. It was not only in Canada that Japanese agents were busy. Throughout the United States also, particularly in the western coast area, shipload after shipload of scrap metal was purchased by them. The Christian Science Monitor for months kept drawing attention to the shipment of scrap metal to Japan, warning that some day it might be used against the United States.

At the present moment we are little better informed than we have ever been regarding the scrap metal problem. But we do feel, and very strongly, that every pound of useless scrap metal lying around should be picked up and taken to some nearby shipping point. Farmers know their own yards best and as almost every farmer goes to some railroad shipping point periodically, it would not be difficult for him to take a few hundred pounds every time he goes and save the car. If this scrap metal has value, if it is worth while transporting it to points where it can be used, the events of this week makes it imperative that it be taken to places where it can be loaded on to railroad cars at a moment's notice.

A MOTHER'S PRAYER

As Thou didst walk the lanes of Galilee,
So, loving Saviour, walk with him for me.
For since the years have passed and he is grown
I cannot follow; he must walk alone.
Be Thou my foot that I have had to stay,
For Thou canst comrade him on every way.
Be Thou my voice where sinful things allure,
Pleading with him to choose those that endure.
Be Thou my hand that would keep his in mine,
And all thines else that mothers must resign.
When he was little I could walk and guide
But now I pray that Thou be at his side;
And as Thy blessed mother folded Thee,
So, loving Saviour, fold my son for me.

Canadian Bacon Board Issues Warning To Farmers

The Alberta Swine Production Committee wishes to draw special attention to the recent announcement released by the Canadian Bacon Board, in which farmers are advised against the production of hogs unsuitable for the export market.

In the warning issued to farmers on Tuesday, December 2nd, the Canadian Bacon Board has pointed out that more hogs are being marketed unsuitable for export than can be absorbed in the domestic market. The statement from the Board is contained in the three following points:

1. If the number of these offgrades' hogs is not substantially reduced, this surplus product which can only be sold on the domestic market will ultimately force all hog prices to lower levels.

2. The Board will do all they can to see that the highest possible price is paid for hogs of EXPORT QUALITY.—They are looking for any country given to producers who persist in marketing hogs of a type and weight which cannot be exported.

3. Early in November the Board warned that unless there was a reduction in the number of out-weight and low-grade hogs, the Board would have to impose reduced prices on these grades.

In their statement the Bacon Board felt that the farmer raising exportgrade hogs should not be penalized and suffer because his neighbor was loading the market with an inferior product.

The seriousness of the situation is further emphasized by Hon. Dr. Hutchings, Deputy Minister, Demotion Department of Agriculture, in a telegram to Mr. J. McMillan, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, in which he has pointed out that — "Every farmer in country as you never worked before, and wait for your private advices from Ottawa and Government of Great Britain."

In the agreement with the British Ministry of Food, Canada has undertaken to supply not less than 600,000 tons of bacon and hams by October 31st. In order to fulfill this Commitment, the domestic market has been allocated eight per cent of the total marketings, or only eighty hogs out of every thousand marketed can be used for home consumption. This leaves ninety-two per cent of every thousand hogs to be used for export, and it must be of the quality stipulated in the agreement. At the present time, eighty per cent of the hogs marketed in Alberta are under the weights and runs from "A" and "B" grades.

In order to increase the production of hogs suitable for export the Alberta Swine Production Committee urges that producers give special attention to the following:

1. Market your hogs at 200 to 210 pounds weight at the most. Be guided by present carcasses entering "B2" and "B3" grades, or the "C", "D" and "E" grades.

2. Proper feeding and management will assist in the production of top-quality carcasses.

3. Purchase good-quality sires and breeding stock of type and quality which will transmit to their progeny those qualities desired for top bacon carcass grade.

As applied to Alberta, the figures above quite definitely that the substantial volume of light-weight hogs marketed in parts and plants is a weak spot in our marketings. This is especially true when these hogs are scrub-weight hogs are factors which seriously reduce the volume of top-quality hogs available for export.

From the standpoint of economy in swine production, it is to the advantage of hog producers to market hogs of desirable weights and at the same time make every valuable assistance toward Canada's war effort.

Bear Inspects Canada's Soldiers

Moncton, N.B., December 1 — Even the bears are interested spectators of Canada's army in training. Just recently Private Ernie Poole, Fish and Game Representative for the Canadian National Railways, a military unit stationed in New Brunswick was engaged in a route march and went marching merrily down the road headed by its officers. All unnoticed, from behind a vantage point of some thick bushes along the roadside, was a good-sized bear. In his eagerness to get a closer glimpse of a Canada's fighting men, he leaned out too far from the protecting screen of bushes with the result that the marching soldiers were presented with the spectacle of a shaggy bear's head sticking out from the bushes. Since this is one of Canada's big game hunting provinces, two of the officers figured here was a chance to do some hunting and supply the unit with some tasty bear meat, so they took a couple of pot shots with their service revolvers. Mr. Bear decided, however, discretion was the better part of valor and gave an exhibition of just how quick a bear can make a get-away, notwithstanding his apparent awkwardness.

Frenchman's Thoughts

An American manufacturer of Cleveland, O., has inserted a full-page advertisement in some magazines under a heading, "Wonder What a Frenchman Thinks About." It is such a graphic depiction of what has happened in France, and what could happen to ourselves, that it deserves reprinting. It reads in part as follows:

Two years ago a Frenchman was no free as you are. Today what does he think——as he humbly steps into the gutter to let his conqueress pass?

—as he sees all trade unions outlawed and all the "rights" for which he has sacrificed his country trampled by his foreign masters.

What does the Frenchman—soldier, workman, politician or business man—think of Britain today? Probably it's something like this—"I wish I had been less greedy for myself and more anxious for my country." I wish I had realized you can't beat a determined leader by quarrelling, disunited people at home; I wish I had been willing to give in on some of my rights in order to Frenchmen instead of giving up all of them to a foreign conqueror; I wish I had realized other Frenchmen had rights, too; I wish I had known that liberty is built by work, not talking, and getting.

And if that Frenchman could read our newspapers today, these, my pressures groups each demanding things for its own betterment, instead of for our country, wouldn't say to a democracy's representatives, politicians, soldiers and workmen—

"If you know the horrible penalty your action will bring, I beg you, I bury your differences now before they bury yours as they have buried my country as you never worked before, and wait for your private advices from Ottawa and Government of Great Britain."

RED CROSS SPECIAL

BY GARRY ALLIGHAN

London, Dec. 8— Crushing homes like matchboxes, Nazi bombs hit the southeastern corner of Britain again to make sure we all hear them.

Then, as usual, the Red Cross special map, Canadians can easily chart the front line sector of this battlefield on the Thames estuary, a borough in whose heath sufferings I am especially interested as its parliamentary candidate to Folkestone on the English channel. The area east of that line is "hell-fire corner," which knows no full round of the clock without bombs, machine-gun and cannon.

Nazi bombs have turned the county of Kent, which Pickens christened "the Garden of England," into England's "Garden of Gethsemane."

Bride: "My husband admires my taste in hats so much he never likes to have me discard one."

A bomb drops the house will fall on top of you. But if you are in a shelter and a bomb drops you're as safe as houses."

A woman of 86 had been away for months, evacuated to a safer region. But she pined and fretted for the smell of her own familiar place — shelled by a long lifetime of memories. The doctors said she would only die if she went back. Home she came, so she went back. Then bombs began to fall. One struck houses in the next street, the explosion cracking the ceiling of her bed room and covering her with plaster

She was carried out on a Canadian stretcher to a Red Cross first aid post. A nurse said "She's uncomfortable." After a quick examination, shock his head gravely. "Granny had gone before the bombers came," he said.

BRITISH LONG-RANGE BOMBER AND ITS CREW

An idea of the size of the British bombing planes that are raiding Berlin and other German cities, can be gauged by this picture of the crew of a 6-engined "Halifax," pausing under the nose of their machine on their return to their aerodrome after a flight. This big British Handley-Page bomber has a wing span of 90 feet, is 70 feet long, and has a height of 22 feet. And can carry a big load of bombs. It has also powerful defensive armament. Two of its machine-guns can be seen jutting from a turret in the nose.

Dear Editor and Friends:

Well, your humble friend is out of the school of small fishes and into the one for practical training. We arrived in Ottawa Thursday morning and I got my first feel of a real "Gale that would Freeze Friday. Was off on Saturday and Sunday and hereby saving them the morning.

Sunday morning we came to the recreation hall to attend church and met a Mr. Graham at the door from Nova Scotia. Inside we met Bertie Johnson, Y.M.C.A. supervisor, who asked us if we wished an invitation to supper. We accepted. We then sat down and listened to a fine sermon by padre Flt. Lt. M. C. Johnson. At four o'clock we were met at the gate by Mr. Halley, who drove us down to the home of a Mr. and Mrs. H. Pullen. Assisting Mrs. Pullen was Miss Ryley. After supper, we again went to church and to the friendly hour following. We had a very delightful time, both at supper and at church.

At the friendly hour those from each province were asked in turn, to stand, and as I sat down, the man next to me asked where I came from, and said he had day dinnered homes in Alberta for years (while I was digging coal). He was Mr. Stormberg, a paleontologist.

His grandfather had pioneered in N.E. Kansas and he was born there. about 60 miles from where my grandfather pioneered across the line in S.E. Nebraska, where I was born. And we are now both in Ottawa on the war effort.

But when to finish the evening I was introduced to the new Y.M.C.A. supervisor, Mr. McKinnon, I began to wonder if I was dreaming or back in Lakeshore.

So goes this little world in the

Best wishes,
Gen. G. Abernethy.

NORDIN—HANSEN

A wedding of local interest took place in Edmonton on the evening of Dec. 6th, when Mr. Leonard Nordin, son of Mrs. E. P. Nordin, and Miss Jennie Hansen, daughter of Mrs. H. Hansen, were united in marriage. After the ceremony a reception was held at the Corona hotel.

A pie social and skating party was held at the Dimet rink on December 6th. A surprisingly large number attended the party.

Carl Hanton of the R.C.A.F. was home on leave over the week end.

A pretty shower was held for Mrs. Leonard Nordin, nee Jennie Hansen, on Friday evening last at the home of Mrs. H. Hansen. Mrs. J Swarz Jr. made the presentations.

Leslie Webster received his call for the medical exam for the four month's training period.

Mr. E. Sallid and C. Hansen have returned from a visit to the coast.

A hockey game between Sallidna and Dimant was played at Dimant on Wednesday last. The score was 5-5 for Sallidna.

L.O.D.E NOTES

At the regular monthly meeting of the Dr. Tofield Chapter held on December 9th contributions were made to the "Empire Work in India" and to the "Kilts for British" funds. Wool to the value of seventeen dollars and fifty cents was also on hand to be made into Turtle Neck Tuck-Ins for the Air Force. Soldiers overseas are to receive cigarettes and a card and small gift is to be sent to those in Canada.

Fifty dollars and eighty cents was reported from the Sale of Poppies and we take this opportunity of thanking all who supported us in this worthwhile cause, not forgetting the canvassers who did their best to make this possible. We also wish to thank all who helped us at the Pirate Bridge Drive. $5.75 was realized from the sale of candy, and $20.75 from the Bridge Drive.

The Dr. Tofield Chapter I.O.D.E. are pleased to announce each of the five rooms at the school and some citizens are buying these for their own use.

BEHIND THE HOG
By A.B.C.

Much to our sorrow, and possibly more to yours, we have again been approached to write Hog News, and may do so just as long as we can give and take without losing the few Curling friends we have.

* * *

Just to give you the low down on the set up this year. Gerald Hosier is again making the frozen waney, with red, white and blue rings in the house. The hunt in the house will be 8 for Victory, and very nice it looks. Gerald knows his frozen water and with just one more cold day the lads will be cooping by up.

The Rink is now all dressed up with electric lights and no excuses left on a dark night for the broom, weight and the ship's instructions.

Skip, Stinson, 3rd, Everitt, 2nd, Stevens, lead, A. Patterson.
Skip, Francis, 3rd, Bennie, 2nd, Mundy, lead, Gerald.
Skip, Takahashi, 3rd, McClymont, 2nd, Innes, lead, James.
Skip, Fletcher, 3rd, Chandler, 2nd, McDonnell, lead, Rasenmusen.
Skip, Carrie, 3rd, D. Warner, 2nd, Simmons, lead, Bellamy.
Skip, Cranna, 3rd, J. Whyte, 2nd, McIntosh, lead, McGinnis.
Skip, Letourneau, 3rd, Billman, 2nd, C. Ward, lead, Boyles.
Skip, Burke, 3rd, Smeltzer, 2nd, D. Dodds, lead, Davison.
Reeve—Freddie Imler and Able Clutterham.

Any person not included in the above set up and wishing to curl, please get in touch with the secretary, Mr. Stinson, and he will get you on a good rink. Our old friend John Imler will handle the draws and will have them in a reserved space in the Post Office Lobby.

And speaking of fees, Boys, Money is a symbol, but it is but such a symbol thing to get hold of these days.

LAKESHORE

John Booth left last week for Quebec to visit his mother and brothers and he has not seen for some years. John plans to spend at least a couple of months there.

* * *

After spending a week or two at home, Owen Eaton has again gone digging wells. This time out west of here.

* * *

The feathers are really flying a bout these days and the turkey being hauled away by the ton in Mr. Young's "Black Maria." Most people have marketed their poultry, and are now having the fun of spending the money.

* * *

Mrs. Kyle and Isabel were able to return home last Sunday. We hope that Isabel soon regains her strength and so will be able to enjoy Christmas to the very utmost.

* * *

Mr. W. D. Ferguson who has spent the last two weeks in bed, is feeling better. Edith Davison is helping with the work. Mrs. Ferguson is on the sick list.

* * *

School children are busy getting ready for the Christmas concert on Monday evening, and incidentally, looking forward to the holidays that follow after.

* * *

Mr. Baker, M.L.A. for Clover Bar, and Mr. Hooke, of Wetaskiwin, M.L.A. for Rocky Mountain House, who gave afternoon and evening lectures at Lakeshore school on Tuesday were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Murray between lectures.

* * *

To the editor and our readers—a right merry Christmas, and a new year that brings you what you most need and whether will give you the greatest happiness.

DIFFERENT LANGUAGE

A chap returning from Sunday School was asked, "What was the text of your lesson today?" The boy blurted out, "Don't worry, you'll get your quilts." This sounded so queer to the mother that she repeated her question. Again the boy replied, "Don't worry, you'll get your quilts." The mother's curiosity caused her to call up the Sunday School teacher to learn what the text really was. The teacher replied, "Fear not, the comforter cometh."

Notice To Advertisers, Correspondents And Readers

As Christmas Day falls on a Thursday this year, next week's issue of the Mercury will be published Monday night. We desire to catch routes two and three going out Tuesday morning. This will be the issue in which Christmas greetings will appear.

* * *

We are making these arrangements so the post office may get the Mercury's circulated before the final "grand rush" and so that readers may have Christmas greetings before Christmas Day.

"The Great Lie" For Saturday

For this coming Saturday Sharp's Shows present at the Variety Theatre, Tofield, its "The Great Lie." This is a heart searching, soul stirring drama and one that is graphically portrayed by two of the greatest film stars, Bette Davis and George Brent, supported by a brilliant cast. News reel and comedy also. Two shows 7:00 and 9:00 p.m.

Crown Lumber Installs Florescent Lighting

Florescent lighting, a new and highly efficient form of electric light has this week been installed by the Crown Lumber Co., in their hardware store here. There are seven units which give abundant white glareless light.

Unlike ordinary electric lights the glow is not caused by the current being forced at a terrific rate white hot a globe, but the current goes into a gas filled tube and the whole tube becomes one glass light. The tubes are roughly about 24 inches long and there are two tubes to a unit. While the installation costs are higher than ordinary electric light the quality and kind of light given is much better and the cost of operation is about half of the old style lights. This is the first installation of this kind of light in Tofield.

Y. P. S To Sponsor Scrap Paper Collection

At the Young People's meeting held in the church basement Monday night it was decided to sponsor a scrap paper collection campaign. Mr. Burke offered temporary storage facilities for the scrap and those collecting or having scrap in their homes are requested to take it to him at the store. It is possible other kinds of light scrap may be collected also. Further information will be given as qualitative information is available.

CORRECTION

We announced last week that the doll contest recently held in connection with the Anglican Church was sponsored by the Junior W.A. This was incorrect. The contest was sponsored and all expenses defrayed by an individual church member. Nine dollars and some cents was the sum realized.

COMMUNICATION

College Heights, Alberta.

To the Editor,
The Tofield Mercury.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I read the Searle article on the present situation of the prairie wheat grower in the 12th of November issue of the Mercury. It was very good, but there was one statement I would like to make a little comment on, if the editor will allow me a little space in his paper.

The writer goes on to say that the wheat grower, however, has already received some help from the government. There was the 30 million dollars for the wheat acreage reduction and then the additional 10 million dollars under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act. That, I think is a questionable statement. Where did that ten million come from and where did it go to? As a grain buyer, the writer must know that that act has been a DIRECT TAX of one percent on all wheat marketed ever since it was implemented. I haven't inquired and never did hear what was being done with that money, but I always supposed it was paid out each year to farmers in the dried out areas, I am quite sure that was what it was put on for. But the way he puts it, he would have us think that it was handed out in cold cash by the government as a bonus.

The 1941 Ottawa budget, in part, reads that: The appropriation for the Prairie Farm Assistance Act has been increased from $250,000 to $500,000. That would leave $9,500,000 to be collected from wheat sales to make up the $10 million.

That makes the 1941 crop a 300,000,000 bushel crop is impossible. As well it would be ridiculous just to change it from one of the farmers pockets to another. And if they did hand it out, why mix it with this act?

Yours truly,
P. O. Molise.

FROM RECORD ENGINEERING FEAT

Montreal, Que. Dec. 18—An engineering feat of record proportions has been performed recently by working forces of the Canadian National Railways by installing a bridge span weighing 1,600,000 pounds and of revolutionary design, to overpass the heavy traffic between Montreal—Toronto main line of the National Railways across the new Trans-Island Boulevard. The new bridge is the only one of its kind in North America and is completely Canadian in design and fabrication. The installation was made without any delay to trains.

MINISTIK

The Ministik Cheery Chums' dance on Wednesday night, December 10th was a success. Everybody said they had a good time. A Christmas party will take the place of the usual meeting on December 30th. Don't forget the date.

Walter George has left to join up with the R.C.A.F. He left last Tuesday.

The last report from the hospital is that Bob Bradley is doing nicely. We do not know if he will be home for Christmas or not. We hope so.

Some of our young people attended the Pie Social and dance at Hastings Lake school and report having had a good time.

There are quite a few veterans, besides others, attending a Vets Club at Franklin Hall. There is a larger practice at each meeting. Sandy (Alex) Ross is considered one of the crack shots in the rifle practice. Come on some of you young bucks of Ministik. How about joining up?

The December meeting of the U.F.W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. McIntosh. Most of the members were present. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hemsworth.

KINGMAN

The Ladies' Aid had their annual meeting in Kingman Hall on Thursday December 11th. Election of officers was held and the following were elected: President, Mrs. J. Bailey. Vice-pres., Mrs. E. Shabaj. Sec.-Treas., Mrs. T. Owens; Sewing Committee, Mrs. Melvik, Mrs. Horin, Mrs. Simonson; Program Committee, Mrs. P. Boreas and Mrs. Martin Lewery.

A Red Cross Society was organized at the home of Mrs. L. B. Fleming on Tuesday, December 9th. Mrs. L. B. Fleming was elected president, and Mrs. E. Smith, Sec.-Treas.

The people of Kingman High school and Kingman Public school, held a concert on December 5th. The total receipts were $84.15. After the expenses are paid, the proceeds will be used to give a donation to the Red Cross, to buy radio batteries and for a Christmas treat for the pupils. The pupils of the High school both throw six foot flats. These may be seen in the hall by groups who wish scenery for plays.

Mr. L. Augrine visited his sister, Mrs. Hodson, over the last week end.

There was a large crowd attended the skating party in Kingman on Monday evening.

Mr. S. M. Hele is spending the winter at Vancouver Island.

Mrs. R. Gibbin of Viking visited her brother, Mr. Olaf Heir last week.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

CRANBERRY RELISHES YOU'LL RELISH

One reason you'll relish these delightful fruit cranberry sauces and conserves, aside from their delicious taste, is that the tart red cranberry actually stimulates appetite. It's the tang and color that makes for appetite appeal.

Relishes have a long history — in fact, the Greek philosopher Plato wrote about a relish of salt, olives and cheese.

Cranberry Orange Relish, dressed gaily in orange shells, is a newcomer, while Two-Minute Cranberry Sauce is almost as old as our Country. Soon after the Pilgrim settlers learned of cranberries from the Indians, they devised this time-tested complement to all meats and steady partner to King Turkey.

Despite its definite personality, the cranberry is the least anti-social of all the berry fruits. It mixes happily with apples, lemons, spices and horse-radish. Here are some tasty recipe for cranberries, and:

Cranberry Orange Relish
(no cooking)

1 pound (4 cups) fresh cranberries
2 cups sugar
2 oranges

Put cranberries through food chopper. Quarter whole oranges, remove seeds and put through chopper. Add sugar and mix well. Chill in refrigerator a few hours before serving. Makes one quart relish.

Two Minute Cranberry Sauce
2 cups water
2 cups sugar
1 pound (4 cups) fresh cranberries

Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes. Add cranberries and boil without stirring until all the skins pop open (5 minutes is usually sufficient). Remove from fire and allow the sauce to remain in saucepan until cool. Makes 1 quart sauce.

For a Thinner Sauce

Just bring sugar and water to a boil, then add cranberries and cook until they stop popping.

Spiced Cranberries

2½ cups sugar
¾ cup water
2 2-inch sticks cinnamon.
1 teaspoon whole cloves
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Grated rind 1 lemon
1 pound (4 cups) fresh cranberries

Combine sugar, water, spices, lemon juice and rind and boil together 5 minutes. Add cranberries and cook slowly, without stirring, until all the skins pop open. Seal in sterilized jars or chill for immediate serving.

Makes 1 quart relish.

SERVE BY SAVING — BUY WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES !

TO THE WOMEN OF CANADA

Here is One Big War Job which You Alone Can Do

"Ceiling Prices" Must Be Maintained

This is an appeal to the women of Canada. There is one vital part of our war effort which depends on you.

Your government has placed a "ceiling" on retail prices. You are the buyers of four out of every five dollars worth of all the goods sold in this country. Your whole-hearted help is needed in this price control plan. If every woman does her part, it cannot fail.

Its success will be a big step on the road to victory. Its failure would be a serious blow to our war effort. You can tip the balance towards success.

Will you, therefore, help to make the successful control of commodity prices an established fact? We know you will. And we know that when you undertake this task it is as good as done.

This is the work you are asked to do

1. Make a list of commodities
We want you to sit down today and make a list of the things you buy from week to week and from month to month. Write down food and clothing items in particular, because these accounts for the biggest share of your expenditure. Also we want you to list those articles you buy at the drug store, hardware store, and other stores, too.

2. Make notes about quality
Now go over your list again and mark down the necessary details about quality, type, grade and size. Then when making future purchases you will be able to compare values as well as prices.

3. Write down prices
After each item we want you to write down, if you can, the highest price charged at your store during the month of November 15 to October 15, 1941. If you cannot remember the prices charged during that period, fill in your list with today's prices. Our survey shows that retailers, with few exceptions, are keeping prices well within the "ceiling" levels. As exceptions are being discovered they are being quickly brought into line.

4. Keep this list — use it when you buy!
Make up this price list neatly and accurately. You will not be able to get all the items at once. Keep adding to your list from day to day. Make it your permanent record for future purchases and you will be able to compare values as well as prices.

Prices May be Different in Different Stores

There has always been a difference in prices in different stores—even stores in the same locality. This may depend on the kind of service the store gives, or the way it advertises. Some stores, for instance, have delivery service, give credit, or provide other extra services.

Under the new Price Ceiling Order there will still be differences in prices at different stores. The new price regulations will not do away with competition. The highest prices in any particular store must not be higher than the highest prices in force at that store during the period September 15 to October 11. They may be a little lower or a little higher than the prices in other stores.

The prices you will mark down will be the highest prices charged at the store where you shop.

A Few Points to Remember

1. The ceiling price is the top price you can legally charge for any article. It is the highest price at which the store sold the particular item between September 15 and October 11.

2. A merchant may refuse his prices for sales or other reasons—he may also raise them provided they do not go above the ceiling price.

3. Variations in seasonal prices on fresh fruits and vegetables are permitted. Rulings on seasonal matters will be announced from time to time by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in newspapers and over the radio.

4. Fill out your price list without bothering your merchant. In many cases he is making a financial sacrifice to sell under the price ceiling. The war has left him shortstaffed and the Christmas rush is on.

Items most frequently bought

This is not intended as a complete list. It is simply offered as a guide. Add to it the other items you buy or expect to buy.

| Item (1) (2) (3) (4) (5) (6) (7) (8) (9) (10) (11) (12) (13) (14) (15) (16) (17) (18) (19) (20) (21) (22) (23) (24) (25) (26) (27) (28) (29) (30) (31) (32) (33) (34) (35) (36) (37) (38) (39) (40)

10,000 Kneel in Complete Main Body of Cathedral Of St. John The Divine

New York, Dec. 7 — A congregation of 10,000 worshipped today in the largest Gothic Cathedral in the world—the Cathedral of St. John the Divine — New York's great monument of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

For the first time, as Bishop William T. Manning delivered the sermon, church-goers solemnly viewed the awe-inspiring full vista of the edifice that still is only two-thirds of the way toward completion.

From the Revelation of St. John the Divine, Bishop Manning intoned his text — "Alleluia: For the Lord God Omnipotent Reigneth" — and from the altar his voice carried a full one-tenth of a mile to the five portals of the majestic west front.

As he told of the $30,000,000 that has been spent and the hundreds of thousands of hours of labor that have been served since the cornerstone of the Cathedral was put in place 40 years ago, worshippers bowed their heads in the soft light that filtered through the largest rose window in the world— a window 40 feet in diameter and made of 10,000 separate pieces of glass — and contemplated the solemn splendor of 31 other huge stained-glass windows each of which cost $60,000.

Bishop Manning reviewed the long story of the Cathedral's construction —of the layers during which little or no work was done and of the manner in which persons of all denominations contributed funds to the end that the United States would eventually have one of the greatest, if not the greatest cathedrals in the world.

The same story was told to the nation by Bishop Manning in a broadcast over the network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Open to all who desire to attend a religious service or who want to enjoy the richness of a moment of silent prayer, completion of the Cathedral will cost an additional $10,000,000, officials said.

Built entirely of granite, without a single steel or raken beam, the Cathedral, after it is completed, is expected to outlive even the greatest of New York's sky-scrapers — to stand for 1,000 years or longer as a monument to Christianity.

The teacher wishes to announce that the Christmas Tree will be held on Monday afternoon, December 22, at 1:30 p.m. No concert is to be held so there will be games and concerts. The parents of the district and the small children are cordially invited. Santa Claus will have a present for each school child and those children under school age.

The two lucky persons were John Donald of Deville, holding ticket No. 158, winning a satin cushion, the other was Miss Lois Peterson, with No. 145, winning a comforter.

Mrs. A. Donald visited Fultonvale to attend a ladies' meeting on Wednesday of last week.

Alex Donald attended the smokers' party now Bretona last Saturday.

Mr. Frank Dunham was home for a few hours last Friday morning, Frank is working on the railway at Buck Creek.

Corrine Glados visited the city last Friday.

Sam Polefoot visited Looma on a business trip last week.

Art Risko of Looma visited at the Polefoot home for the week-end.

Miss Viola Anderson and Miss Laura Dur ante of Edmonton were visiting at the Miss M. Campion for the week end. Miss Campion accompanied here back to the city.

Mr. Hoover and son Owen, motored to the city Monday morning.

O. E. Johnson left on his job of building a platform around the well at the school.

Doris Bruce was an Edmonton visitor with her parents this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Reynar of Leduc were visiting at the Geo. Westlake home. Geo. Westlake jr. accompanied them home.

A.M.A. Will Urge Roads Campaign

Campaign to induce the provincial government to "war-mark" all motor revenues for road maintenance and construction purposes, any surplus funds to be invested in dominion of Canada war bonds for the duration of the war, is to be continued by the Alberta Motor Association.

Decision to continue the campaign was made at the recent annual meeting of the A.M.A. in Calgary.

Progress of the campaign during the past six months was reported to the meeting of provincial directors by A. B. Mackay, of Calgary, chairman of the special committee named to carry out the program.

No less than 22 municipal bodies in the province have endorsed the A. M. A.'s demands that motor revenues, such as the large sums from motor licenses and gasoline tax, be marked specifically for highway purposes, according to the committee's report.

Distribution of some 7,000 pamphlets which show what motor revenues should be spent on roads, also was completed by the A.M.A.

During the next few months the organization plans to intensify its campaign. It contends that millions of dollars taken from motorists in provincial taxes have been diverted to general revenue purposes, instead of being spent on roads and thus help to build up the tourist industry.

Yukon Indians Help Bomb Victims

Ottawa, December 15—Although they live within 400 miles of Dawson removed from the stress of war and defense, Indians of the Old Crow Band in the Yukon territory are anxious to help bomb-raided victims in England, says J. H. MacBrien, commissioner of police, Canadian National Railways. Chief Peter Moses recently gave Canadian Mounted Police $432.70 he had up in a handkerchief, saying his people wanted the money used for the relief of homeless or orphaned children in England. The consolidated fund was contributed by 90 Indians.

MAGISTRATE FINDS BOY SCOUTS GUILTY OF COMMITTING GOOD TURNS

Police Chief Bagnall made no comment last night as he took his custody more than two dozen boys between the ages of eight and sixteen. Without delay the youngsters were turned over to Magistrate D. J. Arnold, who finally declared "It was high time they got on; also that cussing to them."

So the Chief of Police held the bat boys while the Magistrate covered them with mustard, and assistants dealt out the soft drinks.

The boys all were convicted of selling copies on Scout Apple Day, if missing the 1st Scout Troop Hall with funds raised by themselves, and of committing one good turn a day. It was party night for the 1st Chatham Scout Troop.

Municipal District Of Beaver Lake No. 486

FORAGE CROP SEED

The Municipal District of Beaver Lake No. 486 is prepared to assist a limited number of resident farmers to obtain Forage Crop Seed for use in 1942 subject to the following regulations:

1. Seed available for each applicant: Brome, Crested Wheat, Clover or Timothy, 100 pounds, Alfalfa, 50 pounds, fifty pounds. One variety only.

2. Seed will be supplied at cost price to farmers who have obtained seed through the Municipality during the past three years and at one half cost price to farmers who have not previously taken seed from the Municipality.

Council is particularly interested in placing the bulk of our Forage Crop Seed with farmers who have not grown any forage crops up to this time.

You are urgently requested to get your orders in as early as possible as the supply of seed is very limited.

CONDITIONS IN AUSTRALIA

A Labor government is in power in Australia, and farmers are requesting that it fix the price of wheat, not to farmers at country sidings, at 80c a bushel Australian funds.

The Australian farmers are working under great handicaps, it is contended, a shortage of labor in particular being evident. For instance, farm wages have risen and potato growers have been forced to pay enforced labor around $4.30 a day to keep potatoes. In normal years white labor has been paid from $2.40 to $3.00 a day for the same job.

The opinion has been expressed that eventually labor will have to be virtually conscripted in order that farm production may continue.

While long periods of drouth were experienced in Australia this year, wheat production has been about average, namely around 160 million bushels, or nearly double the total production of 1940, which was a disastrously dry year.

Wheat farmers were allocated specific acreages during the current year, and those producers who planted wheat in excess of their allotted acreage are being required to cut the same for hay.

The establishment of a compulsory crop insurance scheme is being sought by the Australian Wheat Growers' Federation. The Federation proposes that the Australian Wheat Board should be empowered to establish such a plan, to be financed on the basis of a bushel levy on the wheat delivered to the Board.

Increase Egg Production

The estimated yield per laying hen in Alberta was 101 eggs per year in 1940 compared with a Canadian average of 111 eggs per hen. In 1939 the Alberta average was 100 eggs per hen. There is, therefore, much opportunity for improvement.

Proper care and management of the laying flock will do a great deal to increase the number of eggs per year. Poultry raisers have been asked to supply Britain with 20,000,000 dozen eggs by the 31st of May 1942. Since the number of laying hens cannot be increased materially in the short period, it will be necessary to increase the production of present flocks.

On June 1st, 1941, there were about 2,000,000 laying hens in Alberta. If the production of these hens were increased to the Dominion average it would represent 10 eggs per year per hen or a total of 2,500,000 dozen.

CHRISTMAS 1941

Greetings! Again, through the courtesy of Mr. Worton, I have the privilege of wishing you all, "A Merry Christmas and a New Year full of goodness."

It does seem incongruous to again repeat these familiar words. But let us remember it was far from a peaceful world into which Jesus came.

Christ was born in a world of tyranny, of hate, of cruel dictators and treacherous politicians.

He came to bring Peace—his only legacy was "My peace I leave unto you."

It is peace we need—our world is storm-tossed and the only one with authority and power to quieten the angry waves of greed, hate and oppression, is He who stilled the stormy waters of Galilee.

As we approach the season for commemorating the Birth of the Prince of Peace, in a world of strife, may his message of Peace and Good-will reach out to you and to the whole world, filling your Christmas with enrichment, an enjoyment and rich blessings for the year ahead.

REV. D. K. ALLAN

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE OF TOFIELD AND DISTRICT

The feast of Christmas is once more upon us. We pause in the continuous round of our daily duties to take time out, as it were, to celebrate the Birth of our Saviour.

Over nineteen hundred years ago there was born to us this Saviour, who is Christ the Lord in the city of David. And though century after century has passed the hearts of mankind still respond to the love of God who was born a babe that He might redeem and save us.

Was then, is the message of Christmas, the love of God for his creatures, shown forth by the Babe of Bethlehem who became one of us. God himself, clothed in the tattered garments of flesh and blood, came to bring himself and show us the way to eternal life.

And this Christmas the message of peace and salvation comes to a world sick unto death with hatred, war, strife and bloodshed. There are those even among us who say that Christianity has failed. These are only the present hour and forget that the primary aim of Christianity is not to give men happiness and riches in this world but to prepare them for the world to come. They forget, that Christ told his followers that those who seek only worldly things would have them and that He said too, "I bring you not peace but the sword." They forget, too, that Christendom stood in dire peril many times before this. At one time the Armenians stormed through the Pyrenees and advanced to the battlefield of Tours and the Crescent threatened to round to the full. There have been wars before when the weak were trampled and the strong slain, but in the end, manhands dreams of conquest were overthrown. Napoleon, as he sat crushed in exile on St. Helena, paid tribute to the enduring influence of Christ. "It is not amazing," he commented, "that warriors, the ambitious dreams of Caesar, Alexander and myself should have vanished into thin air, a Judean peasant should be able to control a dead hand across the centuries and control the destinies of nations and the children of men." And so we can be sure that God, after permitting us to suffer and endure for a time, will once more bring peace between nations.

As we celebrate this Christmas remember those amongst us who are far away. Ask the Christ-Child to guide, protect and keep them safe on that when the time is over they may return to us once more with a heart full of gratitude to God for a truly Merry Christmas.

May the Peace of Christ abide in your hearts on this Christmas Day and the hearts of men be with you all this Christmas Day.

ing shaken. Everywhere there is uncertainty, bewilderment, and anxiety for the future. Standards of honor and truth among nations have broken down, and over the earth hangs the horrible world war, with all the horrors of modern warfare.

Today is the battle fighting against spiritual wickedness in high places. Today is the harvest of yesterday, and the seed time of tomorrow. Today the world is reaping a harvest of chaos, darkness and a declining Christian civilization. Let us pray and trust, may be convinced, that after this war there will be a glorious seedtime of unity, concord, and a lasting and abiding peace among the nations of the world.

At this time let us remember our forces on land, on the sea, and in the air. "In watchings often, in weariness often, may the spirit of the manger be their guide and stay."

Let us remember all those who are suffering by reason of this war. The wounded, the sick, the prisoners, the homeless, the hungry and the oppressed and all those that are bereaved or in anxiety, may the Holy Spirit bind up their wounds and comfort them in their distress.

Let us pray for our leaders that they may have wisdom and understanding of counsel and strength that upholding what is right they may obey Thy Holy will and fulfil Thy divine purpose.

As we prepare a merry Christmas for our own children, for the children of the community, and the less privileged, remember the millions of children whose bodies are broken by war, whose minds are terrified beyond their understanding and the children being trained in false doctrine of the enemy to cruelty and wrong. And as we thank God for the Holy Nativity at Bethlehem, for the Holy family at Nazareth, let us make a fresh dedication to the Holy Child Jesus and to the cause of children throughout the world.

Where He is worshipped on His Manger Throne, there is safety for His little ones and because He is the friend of all the world, safety for the lovers of their fellows, safety for them that are true of heart and so in His name we can still say A Merry Christmas.

Wishing the editor and his staff and all our friends a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Last Saturday afternoon a Christmas Party for the Juniors and younger members of the Sunday school was held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Robinson. Carols were sung and many one games and contests played. All looked very festive in their paper hats. After a dainty lunch at 4 p.m. prettily wrapped presents and Christmas stockings were distributed to the children from the Christmas tree. It was a happy gathering and after joining hands and singing "For Auld Lang Syne" all left for home around 5:30 p.m. laden with their gifts, oranges and nuts.

Season's Greetings

For well over a quarter of a century we have been privileged to serve you. Through war years and years of peace; through good times and times of adversity, it has been a pleasure to meet you as you come in for your several needs. As each Christmas season came around we have tried to say to you in the simplest of language "Thank You."

This season also brings forth recognition of all your kindnesses and to one and all we wish the JOYS OF YULETIDE
And A BRIGHT AND HAPPY NEW YEAR
